DIAMONDS WERE EXECUTED AT SING SING LAST NIGHT

John Farina Also Paid Death Penalty For the Same Crime—All Three Men Protested Their Innocence to the Last—The Diamond Brothers Were Outwardly Calm as They Walked to the Death Chamber—Trio Were Executed For Ruthless Murder of Two Bank Messengers in New York Nov. 14, 1923—Farina Failed Yesterday in an Attempt to Take His Own Life—A Fourth Man, Anthony Pantano Will be Electrocuted During the Week of June 8.

Ossinging, N. Y., April 30—Three of four robbers convicted of the murder of William Barlow and William McLaughlin, bank messengers in Brooklyn in 1923, paid the penalty tonight in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison. There were Joseph and Morris Diamond, brothers, and John Farina. The fourth, Anthony Pantano, will be executed during the week of June 8.

Morris was the first to go to the chair. The current was turned on at 11:07 and Diamond was pronounced dead at 11:16. His brother Joseph was pronounced dead at 11:28, 8 minutes after the first shock, and Farina at 11:40, after 9 minutes.

All three men denied their guilt to the last. Rabbi Jacob Katz, the Jewish chaplain, accompanied each of the Diamonds on their walk to the chair. Both men appeared outwardly calm as they entered the death chamber. Farina, composed and cool, was led from his cell by the Rev. Father John J. McCaffrey, who walked by his side, praying.

Warden Lewis E. Lawes tentatively decided that Joseph Diamond, 22, because of his youth and nervous condition, should precede his brother, Morris, 27, to the chair. John Farina, 25, who was foiled today in an attempt to take his own life, was scheduled by Warden Lewis to go to the death chamber last.

Mrs. Dora Diamond, mother of two of the condemned men, was admitted tonight for one hour with her daughters, Sallie and Bessie, to the prisoners' reception cage for the last visit with her sons.

Farina received his father, Angelo Farina, and his mother, sister and two brothers in the afternoon.

Extra precautions were taken to guard the men after Farina was found today with a sharpened toothbrush imbeded in two oranges. The improvished weapon was found on Farina as he was transferred from his "living" cell in the death house to the "death" cell near the chair.

The men ordered hearty meals in the evening, including fried eggs, lamb chops, French fried potatoes, pie and cheese, each one being allowed to make his own menu.

Morris before he was placed in the chair said that he had not been given a fair trial.

"I thought," he said, "that having taken up arms for my country in the war, I would be given a fair trial, but I was not. My brother was convicted on the testimony of a perjuror. I am sorry for all of those connected with the trial."

Cool and collected until the end, as were all three, Joseph Diamond declared his innocence as he climbed into the chair. He said only a few words in which he maintained his innocence. His last words were: "Morris is a good boy."

Farina walked into the death chamber smoking a cigar but threw it on the floor and began to pray as the door closed on him. "I forgive everyone," he said, "and ask forgivness in return." When he went to the chair his lips were muttering prayers.

Before being led to the death chamber, Farina wrote two affidavits, but they were not made public by the prison authorities.

Joseph Diamond issued a statement, which read:

"Warden Lawes:

"Many men have died in the electric chair, some protesting they were innocent. Whether true or not is merely a question of belief. There is no reason anything I should say should be believed.

"God be my judge. I am innocent of that crime. I am paying for it with my life. I go to my death on a perjured identification. If I am guilty of that crime I say indeed I pray God to burn my soul in hell.

"Please tell the newspapers to be good to my dear mother and my four dear sisters. Please tell them, too, to give Morris' little boy a fair deal. Don't point the accusing finger at them. I was taught the straight way, the square way and I played square all through life.

"You can look at my past from the time I first saw the light, and you won't find a person who gives a biased opinion of me. I thank God at this time in my life that I can look back with pride at my past life. Tell the papers the finest man outside of my dad and brother I've ever met is Father John McCaffrey. God bless him. Keep up your splendid work.

"Your well wisher,

(signed) JOSEPH DIAMOND."

Thirty-five spectators, including newspapermen, gathered tonight at the prison to see the executions. They were chosen from 1,000 applicants. The greatest number during the wardenship of Mr. Lawes.

DETAILS OF THE CRIME

New York, April 30—Of the numerous desperate crimes here in 1923, none stirred the metropolis more than the daring daylight robbery and ruthless murder of two bank messengers on the morning of November 14, for which the Diamond brothers, Morris and Joseph, and their buddy of the East Side streets, John Farina, paid the penalty in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison tonight.

The messengers, William Barlow, 15, a boy, and William McLaughlin, aged 31, started from an elevated station of the West End subway, Brooklyn, with a sack containing $24,807, which they were conveying to the West End bank.

The two, mingling with the crowds, reached a landing at the descent of the stairs to the street, when an unmasked youth raised up to Barlow, the older, and held a pistol to his ribs.

Without a word spoken and as unconscious of hesitation, the gunman fired a bullet into the body of Barlow, a former lieutenant of New York police and a man known for his fearlessness.

McLaughlin, a World War veteran who had taken the bank job because he "wanted a little excitement," drew his weapon and fired a couple of ineffectual shots before he went down under the fusillade of two men who had joined the slayer of Barlow.

The packet of money was snatched from his hands and the gunmen fled to the street, menacing with their pistols the crowds of men, women and children that milled about the busy station.

An automobile which had been held in waiting, with motor running, at the foot of the stairs, sped away with the desperadoes. The abandoned car, with bloody finger prints, was found at Bath beach, a half dozen miles away, a few hours later. Those tell-tale finger prints led to the arrest of Morris Diamond in Cleveland, eleven days later.

Within a few days three others were in custody—Morris' younger brother, Joseph; Farina and Anthony Pantao, youthful former clerk in the West End bank, alleged to have furnished the others with information concerning the movements of the messengers. A fifth man was sought. This was George DeSarro, who succeeded in escaping to Italy, where he was arrested, at Palermo, a year and ten days after the murders.

Morris Diamond had waited in the car, said the police, while his brother, Farina and DeSarro had done the actual shooting and robbery.

Morris Diamond was convicted of murder in the first degree February 9, 1924; Joseph Diamond heard the same verdict six days later, February 15; Farina was similarly convicted February 27. None of the trials lasted more than three days.

All appealed the convictions after they had been sentenced to be electrocuted the week of April 7, 1924, and in October the court of appeals at Albany confirmed the sentences of the Diamonds and Farina, but ordered a new trial for Pantano.

Pending final determination of Pantano's fate, Governor Smith reprieved the Diamonds and Farina until this week. Pantano was twice retried, the first time last March, the jury disagreeing. He was convicted at his second trial, which ended a week ago tonight, and last Monday was sentenced to be electrocuted the week of June 8.

The Diamond family has carried on a determined fight to save Morris and Joseph from electrocution, refusing to give up hope until the last minute. The mother, Dora Diamond, a widow, moved from her Brooklyn home to Ossining, to be near her sons, and a sister, Sally Diamond, has worked with unflagging zeal for a commutation of the death sentence.

District Attorney Dodd of Brooklyn has announced that he will go abroad this summer to assis in the prosecution of DeSarro, to be tried for the murder at Palermo, as Italian law does not provide for the extradition of persons charged with this crime.

SOLICITOR GENERAL BECK HAS RESIGNED

Washington, April 30—The resignation of Solicitor General Beck to take effect upon the appointment of a successor, was announced formally at the White House.

In his letter of resignation, Mr. Beck told the president he would like to remain until the present term of the supreme court ends in June, but added that "after the hard work of the last four years, I want to get a good rest before resuming the practice of my profession."

When he was appointed solicitor general in 1925, Mr. Beck was engaged in private law practice in New York. He had served as assistant attorney general between 1900 and 1903.

President Coolidge has several attorneys under consideration for the appointment, and he is expected to make a choice in the near future. William D. Mitchell of St. Paul, Minn., a former law partner of Justice Butler of the supreme court, is one of those recommended for the appointment, and Charles W. Waterman of Denver, the Coolidge pre-convention campaign manager in Colorado, is another.

FIRED UPON SUSPECTED KIDNAPPER OF GIRL

Granville, Vt., April 30—For a second time today a searcher saw and fired upon a man thought to be Earl Woodward, farm hand and former convict suspected of kidnapping 11 year-old Lucille Chatterton, it was learned tonight.

Ernest Hall, the second searcher to see the man, said there was a girl with him. He fired from horseback, he added, but failed to wound the man, who, he thought, from a distance, was Woodward. The stranger then ran off with the girl at his heels. She stumbled Hall said, but picked herself up, and caught up with her companion. Both then disappeared in among the trees.

Hall hastily summoned other searchers but an examination of the vicinity failed to reveal a trace of the man or girl.

PRICE OF RAW SUGAR CONTINUES TO DROP

New York, April 30—Prices of raw and refined sugar continued their downward trend today, both establishing new low levels for the year. Sales of the raw products were made at 4.27 cents a pound delivered, and quotations on fine granulated touched 5.40 cents. Refiners showed little inclination to buy raw sugar at the attractive low figure, anticipating further declines. It was said, owing to the present large supplies in sugar growing countries.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Italian Flier in Persia.

Rome, April 30—Commander de Pinedo, the Italian flier who is on his way to Japan and Australia, left Bender Abbas, Persia, for Charbar, Persia.

LEADERS OF KLAN PARADE PLACED UNDER ARREST

Gardner, Mass., April 30—Three hooded and robed horsemen who were leading a Ku Klux Klan automobile parade through the Main streets of the city tonight were arrested on a technical charge of conducting a parade without a permit and detained at police headquarters pending arrangement for bail. They gave the names of F. Thomas Gelo, Gardner; Warren McKinney, St. Stephens, N. B., and Arthur Baker, Baldwinsville. The hooded riders told the police they did not know who owned the horses. The police took from Gelo a cross constructed of gas pipes which he said was made to be attached to a gasoline lighting system of an automobile.

Thomas Flynn and Rudolph Columbus of Gardner reported to the police after the klan parade that while they were on their way to Conant hill to witness a klan gathering, they were stopped by a man who thrust a revolver against Flynn's breast on Conant street and said, "You can't go up there." They said the man then went up the road a distance, slipped on a robe and disappeared. The police immediately began an investigation.

Police noting several automobiles gathering in front of city hall at 8 o'clock tonight made immediate preparations to cope with an unusual situation. Three patrolmen followed the parade on the sidewalk and when it reached Central street, Patrolman Frank M. Burns stepped from the curbing and halted the horsemen. The horses pranced to such an extent the parade was not stopped and Patrolman Leo Laprade, commandeering an automobile, followed the paraders and finally got in front of them and stopped the horsemen about a quarter of a mile from the business district.

The horsemen dismounted and accompanied the officers. They said they had no permit to parade. The police did not attempt to stop the automobilists. A crowd of 200 followed the machines to the meeting place. Three state patrolmen went to the grounds with two gardner policemen and remained on duty while the meeting was in progress.

INVESTIGATING STATEMENTS OF MISS MACSWINEY

Washington, April 30.—The immigration bureau today began investigation of statements made by Miss Mary MacSwiney, Irish republican worker, to immigration authorities at Chicago that she came to this country about January 24 on a British passport.

Officials at Ellis Island were asked to examine the records of all ships entering the port during the latter part of January to determine whether Miss MacSwiney's name appeared either on the passenger lists, or on the lists of the ship's employes.

The investigation of Miss MacSwiney's right to be in the United States was undertaken as a result of the action of Timothy Smiddy, the Irish Free State minister here, in calling the attention of the state department to published reports that she had announced that she came here without passports. In making known today that he had taken such action Minister Smiddy denied any intention of pressing for Miss MacSwiney's deportation. As an immigration matter, the Irish minister's communication was transmitted to the labor department by the state department in the usual course.

Immigration officials said today that there was nothing in their records to indicate that Miss MacSwney was in this country illegally and that unless their investigation showed that she entered in vojaton of the immigration law, they would make no effort to deport her. In event they find evidence that she entered by use of fraudulent passports, however, they said they would refer the case to the department of justice for prosecution under the passport act.

CONFERENCE FOR BETTER UTILIZATION OF TIMBER

Washington, April 30—Programs already adopted for better utilization of timber in the United States will be advanced tomorrow and Saturday at conferences between trade leaders and Secretary Hoover.

The meeting tomorrow will be the third annual assembly at the commerce department of a committee representing the principal lumber associations of the county, to discuss the advisability of altering specifications already in effect to control dimensions and qualities of lumber.

The Saturday meeting will be held for organizations of a national committee on wood utilization just appointed by Secretary Hoover in accordance with plans laid down at a preliminary gathering last fall.

Secretary Hoover expects to point out to both meetings that the country's timber resources are being cut over four times as fast as they are being replaced by new growth. Savings already effected by the adoption of standard program for simplified practice in industry, are estimated to reach the total of $100,000,000 a year.

S. O. S. CALL FROM SOME VESSEL IN MID-OCEAN

New York, April 30.—Radio broadcasting was stopped at 10.20 o'clock tonight when the S. O. S. call was picked from a ship at sea. Broadcasting was not resumed for half an hour while efforts were being made to place the position of the distressed ship.

The Easthampton station of the Independent Wireless company reported that although it had not been able to ascertain the name of the ship it was estimated the call came from a vessel approximately half way between the United States and Europe.

WITHDRAWS PETITION FOR BAIL FOR STEPHENSON

Indianapolis, Ind., April 30—Eph. Inman, attorney for D. C. Stephenson appeared in criminal court and announced that he wished to withdraw the petition asking that Stephenson be admitted to bail pending his trial on a charge of murdering Miss Madge Oberholtzer, 28, of Indianapolis.

BERLIN GAVE MARX 654,487 VOTES, HINDENBURG 394,361

Berlin, April 30—The official vote of greater Berlin in the recent presidential election as just made public was: Marx, 654,487; von Hindenburg 394,361. Ernst Thaelmann, the communist candidate, received less than 150,000.

May Day Promises to Be Quiet in New York

Thousands of Workers Will Attend Meetings—Precautionary Measures Taken by Police.

New York, April 30—May Day, the old world holiday that frequently has been provocative of demonstrations by radicals in Europe, promises to be quietly celebrated here tomorrow, labor leaders said tonight in outlining their plans for the day.

The three principal centers for observance of the day by workers will be the Metropolitan Opera House, Carnegie Hall and Tammany Hall, which have ben engaged for the celebration by the Needles trades. In these halls thousands of workers will gather to listen to programs of speeches and songs arranged by the unions' locals.

Although the police do not expect any demonstrations, guards have been assigned to watch the federal reserve and other banks, the stock exchange, St. Patrick's cathedral and various church, the offices of J. P. Morgan & Co., and the homes of other wealthy persons.

TASK SELECTING JURY FOR OLYMPIA MACRI TRIAL

New Haven, April 29—The jury that will try Olympia Macri, on a charge of murder still lacked one member tonight after a series of legal battles had exhausted the second special panel of talesmen in fruitless efforts to select the twelfth juror.

At the end of the prolonged court session Judge Christopher L. Avery supervised the selection of a third special panel of talesmen and the fifty men whose names were drawn will be ordered to report at the court house at 9 a. m. tomorrow. Today 41 of the 50 men who reported were examined without one being retained as a juror. Nine members of the panel failed to report.

Although the jury is not completed thirteen men actually had been accepted up to tonight. Edward L. Cole, a dairyman of North Branford, Conn., who was chosen yesterday as a juror, was excused this afternoon by Judge Avery when he declared he did not think he could stand up under the strain of the trial.

Albert M. Rice, a farmer of Cheshire, Conn., was accepted this afternoon by both the state and defense but later excused by Judge Avery when State's Attorney Arnon A. Alling admitted to the court that he had acted as a legal adviser to Rice on several occasions.

Following the disqualification of Rice, N. W. Cranshaw, aged 57, an accountant of Meriden, Conn., was accepted as a juror bringing the total to eleven again. It stood at this point during the afternoon. Joseph Koletsky, counsel for the girl defendant, used two preemptory challenges and State's Attorney Alling used the same number before the panel was exhausted.

The court excused a total of 38 talesmen during the afternoon after Cranshaw was selected.

When court adjourned for the day the defense had but three challenges remaining to five for the state.

TO PREVENT THE SPREAD OF SMALLPOX IN WASHINGTON

Washington, April 30—In an effort to prevent the spread of smallpox which has resulted in nineteen deaths in the capital since January 1, the public health service today urged all government employes here to submit to vaccination.

Physicians were assigned to the various departments to inoculate officials and clerks with vaccine without charge. At the veterans bureau, which shelters the largest single unit of government workers more than 2,300 have been vaccinated.

It was also understood that President Coolidge had been vaccinated, although confirmation was lacking at the white house. Coming in direct contact as he does daily with hundreds of visitors with whom he shakes hands, the president was advised by friends to take the precaution of vaccination, but his physicians and secretaries declined to confirm or deny whether he had done so.

SUSPECTS ARRESTED FOR MURDER OF BARTENDER

Boston, April 30—Two men were taken into custody as suspects in connection with the murder of Anthony Conroy, South Boston saloon keeper who was shot last night by one of four bandits who sought to rob the place. A third man is expected to be captured soon, police said. Witnesses to the shooting will be called in an effort to identify the suspects.

Statistics Of Income Tax Receipts

Connecticut the Only State in New England to Show Increase in Payments Over Last Year.

Washington, April 30.—Income tax receipts were $87,541,369.41 less in the first quarter of this year than in the same three months of 1924, it was shown today in the first official figures on quarterly receipts by which the revenue producing power of the present tax law was compared with the former rates.

The comparative statement, made public tonight, shows total income taxes of $519,238,836.98 for January, February and March, this year, against $536,780,190.89 for the same three months of last year. Receipts for each of the three months of 1925 were: January, $33,054,831.92; February, $41,457,051.34, and March, $438,726,937.72, and in 1924, the receipts were: January, $39,664,855.60; February, $57,173,527.67, and March, $439,935,807.12.

Officials made no comment on the statistics, explaining that the total for the quarter this year had been about eight million dollars above the estimate which they had used from last summer as the basis for calculations of government requirements. They probably will not be able to offer an analysis of the results until after the June quarterly payment is in, when statistics will be available showing the number of persons who paid all their taxes in the first installment.

The comparative receipts from the northeastern states for the two periods were:

| | Jan. 1 to April 1, 1924 | Jan. 1 to April 1, 1925 |
|---|---|---|
| Connecticut | $8,559,334 | $8,572,634 |
| Maine | 3,053,678 | 2,311,575 |
| Massachusetts | 31,926,261 | 28,870,912 |
| New Hampshire | 1,336,446 | 979,546 |
| New York | 149,752,747 | 153,448,446 |
| Rhode Island | 4,988,843 | 3,749,970 |
| Vermont | 1,972,157 | 936,723 |

VANITY CASE ONLY CLUE TO MURDER OF A GIRL

Gary, Ind., April 30—Road graders working a quarter of a mile from the spot where the mutilated and burned body of a girl who had stabbed in the heart and shot three times in the head was discovered last Sunday, found a large vanity case or handbag, today, and thereby provided the only definite clube of the past twenty-four hours.

A Gary telephone number on a slip of paper inside the bag became the subject of immediate investigation. Nearby, a blood-stained cloth was found.

A thousand persons, the majority from a distance, have examined the body, seeking to identify it, but all have failed.

Detective Sergeant James Connolly spent the day in Chicago seeking to find the person who sold a grey suede shoe found near the body by a police dog. The dog also turned up a stocking foot, burned off above the shoe. The third article the dog pointed was a shred of paper with a few words at the ends of lines and the name, "H. Schmidt." The animal detective also led the searchers to a small shallow lagoon, but wanders who searched it thoroughly were unable to find any sort of clue.

DESTROYER WITH RUM PRIZE IS OVERDUE

New London, April 30—The coast guard destroyer Downes, which was reported by radio to have captured the motor boat C-3699 off No Man's Land yesterday morning, had not put in an appearance here tonight with her prize. It is believed that the Downes is having trouble because of the weather, in getting the motor boat to this port.

The motor boat was reported to have had a quantity of liquor aboard when captured. Three men placed under arrest gave their names as John Butler, master; Joseph Foster, and Charles Travis, all of Fairhaven, Mass.

COMPULSORY INSURANCE BY AUTOMOBILE OWNERS

Boston, April 30—The Massachusetts Senate passed a bill requiring compulsory liability insurance by automobile owners. The bill now goes to the lower house. According to its terms motorists would be required to carry insurance giving protection up to $5,000 for accidents in which one person is injured and up to $10,000 in accidents involving two or more persons, at a "reasonable and non-discriminatory rate."

HINDENBURG OPPOSED TO MILITARY DISPLAY AT COMING INAUGURATION

Berlin, April 30—(By the A. P.)—President-elect von Hindenburg has let it be known that he is opposed to all pomp and demonstrative military display in connection with his forthcoming inauguration, and even prefers to dispense with his prerogative as commander-in-chief of the German army on this occasion. This is taken to mean that he will insist on taking the oath of office in civilian dress in the setting provided by the federal constitution, which prescribes a brief formula for the oath in the presence of the assembled Reichstag.

Hindenburg formally accepted the presidency. He has not indicated the nature of the appointments at his disposal for his personal staff, and appears inclined to permit the present official machinery to continue functioning until he is regularly installed in the German White House.

Political leaders who have returned to Berlin from Hanover concur in stating that the field marshal is manifesting no haste with respect to his official disposition and is devoting his attention to disposing of his voluminous correspondence. Among his official callers was the Minister of the Interior, Herr Schiele, the nationalist party's representative in the Luther cabinet.

In addition to despatching a personal message of congratulation to von Hindenburg, Dr. Marx, defeated Republic bloc candidate in the presidential election, indited a lengthy communication to the voters who supported him. In his communication to his successful rival for office, Dr. Marx declared that everyone who believed in the spirit of true democracy should accept the verdict of the constitutional majority of the people. In his message to the voters, after expressing thanks for the support given to him, the former chancellor blamed the communists for his defeat and observed that von Hindenburg was not elected by an absolute majority.

"As the people bloc is dedicated to the service of the fatherland, and such devotion must transcend all other considerations," he continued, "we accept the verdict of the majority of the German people in true democratic spirit. As defenders of the constitution it is our sacred duty to respect and honor our president, the constitutional representative of the German people and the German republic."

He admonished the voters who supported him not to lapse into the error committed by their opponents, who, he charged, persistently vilified von Hindenburg's predecessor in office, thereby gravely undermining the state's authority.

Dr. Marx concluded his message with an appeal to his following to keep alive the flame of democracy as an unequivocal confession of allegiance to the German republic, the first requisite for its authority and endurance.

BRIEF TELEGRAMS

The man whose body was found in the Connecticut river has been identified as Lawrence Wood of Rockville.

Photographic supplies valued at $25,000 were recovered by police when they arrested Joseph Perry in Boston.

Agents of the Ford motor interests are seeking a site in Mexico City for the establishment of an assembly plant.

President Coolidge has accepted the resignation of Solicitor General Beck and his retirement at an early date is expected.

Governor Trumbull has issued a requisition on the governor of New Jersey for the extradition of Samuel Rizzo, of Stamford, who is wanted on a charge of non-support.

Peace again reigns in the Spanish zone in Morocco. Even the unruly Anjera tribesmen have begun to submit to the rule of the native government at Tetuan, Morocco.

BRITISH CONTROVERSY ON RETURN TO GOLD STANDARD

Opinions of Financial Experts Are Not Unanimous in Approval of the Government's Decision—Fear That It Will Be Necessary to Raise the Bank Rate to Prevent Exports Of Gold—Second Reading of the Measure For Giving Legislative Effect to the Government's Proposals Will be Taken Next Week—Former Premier Ramsay Macdonald Leads Opponents.

London, April 30.—(By The A. P.)—Reflection seems to have induced certain doubts in the minds of the financial and stock exchange community concerning the effect likely to follow the return to the gold standard. The fact that exchange failed to respond, as expected, by jumping to parity immediately on Chancellor Winston Churchill's announcement, created fears that it may become necessary to raise the bank rate to prevent exports of gold, which it is considered in the present state of the British gold reserves cannot be afforded. Such raising of the bank rate, it is contended, would be bad business and prove a setback to trade.

Opinions are by no means unanimous in approval of the government's decision; some experts argue that the government acted hastily.

The second reading of the measures for giving legislative effect to the government's proposals will be taken next week. Philip Snowden, former chancellor of the exchequer, will move the labor party's official amendment inviting the house to declares that it declines at present to assent to a second reading of the bill re-establishing the gold standard with undue precipitancy and possibly aggravating the present serious condition of unemployment and trade depression.

In the house of commons tonight the budget debate was continued. Walter Runciman, liberal, expressed approval of the government's gold policy, but pointed out that the chancellor of the exchequer by restoring the McKenna duties and placing a dpty on silk was heavily taxing three chief exports of France, namely, motors, wines and silks, whereby almost alone France would be able to rehabilitate her exchange.

Sir Frederick Wise, unionist, noted financial expert, strongly criticized Mr. Churchill's precipitancy in restoring gold. He was disposed to think that it was a gamble. He had heard enormous figures mentioned as the amount of recent speculation in the exchange market. Nobody would prevent speculators from taking their profits, he continued, and that would mean the gold would have to be found from Britain's small reserve. He was sure that country was anxious to be protected from the possibility of getting any further into the hands of the United States.

Alluding to the government's purchase of $166,000,00 for the American debt service, Sir Frederick remarked that surely, as Mr. Churchill knew the gold standard was coming, it would have been wiser to wait and buy these dollars at a cheaper rate.

Ramsay MacDonald, the former labor premier, confined his criticisms mainly to the protectionist duties on silk and other commodities, and the government's insurance scheme.

When Chancellor Churchill rose to reply in the debate, he evidenly was in fighting mood and attacked Mr. MacDonald for employing superficial arguments against the budget. The freedom of his language drew angry protests from the labor benches, compelling the chairman to appeal for order.

Mr. Churchill heatedly exclaimed 'Are we really not to have free speech in this house!"

The laborites continued to accuse Mr. Churchill of insulting the workers by his remarks and to shout: "Withdraw!"

The chair supported the chancellor as having said nothing more provocative than had been said by other members. Mrs. Churchill tried to continue his speech amid angry interruptions and repeated cries of "withdraw!"

Mr. Churchill shouted: "I really was not aware that this was such a sore subject—what am I to withdraw?"

A score of labor members jumped up in their places, shouting simultaneously what they thought he ought to withdraw, but the chairman repeated that there was nothing for Mr. Churchill to withdraw.

Finding that it was impossible to speak, the chancellor of the exchequer said that as the opposition would not listen, the government was content that division be taken forthwith, and resumed his seat.

Mr. Churchill appeared desirous of moving closure, but the chairman allowed the communist member, S. Saklatvala, to continue the debate; whereupon most of the ministerialists with Mr. Churchill quitted the house.

Throughout the scene the labor front benches sat silent, and when eventually Premier Baldwin moved closure, the labor leaders, on Mr. MacDonald's advice, declined to challenge division, and the debate closed without division being taken.

SEARCHING FOR GIRL AND HER ABDUCTOR

Northfield, Vt., April 30.—Cadets from Norwich university, 125 strong, went into the woods in a down pour of rain today to join the band of civilians and deputies who are searching for 11 year old Lucille Chatterton and her supposed abductor, Earl Woodward, navy deserter, and former convict, who was befriended by the child's father.

Headed by two United States army officers, the student soldiers went armed and ordered to shoot if necessary, but only in case they could not capture their man alive. First they marched to East Roxbury, ready to deploy as skirmishers and cover a stretch of territory about a mile wide, advancing slowly through the woods and hills. When they arrived at this point, however, a report reached their commanders that the man and the girl had been seen near East Brookfield and the cadets were loaded into automobiles and trucks and taken over the road for that point, about eight miles to the south.

Reports reaching here said that a farm woman, Mrs. Reuben Wilcox, who lives near the territory being covered by the cadets, had heard about half a dozen shots fired, but that no one had come out of the woods to give any reason for this action.

The cadets chosen for the search were picked from the entire student body at the university. A request for volunteers met with a unanimous response and classes were suspended for the day. It was said the group now on duty would continue their search throughout the night if necessary. Whether additional students would be sent to relieve them tomorrow has not been decided tonight.

TO CAMPAIGN AGAINST RACE TRACK BETTING

Washington, April 30—A concerted attack against race track betting in all parts of the United States has been set in motion by church and reform bodies, Henry N. Pringle, acting superintendent of the International Reform Federatio announced here.

The work is in charge of state and city organizations in the individual states, but the federation is co-operating.

Mr. Pringle said that "anti-race gambling" bodies were working in Kentucky, Maryland, Florida, Louisiana, New York and other states to strengthen the laws against betting. In Ohio, he declared it was a question of law enforcement and the federation of churches of Cincinnati has been enlisted in the campaign.

FUNG CHUNG FOUND NOT GUILTY OF MURDER

Schenectady, N. Y., April 30.—Fung Chung of Hartford, Conn., was found not guilty of the murder last October of Lai Chow Wong, laundryman, by a jury in supreme court here tonight. The jury returned the verdict after deliberating three hours.

The defense based its case upon the fact that none of the witnesses positively could identify Chung as one of the three Chinamen who entered Wong's laundry on the night of Oct. 9, last year and who left shortly before Wong was found dead from bullet wounds. The prosecution held it was unnecessary to identify the three individually and the fact that three Chinese were seen to enter and leave the place and were followed by boys who caused their arrest, definitely placed the murder upon them.

Joe Samm, also of Hartford, now is serving a 20 year term in Dannemora, having been found guilty of first degree manslaughter. The third man, Lee Gow, of this city, as awaiting trial.

Indications were tonight that a new trial would be sought for Samm and that it was entirely possible the charge against Gow would not be pressed.

The trial was the second Chung had undergone, a previous jury having disagreed.

ANNUAL ENCAMPMENT OF DEPT. OF CONN., G. A. R.

Bridgeport, April 30—The 58th annual encampment of the department of Connecticut, Grand Army of the Republic, opened here this morning at the Stratfield Hotel with about 150 veterans from over all the state in attendance.

The business in the day session included the reading of officers reports and greetings by Ira Wildman, department commander; Dr. Louis T. Arneberg, national commander and Charles E. Doddridge of Doddridge county, Virginia, life member of the Confederate Memorial society.

At noon the veterans were guests of the Kiwanis club at a dinner and immediately afterward were taken on a tour of the city by automobile.

Tonight the annual campfire was held in the United church. Following a parade participated in by all auxiliary organizations of the city and shortly after Mayor William F. Bellamy and J. Edward Brainerd, lieutenant governor, representing Governor John H. Trumbull, extended their greetings to the delegates.

Tomorrow's session will bring the election of officers. The Rev. James W. Davis, of Bridgeport, department chaplain, will be elected department commander and will select as his aide Edward T. Abbott of this city, assistant general, who will succeed to that office, it was officially learned today.

JITNEY FRANCHISE SOUGHT BY FOUR APPLICANTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, April 30—Four applications for jitney franchise were considered at a hearing held in the town building here Thursday forenoon attended by officials of the towns of Hebron, Columbia and Colchester, railroad attorneys and others, about sixty in all. C. C. Elwell of the Connecticut Public Utilities Commission presided. Three of the four applicants asking for the right to operate jitney lines between Willimantic and Colchester were represented by attorneys.

Leslie W. Hill of Lebanon petitioned for the operation of a jitney route from Willimantic to Colchester via Columbia, Hebron, Amston and Packersville. Horace Porter of Columbia petitioned for the same route. The Connecticut Motor Transportation Company, seeking to operate over the same route as Porter and Hill and continuing on through Colchester to Marlborough was represented by Attorney Hull of New London. Attorney Foss of this city represented Hill and Attorney Kelley appeared for Porter.

Edwin W. Markham of the Hartford-Willimantic Jitney Association, applying for the same territory asked for by the Connecticut Motor Company, was not represented by counsel. In majority, the residents of Columbia and Hebron announced themselves as satisfied with the service now given by Clayton Hunt, of Columbia, and Horace Porter, of Hebron, who conduct separate routes for children attending Windham High school in this city, also carrying passengers. Both Porter and Hunt have invested considerable in rolling stock and the latter has just contracted with the government to carry mail to Columbia from Willimantic. Mr. Hill said he had ample financial backing to operate the line and he was ready to start at once. The Connecticut Motor company and Mr. Markham also signified their readiness to give good service at once if granted the franchise. Besides the residents of Hebron and Columbia further opposition came from the Colchester Chamber of Commerce represented by Charles VanCleave president and several Colchester residents. They contended that a bus line would tend to take much trade from Colchester and intermediate towns to Willimantic.

E. W. Curtis, assistant general passenger agent and Attorney H. L. Filer, both representing the New Haven railroad opposed the petition to run the lines, in that it would take passengers from the railroad at Colchester and Amston. The officials admitted that the railroad had offered but poor accommodations, but stated that they had to protect their interests. Commissioner Elwell, after hearing all sides of the case stated that he would submit his findings to his colleagues and would announce a decision shortly.

Mrs. Charles Crane entertained Ann Wood Elderkin chapter, D. A. R. at her home Thursday afternoon after being a good attendance. Reports were given from the recent national Congress at Washington, D. C., by the delegates, Mrs. Frank Larrabee and Mrs. Charles Larrabee. Lunch was served. The committee in charge included Mrs. Bert Thompson, Fred Jordan, Mrs. Arthur Turner, Mrs. H. E. Remington and Miss Faith Webster.

An informal tea and food sale was held Thursday afternoon at her home in Windham by Mrs. F. E. Giuld for the golden anniversary of the Board of Missions. Miss Clara Johnson and Mrs. James Lathrop poured, assisted by Mrs. John Potter, Mrs. Cassius Barstow and Mrs. Guy Richmond. Mrs. H. C. Lathrop was in charge of the food table. Decorations were early spring flowers, with carnations and pansies on the tea table.

The meeting of the Windham Teachers' club was held at hte High school Thursday evening with a large attendance. Under the direction of Prof. H. A. Seckerson, of the English department of Connecticut Agricultural college, the State Players gave a delightful presentation of Sir William S. Gilbert's "Pygmalion and Galatea." Informal dancing followed, with music by the Peerless orchestra.

DEATH OF HENRY RICHARDS ON EVE OF 87TH BIRTHDAY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Jewett City, April 30.—Henry Richards, 86, died Thursday evening at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Rosanna Gobiel. Mr. Richards was born in Canada, but had lived in Jewett City 62 years. He was very well known here and highly respected. He would have been 87 years old had he lived until today (Friday). He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Gobiel with whom he has lived for 32 years, and by two sons, Victor of Norwich and Martin of Westerly. He leaves 47 grandchildren and 36 great grandchildren.

Palace Theatre

At last nights performance at the Palace Theatre the Norwich Italian Band certainly was the hit of the show, their act was presented in real vaudevillian fashion. Much credit should be given Professor Pasquale Puca, director, for his efforts given in making this organization rank with the best. The way the Stars and Stripes March was presented one would think it was John Philip Sousa himself directing. The bill was opened by The Richards, with a versatile novelty entertaining act arousing some very clever tricks with cards. Rhody Jordan the Sing-Sing singing saxophonist from way down South made a great hit with his comedy songs and chatter. Maden and Dureu presented a very neat and artistic dancing act which appealed to the audience highly. The Versatile Sextette were the sensation of the show being one of the fastest set of tumblers seen in Norwich in some time. Lonni Ace, entertained with some very snappy songs and caught on right away and finished her act with a well earned recognition from the audience. Kaufman and Lillian furnished the hokem in great style which kept the audience roaring every second.

Along with the feature picture and the short subjects it is a well balanced bill and should be seen by everybody.

Wesley Barry comes to the screen in Battling Bunyan and plays the role of an ambitious garage mechanic who becomes enamored with the charm of a pretty girl, but fearing that he must at least have a partnership in the garage before he can ask Molly to share his flivver he decides to accept the offer of a local promoter to box before his club for the munificent sum of ten dollars. How he gets the name of Battling Bunyan after his first exhibition is told in a hilarious way and when his big opportunity comes to meet the champion he is not lacking in courage if he is in skill.

The entire show from start to finish is chuck full of the stuff that brings money into the box office namely entertainment and its an ideal show for children to bring their parents to Sat. afternoon.

Next Thursday, Friday and Saturday the management will give another local organization an opportunity to display its wares. Thumms Orchestra well known to the dance lovers have been rehearsing for the past two weeks and with the assistance of the management have put together a very neat vaudeville offering that will compare favorably with the orchestra with a nation wide reputation that has appeared at the Palace.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Breed Theatre

The Dixie Handicap, Reginald Barker's new production for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, which opened a three days run at the Breed theater yesterday is a screen version of a story called Dixie by Gerald Beaumont that appeared in the Red Book Magazine.

It tells how the lost glory of an aristocratic southern family was brought back by a horse and the young man who trained her. Full of the most thrilling incidents imaginable, and also possessing an unusually beautiful love angle.

The cast includes such notable players as Frank Keenan as Judge Roberts; Claire Windsor as his daughter, Virginia; Lloyd Hughes as "The Dixie'in' Kid," who, in spite of his nasty title is the hero; John Fairbrolh is the villain role; Otis Harlan as a faithful darky; Joseph Merrimon, Otto Hoffman, Edward Martindel, Ruth King, and others.

Slater Hall Musical Course

Since it was organized 21 years ago the Flonzaley quartet has played in more than four hundred American cities, has made 1,500 appearances in America and more than 500 in Europe.

Its name is inseparably connected with the growth of chamber music art in this country.

Beginning at a time when few Americans were interested in this the highest from the musical art it has been the principal factor in making universal the appreciation of chamber music, in the accomplishment of which it has been tremendously aided by the popularity of its Victor records, which perpetuate its art.

The string quartet in its perfection is what the Flonzaley quartet represents.

This famous quartet will appear in Slater hall, on Monday evening May 11th, under the auspices of the Norwich Free Academy.

Tickets are on sale at the Chandler Co., Broadway. Tickets $2. Tax exempt. Mail or phone orders will be given prompt attention. Phone 1548.

Broadway Theater

A perfectly balanced program and one that we heartily recommend can be seen at the Broadway theater today and saturday. Those who saw the great anniversary program the first of the week will not fail to take advantage of this opportunity of seeing nine more perfect acts of B. F. Keith vaudeville.

Stewart and Mercer, two able artists opened with a comedy novelty hit which traveled at a merry pace.

The Guy Bartlett Trio, are three men who can deliver the goods when it comes to furnishing comedy. A few good songs were interspersed.

Joe Martini, the boy with the voice, has a method of delivery that received the highest praise. He is in addition a comedian and can get over a laugh.

Sadie Banks, the versatile comedienne and her company, offered a comedy gem entitled Fresh From Sparta. Good clean wholesome fun is derived therefrom.

Jean Duvall and Co. are two men but your going to receive the surprise of your life when you see them. Songs and piano playing are their specialty.

Walsh and Tave, two clever comedians got across their new line of jests in great shape and everybody was the happier. They offer the very latest thing in hokum comedy.

Leonora Biben and Co. offered personality plus melody and steps. The company consists of five artists who add vim and snap to this fine offering which has a perfect stage setting. They are great.

Mack and Tempest in Once But not Twice. It is all in fun and given these clever people a chance to make fun and sing songs that would make anyone laugh and put them over at any theater.

Permane and Shelley will give you an idea as to just what a closing act should be. They call their offering Pulley- Pulley. This gives them a chance to tell funny stories, play music and wind up with a fast routine of acrobatics.

Stepping Lively is a fitting title for the sprightly mystery comedy drama which Carlos Productions have brought to the Broadway theater with the stunt king Richard Talmadge in the leading role. As the title indicates Stepping Lively moves with the speed of chain lightning, with the story spun here and there with roaring laughs, enough mystery to keep even the most jaded theatergoer in a state of excitement and romance sufficient to please even the most fastidious.

Appointment of John A. Foster, of Boston, as divisional chief and general prohibition agent of the eastern Pennsylvania district was announced by Commissioner Haynes.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Thursday slipped away without any word coming from relatives or friends of Joseph Johnson, killed here Monday as to their desires relative to the funeral. In the meantime town officials who will be charged with the duty of arranging for burial in case it continues to remain unclaimed are marking time. There is the possibility, it is pointed out, that instructions may momentarily come from Baltimore, where Johnson is known to have a sister. It appears quite certain that the dead man was without funds other than the $7.15 found in his pockets after his death. In view of the fact that he had been a resident of Providence only a year, according to the story told by members of a party of six of his friends who came here and identified the body Monday evening, and had borrowed money last Friday it is not likely that Johnson's friendships in that city were intimate enough for any of his circle to put themselves to the task of providing money for his funeral expenses.

For some time past the gypsy camping ground, a mile out of the borough, on the Wauregan road, has had its first settlement of campers of the season. They are of a traveling band that has come to Danielson every spring for years. Of interest is the fact that their camp site has been used for similar purposes by gypsy bands for at least half a century, according to old residents with good memories. The site is an identical one, near a little grove, and brook, with some grassland. It is on the edge of the state highway and only a little distance out of Danielson, where such products as baskets and stands find a ready market.

Chief A. P. Woodward of the fire department has in mind the addition of a unique little ladder to the fire truck equipment. This ladder folds and when closed looks like a metal pipe about a dozen feet in length. Opened it is a convenient bit of equipment, easily handled by one man, for getting into attics and other cramped quarters where an ordinary ladder cannot be used excepting with difficulty.

Killingly depositors in the defunct First National bank of Putnam are interested in the announcement that they are to receive another dividend —the second—some time during the early part of May. While no definite statement as to the amount of the dividend it is anticipated that it may be 15 or 20 per cent. of the amount of their deposits at the time the institution was closed last August. There were Killingly depositors both in the commercial and savings department of the bank, but what these deposits totalled is not known outside of the group that have handled the accounts.

Next Monday the drive for funds for the Windham county Y. M. C. A. will be opened in every part of the county and will continue for a week. This is the annual financial campaign of the organization and is intended to raise $6,600 for the maintenance of the work. Harry Richardson of the Aldrich Mfg. Co., of Moosup, is the general chairman and working with him in various committes are town chairmen on various committees are town chairmen and their aids. Burdette C. Hopkins is chairman for the town of Killingly. The drive will continue through next week and will be followed, May 12, by the fifth annual convention of the county Y., to be held at the Congregational church in Putnam. In the four years since the county association was organized a great deal has been achieved, an outstanding accomplishment being the establishment, in conjunction with Hartford and Tolland county Y organizations, of Camp Woodstock, at Black pond in the town of Woodstock. The membership of the Windham county Y during the four years has been in excess of 1,000. About 300 boys have taken advantage of the Camp Woodstock privileges. This camp will be open again this year, during July and August. Various parts of Killingly will be canvassed next week for contributions toward the $6,600 budget that is required for the year's activities.

Another tradition of school days shattered! It's about Cincinnati. Here in Danielson they taught us to say it as though it were spelled Cin-cin-nat-tah. Now the radio announcers out in the Ohio city have forced a revision by nightly reiterating a different pronunciation—as though it were Cincin-natty, if you please! And they ought to know. Incidentally, those same announcers, speaking the name of their state, make it sound as though it were spelled O-high-ah. And that's something else to think about if one is impressed that eastern states' pronunciations are standard for the nation.

May you remember on this first day of May that all deposits made on or before May 5th., in the savings department of the Windham County National bank draw interest from May 1st.—adv.

Up to Thursday afternoon 450 dogs, approximately, had been registered in the town of Killingly, evidence that the average citizen complies with the law as to registering these domesticated animals. In addition three kennel licenses had been issued, one of these bringing a revenue of $50, the other two $25 each. Today, May 1, marks the time limit for registering dogs without being subjected to the additional charges that will be applied as a penalty for delinquency hereafter. Town Clerk Frank T. Preston, who issues the licenses, said Thursday afternoon that he will be at his office in the town hall building this evening to care for belated cases of registration, a courtesy that a number are certain to appreciate.

It is anticipated that the number of Killingly's dogs to be registered by tonight will be between 475 and 500.

Fish and meat dinner, Congregational vestry today, 11:30 to 2 p. m.—adv.

The northeast storm that has prevailed, with unusually low temperature, for the past two days has completed the damage to some gardens that were planted very early. The prospect is that these gardens will have to be replanted, in whole or in part.

Business men of the borough contributed upwards of $900 during the past year for police service that includes lighting doors during each night. The money is turned in to the borough and goes toward the cost of maintaining the police patrol.

Damage of another automobile during Wednesday night by being in collision with a tree bordering Reynolds street on the south side of Davis park again calls attention to the fact that a row of trees remains standing there notwithstanding a unimous vote of a special town meeting, in 1923, that the state highway commissioner order them removed.

Grip colds have been afflicting large numbers in Danielson and vicinity for a week past. Numbers of people have been made so ill as to confine them to their homes.

Preparations are being made by the town to oil certain streets in the borough as has been done each spring for several years past. The cost is met jointly by property owners and the town and appears a much more satisfactory arrangement than the old water sprinkling system.

April proved a quiet and peaceful month, in so far as business in the town court was concerned. Chief John McFarland said Thursday that he had only two cases before the court during the 30 days.

Miss Rose LaRoche, a night operator at the telephone exchange, has returned to duty, after an illness of a few days.

Mrs. George Stone of Academy street has returned from a visit with relatives in Lynn.

The Civic federation has a meeting scheduled to be held this (Friday) afternoon.

Collector James R. Walsh reports that town taxes are coming in average well, with a considerable more yet be-well, with a considerable yet before the expiration of the time limit for paying.

A. R. Hendrickson of Springfield was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Thursday.

Clayton Wright returned Thursday after a winter spent in Florida. Mr. Wright, a former representative in the legislature from Killingly, said he had experienced a most enjoyable winter.

PLAINFIELD

The farmers and dairy milk in this district are discussing the early train service in the morning from this section to Providence. The milk train, as it is known, arrives at six o'clock in the morning at Plainfield. This train carries the milk to Providence. An Ekonk farmer has purchased a truck which will start trucking the milk to Providence, instead of using the train. Much discussion of this question is going on and it is believed that arrangements could be made to have the train run on regular schedule as heretofore. It is very inconvenient for the farmers as some have to start milking at two a. m. and haul milk four or five miles to the railroad station. Farmers in this district think they merit a little consideration, otherwise it may prove costly to the railroad.

The Minstrel Show put on by the Moosup Fire company was a huge success. The show played two nights and the house was packed to the doors each night. The crowd applauded every number and the laughter was continuous.

The entertainment held at the Community House for the Benefit of St. Paul's Episcopal church was most successful.

Contracts for the teachers of Plainfield were distributed Thursday. The contract calls for signature and return by May 5th.

The cold snap was broken by a downpour of rain all day Thursday.

All stores were closed Thursday afternoon in observance of the Merchants' holiday.

Arbor and Bird Day exercises were observed at the local grammar school Thursday.

All schools in the village were closed Friday to permit the teachers to attend the physical culture exercises in Willimantic.

PUTNAM

Marshall Kenyon, 82, one of the few surviving veterans of the Civil war, died Thursday morning after three weeks' illness. He served for three years in the 11th Connecticut Volunteer Infantry. His wife and three daughters survive, Mrs. William S. Vaughn of Greeneville, N. C., Mrs. Charles Wagner of Ann Arbor, Mich., and Miss Sarah Kenyon, nurse at the Pomfret Boys' school, but who makes her home here.

Funeral services for J. Harry Mann were held Wednesday afternoon at his home on Grove street conducted by Rev. Mr. Richards of the Congregational church.

Sixteen of the members of the Chamber of Commerce were, at the supper and meeting at the Putnam inn. The approaching annual meeting, which will be held in May, has brought home to every member of the board the necessity of keeping the organization alive and active. The sentiment of every one seemed to be expressed in the following:

"Such an organization as the Chamber of Commerce is highly desirable in times of prosperity, it is almost imperative when opposite conditions prevail, or when an emergency arises—such as stopping of trolley car service in 1920."

Francis E. Metcalf, superintendent of the Putnam Mfg. Co., which has not been operating for more than a year and which is now for sale, made the statement that it was highly probable that a deal would be closed in a short time, which would mean the immediate resumption of business. He added that if the deal were made it would be largely due to the co-operation of the directors of the Chamber who had succeeded in overcoming a big obstacle that might have prevented its consummation. He said that he had never realized before how valuable the organization was to the business life of the community.

President Gilman told the meeting that he had read of the labor trouble that the silk and other textile mills in Patterson, N. J., were having and that he had written letters to 30 of the manufacturers there calling attention to the advantages that Putnam offered to textile operators and that strikes were almost unheard of here.

At the annual meeting there will be an address by Alfred C. Moreau, manager of the Hartford Credit Protecting Bureau. His topic will be Credit as it Affects the Retail Merchant.

The April meeting of Alpha Delta class of the Second Congregational church was held at the home of Mrs. George Rawley and proved a most enjoyable time for the 34 members of the class who were present. Miss Harriet Brown played a piano selection composed by Vice President Dawes, a melody in A minor, which was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. S. Ufkoloff gave a very interesting talk on her recent trip to Bermuda. A number of photographs of interesting features of the island were shown. Mrs. Walter Wheation, Mrs. Crupp and Mrs. Charles A. Thayer sang delightfully "Love's Old Sweet Song," with Mrs. E. M. Warner at the piano. Mrs. Hazel Barrett gave a reading, "Mrs. Stewart Learns How to Skate," which pleased her hearers. The closing number was a song by Mrs. Crupp, "An Orchard Lullaby," by Denza, Miss Brown playing the accompaniment.

Joseph Bove is with the Cargill Trust Company, having started on his duties there this week. Mr. Bove is a native of Putnam, a graduate of the Putnam High school, class of 1923. After graduation, he entered the state treasurer's office in Hartford, where he remained until he resigned to go with the local Trust company. On leaving the treasurer's office, Mr. Bove was presented a handsome gold watch and chain by his associates.

The Sunnyside club is to meet with Miss Mildred Bard at her home on Green street Monday evening.

The Sunday School Teachers' April conference was held in the banquet room of the Second Congregational church and was well attended. Supper was served, after which Frank Weston Barber, A. M., gave a lecture on "The Power of Vision," which abounded with optimism and practical suggestions. Mr. Barber was for several years supervisor of school in this district and while here made many friends.

At the 106th anniversary of Masonoit lodge, No. 117, I. O. O. F., at Webster, Wednesday evening Misses Ruth and Dorcas Bartlett gave several numbers on the musical programme.

William Young of Pomfret underwent an operation for appendicitis at Day Kimball hospital Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Warren of East Providence have been guests of Mrs. Warren's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maryott.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Diamond and daughter, Elsie, have returned from a motor trip to Providence, Fall River and New Bedford.

MRS. BRADWAY, 107, HATES AIR, BUT LIKES HOT MINCE PIE

(Special to the Bulletin)

Putnam, April 30.—A large number of Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter, D. A. R., motored to Eastford this afternoon to make their annual birthday call on Mrs. Sarah Bosworth Bradway, who was 107 years old today. Fearing that so many visitors might prove exciting and harmful to the aged woman, only two of them went into her room and they stayed but a little while. She is totally blind and her hearing is impaired, but she takes an interest in what is going on around her and talks a little. She is able to get up every day and to dress herself.

Mrs. Bradway was born in Eastford in a little house near Crystal Lake, April 30, 1818. Her parents were Allen and Sarah Harwood Bosworth. August 12, 1844, when 26 years old she married William Bradway, who died in 1898.

Five children were born to them and of these two are living—Mrs. A. M. Bowen and Mrs. Mary Clark, both of Eastford. Among the grandchildren are George D. Clark and Mrs. A. W. Marcy of this city and Mrs. Maro E. Lewis and Charles W. Clark of Eastford. There is one great-great-grandchild, Keith Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Darwin Lewis, of North Ashford.

Most of her time now Mrs. Bradway is confined to her bed and is taken care of by her daughter, Mrs. Clark, who is 83 years. Mrs. Bradway is suffering from a specific disease which would end fatally if she were half her age. There has been a lowering of vitality since her 106th birthday and she talks with difficulty, but her mind is as active as it was a year ago. She is familiar with what is going on locally and talks in a general way about current events. She is not capable of carrying on a sustained conversation as it tires her too much.

A local reporter accompanied by a friend paid a visit to her home a few days ago and was permitted to see and talk to her a few minutes, with one who was living when—

Napoleon was still alive.

The first John Adams was president of the United States.

Not a mile of railroad track in the country and no steam locomotives to run on them.

No steamboat to ply the waters of the Hudson.

No cotton gin in operation.

Three minutes was a fast record for a mile heat.

Northwest territory had not been taken over by the government.

There were no sewing machines.

Napoleon had just ceded Louisiana, an empire in itself, to America.

Only hand presses were in use for printing newspapers.

Harvey had not discovered the circulation of the blood.

Flink-lock, muzzle loading muskets were the only kind known.

Anaesthesia was not in use. Major and minor operations were performed without the aid of any palliative and the patients had to stand it the best they could.

As for the wonderful inventions that have come with the development of electricity, they were fanciful dreams until Mrs. Bradway had reached the span of average age.

The newspaper representatives reported that Mrs. Bradway showed natural vanity, for she asked if she looked all right and if the room was in the proper shape to receive callers.

She appeared clear in mind as to what she wants to say but has difficulty in using her tongue to enunciate th ewords.

She never eats anything cold, has three meals a day and a luncheon at night, and has a partiality for hot mince pie," her daughter says. "In fact every time I make mince pie she must have some, and it must be hot, never cold. Hot doughnuts are another of her favorites. She never drinks any cold water, but does like coffee, also tea, preferably hot. At night she sips cold tea and nibbles a little candy if she feels hungry."

Asked if her mother ever went out of doors, Mrs. Clark replied, "Mercy, no! She thinks that fresh air would kill her! Even these fine spring days she won't let me open the windows of her room to let in the fresh air. Just a few days ago I opened a window just a wee bit, no more than the thickness of a knife blade, but she complained immediately of the draft and I had to put it down again."

Her father, Allen Bosworth, enlisted June 20, 1776, as a private in the company of Captain Stephen Lyon of Col. John Chester's Connecticut regiment for a six months' term. From May to October, 1778, he was in Captain John Sumner's company and from May 1780 to May 1781, in the company of Captain Benjamin Sumner. He was married twice, Mrs. Bradway being a daughter by the second marriage and the only survivor of seven children.

She remembers church days in Eastford a hundred years ago. Men and boys sat on one side of the church and women and girls on the other. The moderator kept a strict watch in order that there would be no smiling or whispering, and the tithing man stood by the church door and stopped any one that ventured to go past the church without attending the services.

Mrs. Bradway has never ridden on steam or trolley cars, or in an automobile. Neither has she ever listened in on a radio. Housework has been her vocation all her working days, and very seldom has she left her native town.

Ever since Elizabeth Porter Putnam chapter, D. A. R., was founded, it has been the custom of the members to make a pilgrimage to Eastford each year on the birthday of their oldest member, taking her fruit, candy and souvenirs. Each year she looks forward to this visitation.

Up to a year or so ago Mrs. Bradway told callers and relatives stories of her girlhood. She can remember back to the time when she was only three. She recalls going to school for the first time, being carried on horseback with her sister, by her father, for a mile and a half. In winter her six brothers would draw the girls to school on a sled.

The following pupils were neither absent nor tardy during the winter term:

Short Paragraphs

School libraries have been installed in 99.9 per cent. of all school districts inthe state of Washington.

Parent-teacher associations have more than trebled their membership in South Carolina in two years. An important undertaking of the state branch is the eradication of illiteracy in the state in 1930.

Columbia university library has added the millionth volume to its steadily growing collection. The education section is on four floors of the new building of Teachers college.

Courses in cotton cultivation and grading and special methods in industrial teaching, open to mill superintendents as well as teachers, are offered in the summer school at Clemson college, S. C.

Buffalo, N. Y., is in the midst of a great school-building campaign. Twelve new buildings are under construction, including a $2,000,000 high school; and plans are in preparation for two other buildings. This has become necessary because of failure for years to provide accommodations to meet the needs of this rapidly growing city.

Training in art appreciation as a part of secondary education is one of the principal topics to be discussed at the international congress of national federations of the personnel of public secondary education to be held in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, in August.

An increase of more than threefold in the appropriation for state-aided libraries, most of which are in rural schools, has been made by the Virginia general assembly, according to announcement of the state department of education. This makes it possible to aid every year 1,000 rural schools in the purchase of library books.

Dormitories for non-resident students continue to be recognized as an essential part of the high school plant in a number of Montana schools. During the past two years, however, several dormitory homes were discontinued because of low enrollment and consequent increased per capita cost to students.

A third annual school pilgrimage this year will bring 130 public-school boys from Australia to England. The boys will also visit France, Italy, Switzerland and Belgium. These tours are arranged by the Young Australia league to broaden the educational life of young people of the commonwealth.—School Life.

Coeducation has been re-established in the high schools of Paterson, N. J. In 1923 the segregation plan was adopted, but after a trial of two years the board of education decided to return to coeducation. The superintendent of schools is of the opinion that since men and women live together they should grow up together.

ARBOR DAY

In his Arbor day proclamation Governor Trumbull urges all citizens of Connecticut "to turn their thoughts and their hands on this day to the planting of trees, the making of gardens, the reclaiming of soil to the uses of agriculture the beautifying by flowers and shrubbery of our homes and highways, the care of our bird life and all similar activities to the end that the fruits of the earth may be preserved in abundance for use and for those who shall come after us."

This is an appeal similar in character to that which the governor makes every year for the purpose of developing greater interest and getting concerted action concerning a most important matter. Many of us do not stop to consider the value of trees and shrubs, and what's more we do not give enough thought to the provision of them. We admire certain stately elms, we are impressed by attractive grounds where trees and shrubbery are well placed and well kept, but we too often fail to realize how little effort is needed to get similar results in other places, or how necessary it is to plant such trees and shrubs for future results.

There is great need for continuity of action along such a line if there are to be trees and well shaded streets in the years to come. Provision must be made for replacing those trees which must be removed for any one of several reasons. With a general interest in such efforts, stimulated by the setting aside of a special day, there need be no worry about the future.

Arbor day is for the purpose of developing more thought along such a line. It is for creating an interest in such direction. It may make little difference whether trees are set out today by everyone, or a week or a fortnight from now. The real purpose is to get the idea firmly planted in the minds of the people and particularly among the children to whom must fall such interests and duties in the days to come. And along with it there should go a greater consideration for the other gifts of nature, the flowers and the birds.

Arbor day may be chiefly observed by the schools but it is nevertheless an occasion on which many other organizations which are interested in beautification work can give most worthy cooperation.

THE GATEMAN'S STORY

Getting down to brass tacks is a good idea in any line of inquiry, and it is certainly first hand information which a gate tender on a railroad is able to obtain concerning the manner in which the drivers of automobiles make use of crossings.

Writing to a New York paper a gateman in New Jersey, stationed at what he regards as a dangerous crossing because the railroad crosses the highway at a bad angle with a bad curve at either approach and an intersecting highway at one of the curves, deplores the manner in which motorists fail to have due regard for their own protection.

He describes this by saying, "Hundreds of motorists passing here know of the crossing, and yet drive with reckless speed, and if the gates are down I have to do all kinds of stunts to save them from crashing through the gates and landing on the track, and then the gateman gets cursed and called all kinds of names because they think the gates are lowered too soon."

The record of crossing fatalities bears out such a statement in repeated instances. There is that unwillingness to sacrifice a minute, an insistence upon speed that is death inviting and the disregard of care which is responsible for most of the crossing accidents. In this New Jersey case the gateman points out that "We have a shrill traffic whistle to blow if necessary when the gates are to be lowered, but in spite of whistle or lights some attempt to cross before the gates can be got down, even defying a red light held out on stormy nights as an extra precaution."

How true this is concerning many of the reports concerning crossing accidents. Instead of observing the warnings that are provided for safety and respect for which would prevent accidents, there's that reckless resistance on beating the gates, beating the train and though it may not be recognized in time an attempt to beat death. The gateman puts his finger on one of the greatest cause of accidents and fatalities at railroad crossings.

CRIMINALS OR PUBLIC?

In New York state a gang leader, well known as a bad man, has been convicted of attacking a woman and sentenced to prison for a period of 40 years. He has served terms in three of the state's institutions before. The sentence he has now received if served would bring him close to three score and ten. But how long will it be before he is released and back to his old criminal practices?

In an investigation which has been made into criminal conditions in New York state by the Brooklyn Eagle ... has been devoted to ... connection is called ... causes prisoners to accept their sentences to Sing Sing or some other prison without flinching when they are given 10 to 20 years, but a knowledge that crooks never serve a full term under the present parole system. "It is pointed out that "criminals and underworld characters are all aware of the workings of the system under which convicts almost never serve their full term in prison. They all know that the parole board will step in, cut several years off the sentence, and turn the convict loose under a probation that in many cases is little more than nominal."

Thus it isn't the courts which have heard the evidence and know something of the circumstances surrounding the crime which determine the penalty. The parole board is freely called upon to exercise its powers and there have been glaring instances which show how it works to the advantage of the criminal class with slight consideration for the public welfare and protection.

With the criminals looking to the parole board to play their game the situation is not what was expected when the board was established. If operations are just contrary to what they should be. Instead of displaying an unjustified leniency regarding those who are preying upon the public or have a long criminal record there is a crying need for the giving of the right amount of protection to the law respecting public.

OPPOSING DAWES

There are those in the senate who do not like the way in which Vice President Dawes is endeavoring to bring about a change in the rules. They do not cotton to his interference in something which they consider is outside his province. They are not willing to look upon his plea as representing any considerable amount of public sentiment, but seem content to believe that they have made and continue to make the best possible impression upon the country by the methods which their rules make possible.

Those who are opposing the Dawes idea and who declare that there will be no change in the senate rules are not offering any substitutes. They are inclined to the idea that the senate rules are about as near perfect as they can be expected to be, that the senate will insist upon doing nothing but what it pleases and that its pleasure will continue to be in the same direction that it has been found in the past.

It cannot be said to be a very satisfactory answer to the Dawes appeal. It doesn't make any better impression upon the people than the senatorial acts which have prompted the Dawes effort. When the representatives of the people by the senate rules give one or two men more authority than is possessed by the president of the United States and permits them to prevent the majority from passing legislation their reaction to the Dawes determination to put an end to such a situation by carrying it to the people themselves doesn't impress. Such attitudes and tactics will do much to strengthen the conviction that Dawes is right.

MANHUNT IN VERMONT

Vermont has a man hunt under way. The desirability of apprehending the fellow who has carried off an eleven year old girl can be appreciated, but it is to be hoped that the giving of orders to shoot will not mean the maiming or killing of another than the desired person.

All Vermont is at the present seeing the desired man among the transients that appear here there and the other place. In fact it would appear to be a dangerous place for anyone who in any way resembled the individual sought. There have been persons detained under the belief that they were the man and the girl, and in such case there was no shooting. But there have been other instances where shots have been fired for the purpose of stopping the supposed abductor.

Shots fired in the air under such circumstances may accomplish the purpose of halting those who might otherwise be disposed to disregard the commands given by Tom, Dick and Harry, but it would certainly be a most unfortunate situation if an innocent person should be killed, or even shot, by searchers who noticed a stranger and thought he might be the man wanted.

When orders were given to shoot it was with the intention that such shots should be fired at the accused, the presumption being that the identity had been sufficiently established to justify drastic action. Those abroad in Vermont who are in any danger of being mistaken for the runaway should appreciate the advisability of refraining from running when followed or stopped lest they become the target of searchers with authority to shoot.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, April 30—There is considerable talk in political circles to the effect that the democratic party will stress the tariff as an issue in the Congressional campaign of 1926, and in the presidential campaign to follow. On the other hand there are evidences that the "old line" democrats will bring up the states' rights question as one of the main, if not the main, issue.

The latter issue could be much more consistently maintained by the democratic party than could the former, and yet the tariff has for long been the mainstay of the democrats when they were in doubt or divided on other issues. However, the republicans will have plenty of ammunition in case the tariff is made the political battleground.

Nearly three years after the passage of the republican tariff law, we find it going strong. It is producing badly needed revenue at the rate of about $550,000,000 a year; it has permitted imports to double in value over pre-war years; and with mills and farms running at high production it has stimulated an expansion of our sales abroad to nearly double the pre-war figures.

When the present law was being framed a great majority of the democratic senators committed themselves to rates as high, and in many instances higher, than those reported out by the committee on finance, wherever those rates affected products of the states represented by those senators. Several democratic senators can be mentioned who voted for protection all the way through. Senator Reed Smoot had a tabulation made of those votes, and it will come in handy should the democrats try another shot at the tariff. On the house side, no less a tariff authority than Henry T. Rainey, democrat, of Illinois, has come out unequivocally in favor of protection, and John Garner, of Texas, the ranking minority member on the ways and means committee, is strong for protection to Texas products, at least. Then there is the Southern Tariff Association, which is doing some good work for the protective idea.

Political and Official Washington has its silly season just as other places, and there are signs that it is opening a little earlier than usual this year. Congress has adjourned and, except for the continuous Mellon-Cousens tax squabble, all investigations have ceased. Even the heads of departments are, for the time being, engaged in trying to hide their surpluses from the eagle eye of General Lord of the budget bureau, lest he drag them back into the treasury. In this emergency, accordingly, the possipersons and they form a most substantial group in Washington life—are racking their brains for inventions. It is well, accordingly, for those whose only opportunity to know Washington is through the newspaper prints, to have a care, to watch and weigh what they see printed. The working of the silly season has already given wide circulation to a marvelous story of how the president had his mat cleaned and blacked, and is walking on his heels to save his soles. Back of these stories, in addition to the silly motive, there is also a deliberate scheme on the part of certain of imitation government officials, whose feathers have been clipped in their government expenditures, to arouse, if possible, a feeling of protest against the president's governmental economy program, in the hopes that they will be allowed to return to the fine off-hand spending methods of former days at the expense, of course, of the taxpayers. Forewarned is forearmed.

The United States, according to the latest figures obtainable, last year spent one billion dollars for road construction. The phenomenal growth of traffic in the last few years has made road improvement very necessary on a most extensive scale. Highways nearly long enough to circle the earth are scheduled for construction by state highways departments in 1925, a total of a little over 24,000 miles being planned, while maintenance of 217,794 miles of road is scheduled.

The average cost of federal aid roads is about $16,900 per mile. This is for water-bound Macadam. Bituminous macadam, concrete, Portland cement, and brick roads vary in cost from $17,500 to $44,700 per mile.

Attorney General Sargent has announced that proceedings are under way to determine if monopolies exist in the gasoline and fertilizer industries; also to see if trade associations are violating the law by the exchange of commercial information. This, Mr. Sargent said, is in addition to a separate investigation in the gasoline price changes.

Through court proceedings the government has obtained permission to find out just how many patents are employed in the "cracking" process, through which it is alleged that the production of gasoline and its price is controlled.

The labor department was confronted with a linguistic task the other day when immigration officials reported that a Siamese magician and cook had arrived in the California port and that hte San Francisco officials desired the Siamese to be deported. Owing to the fact that it was not possible for the average employes of the immigration service to pronounce the Siamese's name, which was Lieiousszuieuszesszes Willihiminizzisstzizzii Hurrizzisstzizzii, it was changed for convenience sake to Leo W. Hurrah.

According to estimates by the national bureau of economic research, with headquarters in New York, the number of people in the country on January 1, 1925, totals 114,311,000. The 1924 gain was 1,627,000, which is about 160,000 less than the average gain for the last five years. 1923 showed the largest gain since 1920, when the population gained 1,996,000. Looking back over a sixteen-year period the year 1900 was the largest, when 2,173,000 citizens were added to the grand total. In 1924 immigration was placed at 315,000, births estimated at 2,645,000, and deaths, 1,333,000.

Today's Anniversaries

1557—England made her first commercial treaty with Russia.

1700—John Dryden, the English poet laureate, who sold his verses by wholesale, died in London. Born Aug. 9, 1631.

1769—Duke of Wellington, the great British soldier, born in Dublin. Died Sept. 14, 1852.

1786—The Chatham Artillery of Savannah was organized.

1825—George Innes, one of the greatest of American painters, born at Newburg, N. Y. Died in Scotland, Aug. 3, 1894.

1875—The whiskey frauds in the Western states were exposed.

1898—American squadron under Commodore Dewey destroyed the Spanish fleet in the battle of Manila Bay.

1918—Daniel M. Gorman was consecrated Roman Catholic bishop of Boise, Idaho.

1924—The Republic of Greece was formally inaugurated at Athens. Sixty thousand boys marched in Loyalty Day parade in New York.

ON THE JUMP

"What the dickens," began the aggrieved young man, "do you girls find to talk about every afternoon? Whenever I call on the phone and ask for you the word comes that, oh, Alma is spending the afternoon at Gertie's, or Gerania's, or went to lunch and bridge at Magnolia's, or is over at Astoria's house sewing! Six days a week at an average of three hours make eighteen hours' steady conversation, and I didn't think any human woman had that much talk in her system!"

"Why, we have such good times!" declared the pretty little thing joyously. "You can't imagine! We tell each other everything we have been doing since we last met and sort of talk about folks—you know!"

"It's worse than I thought," the aggrieved young man cried vigorously. "I bet you pan all us men to a frazzle, don't you?

"Do you discuss us men in turn, or just stir us all up in a heap? I suppose when one of them asks you over she says that the program for the afternoon will be a pot-pourri on Gerald Gashouse, Reginald Ropes, Tom Tilly and Harold Hammock, and please come prepared with any little items warranted to add interest to the occasion! And, oh, yes, bring your sewing.

"It is still a fiction that lovely woman loves to sew and a girl who is completely pinned together as to costume will bring the cutest, most domestic looking little sewing bag of Roman silk, given her last Christmas, all nicely fitted out with thread of all colors, needles of various sizes, thimbles, scissors and emery strawberries, and a doily she is supposed to be working on to finish a set. By the time she gets that set of six completed the batch will be of such ancient date that any intelligent museum would grab it. When did my turn come at your recent parties?"

"I think you are hateful!" the pretty thing declared, virtuously, tossing her head. "It is terribly conceited to fancy your name was even mentioned—"

"Then it was," sighed the aggrieved young man. I'll bet I got a-plenty! I used to think I had some friends, but you can't tell a thing about it these days. or one of the girls mentioned that my nose was crooked, I played a powerfully poor game of bridge, didn't know enough to keep a girl's hands warm, and had hopeless taste in clothes. I don't suppose there was anybody there who piped up in my defense?

"I expect it is against the rules for a member of these afternoon soviets to stand up for a mere man. Everybody gathers around the boiling pot and adds a few more hot ingredients! Hey, girls, watch him sizzle! Then when there is absolutely nothing left of us but a few coat buttons and a fountain pen, you cheerfully trot home and get ready to spend the evening joyously with the unsuspicious remains! Where was the holocaust this afternoon?"

"We had luncheon at Romania's," the pretty little thing told him. "She used all the new silver and china and glass she got for wedding presents, and afterward we talked."

"Sure you did!" almost shouted the young man. "I wish you'd tell me just what the murder was about me!"

"Well," the pretty little thing said, with great reluctance, "I don't suppose you'll believe it, after all this talk of yours and your terrible ideas about what we say, and everything, but Magnolia said she loved your eyes crinkling at the corners the way they do, and Gertie said she'd give anything if you'd ever pay any attention to her, and Romania said—well, well, just to prove how wrong you are—Romania said that now she had married Ted, you were the best bet left unattached, and—"

"Well, well!" the gratified young man gasped. "Did she, really? Romania always was a nice girl, next to you! These afternoon affairs seem very nice, sociable affairs, and after we are married you must be sure and keen—"

"How do you get that way—married!" the pretty little thing began.

"That's the subject of this evening's talk," the aggrieved young man assured her. "That was why I was so mad when I couldn't phone you today. Now, listen!"—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Seventy-five years old today is the gallant Duke of Connaught, only surviving son of the late Queen Victoria and uncle of the present British sovereign. His Royal Highness first saw the light on the natal day of the Duke of Wellington. This is why he was named Arthur and had as godfather one of the greatest commanders of all times. The Duke himself has had a brilliant military career and has held some of the highest commands in the British army. In 1882 he held the rank of major-general of the expeditionary force to Egypt and was present at Mahuta and Tel-el-Kebir. Later he saw much active service in India and assisted in the repulse of the Fenian Raid into Canada. Many years later he returned to Canada to become one of the most popular Governor-Generals in the history of the Dominion. In 1879 the Duke was married to Princess Louise of Prussia, who died several years ago.

NEW BOOKS

Choice, By Charles Gernon. Cloth, 352 pages. Published by J. B. Lippincott company, Philadelphia. Price $2.

"Character is destiny," said the Greeks. Choice is a novel of character, showing men and women in the grip of circumstances they have created through their own decisions. Intensely appealing is the figure of Peter Penhallow who evades his crisis, yet finds in the end the rare courage of the dreamer. But it is the flame and spirit of Helen Longland, from her first rebellion to her final choice, which gives the book its unusual vitality. The tale is told largely in dialogue of the sprightliest quality, with abundant and effective use of the most modern type of handinage as well as epigram and irony.

The setting is international, shifting from pleasant country English places to the warm color of Florence and the Bohemian life of the Latin quarter. It moves smoothly and inevitably and ends in swift, intense action.

Browning found life's business "just the terrible choice" and the modern young people of Mr. Gernon's story find, too, that they make their destiny by decision.

These Women. By William Johnston. Cloth, 247 pages. Published by Cosmopolitan Book Corporation, New York, N. Y. Price $2.

This is a teasing commentary on the complicated game of matrimony as it is played by Americans today. It has the amusing aspect of the father who spanks his children and then gives them a stick of candy on the side, for it is written by a man whose humanitarian outlook upon all conditions of life makes kindliness the dominant note of what he does and what he writes.

There is no attempt at flowery metaphor or preachment in These Women. It is straightforward observation expressed in the straightforward, humorous language that has become known as the American tongue. It is as typical of the class that forms the backbone of the country as is the waving of the red, white and blue; and not one of those who read it can fail to recognize in the incidents related, some that have happened definitely to him.

The first chapter on salary for wives, however it may strike horror in the hearts of innumerable husbands, will be gratefuly received by innumerable wives. It is a book that should open many a door now closed to happiness.

Publicity—Some of the Things it is and is Not. By Ivy L. Lee. Board, 64 pages. Published by Industries Publishing Company, New York, N. Y.

What is the difference between news and advertising? What is publicity? What is propaganda—proper and improper? These are some of the questions which are answered in this book by one who has devoted his life to publicity and public relations.

There are reprinted two addresses one of which has been delivered by the author upon this subject before the American Association of Teachers of Journalism at Chicago and the Advertising Club of New York. The questions and answers relate to this address, while the other address was made before the American Electric Railway Association.

Mr. Lee has some very interesting advice concerning publicity. He believes "in telling your story to the public," advises "using all the advertising space you can afford to pay for" and concludes with the statement that "If you devote yourself to making the public know the facts, you can have full confidence in the fact that knowledge by the public of what the truth is will make you free."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Laurel Hill Walks To Be Fixed

Mr. Editor: Would like to inform the party from Laurel Hill that I have had a standing order from the street commissioner to fix the sidewalks on Laurel Hill for the past two months, but as it has been impossible for men to get tar until this past week, and as I have had other work waiting longer than the street department's work. I have been unable to attend to this matter. Will probably be able to do this work the coming week.

Respectfully yours,
JOHN J. SULLIVAN,
Builder of Cement and Tar Sidewalks.

Stories That Recall Others

Describing a Gown

A little miss with golden hair who rides in the trolley has a gift of description.

On a recent afternoon while sitting across the aisle from a friend she was trying to picture a new spring gown which had been described her, but, according to the conversation, which she had not seen. It was blue here, red here, tan here, yellow here, etc., indicating as she talked the location of the various colors in the general scheme. But she summed up with the general description thus: "I imagine it looked as if she had spilled something on it."

Talent

John, who is an artist, has six grandsons of whom he is very proud, and it has been a matter of interest in the family to see which one is to inherit his ability with the brush. One of the boys thinks he had decided the question. During the vacation period he became interested and involved in the painting of a neighbor's garage. One morning coming home all bespattered with cream colored paint the young apprentice surprised his mother by exclaiming proudly: "Mother I seem to be the only one of us boys to inherit grandfather's talent."

Most men say they intend to do a lot of things they never intend to do.

LETENDER BUYS MORE CRESCENT BEACH PROPERTY

George Letender, who recently purchased the Montgomery property at Crescent beach, has now bought another choice piece of property on the beach front adjoining his recent purchase. This piece of property is bought from Chauncey Bevins of East Hampton who has held the property for a number of years.

The property includes a large house and lot and a large garage. The addition of this property gives Mr. Letender ample room for the accommodation of about 40 guests in the two cottages and he intends to cater to the comfort of his patrons at all times during the summer months. The garages in the rear of the two buildings are to be remodeled so as to have plenty of bathhouses for his guests and also to rent to the public. It is expected that the hotels will be opened by the middle of next month or the first of June at the very latest.

OBITUARY.

Cornelius Driscoll

The death of Cornelius Driscoll, 70, for the past 30 years an employe of the street department, occurred in this city Wednesday evening. He had been ailing since August of last year when he was run down by an automobile on Main street. He had been confined to the Backus Hospital for some time.

Mr. Driscoll had resided in Norwich for the past 55 years. He is survived by a son, Steven J. Driscol who resides in Providence.

Mrs. Louis Weingarth

The death of Caroline Schneider, widow of Louis Weingarth, occurred Wednesday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Phoebe Mach, of 7 Aborn street, following a period of failing health due to infirmities of old age.

Mrs. Weingarth was born in Germany, September 30, 1835, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schneider and came to this country about 43 years ago. She was united in marriage to Louis Weingarth, in Germany, about 44 years ago. After the death of her husband she resided with her son, Louis Weingarth of Mystic. When he moved to Philadelphia she came to Norwich to reside with relatives and had resided here since that time.

Besides her daughter and son she leaves 12 grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren, Seven of her children died during her lifetime.

Mrs. Frederick Friese

Following an illness of about two weeks the death of Henrietta Fisher, widow of Frederick Friese, occurred Thursday afternoon at the home of her son, Frederick C. Friese of 19 Ward street.

Mrs. Friese was born in Germany but had lived in this country for about 33 years, most of this time being spent in Norwich. In Germany about 64 years ago, she was united in marriage with Frederick Fricse, whose death occurred in Norwich in 1912. Since that time Mrs. Friese had resided with her son Frederick, and during her illness was most tenderly cared for by loved ones. She was a member of German Lutheran church and took an active interest in all church affairs as long as her health permitted her to do so.

Surviving are four sons, Herman of Newark, N. J.; Frederick C., of Norwich; August of Wauregan and Adolph of Norwich; three daughters, Mrs. Marie Bradlaw of Norwich; Mrs. Dora Kraft of Newark, N. J.; and Mrs. Charles Enrich of Buffalo, N. Y. She is also survived by 37 grandchildren and 28 great grandchildren.

Mrs. William E. Jones

Lottie May Willis, wife of William E. Jones, died Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her home in Wequetequock, town of Stonington, after a short illness. Mrs. Jones had made her home in Wequetequock for about three years and besides her husband she leaves a son, Irving.

For a number of years she lived in this city.

Charles S. Johnson.

Word was received here Thursday night of the death Thursday in St. Louis, Mo., of Charles S. Johnson, 84, a resident of Montville nearly all his life.

Mr. Johnson was on a business trip in the west with his son, C. Amos Johnson and intended to go to Kansas City but was taken with a shock in a hotel in St. Louis about two weeks ago.

He was the son of William C. and Louisa Mathewson Johnson and for many years was engaged with his brother, the late Edwin C. Johnson, in the dye extract business that had been founded in Montville by their father. He was also interested in the witch hazel mill in Montville and for a number of years his home was in this city on Williams street where he erected two fine stone residences. In later years his home had been in Montville.

The death of his wife occurred about a year ago, and his brother, Edwin Comstock Johnson, died about three months ago in Princeton, N. J., where he was connected with the library at Princeton college.

Besides his son, C. Amos Johnson of Montville, Mr. Johnson is survived by four grandchildren. Former state senator Frederick A. Johnson of Montville is a nephew.

Funeral arrangements were by C. A. Gager.

NORWICH ZONING BILL PLACED IN HANDS OF LEGISLATURE COMMITTEE

Mayor Milo R. Waters with Corporation Counsel W. H. Shields, Jr., and First Selectman William S. Murray with Town Counsel H. H. Pettis, made a special trip to Hartford Thursday in order to deliver into the hands of the legislature committee on cities and boroughs the zoning ordinance that has been prepared to apply both in the city and the town of Norwich.

It has been learned that the state zoning enabling act stands a good prospect of failing to pass in the legislature and in view of that fact, it was thought advisable to have the legal advisors of the town and city prepare a zoning act for Norwich. This would make it possible to carry out the zoning plan in Norwich, if the citizens so decided, even if the state enabling act failed of passage.

Embodied in the Norwich zoning plan, is a provision for issuing building permits in the town of Norwich through the town clerk. Building permits within the city limits have been issued through the office of the fire marshal, but there has hitherto been no provision for building permits if new buildings were to be located outside the city limits.

Proposed Zoning Ordinance

The following is the proposed zoning ordinance:

Section 1. For the purpose of promoting health, safety, morals, or the general welfare of the community, the city of Norwich by its court of common council is hereby empowered to regulate and restrict the height, number of stories and size of buildings and other structures, the percentage of lot that may be occupied, the size of yards, courts and other open spaces; the density of population, and the location and use of buildings, structures and land for trade, industry, residence or other purposes, within the present or any future limits of said city. Such regulations may provide that a board of appeals may determine and vary their application in harmony with their general purpose and intent, and in accordance with general or specific rules therein contained, such board of appeals to be constituted and formed as set forth in section 12 of this act.

Sec. 2 For any and all of said purposes the said court of common council of the city of Norwich shall be the zoning authority of the said city, and may divide the municipality into districts of such number, shape and area as may be deemed best suited to carry out the purposes of this Act; and within such districts it may regulate and restrict the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration or use of buildings or structures and the uses of land. All such regulations shall be uniform for each class or kind of buildings, structures or uses throughout each district excepting, however, from such requirement of uniformity, existing buildings, structures or uses, but the regulations in one district may differ from those in other districts.

Purposes of Zoning

Sec. 3. Such regulations by the zoning authority of the city of Norwich shall be made in accordance with a comprehensive plan and be designed to lessen congestion in the streets; to secure safety from fire, panic and other dangers; to promote health and the general welfare; to provide adequate light and air; to prevent the overcrowding of land; to avoid undue concentration of population; to facilitate the adequate provision of transportation, water, sewerage, schools, parks, and other public requirements. Such regulations shall be made with reasonable consideration, among other things, as to the character of the district and its peculiar suitability for particular uses, and with a view to conserving the value of buildings and encouraging the most appropriate use of land throughout such municipality.

Sec. 4 Said court of common council shall provide for the manner in which such regulations and restrictions and the boundaries of such districts shall be determined, established and enforced, and from time to time amended, supplemented or changed, and the official or authority who shall enforce the same. However, no such regulation, restriction or boundary shall become effective until after a public hearing in relation thereto, held by said court of common council or a committee thereof appointed for that purpose consisting of at least five members, at which parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard. At least fifteen days' notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation in such municipality.

Sec. 5. Such regulations, restrictions and boundaries may from time to time be amended, supplemented, changed, modified or repealed by said court of common council. In case, however, of a written protest against such change signed by the owners of twenty per cent. or more of the area of the lots included in such proposed change, filed with the said court of common council at or before its hearing on such proposed change, such amendment shall not become effective except by the unanimous favorable vote of the entire board of selectmen of said town. The provisions of the previous section relative to public hearings and official notice shall apply equally to all the changes or amendments.

Sec. 6. For the purpose of promoting health, safety, morals, or the general welfare of the community, the board of selectmen of the town of Norwich is hereby empowered to regulate and restrict the size of buildings and other structures, the percentage of lot that may be occupied, the size of yards, courts and other open spaces and the location and use of buildings, structures and land for trade, industry, residence or other purposes within the present or any future limits of said town of Norwich outside of the present or any future limits of the city of Norwich. Such regulations may determine and vary their application in harmony with their general purpose and intent, and in accordance with general or specific rules therein contained, such board of appeals to be constituted and formed as set forth in section 12 of this act.

Sec. 7. For any or all of said purposes the said board of selectmen shall be the zoning authority of the said town and may divide the territory of the said town outside of the limits of the city of Norwich, under its jurisdiction, for the purpose of this act into districts of such number, shape and area as may be deemed best suited to carry out the purposes of this act; and within such districts it may regulate and restrict the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration or use of buildings or structures and the uses of land. All such regulations shall be uniform for each class or kind of buildings, structures, or uses throughout each district excepting however from such uniformity existing buildings, structures and uses, but the regulations in one district may differ from those in other districts.

Sec. 8 Such regulations by the zoning a majority of the town of Norwich shall be made in accordance with a comprehensive plan and be designed to lessen congestion in the street; to secure safety from fire, panic and other dangers; to promote health and the general welfare; to provide adequate light and air; to prevent the overcrowding of land; to avoid undue concentration of population; to facilitate the adequate provision of transportation, water, sewerage, parks schools and other public requirements. Such regulations shall be made with reasonable consideration, among other things, as to the character of the district and its peculiar suitability for particular uses and with a view to conserving the value of buildings and encouraging the most appropriate use of land throughout such municipality.

Sec. 9. Such zoning authority of the town of Norwich shall provide for the manner in which such regulations and restrictions and the boundaries of such districts shall be determined, established and enforced, and from time to time amended, supplemented or changed, and the official or authority who shall enforce the same. However, no such regulation, restriction or boundary shall become effective until after a public hearing in relation thereto, held by the zoning authority or a committee thereof appointed for that purpose consisting of at least two members, at which parties in interest and citizens shall have an opportunity to be heard. At least fifteen days' notice of the time and place of such hearing shall be published in a newspaper of general circulation of such municipality.

Sec. 10. Such regulations, restrictions and boundaries may from time to time be amended, supplemented, changed, modified or repealed by such zoning authority. In case, however, of a written protest against such change signed by the owners of twenty per cent. or more of the area of the lots included in such proposed change filed with the said board of selectmen at or before its hearing on such proposed change, such amendment shall not become effective except by the unanimous favorable vote of the entire board of selectmen of said town. The provisions of the previous section relative to public hearings and official notice shall apply equally to all the changes or amendments.

Sec. 11. Regulations adopted hereunder by either the city of Norwich or the town of Norwich, shall not apply to existing buildings or structures nor to the existing use of any building or structure, but they shall apply to any alteration of a building or structure, to provide for its use for a purpose, or in a manner, substantially different from the use to which it was put before the alteration.

Provision for Appeals

Sec. 12. There shall be for said town of Norwich and for said city of Norwich a board of appeals consisting of five members, constituted of the mayor of the city of Norwich and the first selectman of the town of Norwich ex officio and three other members, two of whom when said board is first appointed shall be appointed by the first selectman of the town of Norwich to serve for one and two years respectively, and the other of whom when said board is first appointed, shall be appointed by the mayor of the city of Norwich to serve for three years and, thereafter one member shall be appointed to be made alternately by the said mayor and first selectman, the first such appointment to be made by the said mayor, and all appointments here under shall be made in the month of August. Vacancies shall be filled for the unexpired term of any member whose place has become vacant, the appointment to be by the appointing authority who appointed the member whose place has become vacant. No person who is a member of the court of common council of said city or a selectman of said town shall be appointed to said board either by the said mayor or first selectman.

The failure of either the said town or the said city to adopt regulations under this act shall not in any way affect the appointment of such board of appeals, but, upon the adoption of regulations hereunder either by the city or town of Norwich, such board of appeals shall be appointed in the manner herein set forth, such appointments to be made as of the first day of August preceding such appointment.

All meetings of the Board of Appeals shall be held at the call of the chairman and at such other times as such board may determine. Such chairman, or in his absence the acting chairman, may administer oaths and compel the attendance of witnesses. All meetings of such board shall be open to the public. Such board shall keep minutes of its proceedings, showing the vote of each member upon every question, or if absent or failing to vote, indicating such fact; and shall also keep records of its examinations and other official actions. Every rule, regulation, every amendment or repeal thereof, and every order, requirement, decision or determination of the board or of any court in relation to the subject of this act shall immediately be filed in the office of the town clerk of the town of Norwich and shall be a public record.

Such Board of appeals shall hear and decide appeals from, and may review, modify, or reverse, any order, requirement, decision or determination made by any administrative official charged with the enforcement of any ordinance, by-law, regulation, rule or resolution adopted either by the town or city of Nogwich pursuant to this act. It shall also hear and decide all matters referred to it or upon which it is required to pass under any such ordinance, by-laws, regulation, rule or resolution either by the town or city of Norwich. The concurring vote of four members of the board shall be necessary to reverse any other requirement, decision or determination of any such administrative official, or to decide in favor of the applicant any matter upon which it is required to pass under any such ordinance, by-law, regulation, rule or resolution, or to affect any variation in such ordinance, by-law, regulation, rule or resolution. Such appeal may be taken by any person aggrieved or by an officer, department, board or bureau of the town or city of Norwich.

Such appeal shall be taken within such time as shall be prescribed by the Board of Appeals by general rule, by filing with the officer from whom the appeal is taken and with the Board of Appeals a notice of appeal, specifying the grounds thereof. The officer from whom the appeal is taken shall forthwith transmit to the board all the papers constituting the record upon which the action appealed from was taken.

An appeal shall stay all proceedings in furtherance of the action appealed from, unless the officer from whom the appeal is taken shall certify to the Board of Appeals after the notice of appeal is taken shall have been filed with him that by reason of facts stated in the certificate a stay would, in his opinion, cause imminent peril to life or property, in which case proceedings shall not be stayed otherwise than by an injunction or other restraining order granted by a court of record or a judge thereof on application, or notice to the officer from whom the appeal is taken and on due cause shown.

The Board of Appeals shall fix a reasonable time for the hearing of any appeal and give due notice thereof to the parties, and to the public and decide the same within a reasonable time. Upon the hearing any party may appear in person and may be represented by agent or by attorney. The Board of Appeals may reserve or affirm, wholly or partly, or may modify the order, requirement, decision or determination appealed from, and shall make such order, requirement, decision or determination as in its opinion ought to be made in the premises and to that end shall have all the powers of the officer from whom the appeal is taken. Where there is practical difficulty or unnecessary hardship in the way of carrying out the strict letter of such ordinance, by-law, rule or regulation, the Board of Appeals shall have the power in passing upon appeals, to vary or modify the application of any of the regulations or provisions of such ordinance relating to the use, construction or alteration of buildings or structures or the use of land, so that the spirit of the ordinance, by-law, rule or resolution shall be observed, public safety and welfare secured and substantial justice done.

Appeal To Court

Any person or persons severally or jointly aggrieved by any decision of the Board of Appeals, or any officer, department, board or bureau of the municipality, charged with the enforcement of any order, requirement, decision or demonstration of said Board of Appeals, may within fifteen days from the date when such decision shall have been rendered take an appeal to the superior court for New London county, which appeal shall be made returnable to court in the same manner as that prescribed for the commencement of civil actions brought to such court. Notice of such appeal shall be given by leaving a true and attested copy thereof with such board within twelve days before the return day to which such appeal shall have been taken. The appeal shall state the ground or reasons upon which it is predicted and shall not stay proceedings upon the decision appealed from, but the court to which such appeal is returnable may, on application, on notice to the board and on due cause shown, grant a restraining order. The authority issuing the citation in such appeal shall take from the appellant, unless such appellent be an official of the said town or city, a bond or recognizance to such board with surety to prosecute such appeal to effect and comply with and conform to the orders and decrees of the court.

The Board of Appeals shall be required to return either the original papers acted upon by it, and constituting the record of the case appealed from, or certified copies thereof.

The court upon such appeal shall view the proceedings of the Board of Appeals, and if, upon the hearing of such appeal, it shall appear to the court that testimony is necessary for the proper disposition of the appeal, it may take evidence or appoint a referee or committee to take such evidence, as it may direct, and report the same to the court with his

LOYALTY CLASS HEARS REPORTS AND ELECTS

The annual meeting of the Loyalty Class of the First Baptist church, Mrs. Grace F. Willey, teacher, was held this week at the church rooms with the president, Mrs. Walter M. Cowan in the chair. Considerable routine business was transacted and the annual reports of officers were read and approved. Committee reports showed much work done for the church during the past year, sales held and that the class financially was in fine standing.

At the close of the meeting the officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, Mrs. Walter M. Cowan; vice president, Mrs. John J. Parsons; secretary, Mrs. Lena Perkins; treasurer, Mrs. Minnie Amburn.

Refreshments of crab meat salad, sandwiches, olives, cake and coffee were served by the officers, after which adjournment was taken until the first Tuesday in May when the class will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank T. Church of Pearl.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HAD 35 CALLS IN PAST MONTH

The fire department answered a total of 35 calls during the month of April. Two of the calls were bell alarms, box 4, pulled in twice within four hours for the blaze in the Main street block this week resulting in about $20,000 damage, according to estimates. Twenty-nine of the calls were telephone calls and three were oral. One call was for assistance at a fire outside the city limits, this being the call to New London for the Crocker House fire early in the month.

SEEKS DIVORCE ON CHARGE OF UNFAITHFULNESS

Perley J. Stevens of New London seeks divorce from Sadie McConnell Stevens of that city in a suit he has brought in the superior court, returnable in May. They were married October 5, 1905. The ground on which the divorce is sought is the unfaithfulness of the wife since Jan. 1, 1906.

BRINGS SUIT ON CLAIM FOR $2,000

The Charles F. Mitchell Co., of New Haven is plaintiff against William Sehmauk of New Bedford, Mass., in a suit brought in the superior court, returnable in May, on a claim for $2,000 dated April 15, 1925, which is brought on the common counts.

Hi-Y Club Will Make Plans

The Hi-Y club of the local Y. M. C. A. will hold a meeting this (Friday) evening at the association building. Supper will be served at 6.15 o'clock after which plans for the 6th annual meeting on May 8th will be discussed. Pres. John Haslam will be in charge of the meeting. F. A. Stanley of New Haven, state boys' work secretary, will be the speaker at the annual meeting.

Neighbors Mourn William Shea

Learning of the death of William Shea of 65 Sherman street, Norwich Town friends recall pleasant memories of a kind hearted man, agreeable neighbor and conscientious citizen. For more than ten years Mr. Shea and his devoted wife were esteemed residents of Town street, prior to locating in the house with Mrs. Shea's daughter, Mrs. Eusling, a few years ago.

Visitor From Nashua, N. H.

Henry Paradis of Nashua, N. H., was a caller Thursday afternoon at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb, of Town street, Thursday evening, Mr. Paradis and his cousin, William Ensling, were callers at the home of Edwin C. Gay, of Julian Terrace. The Paradis family years ago resided in Norwich Town and were neighbors to Mrs. Lamb and the Gay family.

NEW HAMPSHIRE MAN CANDIDATE FOR COADJUTOR

The name of the Rev. Dr. Samuel Smith Drury, headmaster of St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H., will be presented at the diocesan convention of the Episcopal, diocese of Connecticut, to be held May 19 at New Haven, as a candidate for bishop coadjutor, a place to be created at the request of Bishop Chauncey B. Brewster, of Hartford, who, on account of advancing years, has expressed a desire for the election of a younger man to take up the more arduous duties of head of the diocese. The election of a bishop coadjutor next month will virtually be the choice of a successor to Bishop Brewster.

It is said that the candidacy of Dr. Drury will have strong support at the convention from both clergy and laity. It is known that he will accept this office of bishop coadjutor, if elected. He is a native of Rhode Island and has been rector of churches in Boston and Providence. Some time ago he declined the rectorship of Trinity church, New York. Dr. Drury was chaplain about 20 years ago to Bishop Charles H. Brent. He has been at St. Paul's school 15 years. The educational institutions which have conferred degrees upon Dr. Drury include Princeton university, the Berkeley Divinity school at Middletown and Trinity college.

Dr. Drury was born in Bristol, R. I., in 1873, the son of Dr. Samuel Smith Drury and Hannah Wheeler (Goodwin) Drury. He gained the degree of A. B., at Harvard university in 1901, S. T. B., at Berkeley Divinity school in 1910 and L. H. D., at Trinity college the same year. Dartmouth college conferred the D. D., on him in 1917 and Williams college in 1921. Princeton university awarded him the degree of Litt. D., in 1922.

He married April 16, 1917, Miss Cornelia Frothingham Wolcott of Boston. He became a deacon in the Episcopal church in 1905 and a priest in 1906. He was chaplain to Bishop Brent in the Philippine Islands in 1905-07, and was rector of Calvary church, Providence, in 1908, and of St. Stephen's church, Boston, in 1908-10. He was made vice-rector in 1910-11 and rector in 1911 of St. Paul's school, Concord, N. H.

Dr. Drury is the author of The Christian Increase, 1910; The Thoughts of Youth, 1922 and Backbone.

VACCINATED 28 BECAUSE OF SMALLPOX CASE

About 28 persons have been vaccinated under the direction of the city health authorities since the discovery of a case of smallpox at 440 Asylum street last Monday. Dr. E. J. Brophy, city health officer, has made an effort to reach all who had called upon Mrs. Emma Cavanaugh before it was known that she had the disease and also those who might have been exposed by association with those who had called upon her.

Two of the health nurses of the town have also been isolated as they were called into the case when it was thought that Mrs. Cavanaugh's illness was only chicken pox.

The doctor is trying to locate a Mrs. Aldrich who occupied a tenement below that of Mrs. Cavanaugh. She was not there at his first visit to the premises and she has apparently kept away ever since but he is anxious to locate her, so as to minimize any possibility that she might spread the contagion wherever she is. It is understood that she has relatives in this city and it is thought she may be with them but the doctor has not been able to learn who they are.

Police officers have been assigned to guard the Cavanaugh house and the one next door which is occupied by the Snaft family which is also quarantined.

FATHER REILLY'S FATHER DIES FROM HEART TROUBLE

Norwich friends of Rev. John J. Reilly, junior curate at St. Patrick's church, were grieved to hear of the death of his father, William J. Reilly, 68, of New Haven, Thursday morning, at 6:30. Although Mr. Reilly had not been well the end was sudden, from heart trouble, and was a shock to the family and many friends.

Mr. Reilly has lived in New Haven many years and was one of the old members of the Sacred Heart parish but of late has been a member of Saint Joseph's church. He leaves his wife, five sons, Matthew, Phillip, William and Attorney Thomas, all of New Haven and Rev. John J. Reilly of Norwich, and three daughters, Sister Mary Admirabilis, Sister Mary Camilla, of the Order of Mercy, both at Mt. St. Joseph's Seminary, Hartford and Miss Julia Reilly, who resides at home.

On receiving the unexpected news Thursday morning Father Reilly left for New Haven, accompanied by John P. Corcoran and William Dougherty.

HOSTESS FOR MEETING OF THURSDAY PINOCHLE CLUB

Mrs. Harry Mason of Laurel Hill avenue, was the hostess this week, when the Thursday Afternoon Pinochei club met at her home. The first prize was won by Mrs. Roswell J. P. Brown, with a score of 8,620. Mrs. William S. Murray took second prize with a score of 8,260. The consolation award went to Mrs. Carl Gelb whose score was 6,290.

The following are the scores to date: Mrs. Roswell J. P. Brown, 81,070; Mrs. John O. Peckham, 77,560; Mrs. William Murray, 77,390; Mrs. Charles Wright, 75,990; Mrs. George Brenn, 75,670; Mrs. Henry Geer, 74,475; Mrs. Herman Pukallus, 73,830; Mrs. Harry Mason 73,685; Mrs. Milo R. Watters, 72,151; Mrs. Frederick Evarts, 70,515; Mrs. Carl Gelb, 70,285.

At the close of play, refreshments were served by the hostess. The club is to be entertained next Thursday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. Carl Gelb, of Hamilton avenue.

FIRE THREATENS BUILDING OF WINDHAM COUNTY OBSERVER

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, April 30—At 11:30 o'clock tonight Box 41, Buckley's corner, was rung in for a fire in the news paper plant of the Windham County Observer and the blaze threatened to destroy the building. The quick and vigorous work of the Putnam Fire department which responded to the call for fire prevented what threatened to be a conflagration. The building is located in the center of the business section of the city.

The blaze originated in a billiard room in the large brick building of the Windham County Observer and was confined to that part of the building. The only damage to the newspaper plant was from smoke. The greatest loss will be by smoke to Miss Chabot's millinery store on the ground floor. At the time the fire broke out the billiard room had been closed for the evening and the origin of the fire is unknown.

GAVE WORK CERTIFICATE TO JOE DIAMOND IN DANIELSON

When A. W. Buchanan of Mansfield was here Thursday on his weekly visit to issue working certificates for children of school age, he recalled that he issued a working certificate probably ten or fifteen years ago in Danielson to Joseph Diamond, the younger of the two Diamond brothers, who were electrocuted in Sing Sing prison, New York, Thursday night for the murder of the two bank messengers.

Mr. Buchanan remembers the

NAVY SECRETARY IS TO VISIT SUBMARINE BASE

New London, April 30—Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur and his aide, Captain W. R. Gherardi, will arrive early on the morning of May 7 to inspect the submarine base at the New London Ship and Engine company plant, where engines for United States submarines are manufactured, it was announced tonight. The secretary will come to New London as a naval vessel. While here, the secretary will be the guest of Captain Ernest J. King, commander of the submarine base, and Mrs. King.

After inspecting the base, Secretary Wilbur will go to Stonington and Preston, Conn., where some of his ancestors lived. He will leave here at 4 o'clock for Hartford where he will be the guest of the Connecticut chamber of commerce.

MOOSE PINOCHLE PLAYERS WIN FROM EAGLES

At the Moose Home Wednesday evening, the Eagles met their first defeat in the pinochle tournament at the hands of the Moose team. The Moose won by a score of 3,455. High man on the Moose team was C. C. Wright who made 3,115 and on the Eagle team J. Bowne, with a score of 6,985. The total scores Wednesday evening follow: Moose, 66,505; Eagles, 63,130.

CADEMY-STONINGTON GAME WILL BE PLAYED AT CAMPUS TODAY

[illegible] Man Weather was bound to have a way yesterday when he insisted at it would rain, rain and then some re rain. He refused to stop even to low the Academy boys to stage their nebdek ing to conquer their first ngton rivals, Stonington. That the ington lads were just as eager to ay the game was shown by the fact at they traveled to Norwich and met th disappointment when it was de ded that the contest be played today nday). This, as a last resort seems satisfactory to both managers, and ddy the teams will play out the ontest, starting at 3 (D. S. T.)

The changes in the Academy lineup ave been reported as follows. Hinsha, who has been playing the backstop position, will be placed in care for he old job in the left garden. Hinsha can do much better work in this osition and better all around playing s looked for from him. Misch will lay the back stop position today and rom what has been seen from Misch in is previous games it is thought he an handle the position in a creditable way. Another change that has taken place in the first team is the removal f MacGowan from right field to second ase, Curtin having been placed on the second team. MacGowan is more experienced to handle the second bag han in the field, having played that osition for the last two years. Who will play in Mac's former position is ot as yet known, but in all probability the job will be given to Busch or Brewer.

What the Academy can accomplish with this reorganized aggregation of ball tossers remains to be seen and it is hoped and looked for that the team will be able to give a good account of itself.

BULKELEY-FORDHAM FROSH GAME CALLED OFF—RAIN

(Special to The Bulletin)

New York, April 30.—The Bulkeley baseball squad which arrived here today for games with the Fordham freshmen team and the Morris High school team was disappointed when informed that the game with the Fordham team had been called off because of the rain and cold weather. It was later learned that the game might possibly be played Saturday morning before the Bulkeley team leaves for New London. Tomorrow afternoon the Bulkeley team will play the Morris High team.

This evening the visiting members of the squad were the guests of the Norwich club of New York at the Crescent A. C. club at a supper in their honor and later attended the boxing bouts in the club arena. Charles F. Noyes, Francis P. Bent and William McNamara acted as a committee of arrangements for the entertaining of the New London boys.

DERBY CANDIDATES WORK OUT ON MUDDY TRACK

Louisville, Ky., April 30.—Cold weather and a muddy track five seconds slow to the mile, failed to keep the Kentucky derby candidates quartered at Churchill Downs from working out today, although little was asked of the colts in the way of speed.

Captain Hal showed that he can run on any kind of a track when he stepped the five-eighths of a mile in 1.03 3-5 and galloped out three quarters in 1.17 1-5.

The Cincinnati stable's Rubenstein also showed a good trial in the mud when he stepped the quarter in :34 1-5; the :49 2-5 and three quarters in 1.3

Russell Cave D., Borgman's derby colt, went seven-eighths in the creditable time of 1.34.

Quatrain was out for a gallop and opened up at a quarter in :25.

BATTED BALL BRINGS OUT FIRE DEPARTMENT

Vancouver, April 30.—"Rusty" Boutling, the Babe Ruth of Vancouver's sand lots, took a hitch in his belt, spat on his hands and twisted his cap rakishly over his ear as a propitious offering to the goddess of chance when he stepped to bat for the Vancouver Bearcats this afternoon and broke up the game.

The hard smitten ball crashed against a fire alarm box a half block away, and rang in an alarm which brought most of the city's fire department to the scene. A minor panic ruled St. Luke's hospital, adjoining the baseball lot, when the jangling apparatus clattered about, as the firemen thought that the fire was hidden within the hospital's walls.

"Rusty" didn't complete his home run, having abandoned his circuit of the bases when he reached second, to join his fleeing companions.

CANADIAN BOXERS CHOSEN FOR PAN-AMERICAN BOUTS

Montreal, April 30.—Selection of five amateur boxers to represent Canada at the Pan-American boxing federation tournament to be held at Boston May 6 was made today.

The fighters are: Bobby Leitham, Montreal, flyweight, dominion champion; R. Smylie, Toronto, welterweight, dominion champion; Miles Palmeria, Edmonton, middleweight, dominion champion; C. Belanger, Winnipeg, light heavyweight, dominion champion; and A. E. Snyder, Winnipeg, heavyweight.

WASHINGTON CREWS TO ENTER POUGHKEEPSIE ROW

New York, April 30.—The stewards of the Poughkeepsie regatta were officially advised today that the University of Washington which won the rowing classic in 1924 and 1923, is sending varsity and junior varsity crews for this year's event on June 23.

Wisconsin's entry is expected soon, officials said, bringing the number of crews to seven. The others are Cornell, Columbia, Pennsylvania, Navy and Syracuse.

RAIN AND COLD WEATHER CALLS HALT ON BASEBALL

New York, April 30.—The sixteen teams of the major leagues yesterday pulled up for breath as rain attacked the schedule in both leagues with such scope and persistency that all games were cancelled for the second time in the last two seasons. The sweeping victory of the weather barons matched a similar shower bath for the complete bill of eight games on September 17, 1924.

The postponement prevented National League teams from opening new series which were considered as offering welcome relief for the two leaders. Both New York and Cincinnati had crumpled under the sharp thrusts of Philadelphia and Chicago. The Giants accordingly looked with anticipation of better things on their return mill with the Brooklyn Dodgers, while the Reds, now only half a game behind the leading champions, entertained justifiable hopes as they tackled the wobbling Pirates.

In the American League, Washington and Philadelphia were compelled to lay aside guns heavily loaded for what appeared to be the season's nearest approach to a crucial series. Pursuing both teams closely, the Cleveland Indians, with an apparently easy series against Detroit, saw hopes of climbing back in the pacemaking saddle temporarily washed overboard as the leaders were prevented from coming to baseball blows.

COLUMBIA FAVORED BY CHOICE OF POSITION

Philadelphia, April 30.—Columbia today obtained the choice course in the draw for position for the triangular regatta with Yale and Pennsylvania on the Schykill river Saturday afternoon. Her eight oared crews drew No. 1 position in the varsity and freshmen races and the middle course in the junior varsity contest. Yale drew No. 2 course in the varsity and freshmen races and No. 3 in the junior varsity, while Pennsylvania drew No. 3 in the varsity and freshmen and No. 1 in the junior varsity.

The course number is from the west bank of the river, No. 1 having the least turn at the trolley bridge and is protected by the bank in case of rough water.

All three of the opponents were on the river today, taking long rows up and down the mile and one-half course. The cold weather and heavy rain appeared not to hinder the oarsmen, although most of them worked out in sweaters.

Yale and Pennsylvania crews were out both morning and afternoon but Columbia was unable to take a morning practice because the shells had not arrived.

RACING STARTS AT PIMLICO TODAY WITH DIXIE STAKES

Baltimore, April 30.—Maryland racing moves to Pimlico tomorrow with the $25,000 Dixie stakes featuring the first of eleven days of racing in which $223,200 in added money will be distributed among horsemen. The outstanding feature of the meeting will be the renewal of the Preakness, on May 8.

The Dixie, for three year olds and up at a mile and three sixteenths, has drawn twenty-one entries. Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's Sarasen, to be ridden by Earl Sande, is expected to be installed the favorite, but will have competition from such horses as E. R. Bradley's Beau Butler, Chacolet, who carried the colors of H. P. Headley to victory in last year's renewal, and the Xalapa Farm's Sweeping Away. Other prominent entries, some with several victories at the recent Havre De Grace meet to their credit, include Aga Khan, Transmute, Rustic, My Own, Wilderness, Cherry Pie and Overall.

With the track so muddy that it can hardly dry out by tomorrow, the entry list is likely to be considerably reduced by post time.

NURMI ARRIVES FOR SAN FRANCISCO MEET

San Francisco, April 30.—Paavo Nurmi, the fleet Finn, and Willie Plant the American walking champion, are due here tomorrow to appear in the Pacific Association track and field meet on Saturday and Sunday.

Willie Ritola has been here for several days working out at the new Municipal stadium where the meet will be held. The three stars, together with Lloyd Hahn, the miler, will compete in special events against the best talent of this region. Nurmi and Ritola will fight it out in a two mile race Sunday. Another champion to be seen in action at the meet is J. Myrra, holder of the world's record in the javelin throw.

FOUR WORLD'S RECORDS CLAIMED TO BE BROKEN

Shanghai, China, April 30.—(By The A. P.)—The American runners, Charles Paddock, and Loren Murchison are declared to have broken four world's records here today. Murchison ran 80 meters in 8 3-5 seconds, and 120 meters in 14 seconds. Paddock ran 90 meters in 9 4-5 seconds and 100 meters in 17 seconds.

Sachems Accept Vandals' Challenge

The Sachem baseball club accepts the challenge of the Vandals for a game to be played on the Falls diamond Sunday, May 3rd at 2.30 o'clock, D. S. T. We would also like to correct an error that was in the Tuesday paper. We challenged Yantic for a game for Sunday, May 3rd instead of June 2nd, but if Yantic has games booked we wish they would correspond with us as to an open date. The battery for Sunday's game will most likely be F. Younce, pitch and J. Burns, catch. Address all challenges or acceptances to the Sachem Baseball club, 23 Lafayette St., Norwich, Conn.

THE TREE KING'S SONG.

I stay the ruth of the cyclone's path,
I curb the flood in its thundrous wrath,
For within my forests I hold the snow,
Lest its thaw should deluge the plains below;
And the drouth around me threatens in vain,
For my mantle of leaves calls the healing rain.
For man and beast a blessing I stand,
With my cooling shade in a sun-scorched land.
I give my life at man's behest,
And yield my wood at his request
To build him home. With my warmth and cheer
He can work at the cold and feel no fear
He makes of me tools, and in crafts and art
Right well do I play a needful part.
I make the bed for the rushing train,
And I tone the violin's heavenly strain.
When God beheld that the earth was good
He covered it thick with the growing wood,
And a gift to man of the forests He made
To furnish him fuel and food and shade.
In a floating log was the primitive birth
Of the ships that carried him over the earth;
And my buried forests made true the dream
Of what modern man calls the age of steam.
As he slowly advanced in his faltering line
I have seen his period since dawn of time.
And as it has been, even so shall it be,
Thrice blessed the man who plants the tree!

"RED" CHAPMAN HANDS EUROPEAN CHAMPION A TERRIFIC LACING

Boston, April 30.—"Red" Chapman, of Chelsea, scored a decision over Edward Mascart of France, European featherweight champion, in a 10 round bout here tonight. Chapman weighed 127 pounds and Mascart 125.

Chapman, who claims the world's featherweight title, by virtue of a recent victory over Johnny Dundee, retired champion, scored four knockdowns for no count during the contest, and in the tenth round almost succeeded in knocking out the invader. Mascart forced the fighting throughout but absorbed considerable punishment. Chapman landed straight right and left slams to the Frenchman's head and body almost at will.

Almost the first blow of the fight, a left hook to the head, dropped Mascart for no count in the first round. A stiff right, a few moments later again spilled the Frenchman. In the final round Chapman drove Mascart about the ring under a volley of left and right hooks in a vain effort to put over a finishing punch.

Hollocher Confident of Plaing.

St. Louis, April 30.—Charley Hollocher, former star shortstop of the Chicago Cubs, has talked over his physical condition with Manager Bill Killifer and will not try to return to the team this season, it became known today. But he is still confident his playing days are not over.

Swarthmore Beats Delaware.

Swarthmore, Pa., April 30. — The Swarthmore track team today defeated Delaware university 83 points to 43.

SPORT WORLD BRIEFS

Cohnie Curry, the Sioux City fighter, who has made quite a reputation in the middle west, is to make his eastern debut at the New York show on May 5, when Johnny Dundee and Sid Terris are to furnish the stellar attraction. Curry has been engaged to swap punches with Jack Snyder, of New York, in the semi-final contest.

Only one ball player was ever at the head of a baseball organization of national prominence. This was Robert Ferguson of Brooklyn, who was president of the National Association from 1871 to 1875. Ferguson held this position while managing a club in Brooklyn and playing regularly on his ball team.

Tom Sharkey, who has taken out a California boxing license with the announced intention of returning to the ring, was born November 26, 1873, at Dundalk, Ireland, which makes him some 51 1-2 years of age. Sharkey was one of the famous crop of heavyweights of several decades back, which included, Corbett Fitzsimmons, Jeffries and others. When at the height of his career "Sailor Tom" had a number of championship fights, but was never successful in winning the title. He ranked high, however, as one of the toughest men ever to crawl under the ropes.

President John A. Heydler of the National League last week personally delivered a pass from his organization to President Coolidge. Discussing his visit to the White House, he said: "I found the President a good fan, and enjoyed my talk with him very much. He truly enjoys baseball, as talks about it like a regular fan. He was thrilled by the World's Series last Fall, and plans to attend many games this season. At his request we went over many matters pertaining to the game, from the executive as well as the playing side. We talked about sports in general and the President, I found, has a full appreciation of the general love of his countrymen for all kinds of sport, and baseball in particular."

At the requiem high mass in Immaculate Conception church, Baltic, at 8 o'clock (S. T.) Rev. William T. O'Brien was celebrant. There were a number of beautiful floral remembrances.

Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Baltic, where the committal service was read by Father O'Brien. The bearers were Ovid and Henry St. Germaine, brothers, Wilfred Raymond, Felix Provencher and Lionel Cote, brothers-in-lay and Arthur Tessies, a cousin, of Mrs. Berger.

Included in the attendance of relatives and friends, some from out of town, was a delegation from St. John's society, Baltic.

Undertaker Geroge G. Grant was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

DEATH PENALTY INDICTMENT FOR BOMBING IN SOFIA

Sofia, April 30—(By the A. P.)—An indictment, demanding the death penalty for those accused of committing the recent cathedral bombing in Sofia, read to the investigating court martial, charged that this and other outrages were the work of a conspirators' committee, formed in conjunction with delegates of a secret communist committee and with Agrarian party communists.

Those indicted are Sacristan Freedman of the Sveti Kral Cathedral, where the explosion which killed 160 persons occurred; former Communist Deputy Grantscharoff, who was shot by police Tuesday; and Communist Leaders Petrini, Koesovski, Koeff and Dimitroff. With the exception of Freedman and Petrini, who are under arrest, and Grantschroff, who has been killed, all the accused have escaped.

The indictment said that the bomb was not placed in the cathedral by the terrorist Ninkoff who has been killed, but by an emissar named Abadieff. A defense counsel has been retained and about 50 witnesses have been summoned.

BRISTOL FIREMEN INJURED BY FALL INTO 75-FOOT WELL

Bristol, April 30—Two firemen were injured here early today when they fell into a 75-foot well while fighting a fire which damaged a two-family house and forced the occupants to flee scantily clad.

Captain Morgan Farrell, dropped thirty feet to the first landing of the well, when the curbing over the well gave way. He wrenched a shoulder and suffered lacerations about the head. Fireman Frank Roberts, who fell into the well at the same time, hung onto the hose and was pulled out by other members of the company. He was cut about the face and hands. Both men were treated by a doctor and taken home.

BRAKEMAN KILLED BY FALL FROM FREIGHT CAR

WESTERLY

The charter members of the D. D. C. club of Westerly were hosts Tuesday night at a surprise supper and theatre party for the club president, Mrs. Jessie C. Davison, of Pawcatuck. For the theatre party a visit was made to a theatre in New London. On the return to Westerly the Inn was visited for the after-theatre supper. Toasts were proposed and were responded to by the club members.

Acting under the new law passed at the session of the Rhode Island legislature which became a law when signed by Governor Aram J. Pothier on the first of the present week, the Rhode Island State Board of Public Roads, pending investigation, suspended the operators' licenses of Andrew W. Fallon giving him permission to run an automobile in Rhode Island. Suspension was made as the result of the car operated by him on Sunday night colliding with a team occupied by Mrs. Sarah Anna Chappell, in which accident Mrs. Chappell was thrown to the highway near Wakefield, and died from a fracture of the skull in the South County hospital Monday.

Salim Tamer of Westerly having been convicted of reckless operation of an automobile, also had his operator's license suspended.

Following diligent application to instruction given them, fourteen women who have completed the course in home hygiene were awarded certificates Wednesday evening at a meeting held in the rooms of the Red Cross and Visiting Nurses association, 43 High street. The class comprised Mrs. Dora Reale, Mrs. Helen Raithel, Miss Carrie O'Connell, Miss Helen O'Connell, Miss Aileen Maxwell, Mrs. Maude Larkin, Miss Carrie Bruckner, Miss Emily Huter, Miss Emma Huter, Mrs. Anna Robinson, Miss Katherine Malloy, Mrs. Hazel Williams, Miss Mary Finizo and Miss Mary Berth. The certificates were presented by James M. Pendleton, chairman of the Westerly chapter of the American Red Cross, under whose auspices the class was conducted. The course, covering every phase of home hygiene, included 12 lessons of an hour and a half each. After receiving their certificates from Mr. Pendleton the 14 pupils presented their instructor, Miss Wilhelmina Kosischke, a fitted dressing case. Refreshments and a social hour followed.

The pumper of Westerly Fire department, with Fire Chief George E. Egger, was called to Ashaway Thursday afternoon about 4:30 in response to an out of the district alarm No. 33 sounded on the bell of the Union street fire station. The fire was in the residence of Charles P. Ecclestone, on Bread street, Ashaway, but was reported as out when the Westerly firemen arrived. Children playing with matches are said to have been responsible for the fire which burned through one floor. After waiting a short time to be sure the flames were out the Westerly firemen returned home.

Thursday was the last day for the payment of Westerly Fire district taxes when advantage could be taken of a 3 per cent discount. From now on interest at the rate of 12 per cent is collectible. Thursday, nearly $8,000 of the total amount due of $10,000 had been paid at the office of Collector and Treasurer Everett E. Whipple at the Westerly town clerk's office. Tuesday was the last day on which dog taxes, which go to help support the public schools, could be paid without the payment of the $1 fine which is collected with the dog tax after May 1st. Russell L. Slocum is the special dog officer in Westerly, there being about 500 dogs registered here this year.

Thursday morning, Vesta Knowles, wife of Edward Congdon, general manager of the C. W. Willard Hardware company of this town, died at the home of her mother, Mrs. Stephen W. Budlong of Arlington avenue, Providence. Mrs. Congdon had been ill for many months, and while her death saddened friends in town, it was not entirely unexpected.

While stepping off a Groton and Stonington Electric car on Pawcatuck river bridge, Thursday morning, to get a newspaper, B. Frank Lake, of West Broad Street, Pawcatuck, employed at the office of the C. B. Coffrell and Son Press Works, was struck by an automobile operated by Oliver C. Andrews. The automobile was proceeding slowly, Mr. Lake was knocked down and sustained bruises and shock which prevented him from attending to his office duties.

Mrs. Alexander Mitchell of Westerly was a New London visitor Thursday afternoon, when she visited her husband who is under observation at the Lawrence hospital.

William D. Cross of Westerly was a visitor Wednesday evening in Baltic and Danielson.

As the result of an accidental knife thrust, Farquhar Smith is suffering an infection in his left hand.

William E. Totten of Westerly was an automobile visitor in Norwich Wednesday evening.

The storm of Thursday morning prevented some of the workmen in the Westerly highway department from engaging in the improvement of Ocean View highway at Watch Hill, where Road Engineer A. L. Leon and force of men are improving the road before the heavy summer travel.

Fred Holdsworth and family of Pawcatuck have taken up their residence at their cottage at Pleasant View to continue there until the end of the summer season.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond E. Taber of Bernardston, Mass., after an absence of four years from Westerly, where they formerly resided, returned home Thursday after being the guest of friends here.

Suspension of the cleaning up process of the "Little Biltmore" restaurant on West Broad street by Proprietors Joseph Wagner and George McBride was decided on by them, following the recent gutting of the place by fire, until an agreement can be reached.

A May breakfast was planned at Episcopal church by the choir, Mrs. the church school rooms of Christ Charles S. Larkin, choir director and organist. Mrs. Carrie B. Frasier was chairman of the committee and the menu comprised:

Cereal

Oatmeal — Post Toasties
Pan Cakes — Maple Syrup
French Fried Potatoes
Bacon and Eggs
Strawberries and Cream
Coffee — Rolls

Ten or a dozen tables were attractively set for this revival of a former custom. Assisting in the preparation of the meal were Mrs. David A. Lowry and John Oppy. Mrs. Gertrude Mason was head waiter.

MERGER OF THREE COMPANIES, WITH OFFICES IN WESTERLY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Westerly, R. I., April 30—The union of the three subsidiaries of the Narragansett Electric Lighting company serving Washington county, was effected during the past week. The new Company will be known as the South County Public Service Company and takes over the business of the Westerly Light and Power Company, the Naragansett Pier Electric Light and Power Company and the Wickford Light and Power Company.

The Public Service Company will have its general offices at Westerly although continuing the local offices and electric shops at Wakefield and Wickford.

An application to reduce rates for lighting and small power customers has been made to the Utilities Commissioner and this reduction will start May 1st. The consolidation was made for the purposes of economy and at a hearing before the South Kingstown Board of Trade early in 1924 officials of the Narragansett Pier Electric Light and Power Company promised a reduction in lighting rates if the consolidation was made. This pledge the new company will attempt to fulfil immediately.

The merger gives the new company no additional powers nor is any additional stock to be issued.

The control of the South County Public Service Company will be in the hands of the Narragansett Electric Lighting Company, many of whose stock-holders are residents of Washington county.

William Clark of Elm street, Westerly, is president of the South County Public Service company. Other officers are: Edwin A. Barrows of Providence, vice president; Franklin L. Hall of Providence, secretary and treasurer; Leslie F. Mowry, Providence, assistant secretary-treasurer; William C. Clarke, Westerly, general manager. The directors are William Clark and William C. Clarke, Westerly; Edwin A. Barrows, W. Douglas, Franklin L. Hall, Jesse P. Gray, Providence; Arthur B. Lisle, East Greenwich; Louis F. Bell, Wakefield; John P. B. Pierce, Wickford.

Following the policy of the Westerly Light and Power company, to have uniform rates, the new rate reduction will apply to customers of the Mystic Power company. There will be no change in the roganization and officials of the Mystic Power company.

MYSTIC

The April supper of the Baptist church was held Thursday night, Mrs. Wilfred S. Lamb was the chairman and her committee was Mrs. L. W. Batty, Mrs. Gurdon Allyn, Mrs. George Denison, Mrs. Carl Cutler, Mrs. A. W. Butler, Mrs. Leander Park, Mrs. Arthur Paine, Mrs. Wallace Phillips, Misses Bessie Heath, Clara Chase and Grace Sedfield.

Child Welfare Day is to be observed this (Friday) afternoon at the community house. There will be a competition for the most nearly perfect child in three classes. The judges are Doctors A. H. Myer, and L. M. Allyn, assisted by Misses Hyde and Betty Hutton and Assistant Manager Clish and Agent A. Pelletier of the Metropolitan Insurance Company. Mothers of children up to 12 have been asked to bring them. The children will be examined and advice given as to proper care for them, when requested. The insurance company will award prizes of $5 each to the children in each of the three classes under two years, from two to seven and from seven to twelve.

Word was received here of the death of James F. Morgan, 47, at his home 933 East 32nd Street, Brooklyn, on Monday following a short illness with pneumonia. He was the son of Dr. James F. Morgan and the late Martha L. Morgan. He is survived by his father and two sisters, M. Louise, and F. Anntie Morgan and an aunt, Mrs. Annie Morgan Brown of Washingte street, Mystic. Prayer was held at the home in Brooklyn, Wednesday night and the body was brought here Thursday. Services were held in the Greenman Memorial chapel, Elm Grove cemetery, conducted by Rev. J. Romyn Danforth of New London. Friends from here were present.

Mrs. O. A. Wilcox of Gravel street, entertained at her home friends who played cards and $14 was realized that will be used by the community house. It is planned to give several of these benefit card parties afternoons in the coming months.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Kreizer recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. William Marquardt of Groton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Thurman of Allenton, R. I., formerly of Bridgeport spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Phillips.

Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Lowe motored to Boston, Mass., Lowe's mother, Mrs. Abbie Lowe returned with them for a visit.

The call extended by the Congregational church to Rev. Allan Constantine of Richmond, Va., has been declined as he had already accepted a call to another church before receiving the call from the church here. It is a disappointment to many of the local members.

Miss Emily Gates has returned to her summer home here after spending the winter with her sister Mrs. Hisley, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Bruce are visiting Mr. Bunnell's mother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. C. Herman Eldredge, on West Mystic avenue.

Martin Chapman is recovering from a grip cold.

Mrs. Randall Brown is ill. Miss Ruth Dodd is caring for her.

The Dinty Moore club met with Mrs. Charles Barstow on Denison avenue, Wednesday. Those present were Mrs. C. F. Congdon, Mrs. Nellie Wood, Mrs. Eva Burdick, Mrs. Ruth Newell, Mrs. C. C. Dodd, Miss Callie Chapman, Miss Clara Frink. As it was Mrs. Barstow's birthday, she was presented a cameo pin.

The village is getting accustomed to daylight saving time, but there are reports of some mistakes being made. One local woman set her clock ahead at night, forgot it and went to church an hour earlier having forgotten she had already set the timepiece ahead one hour.

HOUSE REFUSES TO RECONSIDER ACTION ON WOMEN'S JURY BILL

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, April 30—The house session today was of short duration. When the woman jury bill came back from the senate on disagreeing action the motion to reconsider was warmly debated by several of the women members. However, the motion failed and the house took no action looking toward a committee of conference.

In the Stamford judgship case the house voted to adhere to its action in voting the appointment of Samuel Young, as judge, but appointed Sturgess of Woodbury and Averill of Branford, a committee of conference as requested by the senate. All the requests for increase in salaries by court officials were rejected, with the statement that they are taken care of in the budget, but that is being prepared by the Appropriations committee. No hearings were held today but several committees were holding executive sessions.

HOUSE

The house was called to order at 10:12 E. T. by Speaker Darrie and prayer was made by Chaplain Lewis. On motion of Mrs. Vinton of Mansfield H. B. 469, a bill concerning the promotion of agricultural interests, reconsideration prevailed and the bill was recommitted to the appropriation committee.

The woman jury bill and the resolution appointing Samuel Young judge of the city court of Stamford came back from the senate on disagreeing action. In both cases the house had rejected the bills and the senate passed them. The house voted to adhere and committee of conference was appointed.

On the Stamford bill, Sturgess of Woodbury and Averill of Branford were appointed on the part of the house.

The jury bill again provoked a long discussion. Mrs. Alsop of Avon, Rose of Glastonbury, Mrs. Coe of Waterbury, Johnson of Kent, Miss Cheney of Manchester, Durant of Guilford and Mrs. Hooker spoke in favor of reconsideration and the passage of the bill. This was opposed by Averill of Branford, Mrs. Coe of Waterbury suggested that a secret ballot be taken to help out the poor husbands who were afraid of their wives. The vote to adhere was doubted but a rising vote sustained the speaker. No conference was asked.

The house concurred with the senate in passing the bill that authorizes the presentation to Lt. Leslie P. Arnold of New London of a sword in recognition of his service in making the first aerial circumnavigation of the world.

The bill increasing state aid to scholars attending state normal schools from $150 to $200 in towns having a grand list of less than $1,500,000 was rejected.

Other bills reported unfavorably by the appropriation committee were H. B. 479; an act concerning summer schools; an act appropriating $15,000 for survey of a parallel route of the Boston Post Road from Bridgeport to New York; an act appropriating $91,-180 for vocational training; an act concerning trained teachers in small towns under agreement to teach in small towns at least two years after graduation; an act providing for an appropriation to promote the formation of Forest Protection Association.

The Finance committee reported unfavorably an act exempting from taxation the property of the Bixwell Community Home, Inc., of New Haven; an act amending the succession tax law.

All the bills concerning the salaries of judges, prosecuting attorneys and clerks and messengers in the superior and common pleas courts were rejected as they are being taken care of in the budget that will be presented later. A resolution was adopted congratulating Mrs. Bradway of Eastford upon the anniversary of her 107th birthday.

The house adjourned 11:22 till Tuesday May 5 at 10:30 S. T.

SENATE

For the first time this session the senate calendar appeared today without a single measure being starred for action. There were fifteen measures on the calendar but not one was starred.

The senate was called to order at 10.45 (standard time) by Lieutenant Governor Brainard. Prayer by Chaplain Ayer.

Senators Edwin F. Hall of New Britain and Ernest A. Anderson of Waterbury and Clerk J. Frederick Baker, the committee appointed by the senate, presented resolutions on the death of Assistant Clerk Henry Nowicki.

Communications were received from Governor Trumbull making nominations for the following commissions;

State board of mediation and arbitration—Frank A. Hagarty of Hartford, Patrick F. O'Meara of New Haven, and Joseph H. Lawler of Waterbury, each for two years from July, 1925.

Board of agriculture—Charles E. Beach of West Hartford and Wilson H. Lee of Orange, each for four years from July 1, 1926.

Members of department of public welfare—George C. F. Williams of Hartford, Martha H. C. Mitchell of Norwich and Harriet L. Jones of Hartford, each for the term of four years from July 1, 1925.

The nominations were tabled for printing in the journal.

On motion of Senator Pierson the resolution, passed at Wednesday's session, raising a committee to present a sword to Lieutenant Leslie P. Arnold with an appropriation of $250 therefor, was taken from the state and transferred to the house under suspension of the rules. In explaining his motion Senator Pierson said that Lieutenant Arnold was ordered to Panama within ten days.

The committee on cities and boroughs reported unfavorably on a bill amending the charter of the city of New London concerning the construction, repair, care and maintenance of school buildgs. The bill was rejected.

The committee on the judiciary reported a substitute bill in relation to unclaimed dividends and assets of incorporations which have been dissolved. It provides that the amount of the unclaimed dividends shall be turned over to the state treasurer together with a list of those to whom the dividends should be paid. The treasurer shall pay the dividends to the persons named in the list, and the trustees of the dissolved corporation shall be discharged from further liability for the payment of the dividends. Calendar.

The senate adjourned to Tuesday at 10.30 a. m. (standard time).

Little Girl—No thank I left my parachute home.—Amherst Lord Jeff—Life.

"Sir," said the motorist on a strange road, "I have lost my bearings. Can you help me?"

"Sorry, mister, but I know very little about motor car parts."—Louisville-Courier Journal.

I'm leaving for Chicago tonight. I'm supposed to get married tomorrow.

Where in Chicago?

No, here in New York—New York Mercury.

Student—What should I do for a man who has had his nose broken in two places?

Prof.—Tell him to keep out of those places.—University of Iowa Frivol.

Say, what kind of a fellow is Smith?

He's one of those fellows who always grab the stool when there is a piano to be moved.—Mass. Aggie Squib.

"I didn't get the number on it, but it was a chummy roadster that hit you," said a man in the crowd.

"Chummy! Chummy!" shouted the pedestrian, who had been bowled over; "it was downright familiar, that's what it was."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

A London boy told the teacher that his sister had measles. The teacher sent him hogie and told him to stay there until his sister had recovered.

After he had skipped joyfully away another boy held up his hand and said:

Teacher, Jimmy Dolan's sister what's got the measles lives in Liverpool.—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Makers of violin bows are becoming anxious over the growing scarcity of white horses, from the tails of which are taken the hairs for the bow strings. The best supplies come from Siberia and east Russia.

Only one known species of fish has the habit of swimming on its back. This is an inhabitant of tropical waters, known as the globe fish. The skin on the under side of this fish is loose and can be filled with air at will. When the fish blows itself out in this manner, it naturally turns on its back and goes on its way in that position.

A new thing in burglar alarms consists of an apparatus which is sensitive to any form of light. If the intruder should carry a flashlight or lantern or switch on the light in the room where the apparatus is placed an alarm will ring at once.

Canada is not worried over its tenant farmer problem. Only one out of every 12.5 farmers in the Dominion is a renter, while in the United States one out of every 2.7 is a tenant, according to Thomas Low, minister of trade and commerce, of Canada.

The original of the glass known as a tumbler was a drinking vessel with a bottom so constructed that it would not stand up on a table. The tumbler was a product of the old days and was designed to make a man take off his liquor without setting the tumbler aside.

The Canadian Pacific liner, Montclare running from Liverpool to Canada, is the first ocean liner to be fitted with a ship's orchestra repeater, designed by the Marconi company to enable music played by the ship's orchestra to be listened to by travelers in all parts of the ship.

In polite Parisian society in the sixteenth century it was bad form for a guest or host to look at a timepiece to note the time. To avoid this embarrassment a watchmaker originated a watch that had raised hands and time could be told by feeling inside the pocket.

One of the most original stamp cancellations ever put on a piece of United States mail was that used by the postmaster at Casville, Wis., June 25, 1852, when he wrote "Good Morning, Edward," across the stamp when he recognized the name of the addressee as that of one of his personal friends.

The Rev. R. H. Crawford, pastor of the Minnehaha Congregational church at Minneapolis, Minn., and his son Stuart, fifteen, and his daughter, Marion, twelve years old alternate in filling the pulpit Sundays. Six hundred persons were turned away one Sunday when Marion preached.

The American flag that flew over Ft. McHenry during the bombardment by the British and inspired Francis Scott Key to write The Star Spangled Banner, is preserved in the Smithsonian Institute at Washington. There were originally fifteen stars in the Union, but one was cut out and presented to President Lincoln.

He Made It Himself

The first time 20-dollar yellowback gold certificates were issued a government engraver received his salary in these new bills and decided to take a short trip to New York. When he paid his hotel bill he gave the clerk one of these new bills, whereupon the clerk scrutinized it and refused it, saying that he had never seen such a bill and it wasn't good. The engraver assured hi mit was good, for he had made it himself just last week. "That's what I thought," returned the clerk as he rang for the house detective.

Jimmy Steps a Car

Always stand up for your right,
But at the same time be polite.
—Jimmy Skunk.

That is Jimmy all over. He believes in standing at all times for his rights, but at the same time he is polite about it. He knows that one who politely insists is far more apt to get what he wants than one who loses his temper.

"Politeness," says Jimmy Skunk, "is the most paying thing I know of, it costs nothing but a little self control and it wins out where anger and rudeness lose out." And Jimmy is quite right about it.

Now Jimmy Skunk has his full share of curiosity. He likes to know all

He had a perfect right in the road, and he was going to stay there about everything so far as possible. That great monster with the glaring eyes like great moons who had tried to frighten him out of the old wood road and had failed puzzled him. He wanted to see it again. It was new to him. Never had he heard of such a creature. It wasn't to be feared, for hadn't it gone around him last night?

So here he was this very next night ambling out to that road in the hope that that monster would again give him a chance to see what it looked like. He was disappointed. The monster didn't appear and finally Jimmy gave up and went back to the Old Orchard to hunt for White Grubs. But late the following afternoon Jimmy was back there at the edge of the old road. He intended to be in time anyway.

He had been there but a few minutes when he heard a queer noise down the road around a turn. Jimmy stepped out in one of the wheel ruts and looked down the road inquiringly. The noise grew louder. Then around the turn came the great creature he had hoped to see. At least Jimmy supposed it to be the same one he had seen in the night. It had the same great eyes, only they did not glare with light as they had in the dark. It was coming very fast, but with a sudden stop only a few feet from Jimmy. Then it began to honk something like Honker the Goose. Jimmy knew that it was ordering him out of the way.

But Jimmy didn't intend to obey orders from anybody or anything. He had a perfect right in that road and he was going to stay there until he was quite ready to move on. The honking stopped. A man's voice shouted at him. Jimmy almost grinned to himself, as he looked a bit higher and saw the head and shoulders of one of those two-legged creatures leaning out from this monster. He knew now that it wasn't a living monster at all, but something made by man. He saw that it was on wheels like the wagons at Farmer Brown's.

It was very curious. What made it go with no horse to pull it? Jimmy wanted to know all about it. He calmly ambled right up to it. It seemed to be purring like a huge cat. Jimmy wanted to know what made the purring. He sniffed at the wheel in the rut in which he was walking. Then he stepped out of the rut and walked under the automobile. Of course the driver couldn't see him then and didn't dare start on for fear Jimmy might be where one of the wheels would go over him, and this was the last thing in the world the driver wanted to happen. And it wasn't out of consideration for Jimmy, either. Not at all!

At last after what to that driver seemed an age Jimmy walked out from under the car with his nose turned up. He didn't like the smell of gasoline. His curiosity was quite satisfied. He had stopped the monster and had found it harmless. He had discovered that it wasn't alive, but had something to do with those two-legged creatures called men, and that was enough for him. So he turned his back on it and slowly ambled back in the rut the way he had come and the car with equal slowness followed. You see, there was no place to turn out to go around him.

MRS. HENRY T. SQUIRES, NEW LONDON, DIES ON HER 90TH BIRTHDAY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, April 30—Mrs. Maria E. Squires, 90, widow of Henry T. Squires, died this morning at her home, 131 Ocean avenue, her death occurring on her birthday. Mrs. Squires was one of the oldest residents of New London and resided with her grandson, Ray Atwood. She had long been in ill health because of infirmities attending her advanced years.

William D. Seagrave has sold a house and lot on Vauxhall street to John H., and Bessie R. Rose.

John C. Geary has sold a building lot on Crystal avenue to Peter Sienkowski.

Bahai Sabagh has sold to Thomas F. Moran a parcel of land on Blydenberg avenue.

The funeral of Miss Agnes Moynihan, daughter of Patrick Moynihan, 38 Eastern avenue, was held this morning at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church, where a mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Raymond O'Callahan. The bearers were Russell T. Corcoran, James Shea, Walter Dray and Patrick Devine. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary C. Crocker, widow of Frederick E. Crocker, were held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at 15 Masonic street and were attended by many mourners. A delegation of members of Daughters of Pocohontas, of which organization Mrs. Crocker had been a member for a number of years, attended. Rev. Chester H. Howe, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiated. Relatives of Mrs. Crocker acted as bearers. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery, where the committal service was conducted by Daughters of Pocohontas.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today caused the operator's license of Allie Saindon, 393 Bank street, to be returned to the owner. The license was suspended about two weeks ago, after the automobile Saindon was driving had been in collision with another machine.

Mischievous boys continue to cause the police much investigating. Today Henry J. Howard, owner of a barn, corner of Colman street and Walden avenue, complained because boys had damaged the structure by hurling stones through two windows.

With the time limit in which to register dogs approaching, the office of the city clerk has been exceptionally busy the past day or two, for there has been a rush of dog owners there to obtain registration for their pets. There are 1,200 dogs about the city and to date less than 600 animals have been registered. The final day in which to obtain registration will be Friday.

The canteen at the United States Coast Guard reservation, Fort Trumbull, was burglarized by thieves last night or early this morning. All clues point to the break having been perpetrated by members of the coast guard service. The burglary was discovered this morning shortly after 8 o'clock, when the place was opened for business and an investigation revealed that entrance was gained to the place by one of the windows having been forced. The plunder obtained included $25 in miscellaneous cash; an Ingersol watch, four fountain pens, two Eversharp pencils, safety razor blades, cigars and cigarettes. The aggregate loss, it is estimated, is close to $80.

John Harrington, residing with his mother, at 16 Methodist street, was taken into custody this afternoon by Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray, charged by Harrington's mother with intoxication. He will be presented in the police court tomorrow morning and if the mother's wish is acceded to, the son will be committed to jail for Mrs. Harrington requested that the young man be given a jail sentence in order that she will not be forced to put up further with his abuse. Mrs. Harrington also stated that she would present herself in the police court when her son is given a hearing and will appear against him. Harrington is of a worthless type and aids but little in the support of his mother. He was employed four or five days last week but Mrs. Harrington received no part of his earnings instead Harrington started to spend his money for drink and for the past two days he has been in an intoxicated condition abusing his aged mother whenever he appeared at home. This noon Mrs. Harrington had occasion to go to a store to make a purchase and while she was out Harrington appeared at the house. Being unable to gain admission because of the front entrance being locked, Harrington smashed the door, even to breaking it from the hinges. Mrs. Harrington returned home a short time later and finding the door practically demolished and her son in an ugly mood, she lodged a complaint with the police. Mrs. Harrington declared that because of her advanced years she did not anticipate that she would survive a great while and that she was unwilling to longer stand the abuse of her son, especially in view of the fact that he refused to aid in the support of the home and that she desired to enjoy the remaining days of her life as best she could with the meagre means that her income allows.

Nelson Rosen, 8, residing with his parents at 45 Linden street, suffered a fractured leg late yesterday, when he attempted to obtain a ride by jumping on a moving automobile owned and operated by Allie Britnitsky, 53 Linden street. As the automobile approached the Bronitsky garage, the youth grabbed the handle to the rear door and attempted to jump to the running board. He was thrown to the ground and one wheel passed over the child's leg. The first Bronitsky was aware of the accident was when he heard the boy's cries. This forenoon the boy was taken to Lawrence hospital where an X-ray picture revealed the fracture.

Mrs. Henry Lovett, of Ramsdell street, Groton; Miss Rita Foley, Westerly; Charles M. Bosworth, Mohegan avenue, and George Godfrey, Williams street, patients at Lawrence-Memorial Associated hospital, were dismissed today.

Business slowed up in the police court today so that there was no session of that tribunal. It is said this was the first day during the month when there was no business for the court.

Simon Green, who with his wife, conducts The Krystal Cleaning establishment on Elinman and Truman streets, has not, it is claimed, abandoned the effort to secure permission to erect a dyeing and cleaning establishment on Williams street, near Blackhall. He made application to the city council but while that authority did not refuse the permission sought it did not grant it, and has since kept Mr. Green in doubt as to what he had the right to demand as to what he must not do if he is to avoid prosecution. Mr. Green is convinced as to his rights, but he does not want to take matters into his own hands and ignore the council. He desires that the council shall give him a decision in the matter. That body has now kept the matter in abeyance several weeks, nearly a month, telling the Greens that of the question of rights, Mr. Green has engaged an attorney to look after his interests and he is ready at a day's notice to proceed and erect the building he contemplates putting up. He does not regard the treatment he has received at the hands of the council as fair, but he is reluctant to force their hands.

Clifford E. Smith, a member of the Niagara Engine company and where he resides, and employed as an ice peddler, was arrested late this afternoon on a charge of operating his automobile while under the influence of liquor and is held at the police station, as he was unable to secure surety on his bond of $200 for his appearance in the police court tomorrow morning.

Clifford really brought his arrest about through his surly conduct. He was operating his machine on Tilley street about 5 o'clock and overtook a machine operated by State Police Officer Giles Watson, of Groton barracks. Smith's car travelled irregularly and narrowly escaped collision with the officer's car. When Watson left his machine and held Smith up and demanded the reason for the uncertain course being taken by the automobile, Smith became abusive, probably because he did not know the identity of Watson. Finally Watson displayed his badge and informed Smith that the latter was dealing with an officer. Smith immediately changed his mode of conversation with the officer and was ready to make apologies. Watson did not care to settle the matter with an apology for he considered that Smith was operating a car while in a condition that menaced the safety of other occupants of machines as well as the safety of pedestrians. After Smith had put the machine in a garage he was locked up.

President Benjamine, T. Marshall, Connecticut College for Women, addressed a large and interested audience at the college gymnasium this evening, when he delivered the final lecture in a series that has been in progress at the college weekly. The president's discourse tonight dealing with "Vacation and Art of Living."

Mr. and Mrs. David Banks are spending a week at their summer home, Waterford. Mr. and Mrs. Banks will return to New York the latter part of next week, but will open their summer home early in June.

Wilfred Mahoney has returned to his home at Waterford, having visited several days in Norwich.

Miss Catherine Coyle has returned to her home on Center street, having concluded several days' visit in Bostor, Bridgeport and West Point.

Miss Ruby Russell of this city, has been advised of the death of her mother, Mrs. Lillian A. Russell, at the home of Mrs. Russell's daughter, Mrs. George A. Whitney, 1965 Canyon Drive, Hollywood, Cal., April 23. Mrs. Russell was the widow of Frank L. Russell, formerly of Springfield, Mass., and besides Mrs. Whitney and Miss Russell, is survived by two other daughters, Miss Lillian F. Russell and Mrs. John W. Head, both of Hollywood.

Henry A. Clark, 61, of Old Lyme, died this morning at Lawrence hospital, where he had been a patient for several days. He is survived by a sister, Mrs. Ancil L. Miller, also of Old Lyme.

News was received in New London today of the death at New Rochelle, N. Y., yesterday afternoon of Mrs. Annie Boser, wife of Louis Boser, a former resident of New London. Besides her husband, Mrs. Boser is survived by a son, Alfred Boser, and a daughter, Miss Marie Boser, both of New Rochelle. Mr. Boser and family moved to New Rochelle about five years ago. During their residence in New London they resided at the corner of Montauk and Glenwood avenue.

At a beauty show conducted at Beachcroft, Revere, Mass., and which was ended yesterday, Miss Elsie Bishop, 17, of 7 Schoolhouse lane, was named "Miss New England" and was awarded a diamond and sapphire bracelet.

It is understood that John Avery, who was in the fish market business with one Overleaf when they bought out the Long business, and who retired from the partnership some months ago, is now operating a line of trucks that take fish to the New York market daily. The Long business was located alongside the ferry slip here and for two generations was the site of the leading market in New London. Then things happened that the business was removed to Groton, with delivery in New London every day. Now Mr. Avery has taken a new plan to continue his business and is dealing in fish at wholesale.

New London is getting ready to lay 2500 square feet of sidewalk. In the past ten years the city has put down miles of cent walk and still there is much work to be done in that same line.

There is an unusual scarcity of lobsters in the market, practically none coming here from boats that come to the harbor, so this city depends upon lobsters that come from Boston and New York.

EDWARD E. BROGAN WEDS MISS FRANCISCO OF NEW YORK

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, April 30.—Announcement is made of the marriage in New York yesterday of Edward E. Brogan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Brogan, 26 Park avenue, Groton, and Miss Clara Francisco, of New York. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Nicholis Falatico at the Corpus Christi church. William E. Shea of this city was best man and Miss Marjorie Kanous, of New York, attended the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Brogan will make their home in New York, where Mr. Brogan is employed in the mail service at the Grand Central station. Rev. Father Falatico was formerly located in New London, having been Catholic chaplain at the submarine base during the World war.

Oil Stains on Concrete

The bureau of standards says that it knows of no method that will entirely remove oil stains from concrete. The stains can be partly removed by soaking the concrete with gasoline, then taking up the excess by means of a porous material like blotting paper. By repeating this process several times at intervals a good portion of the oil can be removed.

Poors' Relatives Commoners

The relatives of English peers do not officially belong to the English nobility, although to all purposes they are nobles. They may, however, hold titles through courtesy, but according to English law they are mere commoners.

MARKET WAS UNSETTLED

New York, April 30—Price movements in today's stock market continued to lack uniformity, selling of the athels, equipments and sugars being conducted simultaneously with bullish operations in the motors public utilities, rails and specialties. The volume of trading ran above one million shares, but the leading commission houses reported that the operations of professional traders comprised the bulk of the day's business.

Trade news was rather optimistic in character. It included another sharp increase in crude oil production for the week ended April 25, further easing in raw sugar prices, which established a new low record for the year, and the omission of the dividend, due at this time, on Hazeltine Radio.

Reports that steel mill operations were now down to about 75 per cent. of capacity and that another large decrease in unfilled orders would be shown by the U. S. Steel Corporation in its tonnage report next month, had a depressing effect on the steel shares. Gulf States Steel dropped two points to 97 1-2, or within a small fraction of the year's low. Republic Steel touched a new low at 42 1-8 and then rallied to 42 3-4, off 1 1-4 and all the other independents yielded fractionally. U. S. Steel common sagged within a half point of the year's low at 112 7-8 and then rallied a point, showing a small fractional loss on the day.

Withdrawal of syndicate support for the new Dodge Brothers preferred caused a break of 2 1-2 points to 97 1-2 in that stock. Maxwell Motors B was run up to 86 7-8 at the expense of a short interest and then sagged to 85 1-4, where it was up 3 points on the day. Maxwell B certificates jumped 5 1-2 points to a new high at 85 1-4 but the A stock showed a net loss of one point at 107 3-4. General Motors 6 per cent. debentures jumped 2 points to 97 1-2 on a few sales. Studebaker was around on profit-taking, the first for the first quarter, issued today, showing net earnings of $1.84 a share in the first quarter as compared with $1.80 in the corresponding period of last year.

Liquidation of the sugar issues resulted in the establishment of the year's low record in the case of the Cuba Cane issues, and the many standard industrials to show net losses of 1 to 3 1-2 points were American Locomotive, American Agricultural Chemical preferred, American Chicle, Baldwin, Davison Chemical, Independent Oil and Gas, Jordan Motors, Pierce-Arrow common and preferred, Timken Roller Bearing, Universal Pipe, Westinghouse Air Brake and Worthington Pump. United States Cast Iron Pipe broke ten points to 142 and then rallied to 146.

A buoyant tone developed in several public utilities, Utah Securities jumping more than ten points to a record high at 100 and Electric Power and Light common touching a new top on the year. American Water Works common and six per cent. preferred and Eastern Light and Traction also established new peak prices. Heavy buying of Gulden, apparently in anticipation of the stock being placed on a $2 annual dividend basis, resulted in an advance of 1 point to a new top at 2 1-4.

Southern Railway advanced more than 3 points to a record high for all time at 93 1-2. Good buying also was noted in New York Central, Atlantic Coast Line, Colorado and Southern, Gulf, Mobile and Northern, "Katy" common and preferred, and Norfolk & Southern, the last named jumping nearly five points to a record high at 89 3-4.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent. and then advanced to 4 1-2 or a withdrawal of funds in anticipation of month end requirements. Time money rates also stiffened slightly, the shorter maturities being quoted at 3 3-4 per cent. and the longer dates at 4.

Foreign exchange rates were mixed. Demand sterling ruled about $4.84 but French francs were slightly lower around 5.23 1-2 cents. Swedish kronen dropped nearly 26 points to 26.73 cents and Spanish pesetas advanced 18 points to 14.60 cents.

Canadian exchange was quoted at a slight premium.

FARMERS MUST STAND TOGETHER

(Written Specially for The Bulletin.)

Ex-Governor Lowden of Illinois will be remembered by people outside that state as the man who refused the republican nomination for vice-president, last year, after it was offered him on a gold platter.

He gave as his refusal that he had devoted his life to the service of farming and his fellow farmers, and believed he could be of more real value to his generation and his country by sticking to that job than by taking any political office.

Last week, in New York city, before the American Publishers' Association, he made a tremendous effort to get the primary facts concerning the farm situation into the comprehensions of the assembled publishers.

That he made an impression on them is clear from the extent to which they caused the publication of his speech, either in full or in abstract. It evidently struck their news noses as real news.

That's what is certainly was,—to most of them. Not to us farmers, for we who wear the shoe know where it pinches without having to be told. But most newspapers are published in cities, by city men, whose relations are much closer with consumers than with producers, and whose understanding of farm conditions is notably very imperfect. And the plain, unvarnished truth told straight forwardly and bluntly to such men, must have struck them with force.

Whether it will really cause them to open their ink-rollers to circulate the whole truth,—not merely as one item of one day's news, but as their loyal contribution to the service of their country, regardless of social or political or money-getting limitations, is another thing. We shall see about that, later.

Whether or no they heed as well as hear, Gov. Lowden did noble work in pounding down off their heads the truth which so few men or women, outside farming ranks, seem to have any adequate knowledge of.

He favors farm organization and farmer co-operation as the only practical and practicable method for extricating the farm applecart from its present miring in the bottomless mud of a No-Thoroughfare. In order to win, if possible, publishers' support for this plan, he had first to make them see the need, nay, the overwhelming necessity of it. You can't expect men to rush to the aid of a mired traveller until they know that he really is mired. And so Gov. Lowden devoted the first part of his address to a calm, unexaggerated but unskrinking exposure of the almost desperate condition of agriculture in this country, today.

He began with the following statement of what every unbiassed observer knows to be the existing truth:

"Our agriculture is decaying. Farm bankruptcies in recent years have increased more than 600 per cent. According to the department of agriculture, the average farmer could have obtained a larger income since 1920 if he had hired himself out as a farmhand. In considerable portions of the agricultural area farm cannot be sold for the value of the improvements alone. Farm improvement everywhere has practically ceased. Go where you will, it is the rarest thing to see a new barn or a new house or a new fence, but almost everywhere the old barns and the old fences, for want of paint and repairs, rapidly are going to ruin."

And yet, he went on, despite all these facts, there has been and still is "a persistent effort during all these years of farm distress to minimize the seriousness of the agricultural situation." Big financiers have appeared in all sorts of magazine articles, asserting "with astonishing regularity" that farm depression was either a "myth," or else a thing of the past. If the boll weevil reduced the cotton crop so as to cause abnormally high prices for a single season, that fact was seized on "to reconstruct the modern magical index number" so as to make it look as if the purchasing power of the farmer had been quite restored. Similarly, if the wheat-pit reported $2 wheat and $1.25 corn, those figures were juggled by the "index-number" sleight-of-handers into proof that the farmer was once more on Easy street. This, though $2 wheat was mainly a speculators' figure, and at least 75 cents a bushel more than the average wheat grower actually received at the farm.

The utter imbecility of most of these "index-figure" fol-de-rols is indicated by the quoted fact that, the same month in which the average New York city price of corn was quoted as 25 per cent above pre-war figures, the actual price of the same corn on Iowa farms was 31 per cent below pre-war figures. Some difference, you'll agree. Yet the "index-figure" on which farm prosperity was affirmed was that utterly misleading false price of the speculative city market,—not the actual price really paid for the corn itself.

The farm situation is desperate, due to "the great disparity between the prices of the things the farmer has to sell and the prices of the things he has to buy."

We, you and I, didn't need Gov. Lowden to tell us that. We know it and have known it for years. But those city publishers,—perhaps they didn't know it. Well, now they do. And it will be interesting to notice whether they continue to blow their iridescent bubbles of factitious prosperity, now that they've had the truth set forth to them. Will they go on puffing bubbles into the air, or will they really try to produce something more solid and helpful? Time only will tell.

In the meantime, we hayseeds, if we want to buy a pair of shoes, are charged twice as much for them as we would have paid, ten years ago. To enable us to pay that swollen price we ought to get at least double for our eggs.

Do we?

If we have to get a new carpet we shall find it costing us quite twice as much as we paid for the old one. To enable us to meet that swollen price we ought to get at least double for our butter.

Do we?

If we want to build a new house or barn or dog-kennel, we find that the prices for building material and builders' labor are two and a half or three times what they were, ten years ago. To meet them we should now get two and a half or three times what we got for our raw lumber, ten years back.

Do we?

What's the use going on with the catechism? With hardly an exception the market prices for all the supplies we need are from 100 to 250 per cent higher than they were. Few of the prices for what we sell are 30 per cent above pre-war, and some are actually lower. As an illustration, take the case of a neighbor who recently sold some standing timber for $5 a thousand, on the stump, though I was offered $6.50 a thousand for similar standing forest 20 years ago. At that time—20 years ago—I could buy the sawn boards, ship-lap, for $18 a thousand. Now the city lumber-yard asks $65 to $80 a thousand for the same sort of boards.

We farmers have got to swallow one truth, however distasteful it be.

Why Rich Red Blood Makes Winners

How You Can Increase Your Strength and Endurance—Often in 2 Weeks' Time

It is a well-known fact that the greatest athletes and the successful men in every walk of life have plenty of rich, red blood containing the proper amount of strength-giving iron. Thousands of weak, tired, ailing, run-down men and women have, by simply taking organic iron—Nuxated Iron—increased their strength, energy and endurance and felt like entirely different persons in just two weeks' time.

For organic iron—Nuxated Iron—is like the iron in your own blood and like that in spinach and lentils. So it acts to quickly build up and invigorate run-down bodies and revitalize exhausted nerves. It is entirely different from ordinary mineral tinctures and pills—does not injure the teeth nor disturb the stomach. And it is so highly concentrated that one dose is equal to eating one-half quart of spinach or a quart of green vegetables. Take Nuxated Iron tablets for just two weeks and you'll be astonished how much stronger and better you feel. Money back if not delighted. At all good druggists.

VICTROLAS—PIANOS—RADIOS.

That is the truth that the average consumer doesn't care a hoot whether we live in comfort or in pauperism. He and she are out for bargains. They are looking after their own interests with a single and very ready eye. Bless you, they don't even care whether the price they pay for potatoes equals the cost the farmer paid for growing them, so long as they can get them two cents a peck cheaper.

This may not be a wholly admirable practice. It may not meet the requirements of an expensive and patriotic altruism. But the consumers aren't consuming for the sake of our good, but for their own gain or comfort. They're looking out for themselves,—and the devil take the farmer who doesn't undersell somebody to get their trade,—or to get rid of the surplus production he has toiled to ensure!

It is not a theory of what ought to be which confronts but, but a hard and harsh condition of what actually is. We can't make the world and its inhabitants over to meet our ideas of perfection. We must take both as they are. If we are met by organization united in the attempt to skin us alive, we must forge for ourselves an armor that will resist its knives.

And, whatever is to be done for the rehabilitation of a sinking industry, we—must—do—it—ourselves. Other men's failures wont save us, nor will other people's altruism spare us. For most of those "other people" haven't got any altruism in their cargoes.

We must meet organized attack by an equally organized co-operative defense. That is the only chance at present open to us. We needn't resort to fighting the devil with fire,—a weapon in whose use he is admittedly expert. But we can and must provide some form of water-storage which will enable us to smother his flames before they burn us off the face of the earth.

Our organized despoilers make capital of the belief that farmers are so "set" and so stubborn and so individualistic that they will never be able to combine successfully.

The lemon and orange growers of California are farmers and yet they've combined to their own immense profit. The berry-growers of the Hudson Valley are farmers, yet they've done a like thing. The butter and bacon producers of Denmark are farmers, and 19 out of every 20 of them are co-operators, and happy in the result.

What others have done we can do, if we have equal gumption and grit.

Anyway, if we can't stand on our own legs, nobody else is going to abandon his own job to hold us up!

THE FARMER.

BLODGETT AND ELWELL ON PROGRAMME OF SPEAKERS

Two state officials of Connecticut will address the public utilities section of the 26th annual convention of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce to be held at the Hotel Bond, at Hartford, at 3:30 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, May 7.

William H. Blodgett, tax commissioner of Connecticut, will speak on "The Taxation Problem from the Angle of the Public Utility."

Mr. Blodgett was a practicing lawyer at Winsted from 1902 to 1920, at which time he was appointed tax commissioner by Ex-Governor Holcomb. Besides being tax commissioner of Connecticut, he is a member of the executive committee of the National Tax association. He was clerk of the house of representatives for the session of 1909 and clerk of the senate in 1911. He has a substantial background bearing on state taxation and financial problems. Like Commissioner Elwell, his work brings him in touch with all types of utilities in Connecticut.

Charles C. Elwell, a member of the Connecticut Public Utilities commission, will speak on "The Development of Bus Transportation."

Mr. Elwell has been connected with steam, electric and highway motor transportation for the past 43 years. After completing a college course in civil engineering, he entered the railroad service as a subordinate—advancing from assistant engineer, to roadmaster, to division engineer, to chief engineer, to superintendent. He served in the latter position for 13 years. When the public utilities commission was formed in 1911, Mr. Elwell was engaged by the commission as its chief engineer. In 1915, he was appointed a public utilities commissioner by Ex-Governor Holcomb and he was re-appointed in 1921 by Ex-Governor Lake. Mr. Elwell's work brings him in contact with all types of utilities in Connecticut.

The public utilities committee of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce, which has had charge of arranging the foregoing programme, is composed of J. K. Punderford, president of the Connecticut company, chairman; R. G. Buckland, first vice president of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company; Harrison B. Freeman, attorney-at-law, Hartford; Charles H. Nettleton, president of the New Haven Gas Light company; and Alex J. Campbell, general superintendent of the Connecticut Light & Power company. Mr. Punderford will preside at this meeting.

Interesting speaking programmes have also been arranged for the merchants of Connecticut, for the bankers and insurance executives, and for those interested in local Chamber of Commerce work, as well as for those interested primarily in general business subjects.

At the banquet on the evening of May 7, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur will be the chief speaker, his subject being "Commerce and the Flag." A. C. M. Azroy, Jr., contributing editor to "Life," will be the humorist. Governor Trumbull will welcome the assembled business men on behalf of the state of Connecticut. At the first night meeting on May 6, S. A. Linnekin, vice president of Babson institute and Champe S. Andrews of New Haven will approach from two different angles the theme of "The Relation of Business to Civic Life." On the afternoon of Wednesday, May 6, a national authority will discuss "The Status of Business."

Although printed announcements of the annual banquet on the evening of May 7 have just gone to the membership of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce, there has already been a heavier advance demand for banquet tickets than at any previous convention of the chamber. On Saturday of this week reservations for the banquet will be placed open to the general public. Members of the chamber have until Saturday to file their reservations.

The general convention committee, under whose auspices the approaching convention is being arranged, is as follows: Charles C. Coop, president of the Hartford Chamber of Commerce, chairman; Leo A. Korper, president of the Hartford Rotary club; Clayton C. Chase, president of the Hartford Kiwanis club; Dr. James R. Miller, president of the Hartford Civitan club; Clarence T. Hubbard, president of the Hartford Advertising club; Edward F. Ahern, president of the Hartford Lions club; William E. Tanner, president of the Hartford Exchange club; and George S. Butler, president of the Hartford Real Estate board.

to 1.32 1-4 and July 1.31 3-4 to 1.32 with corn 1-2c to 1 1-2c down, and oats varying from 3-8c decline to 1-8c gain in provisions, the outcome ranged from $7 cents decline to a rise of 2 cents.

At first the wheat market showed a downward trend owing to absence of any reports of serious damage by frost last night. The fact that Liverpool quotations failed to reflect fully yesterday's advance here was also a depressing influence. Rallies, however, were soon brought about by reports pointing to extensive abandonment of wheat acreage and re-planting with corn and oats. Talk was also current that unofficial crop summaries to be issued tomorrow would suggest a winter wheat yield of only 450,000,000 bushels.

Corn was depressed by forecasts of big deliveries of corn and oats tomorrow on May contracts here—perhaps 2,000,000 bushels of corn and 4,000,000 bushels of oats.

In sympathy with hog values. The provision market average lowered.

THE WEATHER

Conditions

Pressure remains low east of the Mississippi river with center of minimum pressure over the Middle Atlantic states. The barometer is still high over the Canadian Maritime provinces and Ontario.

This pressure disturbance has been attended by rains within the last 24 hours in the Atlantic states from North Carolina northward. The temperature has fallen in the lower lake regions and the extreme south and it is considerably below normal almost generally east of the Rocky Mountains.

The eastern disturbance will continue to cause local rains Friday in the Middle Atlantic and North Atlantic states. The temperature will remain below normal throughout Friday and Saturday but it will rise slowly during Saturday.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook: Fresh shifting and weather overcast and showery Friday.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Moderate to fresh west and northwest and weather overcast, probably local rains Friday.

Forecast

For eastern New York and Southern New England: Showers and continued cool Friday; Saturday probably fair with slowly rising temperature.

At the regular weekly conclave of Castle Perilous, K. O. K. A. held Wednesday evening in the Taftville Congregational church, Albert Airey, Jr. was King and Forrest Heinrich acted as herald.

A number of elm trees are being planted on Norwich avenue by men employed by the Ponemah company.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lavalle and family have moved from South Fourth avenue to the house on South B street recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Julius Jemory and family.

Mrs. Roy L. Taylor of New Haven and Mrs. George C. Tillinghast and little son Lewis, of Nyack, N. Y., are at the home of Lewis A. Tillinghast of North Third avenue.

A large group of boys of the local schools were in Norwich attending the Olympia games at the Academy, Wednesday afternoon.

John Lavander who has been spending the past two weeks at the Ponemah house, has left town.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Rondeau and family have taken a house on South B street.

Several years ago the dandelion was the curse of the village lawns, and all kinds of attempts were made to exterminate this troublesome weed. Today, the man who has plenty of dandelions growing on his property is deemed lucky by his fellowmen. The blossoms are being harvested by the bushel, and are fast becoming a rare flower in these parts. One man told a story of offering a youngster a dime to pick him a bag of dandelions, but the young business man came back with "First tell me how big the bag is."

A poultry raiser who lives on the outskirts of the town stated that as a result of the recent cold and damp weather, he had had some severe losses among his young chicks.

NINE YEAR OLD GIRL IS DECLARED DEPENDENT OF FRIENDLY BOAT CAPTAIN

In a finding made by Commissioner J. J. Donohue in the workmen's compensation claim of Mrs. Sally Northrop wife of William Northrop, 158 Lincoln avenue, New London, mother of a Patricia Northrop, a minor, it is found that the girl is a dependent of the late Hans Schellwick, who was an employe of the Merritt-Chapman & Scott Corporation of New London. It is ordered that the respondent shall pay $100 towards the funeral expense, also all reasonable medical bills and compensation at $18 per week for 312 weeks, of which the accrued payments since Feb. 19, 1925, shall be made at once in a lump sum and subsequent payments weekly through the claimants' attorney.

Schellwick, who lived at 8 Thames street, New London and had wages of $42.46 per week, died at the hospital, Feb. 18, 1925, from general infection following the fracture of two fingers while he was at work on January 23, 1925.

The hearing was held on the question of dependency of Patricia Northrop, 9, who is at present attending a private school in New Haven and her mother is a patient at the Norwich tuberculosis hospital. It is found by the commissioner that the bills for the tuition and spending money on account of the child's attendance at the school were being paid by the decedent (Schellwick), the girl having entered the school Jan. 1, of this year and the first contribution of the decedent toward her tuition was found to be $76 for the month of January, besides money for extra expenses, the tuition being payable in advance. It is found that the reason Patricia Northrop was placed in a private schol was because her mother was obliged at various times to go to the hospital for treatment, and it was claimed there was nobody left at home in her absence to care for the child.

The evidence would tend to show, the commissioner says in his finding, that Schellwick was in the habit of spending more or less time, when off his boat, with the family of the claimant's mother in Mystic, and that he had done this for about 20 years, that he was fond of this girl, Patricia, and that it was his intention to educate her. He was 58 years old, was employed as mate on one of the company boats, lived on the boat and did not have any family. Previous to Jan. 1, 1925, it was claimed and is found as a fact that Schellwick gave the mother of Patricia Northrop various sums of money each month, sometimes as much as $100 toward her support, and that he had practically supported the child ever since she was quite young. It is found that Schellwick is no blood relation of the Northrop family, but that he had known them for at least 20 years, and at times when off the boat had maintained a room at the home of Mrs. Northrop's mother in Mystic, and it appears that at times Mrs. Northrop and her daughter had visited at her mother's home in Mystic, and at such times the decedent had paid the girl's board while there.

The question to be decided is what constitutes dependency and if the deceased could be considered as a member of the claimed decedent's family within the meaning of the act, and from the evidence introduced it is found that the relationship existing between the decedent and the minor daughter of the claimant was of such a character and the contributions made by the decedent (Schellwick) to the claimant (Mrs. Northrop) for the minor daughter (Patricia Northrop) were such as to constitute a case of total dependency within the meaning of the act.

A claim for a rehearing of the case made by the respondent-insurers has been disallowed by Commissioner Donohue on the ground that there was no evidence sought or produced which could not have been introduced at the first hearing of the case on April 6, 1925.

ECONOMY EMPLOYES' SECOND ANNUAL DANCE

The second annual dance given by the employes of the Economy Grocery Company was held Tuesday evening at Temple hall, Waterbury, and was a great success. Guests came from all over the state where Economy stores are located, including Norwich, and over 600 people attended. It was an enthusiastic, colorful affair, welcomed by everyone in the organization for in this way it enabled men and women from the different sections of the state to get acquainted with each other.

The dance started at 8.30 to music from a New Haven orchestra. During the intermission refreshments were served, and the crowd was entertained by some of the employes. They performed excellently and surprised a great many who did not know that there was such fine theatrical talent in the grocery business. Miss Evelyn Ruggles and Miss Anna Dilman entertained the crowd first with a beautiful Scottish sword dance. Following this was a solo by Mr. Levine of New Haven and one by Mr. Stagg of Plainville. Mr. Stagg also did a clog dance which received a great hand. Next came the Economy melody men lead by Mr. Cratty of Hartford, who gave a series of harmonious ditties which were very pleasing and well done. Mr. and Mrs. Salsman closed the entertainment by rendering a few specialties, thus successfully closing a well arranged programme. Dancing was resumed and continued until 1 a. m.

RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE IS NOLLED IN COURT

The charge of violation of the motor vehicle law by reckless driving against Carlo De Pucchia of North Main street was nolled in the city court Thursday morning by Judge Arthur F. Libby. De Pucchia was involved in an automobile collision while turning about the beacon at Burnham Square. The testimony of the witnesses varied so much that the charge was nolled. The other machine involved in the collision is owned by Philip Korr.

A Groton man was fined $5 for violation of the local traffic rules and a Norwich Town man, charged with intoxication, was at his own request, sent to the state farm for inebriates. He was brought in in a helpless condition by Constable Lucius Fenton on Wednesday afternoon.

Sought His Stolen Clothes

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, April 30.—Wilfred V. LaValley, an attendant at the Norwich state hospital, was here today seeking the services of the local police in recovering a suit of clothes, which was stolen from LaValley recently, as the owner believes the garments were stolen by a New London young man. No trace of the clothing was found here.

LaValley stated that a week ago the clothing was taken from his room and the same day another attendant left the services of the institution, the clothes and the attendant leaving Preston at the same time. The suit was a new one and had been worn but twice by the owner.

Workmen's Compensation

Workmen's compensation agreements as follows have been approved by Commissioner J. J. Donohue:

Thames Dyeing and Bleaching Co., Niantic, employer and Henry Bentley, employe, left shoulder wrenched, Jan. 31, at rate of $9.63.

Windham Lumber and Realty Co., Willimantic, employer and Joseph La Page, employe, compound fracture of great toe, Jan. 10, at rate of $12.12.

American Woolen Co., Norwich mill, employer and Byron L. Fargo, employe, sprained back and shoulders, Feb. 19, at rate of $18.00.

City Coal Co., New London, employer and Thomas Donovan, employe, fracture of middle phalanx of right large toe, March 14, at rate of $16.32.

Aspinook Co., Jewett City, employer, and Chauncey Geer, Hopeville, employe, laceration of left thumb, April 4, at rate of $11.85.

For Burial in New Haven

The body of Miss Teresa McHugh, 34, of New Haven, whose death occurred Wednesday night in this city, was sent to New Haven, Thursday morning on the 11.25 o'clock train by Hourigan Brothers who were in charge of local arrangements. Burial is to take place in her home city.

A kiln has been invented for quickly drying lumber, at the same time removing much of the residue and vaporizing the turpentine, which is recovered.

FORESTRY ADDRESS GIVEN FOR STORRS STUDENTS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, Conn., April 29—"Our Heritage, what shall we do with it," was the subject of an American Forestry Week address given by Walter O. Filley, of New Haven, before the students of the Connecticut Agricultural College at President's Hour today. Mr. Filley is forester for the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station with headquarters in New Haven, a member of the State Fprest and Park Commission, formerly State Forester of Connecticut for nine years, and is recognized as an authority on forestry and its related problems.

President Coolidge's address before the National Confreence of Out-of-Door Recreation Association, given last year in Washington, was quoted as follows, "I want to see all Americans have a reasonable amount of leisure. Our country is a land of cultured men and women. It is a land of agriculture, of industries, of schools, and of places of religious worship. It is a land of varied climes and scenery, of mountains and plains, of lakes and rivers. It is the American heritage. We must make it a land of vision, a land of work, of sincere striving for the good, but we must add to all these, in order to round out the full stature of the people, and ample effort to make it a land of wholesome enjoyment and perennial gladness."

These words of President Coolidge were held up as an ideal to strive for by Mr. Filley, and he outlined how the proper development and practice of forestry might aid in the realization of this ideal. The establishment of national and state forests would help considerably was Mr. Filley's contention. With seventy-five per cent of the state's population living in the larger towns and cities, it becomes necessary to provide recreational facilities which have the out doors for their background. More and more, our people are expressing a trend that goes back to nature.

Mr. Filley touched upon the growing practice of wealthy people buying tracts and land, and farms, and converting them into exclusive estates for summer use. Leaving aside such other benefits such a condition must bring about, he questioned if this practice was for the good of the state as it affected the park and publicf orest policy. Such estates and many privately owned tracts of land are run on an exclusive plan, thereby rendering much forest land inaccessible to the people. Thus land which should be available for the use of all Connecticut people is being encroached upon more and more, which makes the state forest situation still more acute.

Connecticut needs forestry for several reasons according to Mr. Filley, and he pointed out that it was time we began taking care of our needs for lumber. Wood-working industries of the state, if they are to continue, must have a continuous supply of lumber. Further, Connecticut needs lumber for building materials, the present supply of which has become greatly diminished. The Pacific Coast states, with Idaho, have most of the virgin timber of the country, and high freight rates from that section make it advisable for Connecticut to produce as much of its own timber as possible.

Over one million acres of land in the state, unsuited to agriculture, could well supply our lumber needs provided a sound forestry policy was followed, was the statement of Mr. Filley. Much of this acreage is at present not producing timber, either because it is burned over, or cut over.

Outlining forestry practices now used in Connecticut, Mr. Filley pointed out that we have fire protection, thining, some planting, and less indiscriminate cutting. He went on to say, however, that the work is being carried on under difficulties, and there is still much more to be accomplished.

He pointed out that where we now have some 11,000 acres of forest land, 200,000 acres would not be too much. The only means by which the state can acquire more forest lands is to buy them with legislative appropriations, which are not large, or to receive them as gifts from public spirited citizens. Acquirement of land by these methods has been slow, however, twenty-three years being required to obtain the 11,000 acres now owned. Advantages of the state owned forests, as outlined by Mr. Filley, are several. They would insure the practice of forestry over a long term of years; they would demonstrate the best methods and practices in forestry, and they would utilize waste lands now unproductive. Further, state forests would help to protect the water supply, and they would provide areas for recreation for the people of the state.

In closing, Mr. Filley quoted the words of Professor Waugh of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, who said, "The cardinal sin of this generation is the robbing of future generations." Mr. Filley declared that forestry was every man's business; that all should recognize their duty in this respect, and bring about conditions that would enable us to pass on our heritage unspoiled.

An honest blush is a straight flush.

findings of fact and conclusions of law, which report shall constitute a part of the proceedings upon which the determination of the court shall be made. The court upon such appeal, and after a trial or hearing thereon, may reverse or affirm wholly or partly or may modify or revise the decision brought up on appeal.

Costs shall not be allowed against the Board of Appeals unless it shall appear to the court that it acted with gross negligence, or in bad faith, or with malice, in making the decision appealed from.

Appeals from the decision of said board shall be privileged cases to be heard by the court, unless good cause is shown to the contrary, as soon after the retura day as is practicable.

Penalty For Violations

Sec. 13. In case any building or structure is erected, constructed, reconstructed, altered, converted or maintained or any building, structure or land is used, in violation of this act or any ordinance, by-law, rule, resolution or other regulation made under authority conferred thereby, the proper local authority of said town or city, in addition to other remedies, may institute any appropriate action or proceedings to prevent such unlawful erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration, conversion, maintenance or use, to restrain, correct or abate such violation, to prevent the occupancy of said building, structure or land of to prevent any illegal act, conduct, business of use in or about such premises.

Regulations made either by the city or town of Norwich hereunder shall be enforced by the officer, or official board, or authority designated therein, who is empowered to cause any building, structure, place or premises to be inspected and examined and to order in writing the remedying of any condition found to exist therein or thereat in violation of any provision of the regulations made under authority of this act. The owner or general agent of a building or premises where a violation of any provision of said regulations has been committed or shall exist, or the lessee or tenant of an entire building or entire premises where such violation has been committed or shall exist, or the owner, general agent, lessee or tenant of any part of the building or premises where such violation has been committed or shall exist, of the general agent, architect, builder, contractor or any other person who commits, takes part or assists in any such violation or who maintains any building or premises in which any such violation shall exist, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not more than one hundred dollars for each and every day that such violation continues, or by imprisonment for not more than ten days for each and every day such violation shall continue, or by both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court; and the city court of Norwich shall have jurisdiction of all such offenses, subject to appeal as in other cases.

Any such person who having been served with an order to remove any such violation shall fail to comply with said order within ten days after such service, or shall continue to violate any provision of the regulations made under authority of this act in the respect named in such order shall also be subject to a civil penalty of two hundred and fifty dollars, payable to the treasurer of the said city or town as the case may be, which may be collected by an action brought to the court of common pleas for New London county.

Sec. 14. Wherever the regulations made under authority of this act require a greater width or size of yards, courts or other open spaces, or required a lower height of building or less number of stories, or require a greater percentage of lot to be left unoccupied, or impose other higher standards that are required in any other statute, or local ordinance or regulation, the provisions of the regulations made under authority of this act shall govern. Wherever the provisions of any other statute or local ordinance or regulation require a greater width or size of yards, courts or other open spaces, or require a lower height of building or a less number of stories, or require a greater percentage of lot to be left unoccupied, or impose other higher standards than are required by the regulations made under authority of this act, the provisions of such statute, or local ordinance or regulation shall govern.

Permits From Town Clerk

Sec. 15. Either prior or subsequent to the adoption of regulations hereunder by the town of Norwich no person shall erect, add to, remove or place any building or other structure or addition thereto within the limits of the town of Norwich, outside the limits of the city of Norwich without having first obtained from the Town Clerk of said town a written permit therefore, which permit shall specify the location, character and proposed use of said structure and the purpose of which it is to be used, and no such permit shall be issued to any person unless said proposed structure shall comply with the and all regulation of said town, and a copy of said permit shall be recorded by the Town Clerk in a book to be kept by him in his office for such purpose. The Town Clerk shall be entitled to receive for his own use a fee of one dollar for the issuance and recording of each permit so granted to be paid by the person to whom said permit shall be issued.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be liable to the penalties of Section 13 of this act.

Fees To Firemen's Fund

Sec. 16. The regulations adopted by the court of common council of the city hereunder may provide that no building or structure shall be erected, constructed, reconstructed or altered without a permit from an official of the city designated therein, and said official shall grant no such permit unless such building or structure so to be erected, constructed, reconstructed or altered shall comply with any and all regulations of said city, and such regulations may provide for a fee for the use of the city for the issuance of any such permit not exceeding one dollar and all monies received for such permits by the said city shall become a part of the firemen's pension and relief fund of said city.

Sec. 17. Every regulation, including restrictions and boundaries, adopted either by the city of Norwich or the town of Norwich under and in accordance with the provisions of this act shall have the force of and be an ordinance of said city or an ordinance and by-law of said town, as the case may be, and any special mode or procedure required either by any special act or general law of the state for the adoption of ordinances by said city or of ordinances or by-laws by said town shall not apply to or be invoked in the adoption of said regulations hereunder; provided the provisions of this act are complied with by said city or town in the adoption of such regulations hereunder.

Sec. 18. Any power given either the said city of Norwich or the said town of Norwich by either special law or private act of the state of Connecticut to adopt either ordinances or by-laws on any of the subject matters herein mentioned shall in no wise be affected by the passage of this act; but all such powers shall either said city or town may have at the passage of this act shall continue in full force and effect.

Exceptions

Sec. 19. The regulations adopted either by the town of Norwich or city of Norwich hereunder shall not apply to the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration or use of any building or structure owned by the United States of America, the state of Connecticut, the county of New London, the town of Norwich, the city of Norwich, or any other political subdivision of the state of Connecticut, or to the use of any land owned by any of said bodies politic; nor shall such regulations apply to the erection, construction, reconstruction, alteration or use of any building or structure used or to be used by a public service corporation or to the use of any land by a public service corporation, provided that upon a petition of the corporation the public utilities commission of the state shall, after a public hearing decide that such erection, construction, alteration or use of such land proposed by such corporation is reasonably necessary for the convenience or welfare of the public.

Sec. 20. This act shall take effect from its passage.

Only Two More Days of the Demonstration of the RED STAR Detroit Vapor OIL STOVE

Who's interested in better cooking in the home? Everybody. Dad, after a day's work. Son, with the ravenous appetite of the young colt. Sis, who eats and eats and EATS. Even baby—with his thumb in his mouth—shows his interest, by lusty yowls. All of them look to you—mother—for foods. They want foods that TASTE good—that SATISFY—build up strong, healthy bodies. And upon YOU—no matter where you live—no matter how far away from the gas main you may be—on YOU rests the responsibility for feeding this quartette the kind of foods they want and the kind of properly prepared foods they need. How are you going to do it? There is a way. Millions of women know it and use it. Many of your neighbors have found it within the past few days. It is the famous Red Star Oil Stove.

BURNS OIL—GIVES GAS SPEED

Red Star has MODERNIZED kitchens in the oil-using communities. It burns Oil but WITHOUT WICKS. The patented Red Star All-Metal Burners give a clean, intensely hot GAS HEAT. You get an abundance of REAL heat for every purpose. You get GAS SPEED for cooking and baking. You can roast or bake or fry and stew anything you wish. We can prove this by a demonstration.

THIS WEEK ONLY

ACT NOW

SAVES TIME AND WORK, TOO

The beautiful Red Star Oil Stove saves time because it operates so easily—because there is nothing to get out of order—because the beautiful finish of white porcelain and black enamel cleans easily and quickly—because it is a modern, sanitary stove in every respect—just like a modern gas range.

A Demonstration Will Convince You

If you have never seen the Red Star in action, you have a treat coming. It is certainly a revelation of what can be done with kerosene oil. We are demonstrating all this week—showing what the Red Star will do. This demonstration ends Saturday night. Come—see for yourself.

There is a size of Red Star for every size of kitchen and every need—two to six burners. There is a price to suit every income. Any home can afford one. See for yourself and insure good cooking for your table and happier kitchen hours for yourself.

Saturday is the Last Day

Saturday is the last day of the demonstration of Wearever Aluminum. Make it a point to visit our kitchenware department and have Mrs. Kingsley, the demonstrator from the factory, show you how the various Wearever Aluminum utensils may be used.

MAY DAY WAS UNUSUALLY CALM IN EUROPEAN NATIONS

In Paris Only a Couple of Revolver Shots Were Fired—Six Meetings in the Suburbs Attracted Only About 10,000 Persons—There Were No Manifestations of Significant Proportions Throughout Italy—Demonstrations, but No Disorder, in England—In the United States There Was no Disorder,.

Paris, May 1—(By the A. P.)—Only a few untoward incidents of minor importance marked May Day in Paris. A couple of revolver shots were fired in the streets and a taxicab filled with reporters of L'Humanite, the Socialist organ, was stopped by the police and the men arrested. Later they were set free after a police magistrate had informed them they would be charged with carrying prohibited arms, namely three blackjacks.

Six meetings which were held in the suburbs attracted, the police say, only about 10,000 persons, the cold weather discouraging, even the most ardent celebrants of the day. Reports from the provinces give the same story of calm. Everywhere there was a general cessation of work, especially among the miners.

The taxicab drivers in Paris enjoyed a complete day of rest. No cabs were on the streets for hire. The autos buses carried out a limited service until 7 o'clock this evening when they together with the tramways, ceased operations. The subways, gas works and postal services were normal during the day.

MAY DAY EVENTLESS AS ANY OTHER DAY IN NEW YORK

New York, May 1—An idle May Day was the lot of the additional policemen and detectives on duty today to keep a lookout for possible disorders.

It proved as eventless as any other day. There were no meetings raided, and no arrests made. Policemen on guard at the homes of wealthy men and public buildings, found time heavy on their hands. There was no repetition of last night's raids, in which ten meetings of supposed radicals were broken up by the authorities.

The chief May Day meeting was that of the Workers Party of America held in an upper east side hall with about 1500 persons in attendance. It was an orderly affair, with a musical program, a few speeches urging the nationwide spread of communism, and the distribution of pamphlets in various languages as the most conspicuous features. No police were in the hall.

Young women distributed pamphlets captioned "May Day Proclamation," and urging "the masses" to fight the Dawes plan in "its scheme of international slavery." The pamphlets bore the signatures of the officers of the communist party of America and of the Young Workers League of America.

Two men were ejected from a city meeting because they insisted on shouting addresses at Mayor Hylan. They were not arrested.

Oswald Garrison Villard, Helen Phelps Stokes, the Rev. John Haynes Holmes, pastor of Community church, Arthur Garfield Hays, B. W. Heubsch and others of the American civil liberties union filed a formal protest with Police Commissioner Enright right against the raiding policy of the police last night. The raids were declared to have been "wholly unjustified" and "a clear interference with civil rights."

The signers [illegible] the police commissioner that [illegible] were not communists, "nor [illegible] sympathy with communism, but [illegible] regard May Day as a legitimate international recognition of world-wide unity of radical sections of the working class and should not be interfered with on the theory that violence will take place." The protest added: "No acts of violence on May Day have occurred in the United States for some years."

The union offered the workers party all legal aid at its command in the event of further trouble with the authorities.

DEMONSTRATION IN ENGLAND OF FESTIVE CHARACTER

London, May 1—(By the A. P.)—May Day appears to be losing, if not its one-time importance as a labor festival, at least its reputation for disorderly demonstrations by the working classes. Advices from all the great capitals of Europe tonight are to the effect that May Day passed quietly and almost entirely without disorders, although everywhere demonstrations of more or less importance were held, some of them of an imposing character.

What distinguished today from other May Days was the almost complete absence of strikes by workmen. The twenty four hour strike in past days used to be quite a common aspect of the May Day demonstrations, which nowadays are generally confined to parades and mass-meetings.

Some variation had been anticipated today arising from the supported strong feeling aroused in Germany by the election of Field Marshal von Hindenburg as president of the republic. But everything passed off quietly in Germany, and even in Cologne, where opposition to von Hindenburg is said to be strong, no disorders occurred, although the huge demonstration there bore a communistic aspect.

In England the demonstrations were of a festive holiday character. It was a coincidence that during the day the house of commons debated and rejected the laborite bill proposing ratification by Great Britain of the Washington eight hour day convention.

Perfect Order in Portugal

Lisbon, Portugal, May 1—Perfect order prevailed throughout Portugal today. The working classes made the day a holiday the military authorities prohibited open-air meetings, and permitted gatherings only inside the workers clubhouses.

Quiet in Italy

Rome, May 1—(By the A. P.)—With the exception of a few factories in the Lombardy metallurgical district, where nearly 50 per cent. of the workmen did not report for duty, there was almost no illness in Italy this May Day. It is estimated that not more than 15 per cent. of the laborers in the realm took a holiday and the day passed off with almost complete calm.

Neither was there any manifestations of significant proportions. About the only May Day sign noticeable in Rome was a soviet red flag, with its gold embroidered hammer and scythe, which flew throughout the day over the Russian soviet embassy.

No Radical Demonstration

Washington, May 1—The day of preparing for possible radical demonstration in the United States on May Day has passed, in the opinion of department of justice officials.

Tips from various parts of the United States and abroad, which in former years led the department to take extraordinary precautions against the May Day activities of agitators and plotters, were conspicuous by their absence this year, not a single warning of possible disorder being received.

Holiday in Cuba

Havana, May 1—(By the A. P.)—May Day passed quietly in Havana and throughout Cuba. All the workmen, except on the railroads, made the day a holiday. The red flag was flown from labor union headquarters.

This afternoon a wreath was laid beside the olive tree at Regla, across the bay from Havana, planted last year in memory of Nikolai Lenine, former president of soviet-Russia.

Red Flag at Glace Bay

Glace Bay, N. S., May 1—Approximately 800 workers including representatives of the United Mine Workers locals, women labor clubs and a number of school children bearing slogans of "down with capitalism," "for an industrial union," and one of them bearing the soviet emblem, the sickle and hammer, paraded in today's May Day parade. The "Red Flag" was sung as the parade was formed.

Review of Troops in Moscow

Moscow, May 1—May Day was celebrated here by a review of troops of the Moscow garrison by War Minister Frunse. Fifty airplanes flew overhead and members of the government and diplomatic corps appended.

Danish Premier Led Parade

Copenhagen, May 1—The Danish premier, T. Stauning headed a May Day procession through the streets of the capital to a public park where a meeting was held to demand an eight hour day for Danish workers. There were no disturbances during the day.

No Disorder in Spain

Madrid, May 1—Reports from the provinces as well as from various sections of Madrid, show that May Day was celebrated without untoward incidents. The precautions which had been taken by the authorities proved unnecessary.

Pro-Russian Demonstrations

Cologne, Germany, May 1—(By the A. P.)—May Day demonstrations on a huge scale, organized by the Socialists but dominated by the communists, took place here today. There was no disorder.

The demonstrations had a strong pro-Russian flavor, the banners carried by the marchers proclaiming affiliation with the Russain soviet and urging the Germans to fight against a monarchist regime that Field Marshal von Hindenburg's election was held to protend.

Parades in Sweden

Stockholm Sweden May 1—May Day parades were conducted today with perfect order. Shops were closed early and 30,000 persons headed by Minister of Defense Hansson and Minister of Social Welfare Moller marched to the grave of former Premier Branting where memorial services were conducted.

Another parade was conducted by communists only. About 2,000 participated.

MRS. COOLIDGE EXPERT IN TRAINING DOGS

Washington, May 1—Mrs. Coolidge gave the president a lesson in training dogs.

Returning from his daily walk, the president found the two White House dogs, Paul Pry, the airedale, and Rob Roy, the white collie, at the front door waiting for Mrs. Coolidge, who also had left the mansion. He decided to give them a frolic in the front yard.

After a brief romp, he called them in. Rob Roy returned dutifully to the portico but Paul Pry headed for Pennsylvania avenue, to take a real jaunt.

Secret service men promptly gave chase, while the president whistled vainly for Paul Pry, who was gaily prancing out of sight. At this point, Mrs. Coolidge arrived, and just as Dick Jervis and George Drescher, two of the secret service men, succeeded in heading the dog around, he caught the familiar whistle of Mrs. Coolidge and her handclap.

With a leap, Paul Pry set forth on a mad gallop to the White House portico. There he received a reprimand from Mrs. Coolidge for his mischief, but the president preferred not to hear all of it and went inside.

COURTMARTIAL BEING CONDUCTED IN SOFIA

Sofia, Bulgaria, May 1—Representatives of the local press and foreign correspondents were permitted to be present at the opening of the courtmartial today of the persons charged with responsibility for the bomb outrage in the Sveti Kral cathedral on April 16, in which a large number of persons were killed or injured.

The court is composed of three lieutenant-colonels who are acting as judges; a captain, who is acting as public prosecutor, and two captains, who are taking charge of the case for the two defendants, Sacristan Presdman of the cathedral, and Petrini, the communist leader. The prisoners appeared calm and collected.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Gold Standard Topic

London, May 1—Resumption of the gold standard continues a prominent topic, and although the government's decision to raise the pound sterling to normal is generally commended, there are some doubtful voices raised as to the outcome.

Churchill Talks to Voters

London, May 1—Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, escaping for a time from the labor howls that drowned out his budget exposition in the house of commons last night, took his argument direct to the voters today in addressing a meeting of the conservative primrose league at Albert Hall. He made a spirited defense of the national balance sheet which he presented to parliament on Tuesday.

FIVE BALLOONS START IN ELIMINATION RACE

St. Joseph, Mo., May 1—Five balloonists tonight were traveling southeastward across the United States in the national elimination balloon race. Four of them were contesting for the honor of representing the United States in the international races. The fifth was a pilot balloon, that led the way for the others.

A sixth pilot, sCptain Raymond E. O'Neill, saw his hopes blasted early in the afternoon when the net about his balloon, the S-16 of the Army, was torn. The big bag was then ripped open and deflated. It was Captain O'Neill's first chance to participate in a national balloon race. The first of the contesting balloons, the Army balloon S-14, piloted by Lieutenant William J. Flood, took off at 5:59 p. m., and sailed away to the southeast before a stiff breeze.

The Goodyear III., flown by W. T. Van Orman, got away ten minutes later, Van Orman won last year's race.

Captain H. E. Honeywell, veteran aeronaut, soared away in the St. Joseph at 6:42 p. m.

Tribute was paid by officials of the race to the nerve of W. C. Naylor, aide to Herbert V. Thaden, who was overcome by gas shortly before his balloon, the Detroit, was to start.

Naylor was revived by pulmotor and insisted on accompanying Thaden against the advice of physicians.

The nervy aide was lifted from an ambulance and placed in the basket just before Thaden took off on the flight at 6:58 o'clock. Physicians advised that the trip might result in pneumonia since his lungs were in a weakened condition from the gas.

The start of the race was delayed by a strong wind from the northwest that hampered inflation early in the afternoon and the gas was turned off for more than one hour. Pilots said damage might be done to the big bags if inflated in the heavy wind. They swayed back and forth, sometimes nearly touching the ground.

It was not until 6:47 p. m., that the pilot balloon in charge of Major Maurice Smith of Kansas City, took off to lead the way for the contestants.

LUCILLE CHATTERTON CLUNG TO HAND OF HER ABDUCTOR

Middlebury, Vt., May 1—Earl Woodward of Granville, farm hand and former convict, captured in South Brookfield with 11 year-old Lucille Chatterton, his employer's daughter, was brought into the municipal court here and charged with the kidnapping of the girl. Tonight, just one week since the man and girl disappeared, Woodward slept in a cell in the county jail with Lucille under the same roof in charge of the jailer's wife. He will be arraigned and make his plea tomorrow.

A search which filled the quiet slopes of the green mountains with armed men and called Vermont's greatest man-hunt ended at 6 o'clock this morning, when a German police dog led three searchers to the barn of an abandoned farm in South Brookfield. Woodward surrendered quietly; the girl clung to his hand and shrunk in fright from her grim pursuers.

[illegible] and girl were brought first to Randolph, two town physicians made a complete examination of the latter and announced that she had not been harmed by Woodward in any way.

Woodward's explanation of his taking the girl away from the home of her father, Walter Chatterton, was that he was rescuing her from ill treatment by her father. He had previously struck up a friendship with her, as said, and became indignant, because he charged, the father had mistreated her and also her mother. He declared that he had remonstrated with Chatterton to no avail, and that he decided the only thing to do was to remove her from an atmosphere which he thought very harmful.

The man denied that he had planned long before hand to abduct Lucille, and said that he had acted on impulse. The girl, pretty and dark-eyed, showed no fear of Woodward, and told her questioners that she was afraid to go home to her father. Attorney General Frank C. Archibald, who has taken a personal interest in the case and directed the searching parties, said that he would take steps to have the girl placed permanently in some home in Middlebury where she would be properly cared for. Temporarily, he placed her in the care of Mrs. Nolie Sanford, whose husband is a deputy sheriff in charge of the county jail.

The girl's father had little to say, and when asked by a reporter what he would like to have done with Woodward, replied:

"I don't know. I'll leave that to the attorney general."

WILLIMANTIC WOMAN IS STATE PRESIDENT W. R. C.

Kidnapped Girl Found in New Haven

Christina Sweet, 13 Year Old, of Browns Mills, N. J., Located in Home of James Gilligan.

Mt. Holly, N. J., May 1—County Detective Ellis Parker announced here this afternoon that James Gilligan and his wife had been arrested in New Haven, Conn., as the kidnappers of 13-year-old Christina Sweet, of Brown Mill, in this county. The girl was found in the Gilligan home in New Haven, Detective Parker was informed.

Mr. Parker said that the Gilligans had waived extradition proceedings and would be brought back to this county tomorrow by Detectives Cain and Carabine, who were to leave for New Haven tonight. Parker said the prisoners had made no statement to the New Haven police as to why they had kidnapped the girl. They formerly lived at Browns Mills, he said.

The girl disappeared Wednesday while on her way to school. Since the death of her mother she had lived with her uncle, James Stephenson, from whose home her route to school took her along a lonely two mile stretch of road. On the day of her disappearance a strange couple were reported to have been seen on this road. Detective Parker's investigation led him to believe that this couple were responsible for the girl's disappearance. He subsequently traced them to New Haven. The arrests there were made by New Haven police.

The girl will be returned to her uncle's home tomorrow. The Gilligans will be brought to the county jail here.

GIRL SAID SHE WAS TIRED OF LIVING WITH UNCLE

New Haven, May 1—James P. Gilligan and his wife, of this city, were arrested at their home this afternoon by two New Haven detectives and are being held as fugitives from justice pending the arrival of two detectives from Mt. Holly, N. J., where the couple will face charges of having kidnapped Christina Sweet, 13, of Browns Mill, N. J., Wednesday. The girl was found at the Gilligan home. It is expected that Mr. and Mrs. Gilligan will waive extradition and will not object to returning to New Jersey.

Word was received at the detective bureau here yesterday of the alleged kidnapping and that Gilligan and his wife had left Browns Mill and were on their way to this city with the girl. The message stated that the girl whose mother is dead, had been living with her uncle for the past eight years. Her father, Harry Sweet, is said to live in New Lisbon, N. J.

The little girl when questioned by the detectives here today, said that she had not been kidnapped and that she had left her uncle at her own wish to make her home with the Gilligans here. According to the detectives, she said she was tired of living with her uncle and wanted to make her home in this city. Mrs. Gilligan, who lived in New Jersey before her marriage, knew the little girl intimately.

DIAMOND BROTHERS BURIED IN MOUNT ZION CEMETERY

New York, May 1—The Diamond brothers, Morris and Joseph, who were executed in Sing Sing prison last night for the murder of two Brooklyn bank messengers in 1923, were buried in Mount Zion cemetery, Maspeth, Long Island, while their mother, Mrs. Dora Diamond, their four sisters and a few close friends stood beside the graves. Only a brief ceremony was held.

An hour earlier five thousand persons had stood in the drizzling rain along upper Washington avenue, as two hearses, which had conveyed the bodies from Ossining to a Bronx undertaking establishment, set out for the cemetery.

The bodies were turned over to the undertakers by Warden Lewis E. Lawes on presentation of an order signed by the mother. As the cortege left the prison 100 convicts, working on the road, stood silent and bareheaded in the rain.

The body of John Farina, executed with the Diamonds last night for the same crime was claimed by undertakers, who presented a written order from Angelo Farina, a brother. The body was taken to New York.

RUSH IN WASHINGTON TO BE VACCINATED

Washington, May 1—The rush of Washingtonians to be vaccinated as a result of a smallpox scare continued today with a number of high government officials in the van.

Secretary Wilbur and Assistant Secretary Robinson of the navy department were among the first to be treated by navy physicians, while others were President Palmer and Vice President Cone of the fleet corporation, and Commissioner Hill of the shipping board.

Hundreds of government employes were vaccinated during the day.

Statement on French Financial Program

Finance Minister Declares a Return to the Gold Standard is a Necessary Element.

Paris, May 1.—(By the A. P.)—Explaining his recent statements that France must seek ways and means for returning to a gold standard, Finance Minister Caillaux today told correspondents that the gold standard was one of the necessary elements of the French financial program.

M. Caillaux said his proposals were divided into three categories, the first of which was a permanent and absolute budget, so that there could be no fear anywhere of a deficit in French finances. Beyond this statement, the finance minister asked to be excused from going into details concerning the rest of the program, because, he said, it was proper that the French parliament be informed first. He added, however, that when the necessary measures to provide for the floating French debt and other urgent requirements were affected, France must then follow the lead of Great Britain in placing her money once more upon a gold basis.

The gravity of the situation arising from the heavy obligations coming due this year has been greatly exaggerated, said M. Caillaux, who expressed confidence that with careful handling the French treasury would be able to meet all demands made upon it.

"French finances," he concluded, "will be handled in a way that will give every confidence to our Anglo-Saxon friends in the financial solidity of France."

CONGRESSIONAL RECESS PROFITABLE TO COUNTRY

Washington, May 1—The lull in governmental activities during the congressional recess, in the opinion of President Coolidge, should be profitable to the country.

With little transpiring in the national capital to engage its attention, as the president sees it, the public has an opportunity to give undivided thought to the conduct of private business.

Mr. Coolidge believes that the country at large will appreciate being believed of the necessity of looking to Washington every day to see what is going to be done, and that business men particularly will be able to carry on their affairs without fear that a change of law or a new regulation might jeopardize their commitments or alter the basis of their investments.

The president has no intention of initiating many during the summer that would have far-reaching effects on business, and hopes that a realization of this purpose throughout the business world will have a beneficial effect.

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

The Washington Americans formally raised their 1924 championship banner.

The census bureau reported an increase in the national birth rate in 1924, while the death rate decreased.

Defects in criminal procedure were cited before the American Law Institute as "directly contributing to the increase of crime" in the United States.

Secretary Walcott of the Smithsonian institute, denied that the original model of the Langley airplane had been "mutilated" as charged by Orville Wright.

President Coolidge told automobile club secretaries the traffic problem of large cities was a serious one which must be treated "with the broadest view."

An order suspending the Packer consent decree was entered in the district supreme court, with indications pointing to an appeal by the government to the supreme court.

NAZIMOVA APPLIES FOR NATURALIZATION PAPERS

New York, May 1—Alla Nazimova, actress, applied for first papers for naturalization as an American citizen on April 28, just before she sailed last week for France it became known today.

It was explained at the naturalization bureau that the actress said she did not want to seek advertising through her application so it was not made public at that time.

She gave her age as 43 and her birthplace at Yalta, Russia.

SEC'Y WEEKS RECOVERING FROM THROMBOSIS STROKE

Washington May 1—Secretary Weeks who has been suffering from a thrombosis stroke for several weeks, has shown such improvement recently that President Coolidge expects him to return to his desk in a short time the president was informed today that Mr. Weeks had recovered sufficiently to leave his bed for a chair.

LOSS OF LIFE AND VESSELS OFF COAST OF NOVA SCOTIA

Wife of the Captain and Four Members of the Crew Were Drowned When the Schooner Cape D'or Sank After Being Rammed—Two Other Ships Ashore Are Deemed to Total Loss Because of Heavy Seas—Shipping Officials Are Attempting to Save the Crew of the Steamer Moldegaard.

Halifax, N. S., May 1—One woman, the wife of the captain, and four members of crew of the schooner Cape D'Or lost their lives off Sambro lightship last night when the schooner sank after being rammed by the steamer Clackamas.

Two other vessels, the Norwegian steamer Moldegaard and the steamer Azov, were ashore tonight and were certain to be total losses because of the heavy seas off the coast.

The crew of the Moldegaard were in danger of perishing on account of their inability to launch boats. They are to be rescued by steamers. The crew of the Azov were rescued by the wrecking steamer Ocean Eagle.

Sinking of the Schooner Cape D'Or did not become known until the Clackamas put in to this port today. Captain Wilkie and some members of the schooner's crew were rescued, but the captain's wife and four members of the crew were drowned. Mrs. Wilkie's body was recovered.

Shipping officials tonight were attempting to save the crew of the Moldegaard which crashed on the Sambro ledges off Pennant Point early this morning. The dominion government steamer Stanley was standing by but could not approach because of heavy seas. Latest reports said that the steamer had lost her funnel, that her engine room was flooded and that her stern was thing slightly with the heavy seas.

The dominion steamer Stanley, standing by the Moldegaard, said it was impossible to approach the grounded vessel. The steamer had lost her funnel and her engine room was flooded, while her stern lifted slightly with the heavy seas, the Stanley reported.

The Nova Scotia schooner Cape D'Or was bound to Halifax with a cargo of salt from Turks Island, and was endeavoring to close in on Sambro lightship in order to ascertain his position in the thick fog, when the Clackamas rammed her. The Clackamas was carrying coal from Norfolk, Va., bound for Halifax harbor.

The Red Cross steamer Sylvia, the Red Star steamer Zeeland, and the Dominion government steamer Stanley answered the S. O. S. call broadcast by an amateur aboard the Clackamas. They could find no trace of the supposedly distressed steamer at the position indicated by the S. O. S. In the meantime the Clackamas slipped through the heavy fog into port with the survivors from the Cape D'Or.

The Canadian Independent Oil Company's steam tanker Azov was on her way from Cuba to Montreal with molasses in bulk when it went ashore at Cape Hogan on the shore of Cape Breton. The crew of 25 were saved, but Captain Donald A. McLean wired that the vessel would probably be a total loss.

DEFENSE OPENS IN THE TRIAL OF OLYMPIA MACRI

New Haven, May 1—The defense of Olympia Macri, will be based upon the claim that she shot John Bognano here on February 26 in order to protect her own life. This was revealed this afternoon during the cross-examination by Joseph Koletsky, counsel for the defense, of the preliminary witnesses for the state soon after the actual hearing of testimony had gotten under way.

Shortly before noon James M. Chase, aged 46, a carpenter of Cheshire, Conn., was accepted as the 12th juror and Judge Christopher L. Avery summoned the jury into the court room at once. One hundred and eighty-three talesmen had been examined and only one peremptory challenge remained unused by the defense when Chase was finally accepted by both sides. Many spectators who had been unable to find seats moved restlessly as the jury, which took a record time to complete, finally entered the court room and Judge Avery warned that upon the first sign of a demonstration, the court room would be cleared.

A moment later Assistant Clerk Daniel Bailey, of the criminal superior court read the indictment to the jury and oJseph Candee, a photographer, was called as the first witness for the state. Photographs he testified to having taken of the front of the theatre where the shooting occurred were shown to the jury and introduced as exhibits one, two, three and four. In his cross-examination Koletsky endeavored to show that the photographs did not include several parts of the scene, though it would have been easy to include them.

MERCHANT MARINE SEAMEN MAY BECOME NAVAL RESERVE

Washington, May 1—Although President Coolidge has been unable to study carefully the plan of Chairman O'Connor of the shipping board, to aid the American Merchant Marine by government assistance in the payment of seamen's wages, he feels that such measures would be warranted only if necessary to provide an adequate naval reserve.

If the O'Connor plan merely is designed to help American ship owners meet labor costs, the administration must determine, in the president's opinion, whether it is willing to aid in payment of seamen's wages any more than in paying the wages of farm and factory labor.

Convinced that the proposal simmers down to one entirely to benefit to national defense, the president before giving any encouragement to the scheme, would want to get the views of the navy department.

Secretary Wilbur declared the navy would be glad to consider the O'Connor proposal, but indicated that so many factors were involved in building up a naval reserve, he could not express a definite opinion on the merit of the plan for some time.

The department, he added, was giving special attention to development of an adequate naval merchant fleet, an important element in national defense, especially in the trading of reservists.

COL. COOLIDGE SUBMITS TO EXAMINATION OF EXPERTS

Boston, May 1—Colonel John C. oColidge, father of the president, today bowed to the wishes of his distinguished son and submitted to examination at the hands of two Boston specialists. That task ended he turned his back to the city without delay, taking the first train for his farm at Plymouth, Vt. His personal physician, Dr. Albert M. Crane of Bridgewater, Vt., who accompanied Colonel Coolidge on his visit to Boston, said as they entrained that the examination had disclosed nothing more than slight weaknesses incidental to advancing age. The president's father is 88 years old.

The reports of the examining physicians, Drs. Paul D. White of the Massachusetts General hospital, and Arthur L. Chute, will be mailed to Col. Coolidge when the specialists have had an opportunity to study their data. An interim statement, signed by both physicians, declared that the patient showed a slow pulse, varying from 38 to 56 per minute, and that this condition, known as "heart block" is sometimes found with advancing age.

Dr. Crane said later that nothing of a serious nature had been discovered at the examinations at both of which he assisted.

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS TO AUTOMOBILE CLUBS

Washington, May 1—Traffic congesting transportation, problems, particularly those of increasing congested cities, President Coolidge declared in an address to secretaries of automobile clubs in conference here today that instead of using new traffic facilities to end over-crowding, the people seem determined to crowd themselves more than ever.

As a result, he contended, there is need for "concerted, fundamental and courageous consideration of all the questions involved, "which," he added, "reach a hundred times deeper than the mere superficial problem of getting streams of motor cars moved through city streets."

The president urged the 150 motor club secretaries, who had gathered at the south portico of the White House to hear his greeting, to take the "broadest and most inclusive view" of the problems confronting them. These, he said, include "the physical configuration of our cities, the direction of the mighty currents of the nation's commerce, and the continentwide distribution of population and industry."

Declaring that in planning the layout of cities years ago, it was impossible to foresee the "transportation revolution," Mr. Coolidge said that some recent studies of engineers and sociologists "have led to doubts whether the superior efficiency of the very great cities as business, industrial and cultural centers can be taken altogether for granted."

"They have advantages," he added "but they also have disadvantage; and the disadvantages seem to be multiplying fastest."

COOLIDGE TO REMAIN FOR BUDGET MEETING

Washington, May 1—President Coolidge intends to remain in Washington to attend the semi-annual budget meeting June 22, but plans to leave shortly after that date for an extended vacation in New England.

Early in June the president will go to Minnesota to attend the "Norse-American Centennial, returning here after delivering an address there. He feels that he should be present at the government's business meeting, and regardless of weather conditions, does not intend to start on his vacation until after it is out of the way.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge plan to spend a month or more at Swampscott, Mass., and also to visit the president's father at Plymouth, Vt., before returning to Washington.

The president also would like to attend the governors' conference which will be held late in June at Poland Springs, Me., but has not as yet seen his way clear to accept the invitation extended recently by Governor Brewster of Maine, to participation in the meeting.

Although the Mayflower the president's yacht, is expected to anchor near Swampscott during the summer to be available for cruises, the president and his party probably will make the trip to New England by train.

SUIT FOR $500,000 FILED AGAINST THE DODGE ESTATE

Detroit, May 1—Suit for $500,000 was filed against the Dodge estate here by Horace A. Bloomer, a local attorney, and former chairman of the board of directors. The suit was filed by Praecipe, Mr. Bloomer leaving the city as soon as the papers had been accepted by the county clerk.

Mr. Bloomer is administrator of the estates of Horace E. and John F. Dodge, but has not been connected with the Dodge company for more than a year. While the cover of the Praecipe notes that the suit is for $1,000,000 the body of the text calls for $500,000.

Efforts to get in touch with Mr. Bloomer have been unavailing.

OBITUARY.

Mortimer Boyle

New York, May 1—Mortimer Boyle, formerly lieutenant-colonel of the 328th Infantry, 82nd Division, died here today after an illness of seven months. Mr. Boyle joined the 82nd Division at Atlanta, Ga., as a captain in 1917, and after the Meuse-Argonne offensive, in which he was cited for distinguished orders for gallantry, was promoted to succeed as commander of his regiment. Band, St. Mary's School boys, Windham Street Model School boys, Windham High School boys. The athletic events are in charge of a committee headed by John O'Rourke. Baseball games will be one of the features of the day with the four grammar school teams of the city meeting in an elimination event. The winners of the two games in the preliminaries will contest for the championship. It is planned to hold the games to five innings. Olympic and a half-mile free-for-all relay race in addition to the Junior with prizes awarded, promise to cause considerable interest. Edwin J. Donnelly will be referee. The finance committee, James E. Fullerton, chairman that made arrangements for the prizes to be given and the refreshment committee, Valentine L. Murphy, chairman, is prepared to serve cookies and drinks.

An interesting debate between address of the Willimantic Good Government League and the Windham [illegible] Partisan League, the Boys' Week political parties, was held by pupils of the eighth grade of St. Joseph's school in the afternoon. The arguments pro and con were backed by good reasoning and served to thoroughly explain both platforms. The Willimantic Good Government League debaters were, Margaret Connolly and Teresa Danahey; Wilfred Breault and Raymond Carey appeared for the Windham Non-Partisan League. The Good Government party was adjudged the winner. The judges were, Annie Augustin, Alice Timmins, Edward MacSweeney and Fred Steiner.

A Dodge auto truck owned by Bianchette & Biancifette of this city and operated by one of their salesmen was badly wrecked and considerable of the state fence was torn down, Tuesday, when the truck left the road in Brooklyn and went over a small embankment into the bushes. Friday night the Hebron Players gave their first circuit performance as members of the Drama League of Eastern Connecticut in the auditorium of Windham Center School before a large and appreciative audience. The first play was Booth Tarkington's "Bimbo, the Pirate." It was preceded by a piano solo by Miss Merrelle Goodwin of Hebron, who played Padarewski's "Minuet" and there was a tenor solo by James Martin, of East Hartford, who sang "The Road to Mandalay." "Bimbo, the Pirate" is a comedy of colonial times in New England when pirating was as common and very nearly as respectable an occupation as trafficking in rum from the Indies. But contrary to every generally accepte dtheory, these "bloody wretches" adhered strictly to the Connecticut Blue Laws and found their aristocratic captives unfit to associate with good pirates, being users of profanity, transgressors of bad molasses and even guilty of kissing their wives upon the Sabbath Day! The cast included Allen Macklin as Robert the young captured lover; Mary Cummings, as Lydia, his wife; S. Bingham Pendleton, Ship's Gunner; Frank Rathbun, Captain Deuteronomy Bimbo; Horace Porter The Deaf and Dumb Pirate; Moe Friedman, The Pirate with the Braided Beard; and H. Clinton Porter as Mr. Driscoll, a Liverpool merchant. Following, "Bimbo," Mr. Martin sang "The Gypsy Trail"

The second play, "That Used Saints Adam" was laid in a cottage in a remote part of Canada. The play is a tragedy of a little French Canadian girl who offers up her one treasure in vain to save a sick sister. It was cast as follows: Jeanne le Bonte, a girl of fifteen, Helen Gilbert; Madame le Bonte, her grandmother, Susan Pendleton; Madame Paley, a malicious neighbor, Mrs. Anne C. Gilbert; Xavier Certeau, a young habitant, Moe Friedman. Rev. T. D. Martin, rector of St. Peter's church, Hebron, sang "The Two Grenadiers" accompanied at the piano by Miss Goodwin. The third play, "The Loan of Love" was a revival of a comedy of some fifty years ago. Gertrude, a servant at the Rosendaal estate, in England is given by her mistress the loan of a lover and so secures the hand and affection of Peter Spyk, a young farmer, for whom all the girls round about are pulling caps. The scene was laid in the garden of the Rosendaal estate, Lancashire. The players were: Quince, master of the wine cellar, Raymond Smith; Delve, a gardener, Charles Miner; Peter Spyk, the wealthy young farmer, S. Bingham Pendleton: Gertrude, who has no swain of any sort, Helen Gilbert; Lady Ernestine Rosendaal, who has a score, Mary Cummings; Captain Amersfort, the loaned lover, Allen Macklin. Informal dancing followed the plays, with music by a Hebron orchestra.

A musical program was given by Leslie Nichols and son of Willimantic, with cornet and piano, and there was a reading by Miss Penney, of Conn. Agricultural College.

WATERBURY TRUCK UPSETS AT SOUTH CHAPLIN BRIDGE

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, May 1—Roger Thibeault, 37, of South Main Street, Waterbury and Henry Taylor, 36, of Harper's Ferry road, Waterbury, received multiple scalp wounds and a fracture of the left leg at the ankike and a five ton Mack truck owned by M. G. Darcy of Waterbury, laden with bales of cloth and cases of spindles, was damaged, in a spectacular accident. Shortly after o'clock Friday afternoon the truck careened, in making the turn at the bottom of the grade on the west side of the dangerous South Chaplin bridge. It overturned as it tore through several feet of state fence and landed with the four wheels spinning in the air at the base of a 15-foot embankment.

The front part of the truck which was being operated by Taylor lay in the Natchaug river which flows under the bridge. The men chawled safely from the cab. They were brought to St. Joseph's hospital, this city, by a motorist from Webster, Mass. State Policemen Gardiner and Keith of the Danielson barracks were summoned. In view of the fact that the Waterbury men who were headed back home from Providence were not familiar with the road and that the curve is a trap to automobiles, no arrests were made. The accident is the fifth within three weeks to occur at the bridge and it is the second time within two weeks that the same stretch of state fence has been torn down by automobiles out of control. Residents of that section state that all accidents, minor and serious, which have happened at the curve during the past few years, would easily reach the one hundred count. State road surveyors were at the site of the accident Friday and noted the dangers existing at the bridge.

TWO HUSBANDS SEEK DIVORCE IN SUPERIOR COURT FRIDAY

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, May 1—Judge Allyn L. Brown was on the bench, at the opening of the civil session of the May term of Windham county superior court in this city Friday with a short calendar session and assignment of cases. After a conference with the attorneys interested in cases to come up during the term, Judge Brown announced that peadings would open at 9:30 a. m., standard time during the term.

Cases were assigned as follows: To court—First for Wednesday, May 13, Frank A. Phillips vs. James W. Baker; second, William Higginson vs. George J. Rood; third, Joseph Benoit vs Ida Plant Benoit. To Jury: Max Ungar vs. Charles Weider, first for Tuesday, May 19; Pierre Chabot et al vs. Alphonse J. Lussier; executor; third, Isola D. Vadnais vs. Philip Salves. The cases on the short calendar were all defered.

Hearing on naturalization cases will be held May 12, it was announced. Two cases were taken up Friday, that of Alvin P. Corey vs. Sadie M. Corey, alimony pending lite and allowance to defend, and the uncontested divorce case of Frank I. Greene of Putnam vs. Mary Green, now of parts unknown.

In the Corey case the petitioner has instituted divorce proceedings. He was not present, but was represented by Attorney Charles L. Torrey. The defendant was represented by Attorney Curtis G. Morgan, who explained that the principals in the case were the parents of six children, the oldest 18. They disagreed in September, 1923, and by mutual consent separated, Mrs. Corey to receive $3,000 from her husband. Papers were signed by a party not an attorney. At that time Mr. Corey owned three farms in Sterling and was worth between $30,000 and $35,000. Mrs. Corey said that all her husband gave her was fifty cents. He had given a little money to their youngest child, now four years old. Corey brought action against his wife for divorce on the grounds of adultery, naming his nephew as the co-respondent. On the witness stand Mrs. Corey denied any guilt in that case, stating that since the separation she had retained three of the children with her, a boy 18, a girl 17 and another boy, four. She had resided in Groton, being employed by the Max Pollock thread company and earning only $12.36 for a full week. She got $4 a week from her son and daughter, who both work. Judge Brown made the allowance of $13 a week to Mrs. Corey until the divorce proceedings are settled.

Frank I. Greene testified in his uncontested divorce action that after a month's courtship in Providence he married Mary Greene, July 26 1923. They separated thirty days later and she packed her goods and left. Even during the brief honeymoon, Greene said, he had prepared most of the meals. He worked in Dayville and evenings his wife went out and would return early the next morning. He believed that he had every reason to call his wife an unfaithful woman. When they met, his wife told him that she was a widow, but he never knew whether or not her alleged husband was alive or dead. Dr. J. B. Kent testified as to the physical condition of the plaintiff and his father, Benjamin Greene testified as to the marriage and subsequent happenings. Judge Brown granted the decree on the grounds of adultery and cruelty.

The following were drawn on the jury for the term: Ashford, Harlow P. Scott; Canterbury, Robert Fletcher, Fred Cone; Hampton, Elmer Stone; Sterling, George C. Spooner; Scotland Archie H. ## ANDOVER

There was a dance Wednesday evening in the town hall given by Manchester people. Percy Beebe was prompter. The same party gives another one next week.

The Ladies' society met Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Emily Cobb.

Miss Hazel Carey of Hartford spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Bartlett.

Miss Esther Jewett teacher in Vernon was at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jewett Wednesday night returning to her school Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. George Nelson and little daughter Jane, were in Woodstock Sunday visiting relatives.

Misses Alice and Ruth Yeoman had as their guests over the week end Misses Helen Stiles, Avis Thompson, Virginia Hinman and Janet Scripture all of Willimantic.

CHAPLIN

Wild geese and air planes have been flying over the town of late.

Rev. John H. Knott attended the convocation of ministers at Yale the past week.

Dr. Orin R. Witter and daughter Charlotte spent a few days this week with friends in town. The doctor had fine success trout fishing.

Merritt Welch's saw mill is now on a lot in the northwest part of the town.

Merritt Welch, Jr., a student at East Greenwich Seminary is at home recovering from illness.

The sacrament will be observed at the church next Sunday.

Miss Gertrude Martin is caring for Mrs. William H. Burnham, in Hampton.

But little planting has been done yet owing to the cold weather and frosty nights.

SEASON IS HERE FOR YOUNG ONION

Domestic science, foreign chefs, and cosmopolitan attendance at grand opera are accustoming the American dinner to the use of garlic as a regular flavoring and now that garlic seems to be pretty well established one needn't shy at the gentler onion, so often denied in competition with the movies and the theater. Onion breaths are mild compared with garlic and you meet the latter everywhere.

Onion sets—red, white and yellow—are now ready to go into the ground for the earliest and quickest supply of the succulent young onion. It doesn't make much difference which is planted. Old - time gardeners have an idea that the red sets are hardier and will stand more cold in the earliest days of spring with the yellow next, and the white sets tenderest of all. This theory is not well proved and it is safe to set in any of them, the criterion being the condition of the sets. The soildest should be selected.

Put the onion sets in the richest soil you have about three inches apart, keep the soil well stirred about them and you will be ready to pull young onions in no time. Nitrate of soda sprinkled lightly along the rows but not touching the onions will speed them up.

While the sets are on their way sow onion seeds for the later crop of young onions, pulling them out so as to leave the bulbs to mature for the late crop about five to six inches apart. These bulbs cannot be expected to make the big Bermuda type onions but will give plenty of medium sizes and a number of small sizes so much in demand for pickling in the fall.

Give onions plenty of cultivation from the start and this is the secret of successful onion growing with a basis of rich soil. If they grow up to weeds or the soil becomes hard and baked small strong bulbs and thick necks are bound to result.

IS YOUR SOIL ALKALINE OR ACID

Soil condition, as to whether it is alkaline or acid, that is, lime impregnated or lacking in lime, has become a very important question in gardening and one which is only beginning to be appreciated for its real value. An acid soil, is one in which lime is lacking. Soils which are annually mulched with pine needles or oak leaves are very likely to be acid, as these leaves, decaying, produce an acid condition.

Sandy soils are likely to be acid because the sand is made up of fine particles of silicon, which is not what chemists know as a base, a substance which unites with and neutralizes an acid. Lime does this and lime in the soil is necessary to counteract necessity for vegetable growing. In the flower garden ther are a number of plants and ornamental bushes which will not tolerate a sweet or lime soil, but they are few and the only ones likely to be found in the ordinary garden are some of the lilies, such as the gold-banded lily of Japan, Lilium auratum, which will not flourish in a sweet or limy soil. This is the reason for the poor success in growing this plant in most gardens.

The continued use of chemical fertilizers is also likely to produce an acid condition. So it is necessary to alternate lime dressings in the fall with commercial fertilizers in the spring. Liming the soil also helps to liberate certain plant food elements and place them in a form available for the plants.

Members of the mustard family, to which the radish, cabbage, turnip, and many other vegetables belong, want lime soils. So do members of the legume family to which belong the peas, beans and clovers.

Pulverized limestone is the cheapest and easiest method of applying lime to the soil. Hydrated and air-slaked lime come next. They, however, differ hardly at all from the pulverized limestone after the slaking process. Scatter the lime so the soil looks as if a light snow had fallen and rake it in.

TIME TO SET BEE COLONIES IN SHAPE

The first thing to do for the bees in the spring is to see that they have good queens. This can be judged, usually by the way the bees fly on good flight days. Colonies which fly strong and seem to be working, especially if the bees visit damp places for water, have queens and are in good condition. If any do not fly well, the beekeeper should open these hives on the first pleasant warm day and find out why the bees are not active, and remedy the trouble. Queenless colonies should be united as early in the spring as conditions will permit safe examination; i. e., a temperature of 65 degrees or better, about noon. A weak or queenless colony should be united with a strong colony having a good queen.

The second thing to do for the bees is to see that they have enough to eat, in order for colonies to build up in time for the early honey flow, they should have about 15 pounds of honey ahead of their needs at all times during the spring months. This means the equivalent of three full frames of honey. Honey is a better food for bees in the spring than sugar syrup, but if you have no honey to give them, feed 10 to 20 pounds of sugar made half and half. This will carry them along until they can get fresh nectar. This feeding should be done about the first of April if the weather warms up rapidly. Colonies which had from 40 to 60 pounds of honey and syrup last fall will need no feeding in the spring, and this is a better method of handling.

Conditions at this writing point toward an early spring. If such be the the case, it will be well to look for swarming preparatiops the latter half of April in the strongest colonies. If any are found with queen cell cups started, cut out the cells, and give more for brood. It is the strong colony which gathers the most honey, so we should give it every chance to develop to its maximum strength.

Colony prosperity in the spring depends upon good queens, an abundance of food, and all the room the queen can fill with eggs.—L. B. Crandall Connecticut Agricultural College.

At Last Jimmy Skunk Knows Fear

Fear in some form soon or late
Is of every one the fate.
—Jimmy Skunk.

That automobile behind Jimmy Skunk didn't frighten him in the least, for he had discovered that it wasn't alive, but had something to do with those two-legged creatures called men, and he never had met one of the latter without a terrible gun that didn't treat him with the greatest respect. The driver of this automobile was afraid to run over him and afraid to try to crowd him out of the road. Jimmy knew it.

So he turned and hurried across the road and into the Green Forest

So he ambled along in the rut, and now and then turned to look back. Finally as he did this he was just in time to see the man throw something to one side of the road, where it fell in the dry leaves. Now there are times when Jimmy has quite as much curiosity as Peter Rabbit. This was one of those times. Could it be that man had thrown away something good to eat? Jimmy had known these two-legged creatures to do that very thing more than once. So now he stepped aside and allowed the automobile to go past. It went past in a hurry. I should say so! It was quite clear that that man was in a hurry to put a safe distance between himself and Jimmy. Jimmy grinned and turned back to look for that which the man had tossed to the leaves by the roadside.

As he drew near the place he kept sniffing. He smelled something that he didn't like at all, something that gave him a feeling of uneasiness. The nearer he got to the place where that thing had fallen the greater became his uneasiness. He didn't know just what to make of it. That uneasiness became a vague sort of fear, yet what there was to be afraid of Jimmy didn't know. It was a new and strange feeling for, you know, that, as a rule, Jimmy is afraid of no one and nothing. That unpleasant odor grew stronger, and then Jimmy saw something that made him pause and stare with something like real fright in his eyes. It was a little thread of smoke rising above the dead leaves. Yes, sir, that is what it was, a little thread of smoke! Jimmy knew now why he had felt so queer. He knew what smoke was and what it meant. It meant that the Red Terror, which men call fire, and which all the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows fear more than anything else in all the Great World, was abroad.

Jimmy started hard at the place from which that little thread of smoke was rising. A tiny yellow flame suddenly reached up and touched a brown dead, dry leaf. All in a second that brown, dead, dry leaf turned black, then a glowing red and disappeared, and the dancing little yellow flame danced to another brown, dead, dry leaf, and it too, disappeared. Jimmy Skunk didn't have to be told what was happening. The Red Terror was loose and was beginning to eat up the Green Forest!

There wasn't a think that Jimmy could do about it, not a thing. So he turned and hurried back across the road and into the Green Forest, heading straight for home under the henhouse in Farmer Brown's farmyard, and for once Jimmy Skunk hurried. Yes, sir, he did just that. He couldn't get there fast enough. You see, he had a feeling that there, if anywhere, he would be safe. At last Jimmy Skunk knew fear.

And as he hurried on he kept pausing over the sudden appearance of the Red Terror. That two-legged creature did it. Yes, sir, he did it. I don't know how he did it, but he did it. When he tossed that thing in the leaves he somehow set the Red Terror free, muttered Jimmy.

Jimmy was right. The driver of that automobile had tossed away a lighted cigarette, and it had fallen in those dry leaves. He hadn't looked to see where that burning cigarette had fallen, and now the Red Terror was free.

POSSIBLE EFFECT OF SEED CORN SHORTAGE

Ten thousand bushels of high quality seed corn are needed to plant this year's silage corn crop in Connecticut. Little good seed corn is available in the sections where seed for planting silage corn is usually obtained. No seed should be purchased without knowing the characteristics of the variety and the germination of the particular lot of seed purchased.

West Branch Sweepstakes, grown in Central Pennsylvania, and Leaming from Ohio, Illinois and adjoining states have become popular silage varieties in this state. Recent information indicates that these sources can furnish only a small part of the good seed needed to supply the market this season. The larger varieties sometimes matured within this state and planted for silage, were also seriously injured. A slow growing season, and severely cold weather before seed, under ordinary storage conditions, dried out, either killed the germination or decreased the vitality to the point of making it worthless.

Only prompt action will save us from a disastrous failure with a crop worth two and a half millions.

Plant left over seed from last season. The variety may not be what you prefer but when good seed is so scarce, plant any seed of strong vitality and high germination.

2. Secure old seed from neighbors or others known to have good old seed. Your county agent can put you in touch with growers in other states who are known to have good seed.

3. Purchase seed corn only from the most reliable dealers. There is good corn in some sections, as in southeastern Pennsylvania. A few growers dried their seed before the cold weather and have good seed to sell. There is some good seed on the market; only be sure you are getting some of it before you buy.

4. Accept no false variety name or other misrepresentation. Some varieties are far superior to others and if you buy seed you might as well get the best variety.

5. Test every lot of seed for germination before planting or better still before buying. Good seed should germinate 90 per cent or better. A hundred representative seeds kept in a moist cloth kept at living room temperature will do. A handful sent to your experiment station is better.—J. S. Owen in Connecticut Agricultural College Review.

TREATMENT OF SEED POTATOES AND PLANTING

Potatoes that show scab are infected with rhizoctonia and should be treated with either corrosive sublimate or formaldehyde before planting. This should be done, however, before they are exposed to the light or the greening process, because if one greens for about 10 days and allows the sprouts to get in good condition for planting and then he treats them, this material will kill the sprouts and set the potatoes back, therefore, treating should be done as stated before greening.

Corrosive sublimate if used should be mixed up as follows; Four ounces of the corrosive sublimate should be dissolved in two gallons of hot water. Then this is added to 28 more gallons of cold water. One should remember that this mixture is deadly poison and should be handled as such.

The potatoes should then soaked in a barrel for two hours, or if a large quantity of potatoes are to be treated they can be put in piles and sprinkled thoroughly with this solution, covered with bags and allowed to set for a couple of hours, then the bags are removed and the potatoes turned over to dry them out.

If formaldehyde is used, one pint of 40 per cent formalin should be mixed with 30 gallons of water and then the treatment is the same as the corrosive sublimate. This will prevent scab from infecting your land. It will not, however, prevent the scab from growing on potatoes if the soil is already infected. If a person is growing potatoes on a sweet soil which is very scabby he can apply at the rate of 400 to 500 pounds of sulphur to the acre, which will prevent scab from forming, but generally it is advisable to grow potatoes in acid soil. If the soil is acid the scab will not grow any, consequently no material damage would be done to the potato crop through possibility of scab.

After the potatoes are dried and have been greened then they should be cut in good-sized pieces just before planting. If potatoes are going to be cut and then allowed to set before planting for any length of time one must be very careful and not allow then to sweat; if this happens it will kill the germ and many of them will never come the second time. Sulphur is a very good drier to use to put on the potato seed after it is cut.

Potatoes should be planted from two to four inches deep, according to type of soil and 4-8-7 to 4-8-10. About a ton of fertilizer should be used per acre. One-half of this should be broadcast and harrowed in with a smoothing harrow just previous to planting. The other half can be used with the potato planter or at the time of planting.

One can either sprinkle the fertilizer in the furrow and cover it with dirt and then plant the potatoes, or plant the potatoes and cover with dirt and then broadcast the fertilizer over the row and then cover that with dirt. The big thing in applying fertilizer is to see that the fertilizer is thoroughly distributed in the soil and that the potato does not come in direct contact with the fertilizer for if it does it will be sure to burn it.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Palace Theatre

Sunday night, at the Palace theatre will be shown a double feature bill of pictures, Lightning Heart and Midnight Shadows. The management wishes to announce the new prices for Sunday nights, all seats adults twenty-five cents, children, fifteen cents. The show will start at eight o'clock, day light saving time.

Today is the last times to hear the Norwich Italian band and the big surrounding bill supported on the screen by Wesley Barry in Battling Bunyan.

The reception accorded the Norwich Italian band has encouraged the management of the Palace to give the local talent of Norwich and suburbs an opportunity to appear at the Palace with the possibility that exceptional talent will be given a chance to go into vaudeville. As previously announced one of the largest producers of vaudeville acts was in the Palace Thursday night and became so impressed with the Italian band that he immediately offered them engagements at a number of fairs for the coming season.

Mr. McEvoy has arranged to have several bookers here during the week that the local talent appear at the Palace and it is possible that some star of the future may be selected during Opportunity Week at the Palace which will be from May 11th, to May 16th.

Everyone with talent suitable for vaudeville are invited to call at the theatre and arrange for an appointment to try out before the management. Twenty-five acts will be selected and five will appear each evening starting Monday, May 11th. The winner of each evening will appear on the following Monday night, May 18th. One hundred dollars in gold will be distributed among the winners on the evening of May 18th, and the winner of the first prize will be given an opportunity of appearing at the Palace and possibly other theatres for a limited vaudeville engagement.

No limit in age or number is placed on any act. Orchestras, dramatic sketches, dancing teams, anything that goes to make up vaudeville are wanted. No more than twenty-five acts will appear and each act will be reviewed privately before being allowed to enter the contest.

All those desiring to appear at the Palace during this week are urged to leave their name with the management at once. The management will arrange to review each act at a time that will be convenient to each aspirant. In addition the management has arranged to have free instructions given to each applicant and help routine the material each act uses so as it will be suitable.

First Evangelical Lutheran Church.

Meeting of the church Board, Sunday afternoon at 2.30 in the parsonage. An important meeting of the Young People's Society will be held next Thursday night at 7.30 in the church parlors. Choir rehearsal Friday night at 7.30.

At the Bread.

A sensational success as a novel and a striking triumph as a photoplay, The House of Youth, which is at once a startling expose of the excesses of the age and one of the most constructive pictures of the year, is to open a three days engagement Sunday night at the Bread theater. The theme and masterful treatment of this Regal production have been proclaimed as the ultimate in screen drama.

The plot of the Maude Radford Warren book, one of the best sellers of the season, has furnished Ralph Ince, who directed the feature for Producers Distributing Corporation release, with the greatest inspiration of his career. And it has furnished Jacqueline Logan one of the most talented actresses of the screen, with the most dramatic role of her many appearances.

She is the personification of Youth—the flapper who becomes, through a great emotional crisis, a woman to glorify the race. Miss Logan is called upon for contrasted emotions that carry her from a new height of achievement, the forefront of the few great actresses who adorn the silver sheet.

Here, in the first part of the film, is a magnificent abandon; in the latter part an all-enduring sympathy, understanding and love. The blending of these widely variant characterizations into one character is at the same time a signal accomplishment for the talented young actress and the director, and forms the basis of a series of emotional climaxes.

As a special attraction for Sunday Monday and Tuesday, the management of the Breed theater has secured the latest Larry Semon special comedy called The Dome Doctor which is said to be Semon's best and funniest comedy.

Next Week at United Congregational Church.

The Tatapochan Camp-Fire Girls will meet at the home of Mrs. A. C. Freeman, 89 Union Street, on Tuesday evening.

The Cabinet of the Woman's Guild meets at the home of Miss Pullen, 92 Lincoln Avenue, Thursday afternoon, at three o'clock.

Mid-Week worship, Thursday evening, at 7.45, led by Mr. Abbott.

The annual supper and meeting of the Woman's Guild will be held at the Community House, on Friday evening, at half past six. A program of reports social intercourse, music and old time songs, led by Mr. Abbott, assisted by Mrs. Bard, Mrs. Elliott, and Miss Boynton, has been carefully prepared and it is hoped that every woman in the parish will be present at this get-to-gether evening.

All girls of the parish, between the ages of 15 and 24 are invited to attend the Older Girls' Conference, of the County Council of Religious Education, to be held on Saturday, with the Methodist Church, Uncasville. There will be sessions in the morning and afternoon, with a banquet at six o'clock. Speakers of note have been secured and a recreation hour has been planned by the New London Y. W. C. A. secretaries.

Lincoln and Columbus Pictures at Y. M. C. A.

Moving pictures of Abraham Lincoln and Columbus will be shown at the local Y. M. C. A. Sunday at 4 p. m. daylight time. The study of great characters like these is always interesting, and especially when made so real by motion pictures. The pictures of Lincoln are produced from the experience of one who knew the great Emancipator and therefore are true to life. The pictures of Columbus, the great discoverer, will certainly interest all who see them. The hour will be well spent by all who attend. Both men and women are cordially invited, and boys and girls will be admitted if accompanied by adults

DANIELSON

Adoption of what is equivalent to daylight saving time by manufacturing concerns in Plainfield, Moosup and Central Village, next Monday morning, will approximate putting those communities of the neighbor town to the south, with the exception of Waureagan, on the fast time basis until early next fall. The decision to make the change came as something of a surprise, as it was indicated a fortnight ago that all manufacturing concerns in the communities mentioned would continue to operate under the same arrangement as has been in existence during the winter and early spring.

A readjustment of early morning trolley service out of this town to accommodate workers in Elmville and Danielson who have employment in some of the mentioned communities in the town of Plainfield, will be made Monday morning, co-incident with the operating time of the mills where they work.

The first south-bound car will leave Elmville at 5.10 a. m. and Danielson at 5.18 a. m., standard time, for Central Village, this car making connections there both for Moosup and Norwich. This arrangement will give an additional early morning connection out of Danielson, to all points between Central Village and Norwich.

In view of the fact that this very early car will be run south from Danielson and Elmville there will be no 4.15 south-bound car after today. Following the first car south week day mornings the next one will leave here at 7.20.

Workers out of this town for points in Plainfield will have to be up in some cases as early at 4.30 a. m., to get to their jobs in time. How they feel about it could not be determined Friday, because they were not available for interview. However, it will not be a unique experience for some of them, as a similar arrangement was in effect here a few years ago.

And with fast time in effect to the east of it, to the south of it and to the north of it, something after the famous situation at Balaklava, Danielson stoically adheres to standard time.

What is to follow here is sufficient- ly unique to go out under a Winsted or Oneco date line, but in view of the fact that it happens in Danielson this town insists on getting the publicity that goes with it.

It's about pigeons—pouters or carriers, or something of the sort. They act as though they were the paid agents of some tire repairing concern. Almost any day one may see them fluttering about under the roof over the veranda on the third floor of the Attawaugan hotel. That's where they do their stuff. If one happens to be standing on the walk below and a nail comes clattering down and bounces into the street—blame the pigeons! This strange performance of dropping down nails continues day after day. Where they get the old nails continues to be a mystery—but they get them. Chief John McFarland is under the impression that these fastidious birds, loitering about the hotel and observing humans and their ways, are using the nails as toothpicks. And not being adept in handling them, lose the many that come down into the street. It is a daily chore for someone to clear away the nails these feathered beauties drop into the street, that a motorist may not have a tire repair bill to pay.

Nothing since the vernal equinox has been so convincing that spring is here as the arrival in Danielson on the first of May of that hardy annual the hurdy-gurdy. It came with its music, old and new, its popular airs and selections from old operas. For the hour it stood up as a real competitor of the radio. Many a pocket was dipped into and many a purse opened to pass out a nickel or a dime to the smiling man and the happy woman. Some of them paid in response to the urge of spring which the music inspired. Others paid to have the players go away and leave them in peace and quiet. It's strange what different viewpoints people hold in paying for what they want. But the hurdy-gurdy man smiled on all. And so, too, his spouse. It was all perfectly good money!

Another irritation for eastern Con- necticut motorists will be removed after this month. This has to do with the retail price of gasoline. Riding across the border in Rhode Island one will find a quotation a cent lower than here in town. That has been because Rhode Island had no state tax on gasoline. Now the Rhode Island legislature has passed a bill fixing the tax at retail at one cent a gallon, as in Connecticut. The law becomes effective about June 1.

Today probably will mark the time limit for awaiting the appearance of some relative or friend who desires to arrange for the burial of Joseph Johnson, who met his death here last Monday. Friday, the impression had gained strength that no one will appear. This appears increasingly strange in view of the fact that a party of six colored men came here from Providence Monday evening and identified the dead man, and indicated they would return the following day and arrange for burial. It is since recalled that, while identifying Johnson, they said nothing about his address in Providence, nor about his occupation of history other than that he had a sister in Baltimore and had lived in Providence a year. Undertaker L. E. Kennedy said Friday afternoon he would confer with the selectmen today (Saturday) relative to burial of the body and that burial might take place at once.

Members of the Service battery hear that they may make the journey to Tobbyhanna, Pa., where this year's encampment is to be held, overland by motor trucks that are regularly kept at the state armory here as part of the company equipment, with other similar trucks that is at the command of the regiment. The prospect of the journey overland holds an appeal for numbers of men in the command. It would afford them a new experience in army life, giving them training in convoy work and at the same time a trip that should be of interest from the viewpoint of the tourist. No definite orders for the trip via motor truck has been received but it is said to be a strong possibility. The training period will be from July 5 to July 19.

In line with its general progres- siveness The Paco Manufacturing Co., is engaged in improving the dwellings in its village, along the White Row and in that general vicinity. The first outward evidence of the work to be done is the neat appearance of the yards, which have been given a spring clearing. The houses are to be painted. At the present time the concern is engaged in having electric lights installed in all these tenements, an improvement that the occupants regard as a boon. The concern continues to have a very prosperous business.

Excepting for such notice as was taken of the event in the schools, there was little to indicate in Danielson that Connecticut was observing Friday as Bird and Arbor day. Danielson was busy with other things, pre-occupied or unconcerned. There was a time when it would have been an event, especially as it came this year on May day, also, seemingly an occasion no longer made so much of hereabouts as in days of yore. This appears a cold, uninspired, cynical age.

Many went to the vestry of the Congregational church, Friday, for the fine fish and meat dinner served by the Benevolent society and the May day sale was held.

The May Well Child conference brought numbers of mothers and their children to the town hall building Friday afternoon.

Dorcas Rebekah lodge of this town has voted to invite Mispah Rebekah lodge of Putnam to confer a degree here at the next meeting.

The first official act of Gurdon E. Withey, newly appointed deputy game warden, was to release a wild duck that he found caught in a steel trap set near the Quinebaug river. The bird flew away upon release. Warden Withey confiscated the trap, in accordance with law.

May 9 is set for the next registered shoot of the Danielson Rod and Gun club under the auspices of the Connecticut Trap Shooting association.

Miss Lillian E. Bailey, president, Mrs. Lucy B. Grover, Mrs. Eva B. Shoales, Mrs. Mary A. Bedard and Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson of McGregor corps were at Bridgeport Thursday and Friday attending the state convention of the Connecticut department, W. R. C.

Mrs. A. C. Greene will have the members of the Ladies' Reading circle at her home for a meeting Monday afternoon.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Lillian E. Cross and Edgar Meunier by Rev. F. X. Richards at St. James' church. They are to make their home in Danielson.

Convention reports received, a class initiated and plans for Memorial day discussed when McGregor, W. R. C. holds its meeting Wednesday evening of next week.

Mrs. Gordon J. Gale with her children returned Thursday from a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Carris, in Providence.

Up to sunset Friday it had not been determined whether baseball or ice hockey would be the attraction this (Saturday) afternoon.

A tested skin treatment

PUTNAM

Two fires in the business district, one at 11.30 Tuesday night and one at 11.30 Thursday, makes one wonder when the third of the series will occur. That of Thursday night on the building of the Windham County Observer would have proved very disastrous if the firemen had not rendered such prompt and efficient service. The back part of the billiard and pool room on the first floor owned by Vincent Giradi was a mass of flames when Fire Chief Ralph S. Thurston ordered the chemical solution turned on it. The blaze in this particular spot was quickly extinguished, but it had evidently been smoldering some time, as the offices and workrooms of the Observer were filled with dense smoke. Except for the damage in the pool room, which will not be heavy, nearly all the loss will be due to smoke.

Harold Kent, who has an apartment in the building, first saw the fire and turned in the alarm. The origin of the fire like the one in the Stoumbelis building two nights before, has not been ascertained. It is a large three story brick building, corner of Pomfret and Canal street. The Observer company occupies all the upper floors. Besides this there is Miss Chabot's millinery store, the pool room of Vincent Giradi, a Polish proprietor's grocery store and one living apartment.

Insurance adjusters were here Friday to make settlement with the losers in Tuesday's fire, when the heaviest sufferer was the Milot and Williams store, dealers in men's clothing and furnishings.

Sunday, the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper is to be observed at the Second Congregational church.

There was a meeting of the official board of the Methodist church at the parsonage Friday evening.

At St. Philip's Episcopal church Sunday there is to be the celebration of the Holy Communion with sermon. The newly confirmed are to meet at the church at 2 p. m. There was an unusually large congregation at the recent confirmation services held in the church. Rt. Rev. E. C. Acheson, D. D., Bishop Suffragan of the diocese of Connecticut confirmed a class of thirty and gave an excellent address. The rector, Rev. Richard D. Hatch assisted and Rev. Mr. Richards of Danielson was present also.

A meeting of St. Philip's Guild was held at the home of Miss May Payne Thursday evening.

A special meeting of the Salvation Army at their hall on Union street Thursday evening was conducted by Adjutant Chas. Mahling, divisional young people's secretary for the Salvation Army in Southern New England. Besides being a good speaker the adjutant is a good singer and plays the slide trombone. There was a good attendance.

A number of Putnam people attend- ed the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Armidas Parent at Pawtucket, R. I. They are natives of Canada but were married in Putnam and have lived for a number of years in Pawtucket where Mr. Parent conducts a hardware store. Of fourteen children born to the couple, six sons and two daughters survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Renshaw and Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brodeur and daughter, Miss Juliette, motored to Central Falls to visit friends and relatives.

Monday evening when the Hi-Y club meets at the Baptist church a supper will be served. The topic for discussion will be "Amusements" with Herbert Clark leader.

At the Congregational church the Christian Endeavor society held a Young People's rally and State Secretary H. W. Hicks gave an address. Representatives from neighboring societies were present. After the business meeting there was an entertainment and social with refreshments.

Tuesday next the Missionary society of the Second Congregational church is to meet at the church parlors in charge of Mrs. C. D. Sharpe's class. The topic will be "Christian Workers in China." The hostesses are Mrs. Fred Prince and Mrs. George Bromseau.

Arthur Grimes of New York is having a vacation at his home at Pomfret Landing.

George W. Thayer the only surviving Civil war veteran in the town of Union, recently celebrated his 91st birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Newell and daughter of Washington, R. I., have been visitors with Mrs. Newell's mother, Mrs. Mary L. Burt.

Marshall Kenyon, who died at his home on Grove street, Thursday morning was one of Putnam's few remaining Civil War veterans. Three weeks ago he was taken ill with grip from which bronchial pneumonia developed. He was born in Huddersfield, England, December 25, 1842, the son of Eli and Sarah Armitage Kenyon. The family came to this country when he was a very small boy and lived at Woodstock Valley, where he attended school and had just begun to do regular work when the Civil war broke out.

October 16, 1861, when only 18, Mr. Kenyon enlisted as a private in Co. I of the 11th Connecticut Volunteers. He served throughout the war, re-enlisting as often as his term expired. At the end of the war he was honorably discharged, having served four years and two months. He participated in the battle of Fredericksburg and Antietam and other important engagements. During his service in the army he was promoted five times and when discharged held a first lieutenant's commission. Upon his return he became a farmer for a short time in Pomfret. In 1885 he moved to Putnam and entered the shoe manufacturing business. He was also in the express line for several years. Twelve years ago he gave up regular work, devoting his time to keeping his home attractive and to gardening.

He was a member of the local G. A. R. post until it was disbanded a few years ago, and is a member and regular attendant at the Second Congregational church. In 1873 Mr. Kenyon married Miss Mary Sabin of Pomfret. Mrs. Kenyon with three daughters, Miss Sarah Kenyon of Pomfret; Mrs. William P. Vaughn of Greeneville, S. C.; and Mrs. Charles Wagner of Ann Arbor, Mich., survive him. There are also two sisters, Mrs. Angie Tatem of Putnam and Mrs. J. M. Allen of Manchester, Conn.

FIRST NAT'L DEPOSITORS TO GET SECOND DIVIDEND

(Special to The Bulletin)

Putnam, May 1.—The depositors of the First National bank of Putnam will receive a dividend of 15 per cent. next week. The checks which will be sent out are being prepared in the office of the comptroller of the treasury at Washington. This will be the second dividend paid to depositors since the bank went into the hands of the receiver. At the time that first dividend of 30 per cent. was paid three months ago, it was anticipated that there would be a rush by the depositors to receive their money, but nothing of the sort occurred, in fact many of the depositors had to be urged to go to the bank for their checks.

This information is based on the following telegram received from the office of the comptroller:

"Washington, D. C., 4.43 p. m., April 30, 1925.

"Your telegram April 30. Check in payment of the second dividend of 15 per cent. to creditors of the First National Bank of Putnam are now being prepared by this office for distribution by receiver.

"E. W. Stearns, Deputy Comptroller."

MRS. SUSAN M. STONE, 90, RECALLS EARLY EVENTS

(Special to The Bulletin)

Putnam, May 1.—Mrs. Susan M. Stone of Sunnyside, who observed her 90th birthday, Friday is probably the oldest woman in Putnam. She came to Putnam when she was ten. Mrs. Stone was born in Foster, just over the Rhode Island line. She was the youngest of 13 children, a daughter of Thomas and Triphena S. Stone. The family moved to Putnam in 1845 when there was only one brick mill in what is now as the north end of the city. It was built by Mr. Rhodes to take the place of a wooden structure that had burned. This mill is still standing on the west side of Main street near Providence, and is part of the plant of the Adams Manufacturing Co.

This was not Putnam at that time but was in the town of Thompson and known as Rhodesville, after Mr. Rhodes, the mill owner. There were but three houses at that time in what is now known as Putnam aside from those in the mill village and all were owned by the owners of the mill.

Mrs. Stone attended school in Thompson, the school house being the first house on Main street, north of the old Methodist church and which has since been made into a tenement house. November 15, 1846, Mrs. Stone was married to William B. Stone of Thompson. Mr. Stone was a caterer in Putnam and for years had charge of the dining hall at Douglass camp meetings. He died 25 years ago. There are two children living, Newton B. of Boston and a daughter, Miss Nellie G. Stone, for many years a teacher in Newburyport, Mass., now retired and living with her mother.

Mrs. Stone is in excellent health. She spends much of her time reading and it is only when reading that it is necessary for her to wear glasses. She eats well and sleeps well and drinks two cups of coffee every morning for her breakfast. She likes to talk of the old days and mentions the Wilkinsons, the Tillitsons, the Plimptons and other old families forgotten by all but the very oldest citizens. Mrs. Stone fears that the young people of today are prone to be afraid of hard work and inclined to demand many luxuries that the young people of the old days never dreamed of.

What a notable word this would be if a man's neighbors were half as glad to see him on his return from a month's trip as he thinks they ought to be.

WESTERLY

M. Walter Flynn, Jr., clerk of the third district court, acted as both judge and clerk at the Friday morning session of the third district court in Westerly. Business was transacted as follows:

The Docket

New writs—Josephine L. Melville of Providence vs. William Jackson, alias. Continued two weeks.

Bertha M. Cooke vs. E. Alston Blackler, an action in assumpsit. Answered by Attorney S. H. Davis and continued two weeks.

Sears, Roebuck & Company vs. Vernon Palmer of Richmond. Continued one week.

Benjamin Alper vs. Benjamin Kaplan. Assigned for trial for May 8th.

Clifton D. Hall vs. Angelo Pucci. Continued one week.

Cornelius H. Conway vs. Thomas H. Euell. Continued one week.

Clarence E. Roche vs. Jennie Ostman, an action in trespass and ejection. Marked ready.

Julia E. Trefes vs. Joseph Sicilian. Continued one week.

Granite Street Garage vs. C. H. Marsh. Attorney Ledwidge asked for a default, to release an automobile which is held in storage with attendant and growing cost charges.

Granite Street Garage vs. Concetta and Edward Liotta. Continued one week.

State, Thomas E. Brown, chief of police of Westerly vs. Richard Whaley. Set down for hearing on next Monday night at 5 o'clock.

The case of trespass and ejection of Clarence E. Roche vs. Jennie Ostman was taken up, Attorney S. H. Davis, for the defense asked for the privilege of filing brief in a week's time, saying that in case of rents and extortionate rents in connection with cases in New York he wished to consult, as applicable in Rhode Island. Attorney A. L. T. Ledwidge demurred, saying that the case was not one of extorsion and for the plaintiff placed Clarence E. Roche on the stand. He testified that the premises in question was the north tenement, 79 Elm stree tand that three month's rent as $45, a month was now due and unpaid and that notice to vacate had been given the defendant on February 5, 1925. Cross-examined, he stated that he had been the owner of the property for eight or nine years, and the present occupant, Jennie Ostman, had occupied the premises since his ownership, having moved there from Summer street. He stated that he had never promised that the rent, started at $30, a month, would not be raised, and that the payments had been made him by P. O. Money Order, $162, being the total amount of the balance due him.

Attorney Ledwidge asked for a decision for the plaintiff and for possession of tenement. Attorney Davis withdrew his request for time to file a brief and Acting Judge Flynn rendered his decision that Plaintiff recover possession and costs.

In State, Frank H. Brown, Chief of Police of Hopkinton, vs. Lawrence Maine, Attorney Gallagher, stated that Attorney Rathbun was engaged in trial of a case in New London court, which prevented his attendance. Judge Flynn continued the case of May 15th and notified the seven or eight witnesses in court to report at that time without further summons.

The S. D. B. Society of the Pawca- tuck Seventh-day Baptist church, Miss Ruth V. Davis, president, is to hold its May session next Sunday evening at the home of Mrs. Edgar P. Maxson. It is expected that at this meeting an outline of the programme for the coming year's work will be given. A paper will be read by Mrs. Emma L. Burdick, wife of Rev. Clayton A. Burdick, pastor of the Pawcatuck Seventh-day Baptist church.

Thursday afternoon many relatives and friends gathered to witness the wedding ceremony when Miss Diana Stanton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Stanton of 4 Crescent street, and Joseph Terranova, son of Mrs. Carrie Terranova of 14 Marriott avenue, were married at the First Baptist church by Rev. Byron B. Hatfield. Mrs. Ellery Moore of Providence, a cousin of the bride, was matron of honor and the bridesmaids, were Misses Una L. Clark and Louise Krebs, both of Westerly. The flower girls were Miss Catherine Moore of Providence and Miss Olive Lindsey of Walpole, Mass.

Herbert Burdick of Noank was best man, and the ushers were John Defanti and Harold Crandall, of Westerly, and William Champness and Harold Champness, of Pawtucket. The bride was given in marriage by her father, John C. Stanton. Miss Mildred K. Taylor, organist and director of the choir, played the wedding marches. Before the entrance of the bridal party Jamse Green of Providence sang At Dawning, and during the ceremony he sang, O Perfect Love. The bride wore white satin crepe. Her veil was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs. Moore wore pink canton crepe and a white hat trimmed with pink rose petals. She carried butterfly roses. Miss Clark and Miss Krebs, the bridesmaids were attired in peach canton crepe and blue canton crepe, respectively. Miss Clark wore a white hat with peach trimming and Miss Krebs wore a white hat with blue trimming. Each carried Columbia roses. The flower girls were dressed in orchid crepe de chine and carried baskets of yellow marguerites. The bride received many beautiful presents.

After a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Terranova left for New York, Philadelphia, Atlantic City and Washington. Upon their return they will reside with her parents until their own apartment at 31 Newton avenue is ready for occupancy.

The three-act comedy, "A Borrowed Wife," presented last Thursday night in Wakefield, R. I., Opera House before a capacity audience, proved to be one of the best amateur productions on a local stage for some time. The cast was made up of players of Hope Rebekah Lodge, No. 19, I. O. O. F., given under the auspices of Myrtle Rebekah Lodge and Columbia Lodge of Odd Fellows.

William H. Clapham and Albert E. Barber were in Providence Thursday evening when they attended the communication of Warwick lodge, No. 16, F. and A. M., in which the officers and candidates were all taken from three generations of the family of J. Ellery Hudson, a past grand master. One of the officers, Silas T. Nye, was formerly principal of Elm street grammar school, Westerly.

Henry Sargent arrived Friday afternoon from Worcester, Mass., and went to his summer home in Lower Pawcatuck.

Mrs. Orsoh C. Rogers has arrived from Washington, D. C., and taken up her summer residence on Lester street, Pawcatuck.

The weather cleared up Friday af- ternoon so that the baseball teams of the Westerly High school were able to go to the Westerly Athletic field off High street to get in some strenuous ball practice before the team tackles Chapman Technical High school nine of New London on their home grounds for the Blue and White's first league game of the year.

Alexander Miethell of Westerly is to undergo an operation today (Saturday) in the Lawrence Hospital in New London.

TRUCK STRIKES C. M. DOWD, WORKING IN HIS YARD

(Special to the Bulletin)

Westerly, R. I., May 1—Charles M. Dowd, 55 School street, is confined to his bed at his home suffering from cuts on his head, a lacerated and bruised face and cuts and bruises on his arms and legs, as the result of being struck by the automobile truck of S. E. Barber and Son, Friday afternoon, about 5 o'clock. The truck was driven by Charles F. Barber. The Barber truck was returning to Westerly with a gang of painters and decorators and was coming down School street at a good rate of speed. When near the junction of Summer street an automobile driven by Wesley O. Whipple of the White Rock road turned into School street. The Whipple machine pulled over to the left of the street as both machines started down the hill. To avoid a collision, the Barber truck was pulled sharply to the right, mounted the curbing passed through a small hedge fence and did not come to a stop until it has struck the piazza of the Dowd home.

Mr. Dowd was on his knees in front of his house repairing a wire fence and directly in the path of the Barber car as it crashed through the hedge and rendered him unconscious. Dr. Michael H. Scanlon was called and attended the injured man. Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown and Patrolman George L. Madison visited the place and as a result of their investigation Barber was arrested. He was presented before Acting Judge M. Walter Flynn, Jr., in a special session of the Third District court on a complaint by Chief Brown charging him with reckless driving. A plea of not guilty was entered and Barber was required to furnish bonds of $500 for his appearance to answer to the complaint in the regular session of the court Friday morning, next.

An accident has long been expected in this locality as the newly surfaced highway is intersected by numerous cross streets where many near accidents have occurred from time to time.

MYSTIC

The water and lights at Groton Long Point were turned on yesterday. Several of the cottages are owned by Mystic people who occupy them part of the time and rent them during the summer months. They are getting them ready for occupancy.

Mrs. Bridget Gibons, 71, widow of Patrick Gibbons of Mystic died in Landford, Penn., Tuesday at the home of her nephew, Cornelius Molderick. Sheresided here until the death of her husband ten years ago, when she went to live in Lansford. She was a devout member of St. Patrick's church. Several nephews and nieces survive her. The body was forwarded here and prayer at local funeral parlors was followed by services by Rev. Thomas F. Mooney, in St. Patrick's church Friday morning with burial in St. Patrick's cemetery.

Miss Pauline Christie of Groton has resigned as soloist at the Methodist church and sang for the last time last Sunday.

Hardwood floors have been laid in Harry B. Mackenzie's house on Stanton Place.

The Women's Society of the Methodist church hel da cake sale Friday afternoon.

The annual May breakfast of the Congregational church was given in the parish house Friday morning from 6 to 8 o'clock with a good attendance.

Miss Nellie Beebe of New York has come to make her home with her cousin, Mrs. Julia B. Coats on Cliff street. She lived here years ago and many are glad to see her return.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Phillips who are at Atlantic City this week, have sent cards to friends.

Mrs. Irene Denison of Montville visited Mrs. Elwood Lathrop and Mrs. Albert Burrows Thursday.

Miss Callie Chapman of Old Mystic is visiting her sister, Mrs. C. F. Congdon.

Mrs. Leander Park received word of the sudden death of her aunt, Mrs. Jennie White Fuler, widow of Chauncey A. Fuller in Preston Tuesday evening. She was also aunt of the late Mrs. J. Thompson and attended the latter's funeral here last October. While she has suffered with heart trouble for a long time her death was unexpected. She was born in North Stonington the youngest daughter of the late Judge Charles P. White and Eliza Maulve Kenyon. Only one of the family is left, Mrs. Mary White Tinker of New London. She leaves two sons and several grandchildren.

Lawrence Thompson met with an accident Thursday noon on Hight street in front of Ivers store. As he was driving along, Preston Wright, a school boy, walked in front of the car. As two automobiles were standing in the street, in the driver's effort to avoid the boy he had to turn his car into the bank, turning it over, breaking a wheel and the running board and hitting the boy, after making a heroic effort to prevnet this. The boy was removed to a hospital for observation and treatment. The kindergarten class is dismissed before the grades, giving the children time to get well started on their way home. Some persons think a sign should be placed on High street, warning drivers of the school near-by, for it is impossible to see the children coming up Bank street before one reaches there and a large number of the children are boliged to go on High street to get home.

Rev. Frederick G. Chutter, of Boston is to preach in the Congregational church Sunday morning. He has supplied many times and his sermons have bee most interesting and scholarly.

Alpheus Williams was a business caller in North Stonington Friday.

A chauffeur is a man who runs down pedestrians and runs up repair bills.

ANOTHER SHIPPING SUBSIDY

In spite of all the plans that have been suggested and those that have been tried there has not, as yet, been obtained just the right method of getting our merchant marine into private hands and our many government owned vessels into operation on a profitable basis. It is by no means the easiest of problems.

Chairman O'Conner of the shipping board has been doing some thinking along this line and he has come out with a proposition, for which he accepts full responsibility without claiming endorsement by the board, which he thinks will meet the situation. He believes a subsidy is necessary. This isn't a new method of dealing with the merchant marine situation for that was earnestly advocated by President Harding. But Mr. O'Connor's subsidy is different in character. He would not pay the subsidy to the steamship companies, but to the men who are employed on the ships that are bought from the government. He would make this subsidy $20 a month for each man and figures that after it had gotten into full operation on all the ships it would mean no more than $6,000,000 a year. This appeal to the American seamen, would place the American merchant ships in a position to compete with the foreign vessels and would indirectly be a subsidy for the ship owners.

Perhaps one of his strongest points in such a recommendation is that such subsidized seamen would become a naval reserve, ready to be put into service of the country in case of need if an emergency should arise calling for the use of these vessels for government purposes.

But subsidy is something which has never been looked upon with favor. Those who have advocated it have always encountered opposition and failure. Perhaps the manner in which a bonus was put through indicates that a subsidy might have a chance, though when such a thing is started in one direction, even though it might be for the purpose of meeting foreign competition, it is sure to create a demand for it in others with no telling where it would end. Nevertheless Mr. O'ConConner believes his idea should be put to the test.

DRASTIC ACTION REQUIRED

Frequent reference may be heard to the drastic character of certain laws which are being proposed and in some cases put on the statute books. There will be no disagreement with the application of such a term to the measures for they are drastic, but in many instances they are made necessary by the conditions that exist.

Massachusetts has just passed the so-called drunken driver bill, which makes it necessary for the courts to send an automobile driver to jail upon his second conviction of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. There are those who feel that more leeway should be allowed the courts in such matters, that all cases are not alike and that while it may be justified in some it is not in all.

The failure of courts in certain instances to do their duty has been one of the reasons for the action taken in Massachusetts. Another is the increase in the instances where persons under the influence of liquor are seriously adding to the dangers of the highway, which are already too numerous and too serious to think of tolerating an increase. The drunken driver is a real menace. There is no excuse for any such action, and even though there may be instances where no harm is done by it there's no telling how many might be killed on the next occasion. And it is only holding out an invitation to keep doing it as long as there is not provided a punishment that will get attention.

The number of persons killed every week is large enough without having the toll increased through drunken drivers. There would be no thought of putting a locomotive in the hands of a drunken engineer and yet there are more lives at stake on the highways today than there are on the railroads, and it cannot escape notice that there is a glaring contrast between the safety on the railroads and on the highways today, and all in favor of the railroads. Drastic highway action is needed in order to better the situation.

THE MacSWINEY DEFIANCE

If she is correctly quoted in the statements which are attributed to her in the reports coming from Chicago, Miss Mary MacSwiney seems not only in a fair way to get plenty of publicity but to be facing more trouble than a law abiding person might be expected to invite.

It doesn't appear that there is any question about the manner in which she had been conducting herself, the things she has been talking about or the causes she represents on the part of this government, but when she intimates that it makes no difference to this country how she got in, whether she holds a proper passport or whether she has none at all, she is quite as rash as her statement to the effect that if attempts to deport her are made she will at once start a hunger strike.

So far as known there is no reason why she is entitled to any greater or different privileges than any other individual. But her attitude appears to be that of defiance of the laws of this country. One might suppose that if she desired the opportunity to advocate any cause in this country she would be eager to comply with its laws, that she would not only be anxious to live up to them but to show if she could that she had not violated them.

On the other hand when she defiantly declares that she intends to disregard the law, instead of doing her best to show that she has respected it, she is only making it necessary for the authorities to proceed to deal with her case quite the same as they would with any other. It is folly for her to make any such threats as hunger striking. That can have no possible influence. Such tactics might have their effect in some places but they fall far short of the mark here. She is taking an attitude which doesn't even invite the extension of leniency which might be the case were it so that she was disposed to respect the laws which are established for all aliens. Her whole demeanor arouses resentment instead of sympathy.

HATS OFF

Have you spent the season at a summer resort and noted the almost unanimous discarding of headgear? You have probably indulged yourself doing as the resorters did while amongst them, only to abandon the practice after returning home. Those at the short are not the only ones who have appreciated the desirability of shelving the hat, for there are those who make a practice of it much of the year both men and women. Some do it as a fad. Others do it because they believe it is beneficial.

Now a New York man is to the front with the plea that everyone discard all headgear from May 1 to November 1, at least, and he is confident in his belief that they will benefit greatly by the change.

This is a practice which he has followed for some time. He admits that he has been regarded with more or less uncertainty by neighbors and others, but he is positive he is perfectly sane and is confident that if others would adopt the idea there would be less loss of hair, or the goal for which many are secretary, maybe, but nevertheless persistently striving.

There's probably no reason why the habit of going without a hat could not be formed quite as easily as that of putting one on every time one goes out of doors whether he actually needs it or not. This New Yorker in making his appeal doesn't indicate that he has any great confidence that his suggestion will be generally adopted. But he is at liberty to adopt such a style quite as much as any other is set in motion and he will be entitled to stick to it whether he gets any appreciable following or not. He has at least advanced the idea and the public can take it or leave it as suits its fancy.

DIRIGIBLE VS. AIRPLANE

It cannot be believed that it is a case of sour grapes when Walter Wellman decries the idea of sending a dirigible into the arctic region for the purpose of attempting to rescue any shipwrecked or lost explorers. Mr. Wellman gives utterance to his views on the strength of his experience and his study of aerial navigation. He has been far into the north and he has attempted to fly across the Atlantic in a lighter than air conveyance. He didn't reach the pole and he didn't cross the ocean in his attempt, but he did gain much experience and for that reason his views are not without merit.

There are those who have undertaken to sail across the north pole by balloon. It didn't work and Mr. Wellman points to the difficulty or inability of handling a dirigible under the conditions which would be encountered in the polar regions. He doesn't approve the airship for purposes of exploration in that direction or for purposes of rescue.

He is apparently strongly convinced that the airplane is the type of air craft for such a mission as MacMillan is about to set out on. There are those who cling to their early views, which would mean that Mr. Wellman might be expected to persist in his earlier ideas concerning dirigibles, but he has apparently been convinced to the contrary through the experience of his own and of others, and he displays no reluctance in giving his endorsement to the flying machine instead of gas bag, even though improvements have been made in the latter since his day in the air. His love for the old and his convictions of the past do not stand in the way of changing his mind when he gets what he considers convincing proof.

THE MAN WHO TALKS

The Boy in the Home. As we are all aware some time has been given of late to the boy in his various relations to life in general. From every point of view this is highly important. What the boy is today is a miniature of what human society is going to be tomorrow. Now this is one of those subjects where it is wise to begin at the beginning. Somebody has said (I presume facetiously) that it is a pity that a boy cannot select his grandfather. That means he suffers more or less from heredity. While we may overdo this heredity business, there is no doubt that family trends for good or evil are transmitted from generation to generation, therefore every boy needs training, and if he doesn't get it in the home he is going to be handicapped in his school life. Horace Bushnell, a great divine of the last century, says in his "Christian Nurture" that the first three years are the most important of all. "As a twig is bent the tree inclines." How sad it is that so much time must be spent in the schoolroom in straightening out the twig.

The Boy and His Education. The mental training of the boy today is a matter of vital importance not only to the boy himself but to society of which he is a part. The time has been when the ignoramus or illiterate man if he was naturally bright and energetic could succeed especially as a moneygetter, and to a less extent it is true today. But that day is passing, and along the higher lines of living has entirely passed. Our country, being young, was naturally crude, and it could be developed by crude men. But as it becomes more refined there is a louder call for men of refinement and education. Hard manual labor is now being done by machinery. Hence we must have trained engineers, mechanical and mining experts. Chemistry is being more and more applied. The boy cannot afford to be ignorant.

The Boy in Church and Sunday School. The importance of religious instruction of the boy on the part of parents and guardians has been greatly underestimated. With one voice we laud the public schools (and we are justified in doing so) because of the training of the intellect. But ought we to be less interested in the training of character than we are of the intellect? We ought to feel that there is as great necessity of the boys attending church and Sunday school. Unfortunately all the religion some boys get is in the House of God. The public schools do not directly teach religion perhaps out of fear that they may be sectarianism. But religion must be taught if character is to be made. Blanks are now sent out to those who are in the habit of recommending boys to certain positions. Among other questions is always this: "What is this boy's character?" And unless a satisfactory answer can be given the boy will not be deemed sufficient.

The Boy at Play. The boy has just as much a legitimate place in the play world as he has anywhere else. He has a natural capacity for play as he has for instruction in the public school or the church and Sunday school. It is a pity that so few boys know how to play well. There is as much need of instruction in baseball and football as there is in the studies of the school room—provided that it is to be done well. One ought to be in hearty sympathy with the present attitude of our colleges and universities toward athletic sports. Coaches in athletics have places on college faculties, and games are taught with the thoroughness of other studies. The play instinct cannot be ignored if the whole boy is to be educated. Missionaries tell us that the saddest feature of paganism is that children do not know how to play. As a natural sequence the element of joy never enters their lives. The boy ought to know how to play.

The Boy at Work. Work does not belong exclusively to the grown man. The beginnings of this world must be found in boyhood. Somehow apprenticeship does not fit into the conditions of middle life. There is a nimbleness in a boy's faculty to learn that is dulled with advancing years. To have faculties well-balanced they must all be used. In school it is brain power that is mostly used as it is supposed to be used. In play other faculties with a somewhat different object in view are brought into action. In work the object is largely that of remuneration. It is for the wages received. The boy ought early in life to be taught that he is to be a producer, and should contribute his mite to the family support, especially in the vacation period. To work rightly one must be taught and hence the various trade schools whose object is to fit boys for this end. The idea of work enters every well-ordered life.

The Boy as a Scout. If Sir Baden-Powell had done nothing else in his life, his initiation of the Boy Scout movement would have given him a just celebrity. From every conceivable viewpoint the Boy Scouts is a most valuable organization. 1. Their physical training. This bringing them actively into the open air with a noble purpose in view tends to the healthful development of body. This is in most cases fundamental to real success. Without a strong, vigorous body one is handicapped through life. The Boy Scout is instructed how to breathe and walk properly. This must be done if his powers of endurance are to be conserved. 2. He learns to understand and enjoy the physical world; how to overcome many of its perplexities, and how to give first aid in case of accident. 3. He is taught to be civil and helpful. One notices in seasons of conventions how useful Boy Scouts are.

The Boy and His Hobby. Every boy ought to have some hobby, because it indicates some decisive natural bent. Now a hobby is the outward expression of inward trend. More than this it indicates that something purposeful and extremely urgent has taken possession of his mind which he seeks to execute. A boy's hobby is apt to be the forerunner of the occupation he is best fitted to follow. The hobby may in itself be something so crude that if it is not understood in the larger sense may reflect against the boy's ability. Long ago a man once said to his wife: "I wonder if our Antonio will ever be anything! He whittles and whittles, and now he says he's carving a fiddle!" Yes, that boy's hobby was whittling, but all the while something inside of him was taking shape, and he kept at his whittling, so to speak, until the music from his violins was heard all over the earth, and he made the name of Stradivarius justly famous for all time. If your boy has a hobby encourage and train him!

The Boy Facing the Mysteries of Manhood. This, of course, is an unknown world to the small boy, but as the teen age draws near he gradually enters the realm of the mysterious, when life with its new intensities is apt to perplex him. He has a right to understand all this and to understand in the right way from those who are morally bound to teach him. He is going to know about this life in some way, and the question is, shall he learn it from those who love him and whom he respects, or shall it come from the tuition of the streets and in a way that may besmirch him for life? We have no right to let false modesty or prudery strangle our sense of duty!

WHERE IS LAWLESSNESS TAKING US?

Violent crimes and light punishments, the reluctance of juries to convict criminals, the leniency of judges, the abuse of the parole and probation system, the collapse of prohibition enforcement, the growth of the nation-wide traffic in habit-forming drugs—

This is a panorama of our social-judicial system which, coupled with the public's utter indifference to lawless conditions and misconduct, has brought about a situation in the life of Brooklyn and other communities challenging the grave attention of serious thinkers, is the opinion voiced by the Brooklyn Eagle.

The very life and well-being of the nation are beginning to be affected by these conditions, which are already reflected in the life and habits of nearly every individual. There has been a noticeable lowering of the standards of citizenship and public morals.

Despite the best efforts of the police violent crimes flourish in New York city. In many cases the criminals escape unscathed. Frequently the results are discouraging when criminals are captured. Then the various laws and agencies designed to make life pleasant for convicted crooks, the leniencies of the judicial, jury and parole systems and the numerous prison reform association operate to set them at liberty after they have served but a comparatively short term in prison. In many cases sentences are wholly suspended by tender-hearted judges or the prosecution is so weak that no convictions are obtained.

Murders, robberies, burglaries and bootlegging are reported daily in the news. The record causes little comment. The indifference to it all on the part of the average citizen and the public as a whole is growing. A group of responsible men will spend more time discussing the price of gin than decrying the prevalence of crime or in considering ways of checking it.

In the face of all this it is unreasonable to expect the police to exercise a greater check on crime. The police department contains many able, intelligent and courageous men, and acts of bravery and cleverness in the apprehension of criminals are performed repeatedly by them. But the forces contributing to the growth of crime are too far-reaching and too powerful for the police wholly to control.

Householders Buy Own Protection.

The inability of the police to keep burglars in check has forced householders in various parts of Brooklyn to provide their own protection. A score of detective agencies and numerous special policemen and private watchmen are employed nightly guarding homes and families in various sections in Brooklyn.

The general lawlessness of the community is sharply reflected in the doings in the federal building, at Johnson and Washington streets. There prohibition enforcement very nearly approaches a farce, with lawyers' runners, "fixers," bondsmen and other hangers-on struggling for fees and commissions from the hapless offenders.

A federal judge within a fortnight was moved to protest against conditions and call for the disbarment of an attorney practicing before his court. A state trooper, wearing the uniform of his authority, is found shot in the back, and it turns out that he was injured while trying to steal the booty of bootleggers who had stored a quarter of a million dollars worth of illegal liquor on the eastern end of Long Island.

Offenders against the Volstead law, when finally brought into court, are frequently turned loose through the deliberate presentation of evidence that will not hold, through forfeiture of light bails or other technicalities.

Many observers regard the universal contempt for the volstead act as the largest single factor in the breakdown of the moral fabric of the community.

Take Advantage of Law's Delays

The law's delays are taken advantage of skillfully to defeat the ends of justice. A crooked coal company is caught red-handed stealing from its patrons. It is violently denounced by the city regulatory officials as the "worst deliberate cheat" apprehended in years. The court imposes a fine of $500 and ninety days in jail, but suspends sentence on a promise to make restitution. No one checks up to see what restitution, if any, is made, and a few weeks later the same company, under a new corporate name, is in court again on similar charges, and its counsel starts the old game of postponements and adjournments once more.

Another phase is the practice by officials of pigeonholing matters of public importance. District attorney's files are crammed with half-finished reports on uncompleted investigations; court calendars are crowded with long-postponed cases; grave complaints against lawyers have never been reported out by the grievance committees of bar associations. A notorious case is that of a Manhattan attorney reported to the bar association by a judge on the bench last August. For seven months the sacred secrecy of the bar association has concealed the result of its investigation. Nothing, apparently, has been done.

Loose practices and abuses hamper the working of the legal machinery. The practices of excusing in wholesale lots citizens called for jury service results in poor jury material available for trial work and has led to the drawing of special "blue ribbon" juries in important cases. This system has been attacked by judges but continues to prevail. One Brooklyn judge declared that it would be "political suicide" for him to express publicly his views on the system, yet he continues to excuse talesmen.

District Attorney Dodd recently resorted to the expedient of taking important criminal cases to the supreme court for trial rather than try them before county judges, in whom he was reported to have little confidence.

Perjury, according to Magistrate L. C. Fish, is rampant and our courts are filled with "monumental liars." While other judges disagree, Justice Lewis indorses these charges.

There are cases on record in the federal court where witnesses have told the Grand Jury stories which resulted in the indictment of defendants and then told the petit trial jury totally different stories, resulting in their acquittal.

Wholesale Paroling Flourishes

The difficulty of securing perjury indictments and convictions has resulted in laxity and indifference in the enforcement of laws governing perjury.

Wholesale perjury in federal income tax returns is indicated by the "shotgun" levy of half a million dollars upon a bootlegger—and the case is immediately lost in the red tape of Washington.

Indiscriminate paroling of prisoners results in turning loose on the community hundreds of criminals who should still be serving time in jail. The recent shocking murder of a policeman in the performances of his duty was laid to a man who had been four times paroled from penal institutions. Several days later the community learned that another offender, a man with 48 convictions, had many times benefited by the parole system, and that the municipal parole commission had granted his last parole without even knowing his record.

Despite soothing statistics by police officials assuring the public that there is no crime wave, the national bureau of casualty and surety underwriters regularly announces increases in rates for burglary and bank insurance.

Yet the public maintains, smug indifference. Citizens let matters take their course, trusting to luck and the police force that they, as individuals, will not be the next to fall under the bandit's blackjack or the murderer's knife or pistol.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Rear Admiral Charles Morris, the new paymaster-general of the United States navy, belongs to a family which for more than a century has figured prominently in the military annals of the nation. He is the son of Brigadier General Charles Morris; a grandson of Lieutenant Colonel Charles Morris, who was killed in the war with Mexico, and a great-grandson of Commodore Charles Morris, who served on the U. S. S. Constitution in the War of 1812 and was executive officer of that ship at the time of her famous engagement with H. M. S. Guerriere. The new paymaster-general was born at Newport, R. I., in 1873, and is a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology of the class of 1896. In 1898, two years after he had completed his studies and soon after the commencement of the war with Spain, he entered the naval service as a paymaster.

SUNDAY MORNING TALK

THE EARLY MORNING

There is a freshness about the early morning that belongs to no other period of the day. The sun has a more kindly brightness and the air a fresh crispness that are largely lost as the day grows older. We open our windows to the new born day. It fills our lungs and brightens our eye and makes us feel how good it is to live.

What the new born day is to our physical selves, the morning prayer is to the life of the soul. It is opening the windows of the heart that the clear air of heaven may flow in. It invigorates the life within us and turns our thoughts towards the One whose love is ever around us. It floods the heart with the breath of life and bathes it in the sunshine of God's smile.

As the morning reminds us that we are members of a home holding relationship to its inmates and duties toward those whom we love so our morning prayer reminds us that we are members of God's family. We say, "Our Father," and by so naming Him proclaim our relationship to all His other children.

We thus remind ourselves of His love and care over us, and of the precious relationship we sustain to Him. The morning prayer puts us in the right place, opening our eyes to the clear shining of His countenance upon us.

The morning prayer fits us for the duties of the day. As members of the home to which we belong, we look over such of the day's work as we can see.

We arrange the order in which we will do certain things. Suggestions are made by loved ones, and before we leave the place we call "home" our minds are prepared for the duties and our hearts are fortified with a fund of love for their doing. At morning prayer we tell our Father of our plans for the day, of the duties that devolve upon us, and of the contingencies that may arise in matters concerning which we have some doubt.

In that subtle spiritual way so well known to the children of God our Father suggests to us the way in which we should go, and we rise from our knees with our hearts flooded with the assurance that we are girded about with His love and that wherever we be or whatever we do, His thought and love will follow us.

CHILD TRAINING

Teaching Your Child to be Truthful

By Angelo Patri

Parents forget that children are listening with all their ears to what is going on about them, and making their own deductions. A hint is all a wise child needs, and when parents tell a story as they wish it might have been or as they hope it will be, instead of exactly as it is, their children have an immediate vision of the grateful utility of the untrue.

"I can't be forever watching every word I say," protests the parent. "I'm obliged to deal with people who make allowances for conventions and courtesies which children know nothing about. You can't go through the world telling the truth. Imagine what would happen if you did."

But children make no allowances. They take the grown-ups at their word's face value. Indeed, they do more. They take the word with all its implications, for they live in a restricted world where "Mother said so" and "Father told me" carry all the weight of a Supreme Court decision.

While the best sort of truth instruction is indirect and of an almost unconscious character, untruthfulness, on the other hand, is often taught directly to the children by unthoughtful parents who believe that a lie will result advantageously for the instant, at least.

For some children an agile and discriminating memory is a real necessity for their ages change according to the situation which confronts them. On the street-car they must remember to tell the conductor they are three or three-an-a-half, as the rates may be, while on the railroad they may be a little older. "It is a wise child who knows his age when he is traveling," says the conductor. And all these untruths are told for the sake of a few cents!

To those parents who are anxiously asking, "What shall I do to teach my child to tell the truth?" I would say: Practise it daily yourself; be honest with the neighbors and the children; and above all else, be honest with yourself.

Teach your child that the only way to meet a situation is face front and armed with the truth.

Tell him the truth every time. If you feel that he is not able to understand it, tell him you can not explain, and ask him to take you on faith until you can. Silence is better than lying. Practise truth and teach truth until the very soul of you is truth. For it is the soul of you that teaches the soul of your child.—Delineator.

Stories That Recall Others

Satisfied With Herself

A little girl had been guilty of some childish misdemeanor and as punishment was ordered to remain on the porch within sight and hearing of her playmates. Her mother made occasional observation trips to make sure that her order was being faithfully carried out. On one of these occasions she found the philosophic little maiden in the porch singing softly, to the tune of "Old Time Religion:"

"I am all by myself,
I am all by myself,
I am all by myself,
and it's good enough for me."

Pleasant Expectations

Five year old Jimmy was going to return home with his grandmother who had been making a visit at his home.

He had been playing outdoors nearly all day and boylike, had become rather dirty. In the afternoon when his mother called him in to clean him up she found that a good scrubbing in the bathtub was necessary. As the scrubbing process proceeded grandma decided to peek in and see how the job was coming along. On seeing her Jummy said: "Gee! Grandma, I'll be glad when next week comes."

"Why will you be glad," asked grandma.

"'Cause next week I'll be at your home and I won't have to take any baths then."

New Portable Light

According to a statement by the Sperry Gyroscope Co., the concern is now able to turn out a searchlight of 1,200,000,000 candle power which is able to pick out an airplane in good weather at a distance of 30,000 feet. The new searchlight weighs only 1,500 pounds, making it practically portable. It can be set in the ground and surrounded with sand bags so that it will be almost impossible for an airplane to bomb it. In addition to its portability the new light can be controlled electrically at a distance, so that its operators will not be blinded by its glare.

ISOLATED NURSES HAVE TO LEAVE ONECO ST.

Two of the public health nurses who had been isolated in a house on Oneco street because they had been exposed to the smallpox case on Aspinwall street in the course of their professional duties have been compelled to leave there because of the protests of families in the Oneco street neighborhood.

It turned out that the house in which Dr. E. J. Brophy, city health officer, installed the two health nurses for their isolation period, happened to be just outside the city limits, and the Oneco street residents made a protest to Dr. Harrison Gray, town health officer, who acted on the protest by ordering that the nurses should be removed from the Oneco street house.

Dr. Brophy has complied with this order.

CENTRAL BAPTIST Y. P. ENJOYED MAY PARTY

A May party for the young people of the Central Baptist church made a most enjoyable program Friday evening, beginning 6:30 with supper for which basket lunches brought by the girl and bkd in at auction by the boys were shared. Interesting games made fun for the rest of the evening for the party of forty, Miss Dorothy Chamberlain being in charge of the entertainment.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH TO HAVE ATTENDANCE SUNDAY

Sunday is to be special attendance day at the Central Baptist church when the hope is that the congregations present at the services will exceed the record of last May when 76 per cent of the resident membership of the church was present on attendance Sunday.

Forty-one new members will be received into the church on Sunday.

MUST INCREASE WATERSHED TO INSURE NORWICH PROPER SUPPLY

An April rainfall of only 1.98 inches, supplemented by the daily work of the pumping station on Trading Cove brook, has raised the city supply in the two reservoirs by 110 million gallons, but it is still 140 million gallons short of the one billion gallons which is the full storage capacity of the city reservoirs.

At the end of March Fairview reservoir was down 7 feet 7 inches from a full pond and Stony Brook down 5 feet, these measurements indicating 550 million gallons supply. At the end of April Fairview was down 5 feet 3 inches from full pond and Stony Brook down 2 feet, 1 inch, not counting the extra five feet added by raising the dam there. This gave a supply of 660 million gallons and left 340 million gallons more to be accumulated to secure a full supply. President John J. Corkery of the water department said Friday that it would apparently be necessary to keep the pumping station running until the first of June, anyway.

Discussing the Norwich water situation, President Corkery said that an increased watershed is the only solution of the problem of providing a supply that will give Norwich a margin of safety. Even 100 per cent. metering, he said, would not accomplish the end that is desired although it would result in a considerable less consumption of water. However, he declared, the watershed area from which the Norwich reservoirs are filled is not enough to meet the demands made upon the Norwich water system by domestic consumers and by the varied and many manufacturing industries, which use much water, and which make Norwich a different proposition than if it were merely a residential community.

When the bill for the $1,500,000 bond issue, which has been given favorable consideration in the legislature, has been finally passed and comes up before the citizens for a vote, the water board will have a definite proposition to propose as to what ought to be done. In a tentative way several different ways of securing an additional watershed have been looked over, including Gardner Lake and Pease Brook, which were so prominently before the public fourteen years ago. Another proposition which has been looked into is Deep River in the town of Lebanon, a tributary of the Yantic river.

There are two different locations here where a dam could be built and a pond made. At one point a watershed of 35 square miles could be secured, but by going higher up the stream with the dam the watershed would be 8 square miles and not nearly so much land would have to be secured. A pipe line of from 6 to 7 miles would have to be laid in order to connect with the city water system. There would be about the same length of pipe line if either the Gardner lake or the Pease brook areas were considered.

The need of a greater water supply is constantly before the board and its members are devoting much thought to the recommendation they will decide to make when it comes time to present this subject to the citizens.

CITIZENS' TRAINING CAMP GIVES VACATION OPPORTUNITY

So far Norwich has furnished but three candidates for the 1925 Citizens Military Camp. This city's quota is 46. F. Russell Smith, a former service man, is in charge of the local recruiting and information regarding enrollment, etc., may be obtained from him. With regard to the summer training camp Judge John L. Gilson, chairman of the Military Training Camps Association for Connecticut and civilian aide to the secretary of war, said this week:

Of all the New England States Connecticut has been the last to respond to the appeal sent forth from the army base at Boston for a full quota for its citizens. Maine and Massachusetts have oversubscribed their quotas.

"It is surprising to find how many different kinds of vacation the camps supply; for instance there are athletic competition in baseball, swimming, track games, calisthenics, shooting, military drill and instruction, practical engineering problems, radio instruction, excursions through the country, and camping. Everyone would like to have one or another of these diversions for ones holiday; here one gets them all. Athletics are a very important factor of these camps and are especially featured in the daily schedules. These include water sports, boxing, tennis, hand ball, volley ball, football and baseball practice, track and field events for which prizes are awarded consisting of medals, cups and pennants.

"Church services with chaplains of different denominations enable the young man to keep his habit of Sunday observance. Lectures and pictures supply entertainment in the evening. Food is wholesome and plentiful, and clean, well-ventilated barracks, picturesquely located among the trees on high and dry ground, furnishes a place for sleeping, which is better than any boy is likely to have at a camp of his own. Rest houses in charge of experienced women provide places where the boys can see their parents and friends under agreeable surroundings.

"When a new boy is through with his month of training, it is impossible to say which of the many features at the camp has done the most for him—the exercises and drills that have quickened the mind and muscle, the exciting competitions in sport and drill and on the rifle range, the keen rivalry for distinction in military excellence and behavor, or the association with so many other young men under the rules and discipline of a well ordered army camp, all of these things are of benefit to the civilian and all of these things are involved in military training.

"Perhaps good citizenship is most accentuated as the watchword of these camps and their product, the objective being a sturdy young American with a trained mind, body and character that fit him to give a good account of himself in his business or professional career and in upholding the ideals and purpose of his government.

"All of these things are accomplished by the close association of young men of every walk of life in that most democratic of all environments, military discipline, under instructors chosen for unusual ability and fitness for this special work.

Training camps will this year be held in five of the New England states as follows: From July 1 to July 31 at Fort Adams, Newport, R. I., for basic infantry and advanced coast artillery; from August 1 to August 31, at Camp Devens, Massachusetts, for basic and advanced infantry and engineering courses; at Fort McKinley, Portland Harbor, Me., for basic and advanced infantry for candidates residing in Maine; Fort Ethan Allen, at Burlington, Vt., basic infantry for candidates living in Vermont, and for advanced cavalry and field artillery for the entire corps area; and finally, Fort Terry on the coast of New London, basic infantry for candidates living in Connecticut and for coast artillery candidates.

NORWICH LABOR SPEAKER ADDRESSES THREAD STRIKERS

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willmantic, May 1—The striking operatives of the American Thread company listened to three speeches at their daily mass meeting, Friday morning. Miss Mary Kelleher, national organizer, acting as secretary of the local union during the strike, headed the list.

William Donahue, president of Norwich Central Labor Union and Mrs. Jeanette Arheimer of Chicago, Ill., a representative of the Cigar Makers' International Union of America, were the other speakers. Hon. Frank McCarthy of Boston, organizer for the American Federation of Labor is expected to speak here this (Saturday) morning, at a meeting open to the public. Alexander Marks of Boston will address the Polish workers at the White Eagle Polish-American hall, Sunday afternoon and will be heard at the mass meeting Monday.

At the Sunday evening service at the Central Baptist church, there will be a baptismal service at which the pastor of the Lebanon church will baptize ten candidates from there.

URGES PEOPLE TO PATRONIZE HOME INDUSTRY

The March membership letter of the Norwich Chamber of Commerce contains the following:

Norwich Industries

This is New England cigar industry week. It reminds us here in Norwich of the time when over fifty cigar makers were employed by local cigar manufacturers. Today less than a dozen are employed. Consequently Norwich loses an annual payroll of about $70,000. We are apt to overlook the importance of such an industry to a community. There are ten cigar manufacturers in Norwich today, a good basis upon which to build a good sized industry. The cigar smokers of Norwich can do much to rehabilitate this local industry by smoking cigars made in Norwich.

In a certain Connecticut city 700 persons found employment in this industry and were paid the sizable sum of $472,230 for their labor during 1924. One can readily see what such an industry means to that city. The chamber of commerce in that city is endeavoring to have all the cigar dealers prominently display and feature the sale of the locally made cigars.

Another local industry that suffers from outside competition is Thermos Bottle Company. There is a market here in Norwich for the foreign made vacuum bottle. We all know that the foreign made bottle is manufactured under far cheaper labor costs than the local product. We also appreciate the fact that about 200 people are employed in the local factory. We here in Norwich, at least, should prove our loyalty to a local industry by purchasing its product when we need it.

Again, foreign made textiles are finding a ready market, while our own industries are having a hard time to keep the wheels turning. Of course this is a practical question. Americans should buy American made goods when possible. We can do our share locally by purchasing, whenever possible, the products of our local industries. For we again repeat—the success of our industries, is the success of Norwich.

Zoning

The chamber is active in having a zoning ordinance created for Norwich. The committee in charge of this matter has held conferences with the local city officials; attended hearings in Hartford; and assisted in the preparation of a state-wide enabling act, which is pending at present before the legislature.

We have been informed that there is little likelihood of the state enabling act being adopted. It was prepared and presented by one of the highest authorities on zoning in this country, Hon. Edward M. Bassett.

However the city and town officials of Norwich believe that a substitute bill should be prepared and presented to the legislature in the event of failure of the state enabling act. A creditable bill has been prepared by Corporation Counsel Shields and Town Counsel Pettis. A copy of the bill is enclosed and it has the approval and support of the Chamber's committee. The local bill, meeting local conditions, is well worthy of the support of every citizen who takes an interest in local affairs. The adoption of the Norwich zoning bill is a big progressive step. The interest shown by the town and city officials is most commendable.

Equitable Taxation

Members were supplied with printed copies of the Tax Analysis Committee's report last month. This committee was authorized and appointed at a special town meeting held last May. The report clearly shows that inequalities do exist in the prevailing assessment method. It states, in no uncertain terms, that a revaluation is imperative for the purpose of equalization. The question at issue is how best to bring about a general revaluation throughout the town of Norwich.

Norwich has appropriated $20,000 for tax maps. The area mapped, through this appropriation, covers the entire city, and the compact areas of the town, such as Yantic, Taftville, and Occum. The agricultural and large unimproved areas cannot be mapped without further appropriation. "It is just as essential to have these areas mapped, for cases are known where more acres have been sold by the owners than the owners list showed on the records. Therefore, to be equitable the entire area of Norwich should be mapped.

In order to establish equalization it is essential that the same system of valuations be used on all kinds of property, whether manufacturing, commercial, dwellings, farm or unimproved. The task is a big one and calls for the best talent available.

Under the law, the assessors are the only persons who can assess the properties of Norwich. They may, however, employ or secure the advice assistance of competent persons to help them in the work of revaluation. If such competent advice and assistance can be secured in Norwich, it should by all means be employed. If not, then the work should not be handicapped by prohibiting the employment of specialists or experts, whose ability and methods have been proven in other cities.

It is apparent that some general system should be employed for this by the assessors it needs careful preparation at a consequent cost of time. If one of the systems prepared by specialists or experts be used there will naturally be a saving of time. Whatever system is used, it must be one that will stand the test of giving a satisfactory and justifiable answer to the taxpayer, when he wants to know the reason why the assessors have placed the valuation on his property that appears in the grand list. Therefore it is positively essential that a carefully prepared system be used in the revaluations that should be made for the purpose of equalization and that this system be used on all kinds of property throughout the entire town.

The Chamber has often stated that the question is not that of a high grand list; nor the amount of the tax rate; it is purely and solely a question of correcting the great inequalities that are now existing under the prevailing method.

In taking action on such an important project, every fair means should be used to give every voter an opportunity to exercise the right of suffrage. There are over 10,000 voters in Norwich; the town hall accomodations at most about 1,000 voters. The only fair way would be to have a day set apart and to make use of the ballot box in each district, so that every voter may be given the opportunity to vote if he so desires, on such an important question.

BRANDEGEE'S FRANTIC BORROWING IS DISCLOSED

The frantic efforts of the late Senator Frank B. Brandegee of Connecticut, who killed himself in Washington October 14, to save himself from his tangled web of financial difficulties are being dramatically told as the claims against his estate come in, says a special Washington dispatch to the Hartford Times. So far, these total over $167,000 and the end is not yet. Notes he drew account for most of the claims.

Former Ambassador Charles B. Warren, whom the senate recently rejected for attorney general, Senator Walter E. Edge, of New Jersey, and former Senator Willard Saulsbury of Delaware, it is understood, are included in the list of claimants to date. The records show that Charles B. Warren has filed laim for a note for $7,500, Walter Edge for a note of $5,000 and interest, and Willard Saulsbury for a note totaling $4,500. Other claimants on notes include three New London banks, with claims totaling $41,000. the Waller executors for a $2,500 note to the late Governor Thomas M. Waller of Connecticut and personal friends of Brandegee in Washington. The records do not state how many of the notes were old ones rediscounted, and how many new loans secured as of their date. But it is understood most of them, including the ones from New London banks, were new.

The day before Brandegee was found dead in his home at Washington he rediscounted one of his notes. Two other notes bear the date of October.

October Loans

That Brandegee entered into frantic borrowing in the weeks preceding his suicide can be inferred from the dates on the notes. Three notes bear an October date, and total $12,250. Eight bear a September date and total $25,500. Seven notes, totaling $41,500, are dated in August. Two notes, aggregating $8,500, bear July dates. With four exceptions every note is dated as of July or later.

M. Gray Zalinski, Brandegee's brother-in-law, has a claim for a $2,000 note, dated September 25, 1920. This is the most ancient note on record. Walter C. Noyes, former judge of the court of common pleas, New London county, Connecticut, has entered claims as indorser of two of the late senator's notes, one for $11,500 and one for $3,000. Edward A. Harriman, former lecturer at the Yale Law school who later moved to Washington, has a note for $3,500. Charles F. H. Johnson of Passaic, N. J., understood to have been a personal friend of Brandegee's, has filed a $3,000 note claim.

The National Bank of Commerce of New London, which is one of the administrators of the estate, has filed claim for notes totaling $20,000, two of them dated September and one November, 1922, and two in August. The National Whaling bank of New London has two notes for $5,000 each, dated August. The New London City National Whaling bank bears the endorsement of Charles B. Whittlesey, close friend of Brandegee's in New London.

The Charles B. Warren note is dated February of last year, the Edge note last August, the Saulsbury note last September, and the Waller note July, 1923. The notes of Noyes are dated last August and September, respectively; the Harriman note, last July and the Johnson note last September.

According to the dates borne by the notes, the late senator, within the space of a week last August, signed notes totaling $19,000 from three New London banks. A few days later he got $6,000 more from one of the banks, and the next month $13,500 more from two of the same banks.

Other claims filed so far include: Munson Trust company of Washington, $5,000 note and $1,000 note; Riggs National bank of Washington, $4,500 note; Commercial National bank of Washington, $6,000 note; Charles H. Soran, Washington contractor, material and labor, $4,292, and $1,750 note and $1,500 note; George N. Jones, Brandegee's chauffeur, services, $90; Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company, telephone bills, $70.54; Potomac Electric Power company, electric light bills, $62.13; Margaret J. Bradley, money advanced and services $174; uJlius T. Becker, services, $86.65.

SHRINERS WILL TRAVEL TO MANCHESTER CEREMONIAL

Manchester will have its first ceremonial session of the Mystic Shrine on Saturday afternoon, May 9, when many hundreds of nobles of the order will invade the silk town for an afternoon and evening of pleasure and for the reception of new members.

The event will be under the auspices of Sphinx temple of Hartford, which has jurisdiction over Manchester, and the ceremonial will be staged at the Manchester armory which will be opened at 2 o'clock, Saturday afternoon, May 9. A business session of Sphinx temple will be held at that hour. The parade will start at 4 o'clock. The line of march will be through the principal streets. From 5 to 6 o'clock refreshments will be served under a tent near the armory.

The ceremonial session will open at 6 o'clock. The Sphinx Temple band will play; the Sphinx drum corps thunder and the Sphinx Temple chanters sing. There will be exhibition drills by the Sphinx temple Arab patrol, the Arab patrol of Melha temple of Springfield, and the two Arab patrols of Pyramid temple of Bridgeport—the one in Bridgeport and the one in New London. Sometime while this is going on after 6 o'clock the class of candidates will be initiated.

CHILD'S BURNING CLOTHES SET FIRE TO MATTRESS

A child playing with paper around a stove Friday morning about 10:20 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Julia Jutkiewicz, 23 Summit St., made a call for the fire department which used a three gallon tank of chemical in putting out a mattress that was blazing.

The child's clothes caught fire and

PRESTON MAN ANCESTOR OF SECRETARY WILBUR

Jedediah Wilbury born in Stonington in 1729 and subsequently living in Preston was an ancestor of Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, according to a letter to the Springfield Republican from William B. Browne, of North Adams, Mass.

Secretary Wilbur, it is stated, is to visit the homes of his ancestors when he comes to the submarine base on an inspection trip this month.

Mr. Browne's letter to the Republican was as follows:

"In discussing the ancestry of Secretary Wilbur, in last Sunday's Republican, you might have added that his ancestors in the male line were also residents of western Massachusetts, since he is descended from Jedediah Wilbur of Worthington, Mass. Secretary Wilbur is of the 10th generation from the immigrant ancestor Samuel Wilbur of Portsmouth, R. I. Very recently I had the satisfaction of tracing this matter for Mr. Wilbur. Succeeding generations of this branch of the family removed to Little Compton and Stonington, and Jedediah, of the fifth generation, born at Stonington in 1729, removed to Preston, Conn. His first wife was Deborah Pollard and they had two sons, Jeremiah in 1754 and Joseph, 1756. In 1769 he married secondly Abigail Plummer and had five more children.

"In 1778 Jedediah Wilbur of Preston bought a farm in Worthington and presumably settled there that year. He died in Worthington October 31, 1811, aged 85, but Abigail died there July 25, 1817, at the age of 78. Both dates are given incorrectly in the published town record. The sons of his first marriage married and seem to have remained in Preston. Joseph, the ancestor of the secretary, married Elizabeth Herrick. For a year he owned lot 67 in Worthington, but does not appear ever to have resided there. He died in Preston, in 1793. Ezra Wilbur, son of Joseph, married Lucy Day. Joseph, son of Ezra, was the grandfather of the secretary, through his son, Dwight. Jedediah Wilbur descends from the first Samuel through two Williams, then Jeremiah. Perhaps some of the family still reside in Worthington."

COUNTY INSTITUTE BY W. C. T. U. NEXT WEEK

A county W. C. T. U. institute is to be held from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. d. s. t. next Wednesday in Bushnell chapel of the Central Baptist church, with the county president, Mrs. Lillian Slocumb of New London presiding.

The speakers announced are Mrs. Mary E. Wilson, a former state president, Mrs. Chaffee, who will talk on Health, and Mrs. Marguerite Goodale of Durham, state L. T. L. secretary. W. C. T. U. workers from all parts of the county are expected to attend and the meetings are open to the public.

MAY BASKET PARTY FOR COUNTY HOME

Children of the New London county home were entertained Friday evening with a May basket party by Loyal Circle of King's Daughters. The 62 pretty May baskets taken to the home delighted the children and they listened with great appreciation to solos by Mrs. William Crowe, Jr.

Prayers For Departed Member

The members of the Holy Name society of St. Patrick's church, Michael J. Murphy, president, met at the funeral parlors of Cummings & Ring, Friday evening, and offered prayers for the repose of the soul of Cornelius S. the repose of the soul of Cornelius J. Driscoll, a member of the society, who died in this city Wednesday night.

Connecticut College

Above the entrance to New London Hall hung the senior banner. From the lantern beneath it floated streamers of purple and gold, while along the road to chapel the white lights were gaily bound with the same colors. The stairways, too, of the buildings were bound with the senior colors, for it was their class day—and May Day as well.

In the early hours of the morning the sophomores, sister class of '26, stealthily had hung at every seniors door a festive May basket. At seven on the steps of New London hall were assembled the various classes, while songs and latin hymns were sung to greet the August body of dignified members of twenty-five as slowly they came, filing toward the buildings in cap and gown.

At nine, instead of regular chapel, an outdoor service was held; the faculty assembling on the library steps and the under classes grouping themselves on either side of the walk to let the seniors marcy by.

At noon in the dining hall, a community sing was held.

To end the festivity of the day at five o'clock a huge picnic supper was arranged in the amphitheatre. Thus the seniors made merry on the first day of the month of May.

FINDS RELIEF FOR COUGHS

Mrs. Nancy Mather, Box 54, Richwood, Ohio, writes: "FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR COMPOUND is a fine medicine for coughs and colds, as it helped me when nothing else would." Mothers everywhere demand a reliable cough remedy free from injurious narcotics. Supplying this demand for fifty years made FOLEY'S HONEY & TAR COMPOUND one of the largest selling cough medicines in the world. Refuse substitutes.

ACADEMY SWAMPS STONINGTON, 13 TO 1, PLAYS LA SALLE THIS AFTERNOON

The Academy baseball team put on their batting togs yesterday and swamped Stonington High 13 to 1 in the first league game of the season. For the first five innings it looked as if the teams were evenly matched, but in the sixth inning the Academy warriers let loose and sent two of Stonington's pitching aces to the showers. With the old Academy spirit back in the game, it would have taken more than Stonington offered to humble the local lads.

The game was close and exciting up to the fifth. Greene got into many tight places but smiling that confident smile of his, he managed to pull together in a remarkable way and kept the visitors from scoring. The Stonington lads drew first blood in the fifth, scoring their lone tally of the game, Emmet, the first man up, hit a double, stole third and came home on Foote's single. After that Stonington was quite helpless in solving Greene's deliveries, that improved with every inning. They made seven hits, but they were not bunched and did not do any damage. Emmet played a good game for Stonington making three hits out of the seven made. He pitched air-tight ball until the sixth when his teammates' support left him.

The Academy players made a May party for themselves in the sixth when they knocked Emmet out of the box, and scored seven runs, but not being satisfied they continued to sock the pill for five runs in the seventh and one in the eighth. Hinrichs played good ball for the Red and White, making hits when they were sorely needed. It was his single that sent the first two runs across the pan and put spirit into the whole team. Jarvis also was a shining light hitting the ball for three singles out of four times at bat. The team as a whole played much better ball and the improvement was gladly noticed by all.

In the sixth inning Coach Gallagher from Stonington protested one of Umpire McKnight's decisions. The coach insisted that Hinricks who was going to third base, slid out of the base line and therefore was out. Umpire McKnight could not see it that way and stuck to his decision, calling the man safe. Coach Gallagher immediately after mentioned to Coach Brigham, the Academy mentor, that he would finish the game under protest. What action Gallagher will take remains to be seen. To the spectators the play seemed perfectly all right and it was deemed that McKnight's decision was correct. At the time of the protest the Red and White team was on top of the ladder having Stonington by one run.

The Stonington game served for a good purpose as it gave the local boys confidence in themselves and primed their spirits to the highest degree for today's game.

Today at 2.30 o'clock (d. s. t.) the team will again be seen in action against La Salle of Providence. La Salle is something new on the Academy schedule and the ability of the Providence players is unknown in these part. At any rate, the Red and White plan to keep things a humming throughout the contest and are out to win. La Salle is expected to bring some stiff opposition here and the game without doubt will be exciting and close until the finish.

Jarvis, the leader of the Academy pitching staff will twirl and he is due to do some fine work. In all probability the team will lineup the same as yesterday.

The victory over Stonington has again stimulated the interest of the fans of Norwich and a large group of spectators are expected to witness the contest and cheer the team from victory over La Salle.

Score by innings:

Academy .....0 0 0 0 0 7 5 1 x—13

Two base hits, Emmet, Hinricks. Hit by pitcher, Cimokoski by Emmett, Hinricks by McCaffery. Struck out, by Greene 9, by Emmett 9, by Hoover 2. Bases on balls, off Greene 4, off Emmett 4, off Hoover 2. Double plays, Hinricks to Burke.

Notes of the Game

Jack Hinricks, without doubt was the star of the game. His hitting was good and his circus catch in the ninth inning which he converted into a double-play were features of the contest.

Lloyd Jarvis, in center field, played well both on the defense and on the offensive, snagging several hard hit balls and hitting when hits were needed. He is also alert on the bases.

Busch ought to play a whale of a game today after his sleeping bout on first. He was in the land of Nod when Emmet picked him off with a snap throw.

Smiling Johnny Greene although wild at times pitched himself out of several bad holes and his support was good in the pinches.

Stuffy Cimikoski, played a nice game in the short field position, but was a little weak at bat. Stuffy showed more life and pep than usual and if he continues to improve will make a sweet little ball player.

Emmet pitched brilliantly for six innings and then suddenly went to pieces, taking the entire team with him.

Coach Gallagher protested Umpire McKnight's decision strongly when he called Hinricks safe at third. Gallagher had no cause to protest as the play was legitimate for if Hinricks had been outside the path he could never have reached the bag in his glide.

Even if McKnight had called Hinricks out it would have counted for very little as six runs were made that inning and Hinricks' out would only have cut off one run. The score at the time of protest was 2 to 1 in favor of Norwich, enough to win the game.

Misch behind the plate looks good and with a little more experience the Academy will be all set for battery men. Misch lacks confidence which will come as the season progresses.

Burke had more or less of an off day and played a listless game.

The game today with LaSalle should show whether the boys have the stuff or whether yesterday's victory was a fluke.

RIVERVIEW HOOKS UP WITH MERIDEN TEAM TODAY

The fast International Silver Co., team of Meriden will be the attraction at the Riverview diamond this afternoon. This is the first of the many fast teams that will appear at the State Hospital this season, Manager Donovan having booked the Dorchester Club of Dorchester, the Hightwood A. C. of New Haven, Hudson A. C., also of the Elm City and the Framingham club of Framingham, Mass. The latter club includes mostly college men such as Sonny Foley, McCrehan, Carroll of Boston College, Cote, Gaubreau Wise and Buck Freeman of Holy Cross Hammond of Harvard and Doc White of Tufts.

Donavan will send either West or Roy against the Silvermen today with Joe Belair on the receiving end, Mills 1b, Hamill 2b, Normandin ss, Sank 3b, Duffy lf, Noel cf, White rf. Hank Morin will officiate as umpire. When this boy is working behind the bat he makes the game snappy and keeps the teams working with no fooling around. Hank is being recognized as the premier umpire of the eastern part of the state.

PHILLIES PULL TRIPLE PLAY AGAINST BRAVES

Philadelphia, May 1—A home run by Fonseca with two on in the sixth inning gave Phillies a 6 to 4 victory in their game with Boston Braves today. Mokan and Hawks also hit home runs off Cooney in the first inning. A triple play by the Phillies spoiled the visitors' apparent chance to score a flock of runs. With the bases full in the sixth Neal filed to Schults, whose throw nipped Welch at the plate and Padgett was out at second, Henline to Fonseca. Score:

SUNDAY BASEBALL TO BE RESUMED AT FALLS

Sunday afternoon baseball will once again be resumed after a rest of about five years. The diamond has been laid out new, with an entire skinned infield, which will make it one of the best around local parts. The Sachems are in hopes that they will get the support of local fandom in order to keep the game going. As every player is a local boy it is felt that by putting on a good team the fans will do their share.

On Sunday the attraction will be Sachems vs. Vandells. The lineup for the Vandels is unknown, but for the Sachems the battery will be Couture or L. Vounce; pitch, and J. Burns or Desmond, catch. They still have an open date for May 10th and would very much like to book the Yantic baseball team.

ALBANY'S RALLY IN EIGHTH BEATS WORCESTER

Worcester, Mass., May 1—A batting rally in the eighth gave Albany six runs and victory over the Worcesters today 9 to 7. Herman made a homer, Munn a triple and Taylor a double in the inning. Phillips showed the best stick work with three safe drives, two of them long doubles. Score:

Albany ..... 0 0 2 1 0 0 0 6 0—9

BULKELEY WINS FROM MORRIS HIGH 6 TO 1 AT NEW YORK

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New York, May 1—Tillie Daniels pitched one of the best games of his career here this afternoon when he allowed the hard hitting Morris High team but one lone hit in nine innings, Bulkeley winning by a 6 to 1 score. Morris' lone tally which came in the fifth was due to errors. Daniels should have pitched a no-hit game but Parisi in right field misjudged Krug's high fly that went for two bases, the only hit of the game.

Daniels also contributed to the scoring of his team with a triple that scored two runs ahead of him in the seventh inning. Booth also was a heavy man with the stick getting 2 doubles. Daniels fanned 11 men while Roener who started the game fanned 2 and his successor, Weiner 2. The game was late in starting as during the early afternoon it was hailing at the Catholic Protectory oval where the game was played. The field was soggy and in poor condition. The score by innings:

| | R | H | E |

The game with the Fordham freshmen which was scheduled for Saturday morning was called off and a number of the Bulkeley players left for New London tonight while others stayed in New York to see the New York University-Fordham game on Saturday afternoon.

HERRUPS CONFIDENT OF WINNING FROM MOOSUP

The Moosup team after being beaten in the first game of the season last Sunday, 4 to 3, by the Neo team of Fall River, will endeavor to get back on to the right road again when they clash with the Herrups of Hartford this Sunday. The Herrups are no mean ball team and it was with difficulty that Moosup won three games from them last season. The first game was a ten inning battle that ended in a 3 to 1 score, the second was another close one, Moosup winning 3 to 2 and the third was an easy contest which went to Moosup, 6 to 2.

Manager Ken Benard still holds that his team is the best although beaten by lucky breaks. He intends to show Moosup that without their minor league players they are not so much. Bernard will send in Shovac to pitch against the invincible Davis with Welch on the receiving end.

WORK WILL START ON FAIRGROUNDS FIELD SOON

Things will be humming at the Fairgrounds within a few days in preparation for the opening game of the Nutmegs on May 17th. Manager Bill Derby writes that for the past few weeks he has been confined to his home in Boston with a severe attack of tonsilitis and grippe but expects to come to Norwich the first of the week and start work on the diamond.

The bleacher seats which he secured in Philadelphia are due here most any day and as his team is nearly complete for the opening game he expects that everything will be all set [illegible]

SARAZEN, WITH SANDE UP, WINS FIRST STAKE OF SEASON AT PIMLICO TRACK

Baltimore, May 1.—Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt's famous gelding, Sarazen, with Earl Sande up, scored his second victory in two starts this season when he captured the $25,000 Dixie stakes, the feature of Pimlico's card today. Sarazen covering the mile and three-sixteenths of mud in 2.02. Sande took his mount in front at the break and maintained the lead throughout, in spite of an impost of 126 pounds.

A. C. Bostwick's Spot Cash finished second, a length and a half behind Sarazen, E. F. Whitney's Joy Smoke was about a length behind for third.

Sarazen scored his victory over a field of fourteen crack thoroughbreds, including Chabolet, last year's winner of the event. Almadel, Joy Smoke, and My Own close for the first quarter mile. As the back stretch only Joy Smoke was a contender, while Scobie, on Spot Cash, began to move up sharply. In the stretch Sande kept Sarazen together. Spot Cash gradually gained but, although he outgamed Joy Smoke, could not pass the Vanderbilt colt, which finished full of run.

The race was worth $25,950 to the winner. Sarazen was installed a heavy favorite in the betting and paid $4.50 to win.

PRINCETON CREWS ROW AGAINST NAVY TODAY

Princeton, N. J., May 1—Four Princeton crews will have their first competition of the year on Lake Carnegie here tomorrow the varsity, junior varsity and freshman facing eights from the Naval academy and the 150 pound boat encountering the Massachusetts Institute of Technology lightweights.

After weeks of experimenting Dr. Speath has decided on the make-up of the Orange crew which will meet the Navy in the varsity event. With two exceptions, the same men that started the season in the Orange shell will race tomorrow. Aitken, who stroked the freshmen to victory over the Navy plebes at Philadelphia last year, will set the pace for the Tigers.

After a series of close races the third crew finally beat out the Black eight for the privilege of meeting the Navy junior varsity. This boat, known as the White crew, is stroked by Ward Thorne. Cooke is the only man to be retained from the old Black combination.

The freshmen will present the same lineup that has worked together all spring under Coach Matthew Baird. The yearlings are a rangy and husky lot and are expected to show to advantage against the plebes. The 150 pound crew which is captained by Livingood and stroked by Post has made fast time in the last few weeks.

The varsity, junior varsity, and freshman races will be at a mile and three quarters while the lightweights will battle over the Henly distance, a mile and five-sixteenths.

AGGIES-RHODE ISLAND TRACK MEET AT STORRS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, May 1.—The Connecticut Aggie track team will meet the Rhode Island state team tomorrow afternoon in a dual meet on C. Gardner Dow field at Storrs, beginning at 2 p. m. It will be the first meet of the year for Coach Daley's men who have been hard at work during the past few weeks in preparation for a busy season. In the dashes Coach Daley expects to start Quigley, Kane, McCarthy, Smith, Young and Listro. Gallant, Coledesky and Kaplan are expected to bear the brunt of the work in the middle distances. Captain Jacoby, a sure point getter in the mile and two mile run will be entered in those two events as will Hutton, Johnson, Bitgood, Evans and Brigham will be entered in the jumps, while Tohm, Ahearn and Chase will represent the state college in the discus and pole vault. Longo, Ayre and Fienneman will be entered in the shot put, while in the javelin throw the Aggies will be represented by Eddy, Bitgood, Ahearn and McCarthy. Johnson and Goodrich are the two veterans who will be entered in the hurdles.

GOOD BOXING FEATURES NEW HAVEN CARD

New Haven, May 1.—Earl Baird, of California and Benny Cross, of Newark, N. J., went six rounds to a draw in the star bout of the Nutmeg A. C., here tonight.

In the semi-final, Kid Carson, of Holyoke, Mass., was given the referee's decision over Vincent Forgione, of New York in a six-round bout.

"Red" Garren, of Waterbury and Eddie Lord also of Waterbury fought a six round draw.

Johnny Pincus, of New York, won on a technical knockout from Young Dempsey of Hartford in the end of the fourth round of what was to have been a six round bout. Dempsey sprained his thumb in that round and was unable to continue the bout.

George Proto, of New Haven, knocked out Young Teddy, of Westport in the fifth round of what was to have been a six round bout.

LARGE NUMBER OF ENTRIES FOR NATIONAL GOLF TITLE

New York, May 1—Four hundred forty-three entries, a record-breaking list, were announced today for the national open golf championship by H. H. Ramsey, secretary of the United States Gold association.

Lido, the tempestuous course at Long Beach, Long Island, has attracted 267 of the amateur and professional stars in the eastern district qualification rounds. Onwentsia, outside of Chicago, will entertain 122 and only 43 will attempt to qualify at San Francisco.

All stars of the game in this country have entered for the event. Last year "Long Jim" Barnes failed of entry by a few hours. This year he was the first to file papers, Cyril Walker, who captured the title at Detroit last year, will go into the finals at the Worcester, Mass., Country club June 3 and 4, without participating in the qualifying events.

Pairings will be made public May 10.

BRASSCOS AND HARTFORD PLAY TO 3 TO 3 TIE

Hartford, May 1—A hit, three bases on balls, a sacrifice and two hit batters, enabled Waterbury to score three runs in the seventh inning and tie the score in its game with Hartford. The teams played on even terms throughout the eleven innings with no scoring and darkness halted the contest. Bradley and Carrigan pitched almost hitless ball. Score:

| | | | | | | | | | | | |

Sperber Released to Nashville.

Boston, May 1.—Edwin Sperber, outfielder of the Boston National League baseball club, has been released by optional agreement to the Nashville club of the Southern Association, it was announced here today. By this agreement he will be taken back by Boston at his work in Nashville [illegible]

WHITE SOX ON BATTING BEE BEAT BROWNS

Chicago, May 1.—Chicago went on a batting rampage against Joe Bush, the former Yankee who was wild and defeated St. Louis 9 to 6 in the first game of the series. Thurston pitched in fine form until the latter innings when he was forced to retire with the bases filled. Jacobson cracked two home runs for the visitors while Manager Collins smashed one for the locals with two men on. Six double plays and sensational fielding by Falk, Sheely and Williams were features.

George Sisler by making two hits kept his record for hitting safely in consecutive games, increasing the number to sixteen.

SLATTERY AND BURKE TO APPEAR ON MILK FUND CARD

New York, May 1.—Tex Rickard's milk fund program of boxing at the Yankee Stadium the night of May 20, is about complete with the signing today of the Buffalo middleweight, Jimmy Slattery, and Jack Burke of Pittsburgh for a six-round bout.

The articles for a meeting between Jack Delaney of Bridgeport, Conn., and Young Marullo of New Orleans are expected to be signed tomorrow, Rickard's office announced.

These contests will provide the background for the main event of fifteen rounds between the light heavyweight champion, Mike McTigue, and Paul Berlenback of Astoria, Long Island.

SOCIAL CORNER POETRY
The Village Sewing Society

Mis' Jones is late agen today,
I'd be ashamed, now, if 'twas me.
Don't tell it, but I've heerd folks say
She only comes to get her tea,

'Law me! she needn't want it here,
The Deacon's folks ain't much on eatin'
They haven't made a pie this year;
Of course 'twon't do to be repeatin'.

"But old Miss Jenkins says it's true
(You know she lives just 'cross the way,
And sees most everything they do)
She says she saw 'em t'other day—"

"Hush here come Hannah! How d'ye do?
Why, what a pretty dress you've got (Her old merino made up new,
I knew it by that faded spot.")
"Jes look! there's Doctor Stebbins wife—

A bran-new dress and bunnit! well
They say she leads him such a life!
But there! I promised not to tell.

"What's that Mis' Browne? All friends, of course
And you can see with your own eyes
That that gray mare's the better horse;
Though goasopin' I do despise it.

"Poor Mary Allen's lost her beau—
It serves her right conceited thing!
She flirted awfully, I know,
Say! have you hear she kept his ring?

"Listen! The clock is striking six,
Thank goodness! then it's time for tea,
Now ain't that too much? Abbey Mix
Has folded up her work! Just see!

"Why can't she wait till she is told?
Yes, thank you deacon, here we come,
(I hope the biscuits won't be cold
No coffee? Wish I was to hum!)

"De tell, Mis' Ellis! Did you make
This cheese? the best I ever saw.
Such jumbles, too (no jelly cake),
I'm quite ashamed to take one more!

'Good bye; we've had a first rate time,
And first rate tea, I must declare.
Mis' Ellis things are always prime,
(Well, next week's meeting won't be there.")

A Chart for 1925

I thank my stars that I'm alive
To live in Nineteen-Twenty-Five.
Be this my chart to guide me through
In all I think, or say, or do.

Let Duty be each working day
The autocrat I must obey.
My work, so long as I am fit
Let that be done for love of it.

The Slacker or the Sluggard be
A thousand leagues removed from me.
The devil is outwitted by
The busy man—may he be I.

There is no joy beneath the sun
Like this—the sense of work well done.
Small tasks, we may unworthy rate,
Mature the mind for others great.

This truth was born with suns and stars.
The motive makes the man—or mars.
When leisure comes at close of day
Let not its chances slip away.

E'en poets sometimes waste their time
(Perchance as I) in spinning rhyme.
Yet may this chart give draughts of cheer
To strugglers through the brand-new year.

A jocund word, a ready hand,
May help a faltering friend to stand.
A bugle note, a laugh, a song,
Will drive the dog-tired troops along.

The help we give—of this take heed—
Tomorrow we ourselves may need.
For all things beautiful and good,
Be mine a pious gratitude.

With conscience clear and purpose high,
Let coward fears within me die.
While New Years come and Old Years go,
This be my goal—to grow! to grow!

—Clyde Foster.

Hard Luck

Ain't no use as I can see
In sittin' underneath a tree
An' growlin' that your luck is bad,
An' that your life is extry sad.
Your life ain't sadder than your neighbor's
Nor any harder are your labors.
It rains on him the same as you,
An' he gits tired an' he gits cross,
An' he has trouble with the boss.
You take this whole life, through an' through,
Why, he's no better off than you.

If whinin' brushed the clouds away
I wouldn't have a word to say;
If it made good friends of foes
I'd whine a bit, too, I suppose.
But when I look around an' see
A lot o' men resemblin' me,
An' see em' sad, an' see 'em gay,
With work t' do most every day,
Some full o' fun, some bent with care,
Some havin' troubles hard to bear,
I reckon, as I count my woes,
They're about what everybody knows.

Who'll raise his right hand up an' swear
In forty years he's had no care,
Has never had a single blow,
An' never knew one touch o' woe,
Has never wept or heaved a sigh,
Has never seen a loved one die,
Has never had a plan go wrong,
But allus laughed his way along;
Then I'll sit down an' start to whine
That all the hard luck here is mine.

ANSWERS AND INQUIRIES

ONONDAQUE 1902: Many thanks. A real surprise package.

IRVA LYNN: Your name has been added to the Social Corner list.

BALSAM FIR: Card sent as requested.

ARIES and O. D.: Cards sent as requested.

HOW MANY SISTERS ARE RAISING TURKEYS

Dear Social Corner Editor and Sisters: First thought I'd just say a few words as I don't want to be forgotten when passing round those pins. I would very much like one if it is not asking too much and will send thanks in advance.

What lovely day this has been, nice for house cleaners to work. I have just begun, been up in the attic and you all know what a job that is. I found an old sheep skin from a corduroy coat (my youngest son when small always said codroyal). Well, I happened to look in a chest and it was alive with moths. I just took my foot tub up and put it into it so as not to scatter them on the floor and fetched it down and turned it into the airtight stove so I have to sweep and straighten things. My, what a job to keep moth, flies and all such pests down, and cobwebs will make over night.

What a lot of letters there are. I like to read them I hope I may get to a picnic this summer as I have not been to one since C. E. had it at her house.

Last Rose of Summer: I guess I did take dinner with you once and your hubby met us at the train but you wrote under another name. I think it was Johan, am I right? My that dinner tasted good but how the wind did blow that afternoon. Could not keep my hat on five minutes.

Anna Mell: I want to thank you for that pretty birthday card you sent me. I appreciated the kind thought. My how often the birthdays roll around. Doesn't seem long between them as it used to.

R. L. J.: I have 72 chicks and have 37 turkey eggs setting. Hope I may have good luck. Are there any other sisters trying to raise turkeys?

I raised 11 out of 24 last year. Some work.

Barbar: I suppose you will be at your home place before many more moons. I had a nice mess of cowslips for dinner today the first greens I have had this season. Am in hopes to have some dandelions soon. They are not very plenty round my grounds but am very found of them. Have not got my garden ready to plant yet but I see some have some seeds up. But mine are up (on the shelf.)

Dewdrop: Why don't you ever write? Have not seen a letter from you for an age. Hope you don't spend all your time with that grandson.

Sorry to hear Wrinkle has passed on. So many are going.

Best wishes to the editor and sisters, as ever

'TINT JERUSHA.

WORTHWHILE RECIPES

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: You may be interested in these recipes which are certainly worth trying:

English Sponge: 1 cup sour cream, 1-2 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1 egg, 1 3-4 cups of flour (heaping), 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon hot water. Beat egg separately until very light, then add some milk beaten very light. Add sugar after letting stand a few minutes in the hot water to dissolve. Now beat this into the sour cream and add flour.

Sardine Salad: Make one pint of lemon jelly, omitting the sugar. When half set pour into a shallow square cake pan and place little sardines in a row about two inches apart. When this is firm and set, cut it in squares, allowing one sardine to each square. Serve on lettuce leaves with a teaspoon of currant jelly as a dressing.

Rice with Tomato: 3-4 cup of rice baked in 2 cups of water, (this will bake in one hour,) remove rice from pan and strain. Stir 1 can of tomatoes in rice while hot with one tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce or ketchup and serve at once with chicken or any kind of meat. Very tasty.

Wash rice through several waters until all loose starch is removed and drain. I always put boiling water to the rice when baking. Stir one teaspoon salt and 1 uncooked onion chopped, in the boiling water before I pour it on the rice to bake.

HOUSECLEANING TIME

Dear Social Corner Friends: Housecleaning! Everything is being cleaned out even the man of the house at this season of the year. It takes a wise man to tell whether you have just moved in or you are about to leave the neighborhood. Everything is out of order. Your best shoes can't be found, neckties put in the rubber bootleg for safety and your best clothes are as hard to find as words for a cross word puzzle. When one wants to doll up and go out they want to begin early and work late.

Papa's Boy: You have my congratulations. Now there are two boys in the family.

Thirty Two: I do not live on the Killingly rural route, I am on the Sterling route No. 1. I am giving one guess that you live in or near Putnam.

Joan: Glad you like the poem. A change is the spice of life. It is not well to have all poems sad and lonely.

If the editor would send me one of the Social Corner pins I would be much pleased as I attend some of the Corner picnics in summer time.

Happy Go Lucky: Are you on a vacation?

We often wonder what has become of Kentucky Weaver in the Social Corner.

Our sympathy goes out to all the Social Corner members who are on the sick list, in the hospitals and at their homes. May they see brighter and better days just ahead is the wish of RURAL DELIVERY.

CLUB NO. 4 TO MEET MAY 20

Dear Members One and All: As I have not written in quite a while thought I would write a few lines. I have been very busy housecleaning and couldn't find much time to write as I believe something like Ma of Greene Gables I like to get through before it gets too hot. I can't do much when it is too warm to work but after you get all through cleaning you have to keep right after the dirt if you don't it will get the best of you.

Well, Club No. 4, I have some good news for you. As there have been so many anxious ones for a gathering I will call a meeting of Club No. 4 and all the other club members will be welcome. As we had a picnic about a year ago and some thought they had been so busy in general housework want it understood that all members of the Social Corner no matter what club they belong to will be welcome to the meeting which will be held at the same place as last year, the Girl's Club rooms, Central Village, Conn. May 20. Don't forget the date Wednesday May 20.

Hope to see a good many of the sisters. Bring a friend and get them to join the Corner. I think that we ought not to have too many that don't belong to the Corner as it isn't really a public affair. Dinner will be arranged about the same as last year. A fee of ten cents will be collected at the table to help pay expenses. It will be a basket lunch and if there is much food left it will be sold to help pay for the use of the rooms. Each one is supposed to bring something to drink at the table. Anything they choose will be all right. Ice cream will be served in the afternoon for which a collection will be taken. There will be a program at 2 o'clock for which each member will be supposed to have something to read or recite. There will be old time songs sung by all with other things on the program. Let's try to make it a gala day, one to be long remembered. If the day should prove very stormy it will be held the next day.

I want to thank all who sent me birthday cards. I won't call their names, because I have taken up so much space already. It is nice to be remembered. What a large family we belong to and still growing! Think they are doing pretty well in filling up the page and hope it will never lack for writers. Hoping for a nice day for our meeting will ring off.

Best luck to the Corner and long may it wave.

RURAL AUNTY.

MEETING MAY 6.

Dear Social Corner Sisters: Well there have been two letters I have written and never sent in, so will try to do better this time. Oh what a change in the weather! It came off so cold I started the furnace again. Guess we will all be glad when settled weather comes. I am another who is thankful for the spring house cleaning is over.

Dom Pedro: Saw by the Bulletin where you were visiting in Noank.

Noank Brownie: If I hear right your name begins with M and is the same that mine was before I married.

Lucy Acora: I came across a picture of the Social Corner tent at the Fair ground cut from a 1915 Bulletin. Your picture, Lucinda's, Dom Pedro's, Remember Me's and a few others are in it.

Who thought the last time Beatrix was at Club No. 2 that she would cross the river to her everlasting home so soon. It seems as if so many of our club members and writers had said the last good bye in the last few months. I hope Red Clover will soon return home and that Catnip who is home will recover her eye sight. We miss all of our absent ones.

Billie: Uncle Charlie's church is only in faith my church. I do not belong there, only visit at times. I was there Easter and brought his sister down to her street but Uncle Charlie didn't see me that day. The rector sees eeerybody and I like to hear him. He is a wonderful man in and out of his church.

Uncle Charlie: You nor N. O. T. never mentioned old Mrs. Gifford who lived in Gifford lane. I slept in her house one night in the big room up stairs. In the morning the fire place had a bed of snow on the hearth. I have one of her straight backed chairs.

Whirlwind: I well remember your husband's mother. Aunt Jane A—. She was my neighbor but a very old friend before then. She was wise to sit down if you went like your name for she was a rather slim woman and a small breeze would take her off her feet. My surprise when I know you were her son's wife.

My birthday is Nov. 25. Not March. Thanks just the same for card.

Jean: Palm Sunday seemed to be full of surprises to us both. To me to have such an early caller before I was out of bed but you were welcome. I said see the expression of her face. She hears the music over the radio. Then as you say our Noank visit and auto ride taking it all it was a very pleasant morning. You only missed your part of the refreshments. Ha. Ha.

Hope to see all the writers from the suburban towns who haven't been with us this winter such as Wild Rice, Cypress, Olga, Lonesome Pine and you who are not mentioned. Come out May 6 and enjoy the day.

CAILA LILY.

PUSHING THE HOUSECLEANING

Dear Corner Sisters: Will say howdy this nice spring morning. Am wondering how many are housecleaning. I, for one am in it with a good will, not because I am fond of it, but because I really must clean out the surplus dirt that has collected all winter. I am not as smart as Ma of Greene Gables, who by the way, I thought, lived in Plainfield, but I see she lives in Mystic. I at one time lived there and attended school there, it being my birthplace.

Saville: I received your nice letter. Glad to hear from you also glad all are well.

Balsam Fir: Thank you for reading matter. Also wish to thank the groom for good wishes he sent me.

Eos: What a wonderful book that Peterson's is! Just think it is 66 years old. No wonder you prize it so highly and the illustrations aren't they wonderful? I shall be very careful of it, and I am deeply interested in the contents of it. There is lots of knowledge in that book.

Theoda: The lillies of the valley are all over ground and looking fine, I am wondering if they will blossom this year? The iris too, look very nice and how they have multiplied. I hope they will not be all one color. Still they are pretty. Soon I shall have quite a Social Corner flower garden. I have quite a number flowers already, given me by the sisters.

Glad to hear that Catnip has returned to her home. Hope she is much improved.

CRIMSON RAMBLER.

KEEPING UP THE MEMBERSHIP

Dear Social Corner Editor and Friends: Am sorry I have been so negligent in answering the roll call and trust it is not too late to say, "present."

I was very much interested in reading the list, and am glad to feel that I am enrolled in such a sociable family.

Although I can not write as so many of the sisters do, I certainly enjoy the letters of others, and look forward for the Saturday Bulletin to arrive with its full page, and I feel that I must say something that I may continue to be entitled to membership. I enjoy the gatherings very much and try to attend them all, and when possible fill up the car with friends that they may realize what the title, Social Corner means.

I find after visiting a few times, they feel inclined to join us and enjoy the sociable friendly, meetings that we have.

I wish to add that I would be pleased to have one of the pins the editor has so kindly procured for us, and will say "thanks" in advance.

MOSAIC.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASES INTEREST

Dear Social Corner Editor and Friends: I have not written since the kind Social Corner editor accepted me as a member of your friendly Corner, so will pen a few lines. I find I enjoy the Corner letters a great deal more now that I am a member than I did before, although the members are still strangers to me and their pen names unsolved mysteries. Some day I will get up courage and attend a meeting and try to find out who is who.

I know Deliah Deal and I see that Ky Jingo lives in the same town as she does. It is also my home town and I wonder if I know her. I have a little fellow about the same age as her oldest youngster.

I would like to have one of the little pins if there are any left when the oldest members of the Corner have been remembered and the Social Corner editor thinks I deserve one.

Best wishes for our editor and all Social Corner members.

SOCIAL CORNER DAY

Dear Socail Corner Sisters: I suppose the sisters are looking ahead to Social Corner day. What a day it is to those who can talk! Did you ever stop to think how many pleasure days there are in the 365? There is Christmas, Fast day, Arbor day, Memorial day, Fourth of July, Labor day, Thanksgviing day, St. Patrick's day, Ground Hog day, Dollar day, Moving day, and make a day for poor dad.

I have a recipe for a radio meat loaf, it has been tested and pronounced No. 1.

Radio Meat Loaf: 1 pound Hamburg, 2 pork chops, or 3 slices of bacon, 1 egg, 1 small onion, 1 1-2 cups of milk, 2 slices of bread soaked in the milk, 1 teaspoon of poultry dressing, and 1 teaspoon of salt.

Hope the sisters will try this. I have tried Rural Aunty's recipe for cranberry jelly, also Rosy Posy's potato fudge.

Was so glad to hear the sisters were receiving their Social Corner pins that they have talked about for some time. I think our editor very indulgent to the Social Corner sisters. He seems to try to gratify all of their reasonable wishes. I think it very kind of him. If he has one more pin to spare Comfort would like one, and would say thank you, too.

Hope the sick are improving and the shut ins, too. I often think of them all. While some of us have our health, and the use of our limbs, and can go where we please and others can only see daylight, yet such seems to be the condition of the whole world. I must close and give room to some other sisters.

COMFORT.

MORE WAYS TO USE HAM

Dear Corner Sisters: Do any of you make ham loaf? If not and you want to use up the last of your ham here is a good recipe.

Ham Loaf: 2 cups cooked ham, one cup bread crumbs, half cup milk, half cup water, 2 eggs, one fourth teaspoon dry mustard, one fourth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon fat. Put ham through food chopper with bread crumbs. If it is very fat no extra fat will be required. Add eggs well beaten, scald liquid and add seasoning. Grease small pan and shake in sifted crumbs, then pack in the ham. Bake in moderate oven for an hour or until it is well browned.

Ham Au Gratin: One and half cup milk, half slice onion, 1 stalk celery, 2 tablespoons flour, one cup chopped ham, 2 tablespoon butter, one egg, one teaspoon salt, one fourth teaspoon paprika. Heat onion and celery in milk then remove, melt butter add flour mix well, add milk, cook until creamy add egg well beaten, seasoning and ham. Cut onion and celery in pieces add to sauce pour into well buttered baking dish and bake 25 minutes.

Ham and Corn Fritters: 1 cup cooked ham, 1 can corn, one cup flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon salt, quarter teaspoon paprika, 2 eggs, chop corn, drain, add dry ingredients, mixed and sifted, then add ham and yolks of eggs beaten until thick and whites of eggs beaten stiff. Cook in a frying pan in hot lard. Drain on paper.

SHALL WE GO A MAYING?

Dear Editor and Social Corner Members: It is said the name May is derived from the Maia (Mother of Mercury), and that the ancient Romans were accustomed to sacrifice on the first day of this month. From April 28th to May 2nd was dedicated to Flora (goddess of flowers.) May was regarded as unlucky for marriages, owing to the celebration on the 9, 11, and 13 of the Lemuria (Festival to the Dead.) This custom has survived to our present Memorial day. The custom of hanging May baskets comes to us from an old English practice, and is well worth keeping alive. In the olden days both young and old were up early on May morning, would walk to the woods and carry back branches of trees and flowers and usually bring a birch tree for a May pole which they set up for the day on the green. After breakfasting, picnicking dancing and sports, it was the custom to carry baskets of fruit, flowers or gifts to the aged, shut in, sick or afflicted.

Let us all put our shoulder to the wheel and make (or purchase) May baskets and carry them to shut-ins, and those less fortunate than ourselves. A gift from an outsider or a friend helps to breaks the monotony.

HOW TO MAKE HARD SOAP

Dear Social Corner Editor: Sincere thanks for the neat little pin. I like it very much and am sure that all the Corner sisters will enjoy them and will be proud to wear them. The Circle continues to grow each week and it is very generous to allow us a whole page and more for the letters, which are all so interesting, helpful, and instructive.

The Easter days were beautiful and many hearts were made glad with greetings, cards, and Easter flowers, especially the shut ins who were remembered with flowers.

If any of the sisters are interested in making hard soap for laundry work, buy a can of R. T. Babbitts lye and follow the directions on the can. I often add a cup of powdered borax and 20 cents worth of oil of sassafras, which bleaches and scents it. Be sure to mark in size cakes wanted before it gets too firm.

Have tried this recipe many times and like it very much.

Leave to cool until it is thoroughly hard all through. Then it will not break in taking it out of the mould. It is wonderful for all uses. Keeps the clothes so white and nice and does not hurt the hands.

Greetings to all.

ECLIPSE.

KITCHEN UTENSILS

Dear Sisters: The following is a list of utensils with which a kitchen should be furnished, but the housekeeper will find that there is continually something new to be bought, if there be much fancy cooking. There must be an ice cream freezer, jelly and charlotte russe molds and many little pans and cutters. The right tial article first, and then, from time to time, add those used in fancy cooking.

One coffee pot, one frying basket, one tea pot, one melon mould, one coffee biggin, two brown bread tins, one chocolate pot, one pound pudding mold, one gravy strainer, one tea canister, one strainer that will fit on to one of the cast iron pots, thick board, or block, on which to break bones, open lobsters, etc., a rolling pin (I like the glass), boards to set in the sink, a container for bits set in the corner of the sink, wooden buckets or tin cans for sugar, graham, Indian and rye meal, boxes for rice, tapioca, crackers, barley, soda, cream tartar, covers for flour barrels, wire flour sieve (not too large,) a pail for cleaning purposes, a mop wringer, a clothes wringer, a vegetable masher, stone pot for bread holdings ten quarts, one for butter holding 6 quarts, One for pork holding three quarts, one dust pan and brush, one scouring brush, one mop, one brush for brushing walls one brush for cleaning pipes in bowl, one blacking brush, four yellow earthern bowls holding from 6 quarts down, 1 clothes brush, 1 closet brush, four white smooth bowls holding one quart each, six cups holding 1-2 pint each, one bean pot, one earthen pudding dish, 2 glass pie plates, 2 glass bread dishes if you don't care for tin.

Don't try to get along without one whip cream churn, one biscuit cutter, one hand basin, one spatula, one jarning iron, three double boilers—1 each for toast, fish and meat, one corn popper, one large handled dipper, one large grater, one apple corer, one apple slicer, one flour scoop, one sugar scoop, one lemon squeezer, chopping tray and knife, food chopper, small wooden bowl used for chopping, moulding board of good hard wood, board for cutting bread on, board for cutting meat on, 2 cast iron pots, one griddle (aluminum,) one porcelain preserving kettle, one fish kettle, three porcelain stew pans, holding from one to 6 quarts, one No. 6 Scotch preserving kettle, one waffle iron, three French polished frying pans Nos. 1, 2 and 6, four stamped tin or granite-ware stew pans (holding from one pint fleur to 4 quarts,) one double boiler, holding 3 quarts, one dover egg beater, one common wire beater, one meat rack, one dish pan, two bread pans, holding six and eight quarts respectively, two milk pans, two bread pans hold 6 and 8 quarts respectively, two Russian iron bake pans (two sizes), 4 tin shallow baking pans, 4 deep pans for loaves, 2 quart measures, one deep, round pan of granite-ware with cover for braising.

YANTIC BOYS OF 1875

Social Corner Friends: I have been much interested in recent letters from former Yantic residents, and as others have written of Billy Backus it reminded me of something which happened when I was a boy and lived in Yantic. Now Billy had some fine walnut trees and all of the boys were crazy to get some of these walnuts, too. We all got together and talked it over and decided we would ask Billy to allow us to pick up some of the nuts. If he said, "Yes" all went and good, and if he refused us—all well and good, just the same. So we called on B. B. and stated our errand and Billy told us very pleasantly that we could have all the walnuts we could find under the large tree in the yard and over to the tree we marched to find there were no nuts on the tree, or the ground either. Billy had cleaned the nuts up "slick as a whistle." Best of all there was a fine grove of walnut trees on the hill back of the house and from that side was a good steep climb, so we didn't "start anything" that day. But next day we took some bags and sneaked over through the fields and on to the top of the hill. Each boy climbed a tree and how we did work. We shook down heaps of fine walnuts and about the time we decided we would scramble down and begin to fill our bags we saw Billy coming up the hill as fast as he could "lay it" and we boys legged it also. We jumped over the wall with our bags and there we hid and watched to see what Mr. B. would do. He looked all around and as he didn't see anybody, he started in picking up the walnuts in nice heaps under each tree. When it was finished Billy was "stumped" for he had nothing to carry the nuts home in. He stood and thought about it a bit, then trotted down the hill to the house. And when we were sure, he was far enough away so that it was safe for us. We filled our bags with the nuts Billy had picked up for us (?) and we did some fast traveling for home.

I leave often wondered how B. B. looked and what he thought when he returned with his bags or basket and found the walnuts. Well the years have flown and if our boys—should play such a trick on anyone how shocked and grieved we would be, and the boys would be punished "Good and proper." But "boys will be boys"—(and some girls dress to look like boys, I notice) and as I think of the boys of my day and look at our boys of today I guess there isn't such a difference in boys after all. There were good boys and bad boys in 1875 same as there are now in 1925.

ONE OF THE BOYS.

DEATH OF SISTER WRINKLE

To Our Editor and Sisters of The Social Corner: Most of our members have heard of the passing on of our dear Sister Wrinkle (Mrs. Lucy J. Champlin) on April 19.

She seemed in good health for her years.

The day before (Sat.) she took an auto ride with one of her sons to Hartford and seemed to enjoy her trip. About 1 A. M. she was ill and called her son. He telephoned for their doctor who came immediately and did all that could be done. She passed away at 2 A. M. Sunday. Little do we know what the day or hour will bring forth.

Sister Wrinkle was a member of the First Congregational church in South Coventry.

She was also a member of the W. R. C., W. C. T. U., and our Social Corner. She will be greatly missed. I for one will miss her as she often called and spent the day with me and always was welcome. Just three months ago, Jan. 19, a few of the Social Corner Sisters came to my home to celebrate her 81st birthday. They presented her with a bouquet of beautiful carnations which she was very pleased with for she loved flowers. She also received some pretty gifts.

I think the editor is very kind to offer a pin to each one of his large family. I would like to have one and will say thank you in advance. I hope those who have been ill are improving like myself. Best wishes,

MARY FRANCE.

LIKE A FREE BANQUET

Dear Social Corner Editor: The pins seem to draw out the waiters. It's like a free banquet at a lodge to get members out so I fall in line like the rest and say I too would like a pin, as an old writer and member of Club No. 2, for which I thank you.

OLD GLORY. (Nov. 14.)

GREETINGS AND THANKS FROM JUDY

Dear Social Corner Editor: I received my pin and want to thank you for it. I also thank the sisters who sent cards congratulating me on being a sister. Many thanks to all. I know them all but Aries but I'm not sure who she is; but would love to know as I am quite well acquainted about Moosup.

Well what is Ma of Green Gables doing these days, now that her house cleaning is done I suppose she's busy as usual.

What is the matter with Dome?

I think it's about time she wrote. Thinking about it as usual I suppose. Hope she wakes up before long. Hope to meet the sisters before long.

JUDY.

USES FOR SPRING CLOTHES PINS

Dear Social Corner Friends: First of all I wish to thank the Social Corner editor for my sunny little pin. It is just right, I think.

Interested Reader: I don't know of any relative, who had a store at Browning Mill, R. I. In fact, I don't know where the village is.

Like R. I., I, too, am near the Connecticut line and am a "right smart distance" from the Shore Line.

Bee: Try the cake recipe with strawberries or any other fresh or canned fruit sometime. I'm sure you will like it.

I find many uses for spring clothespin, which may be old to some, yet new to others, so pass the news along.

Two, snapped on to my cookbook, holds it open to the desired recipe.

One snapped over the sides of a pair of rubbers or shoes keeps them in pairs on the closet floor, or with a cord attached they may be hung up.

With a cord attached they also make excellent skirt hangers and I hang all my cotton dresses by them snapping the pins to the shoulders.

In a small closet it works well, for many dresses may hang from one hook.

I also fasten the long manila envelopes, (that I keep clippings of recipes etc., in) with them and a number of patterns of similar garments fastened together, saves time in hunting for what I want.

I should like to have a poem one verse of which is,

Keep a watch on your words dear
For words are wonderful things
Sometimes they are sweet like honey
And, sometimes, like bees, they have stings.

This is as I remember it, but may not be correct. If some one knows it, won't they please send it in, and I will thank now, in advance. O. D.

NEVER FAILING DUMPLINGS

Dear Corner Sisters: I wish to say thank you for the Corner pin which I received so promptly.

Buffalo: I notice you have given Putnam as your residence. Does your last name begin with S? If so, perhaps I have an idea as to your identity as you write about Yantic.

Roberta: It has been a long time since I have seen your name. I had hoped you might have called before this. Can't you spare a few minutes some afternoon?

If any one has such a horrid time making dumplings as I used to, I'll pass along the never failing rule that was given to me. For every cup of flour use 1 heaping teaspoon baking powder, 1 small teaspoon salt. Use milk to stir as stiff as possible with strong spoon leaving a little dust of flour not mixed in. Lay on top of stew, drawing pan to back of the stove so they will not burn and leave the cover off until they are like puff balls. Then cover until done or about 20 minutes all together. Since that was told to me several years ago I have never had bad luck. Please report.

AUNT.

ORANGE SOUFFLE

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Am glad Windham Blue Bell liked the Cookies. Now try this please.

Orange Souffle: Cream 1 cup sugar with a tablespoon of butter and two tablespoons of flour, juice and grated rind of one orange a cup of milk and beaten yolks bake slowly. Set in a large dish of hot water.

I received a Social Corner pin and think it very pretty.

Mary Sunshine received one too. As she cannot see to write we both say thank you very much for the pins.

Aurelee: E's pen name is Deborah and her daughter's pen name is Orrilla Day. I suppose you are through house cleaning. Wish I was.

Catnip: Glad to hear from you. So sorry to hear of Beatrix's death.

Best wishes for sick and shutins, hoping they will soon be well again.

L. J. B.

LEMON RICE PUDDING

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I want to thank True Blue for the card sent.

If it's not too late I should like one of the Social Corner pins.

Am sending a recipe that several have asked for.

Lemon Rice Pudding: 1 cup of rice boiled soft in water, salt rice when cooking, add 1 pint of cold milk and a piece of butter the size of an egg, the yolks of 4 eggs and the grated rind of 1 lemon. Mix and bake one half hour or until solid. After the pudding is baked and cooled, beat the whites of the 4 eggs with nearly a pint of granulated sugar and the juice of lemon. Pour this over the pudding and brown.

MOHAWK RIVER.

PLEASED TO GET PIN

Dear Social Corner: Here I am again this week but I'm not going to take up much space this time. I'm writing principally to thank the editor for my pin. I was very much pleased with it.

I went out to get the mail and I found my letter. I thought at first that it was some advertisement but you can imagine how pleased I was to find it was my pin.

There was a mistake in the printing of my letter last week. In writing to Bettie F I said she knew how to make netting and it was printed "netting." That sounded like a knock so that's why I'm telling you about it.

Wishing luck to each and all of the sisters.

OLD FAITHFUL.

THE PAST OF WESTMINSTER

Dear Sisters: I have read Cretia's recollections of Westminster with much interest although mine don't date back quite as far. But I so well remember Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bingham and the granddaughter Carrie Tarbox who used to be a member of the same Sunday school class with me. The class was taught for years by Mrs. Andrew Dewing of blessed memory and I used to see Mr. and Mrs. Bingham at church in those times when almost everybody went to church as a mark of respectability. If nothing more, and when good old Mr. Seaman and wife lived in the old parsonage now no more and looked after the spiritual welfare of Westminster. In those days the minister always called once in a month or two on all the families of his flock and in times of

of the first ones there with words of comfort and prayer. And I remember just how Mr. Sessions used to look coming swiftly down the road with his silver headed cane, which he didn't seem to need in the least for he swung it around in the air more than he placed it on the ground, but it was considered the proper thing to carry one I suppose.

The glories of Westminster have departed and I have no doubt that the past days there look better to us now than they did then as Distance lends enchantment to the view. And it is a sure sign that we are growing old when we begin to dwell so lovingly on the bygone days. So I have heard but most of us do it I find.

Conundrum: I have tried your layer cake and it was very satisfactory, as I felt sure it would be knowing something of your cooking.

Also Taft's coffee Italian cream is very nice. I tried it Sunday and it was a great success.

I, too, should like one of the new pins if the editor will be so kind as to send me one and now I will have to bid you good morning and hope I may be able to meet with the club at Willimantic at the next meeting before they scatter for the summer picnics to which I never can get very much.

IOLA.

OLD ORCHARD

Dear Social Corner Friends: As Old Orchard is getting a boost this spring I am going to write you about it. For the benefit of those who never have seen the place it is certainly worth going to see. I have spent many many happy hours there.

Old Orchard now the famous play ground by the sea, has a long and interesting history, which dates back to 1631. The old colony was founded in that year by Richard Bonython of Bonython Manor, Cornwall, England.

The first settlement was on the banks of the beautiful saco river and covered all of what is now the town of Old Orchard.

In 1650 Bonython went back to England but his two daughters refused to leave their home in the Maine forests.

Indian warfare figured in the hardships of the pioneers of the settlement and they were once driven out entirely settling for a time at York harbor but returned in 1683 and built their first log cabins on the site of the Old Orchard town hall of today.

Old Orchard got its name from the fact that an orchard was planted on the site of the present resort and was referred to in the old days as the Old Orchard and eventually became the official name.

Formally a part of the City of Saco Old Orchard was set off and incorporated as a town, Feb. 20, 1883. Its population at that time being about 500. Old Orchard is the central part of most famous summer resorts of the United States.

It has a large number of beautiful summer cottages and hotels. The pier is one of the chief features of the place. It has a wonderful beach known the world over.

The beach has become one of the most important convention centers in New England, and its gatherings are made up of delegates from every part of New England and many other sections of the country.

The famous Methodist Camp ground is the scene of many of these big conferences.

The Salvation Army and other religious bodies hold most important meetings here during the summer.

During the winter months, Old Orchard is one of the most peaceful of villages. In the summer, however, the place has the appearance of a great city. Old Orchard is the central part of a great sandy crescent extending from Biddeford pool to Prout's neck, a distance of nearly 36 miles. It is all a superb beach, of which, however, the section lying within the limits of the town of Old Orchard is the best.

The population of the town at last census was nearly 1,200.

DELAYS AND FAILURES

Dear Sisters of the Social Corner: I have received my pin, for which I wish to thank the editor. I trust this little yellow reminder of membership in the Social Corner will prompt many more writers to send in their letters. The sentiment expressed on the Corner page of April 18th, Hesitation is responsible for countless failures, we can all realize from our daily experiences. Sometimes we are obliged to hesitate to act, but the resulting failure is just the same. More often we hesitate through mere negligence, than regret what follows. Failures come to us often, due to the lack of promptness, and yet failures teach us to be on the alert for the next opportunity. I hope all sisters who have been ill are gaining everyday, as we are now having beautiful spring weather.

I find that a cup of hot milk is a good stimulant taken at any time of the day and especially when overtired, due to lack of strength following illness.

Best wishes to all,

JENNIE.

FLOWER BED OF HYACINTHS

Dear Social Corner Editor: Will you please send me a Corner pin. Thanks for the same.

I have been a shut in for some time. Came very near having pneumonia but am better now. Am sorry so many of our Corner are sick and in sorrow. Now one more sister, Mrs. L. J. Champlin has gone—a dear one too. I have only one hand to use for have hurt the other. The doctor dresses it every day. It is better today.

My flower bed with four kinds of double hyacinths in bloom is fine to look at when it is no cold and snowy. I put them out several years ago. They live all the winter in the ground They are so sweet and pretty. How many have tried that way.

Best wishes for our editor and all

RED CLOVER.

STILL INTERESTED IN CORNER

Dear Editor of the Social Corner: I was a member of Club No. 2 while living in Norwich and New London but am living at present in Hartford. Please add me to the list of those who would be pleased to receive a pin. I am visiting this week in Norwich renewing old friendships with my home friends.

Accept my thanks for a pin.

TIGER LILY.

IRVA LYNN JOINS CORNER

Dear Corner Editor: Your Social Corner fascinates me. Although I no longer dwell in Connecticut, I still have a soft spot for old friends. A sort of "Connect-ian" I should always like to be. So couldn't you add my name to your list of "Cornerites?"

IRVA LYNN.

WHY I TOOK TOO LATE FOR MY NAME

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: Alfara, Tuny Ann, Paleface, Kitty and several others kept getting after me to join the Corner but like lots of others I could never find a name. But one day I was talking to Kitty on the phone and she asked me if I had joined and I said, "No, not yet." And she said, "It is never too late to join." So I joined and took for my peiname Too Late.

I would very much like to have a pin if I am not ..... TOO LATE.

HOW I GOT MY PEN NAME.

Dear Corner Sisters: When I was a little girl my father always called me Tuny Ann so when I came to live here asked me to join the Social Corner and we decided the name would be Tuny Ann.

I would very much like to have a pin if I am not too late.

TUNY ANN.

RUSH CAKE

Dear Editor and Social Corner Sisters: I want to thank you one and all for pretty calendar received, the new year cards and letters from Scottie Calla Lily, Dearie, Orleanna and others. I have been shut in all winter, but am up and doing very nicely. Hope to meet with you in the near future, and I hope the editor has a pin for me. Am sending in recipe for rush cake. I have found it very good especially when eggs are high.

Rush Cake: 1 cup sugar, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 cup sour milk, 1 cup raisins, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 cups flour, large, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves. Mix quite stiff. It may be made with cocoa or chocolate in place of spices if preferred.

Best wishes to editor and sisters.

ONONDOGUA, 1902.

ANSWERS INQUIRIES

Dear Social Corner Members: You surely will think I am making up for lost time now. I have a few inquiries to answer and then perhaps will wait a little longer.

E. L. M.: No, I do not drive a car, wish I did.

Thirty Two: Yes, R. I. stands for Rhode Island. I have an idea that I may be the only member from this state. No, I do not live anywhere near Putnam.

Tatting: I don't think I live near enough to the Shore Line to be eligible to that club. R. I.

UNGRATEFUL BOOK USERS

Dear Cornerites: Best wishes to all. I thank the editor for the yellow slip and have subscribed for The Country Gentleman. I like it very much.

I want to thank all the sisters for their good wishes after my supposed accident.

[illegible] never drowned. I have another chance.

I think it wrong for persons to tear pictures from books in the library or books which have been borrowed. So many do it and seem not to heed the "Do not damage this book" printed inside.

Free use of the books is given but there are those who are not grateful.

POETRY

Wind Showers

A-pitter, a-patter, they dance and they scatter,
Through hedgerows, down hillsides in merry disorder.
They beat and they batter 'till flowers seems lie flatter.
Than gnome in the wood land, along the road's border.
They race and they rattle, like armies that battle.
They kiss all the new leaves on maple and beeches;
Of green grass they taittle to sheep and to cattle
And glad every root in the meadows deep reaches.
As prancing, and dancing, retreating, advancing,
They sing of the spring and of May tell a story;
While fairies entrancing, swift gliding and dancing,
Paint skies with a rainbow, and pass in its glory.
—L. Mitchell Thornton in Boston Transcript.

Under the Leaves

Oft have I walked these woodland paths,
Without the blessed foreknowing
That underneath the withered leaves
The fairest buds were growing.

Today the south wind sweeps away
The types of autumn's splendor,
And shows the sweet arbutus flowers,
Spring's children, pure and tender.

O prophet-flowers!—with lips of bloom,
Outvying in your beauty
The pearly tints of ocean shells—
Ye teach me faith and duty!

Walk life's ways, ye seem to say,
With love's divine foreknowing
That where men sees but withered leaves
God sees sweet flowers growing.
—Albert Laighton.

HUMOR OF THE DAY

Ethelyn—"Did she marry well?"
Methlyn—"Listen, dearie! She has two chauffeurs—one for driving and the other for court."—Life.

Waiter (to irate diner)—I'm sure we aim to please, sir.
Diner—Then I'd advise a little target practice.—Boston Transcript.

Customer—Oh, here's another of these hideous portraits you call works of art.
Dealer—Oh, no, madam! That's a mirror.—Twice Told Tales.

English curate (to widower who is putting flowers on grave)—Good afternoon, Mr. Jones. (He gazes round in a contented way.)—Our new cemetery, I observe, is filling up nicely.—Exchange.

Art—Where have you been, Beggs?
Beggs—Been putting a bridle on my horse, Art.
"How'd you get the bit in his mouth?"
"Iwaited till he yawned."—University of Oklahoma Whirlwind.

"What d'ya think of a man rich enough to light a cigar with a $5 bill?"
"Aw, I start my kitchen fire every morning with oil stock."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Clubman—Have a game of chess, Brown?
Cross Word Victim—No, my doctor has forbidden me to look at anything with squares on.—Passing Show, London.

A doctor was called to see a negro who was down with influenza.
"What I gwine to git him?" asked the wife.
"Give him whiskey," the physician responded.
"How much does it cost?"
When the doctor named the price of good whiskey per quart the wife responded:
"I can bury him cheaper than dat."—Everybody's.

KALEIDOSCOPE

An undersea laboratory and an open marine pool in which marine organisms can be observed are features of a new marine biological station in Japan.

A small river in New Zealand was recently diverted toward the coast by means of two tunnels through the mountains in order to use its water in a gigantic chain of electric power stations.

A new type of Diesel oil-burning locomotive, burning the cheapest grade of crude oil at a fuel cost 20 per cent. less than in the present coal-burning steam locomotive, is being developed in Philadelphia.

Low bridges span the river Spree in Germany and interfere seriously with the passage of excursion steamers loaded with holiday makers from Berlin. Hence a new steamer to carry 1,000 passengers will be equipped with large tanks which, when filled with water, will submerge the hull sufficiently to pass under the lowest bridge on the river.

Stenographers out of jobs in Munich, Germany, have found a source of revenue in the local cemeteries. It is their custom to attend all funerals and take down the words of the officiating clergyman. These they transcribe neatly on mourning paper with a black border, and then offer their work to the relatives of the person buried. In almost every case the relatives buy not only the first transcript, but often order a considerable number of carbon copies.

Botanic experts at the University of Pennsylvania are being drafted to assist in the destruction of a mite which annually causes hundreds of thousands of dollars damage to the cyclamen, a widely used Christmas flower in America. At the government experiment station near Philadelphia, representatives of the United States department of agriculture have long investigated the destruction wrought by the mite. The mite, of the spider family, so small as to be virtually invisible, causes a streaking and distortion of the leaves and flowers on the cyclamen plant.

When the College of William and Mary opens a summer school at the University of Mexico, in June of this year, the second oldest institution of learning in the United States will make an effort to promote better understanding and friendship between the two nations by studying the civilization of Mexico at its hub, the oldest university in North and South America. It will be the first instance of mutual recognition between the University of Mexico and an American college, officials have declared. The agreement with the Mexican university was obtained in line with the policy of William and Mary to enlarge its foreign summer school idea. A group of students, under the guidance of C. E. Castaneda, of the Spanish department of the college, will spend six weeks in Mexico City. Regular courses in English subjects will be offered by four members of the William and Mary faculty, but the students may avail themselves of any of the branches of study offered by the University of Mexico.

BOYS' WEEK ATHLETIC EVENTS AND PARADE AT NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, May 2—The feature event of Boys' Week in this city occurred this afternoon when there was a big street parade and athletic events. The parade formed at Bank and Howard streets and with about 3,000 youths in line and headed by the 192nd Coast Artillery band, the marchers moved through Bank to State street, where they were reviewed from the municipal steps by Mayor Waldo E. Clarke, City Manager William A. Holt and city officials; thence to Broad, to Connecticut avenue, to Cedar Grove avenue, to Morgan park, where numerous athletic events were participated in by the youths. The athletics were witnessed by several hundred men and women.

Mrs. Rosario Spinato of Shaw street; Charles Gray, Riverview avenue and P. Williams, and James E. Guiles, United States Coast Guard Academy, patients at Lawrence hospital were dismissed today.

Ernest M. Anderson has sold to Delbert K. Hatfield a parcel of land on Oneco avenue.

Frank and Francis Medina have sold to Gliachemo and Nasiolo Alfieri a house and lot, corner of Jefferson avenue and Grand street.

Commissioner of Motor Vehicles Robbins B. Stoeckel today caused the operator's license of Clarence M. Shay, Mott avenue, to be suspended. Commissioner Stoeckel also caused the license of Mrs. Victoria Kosky, 28 Cedar avenue, recently suspended, to be returned to the owner.

Patrolman Edward Riordan in making his rounds through Main street about 1 o'clock this morning discovered the rear entrance of the Brooks flower store unlocked. A telephone communication to an employe of the place, brought the information that he would go to the store and secure the entrance, but at 2.30 o'clock he had failed to appear and the police left the place unprotected for the remainder of the night.

The funeral of Mrs. Annie Guiliani, 19, wife of Aldo Guiliani, whose death occurred but twenty days after her wedding, was held this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's Star of the Sea church and was largely attended. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Alexander Wollschlaeger. Relatives and intimate acquaintances acted as bearers. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery.

Patrolman Patrick Sheehan, the officer who drew a seven weeks' suspension, involving loss of compensation of approximately $250, resumed patrol duty today for his term of suspension expired at midnight Thursday. Sheehan reported for duty at the police station at 6.30 o'clock and went on duty with the 7 o'clock squad. He was assigned to the same beat, East New London and, the northerly part of Williams street and Mohegan avenue.

The report of the special committee of the city council of which Councilor Streeter is chairman, which conducted the probe of six months to determine the efficiency of the police department, has not been filed with City Manager Holt, as was assured it would be by this time, by Councilor Streeter. It is anticipated by the city manager that the report will be delivered to him within the next few days, but possibly not in time for any recommendations being made by the city manager at the next session of the city council, Monday night next.

Clifford Smith, driver of an ice delivery truck, is to come into the police court tomorrow morning to endeavor to convince Judge Prince that he (Smith) was not intoxicated Thursday afternoon about 5 o'clock when the truck crowded the Ford automobile that State Policeman Giles Watson operated from Tilly street into Bank street. He will also contradict the testimony of Watson and Police Sergeant Frank T. Howard, for the latter booked Smith at the police station when Watson brought him in, and Sergeant Howard told the court today that Smith was drunk beyond any doubt. When asked if he had any defense to offer, Smith told the court that he wanted a lawyer, and to give him a chance to get one, the case was continued till Saturday.

John Harrington was sent to jail for a stay of 60 days by the police court this morning. He was taken in on the complaint of his mother. Today she relented and asked that the son should not be sent to jail. Judge Prince held a different opinion as to what should be the penalty Harrington should pay. He was on probation when presented in court, having been convicted last Christmas eve, and then put on probation for six months. Today the suspended sentence and probation were revoked and he was committed on both convictions. So he will be in jail close to three months.

John Shea, for intoxication was fined $10. He was without funds so he was forced into jail. He represented that the weather "looked" bad yesterday so he didn't work, but accepted the companionship of friends and their drinks also and became intoxicated.

The New London fire department had two fires to combat today, but in neither instance did the blazes bring about damage of consequence. The first fire occurred this afternoon when a lively blaze was discovered on the south side of the Fishers Island Navigation company's pier, well toward the head of the dock. Because of a strong wind the flames were burning briskly and an alarm was sent in from Box 37, Norwich line pier. With the arrival of the department a line of hose was stretched to the location of the blaze and it was quickly subdued, the damage not exceeding $100. The fire is believed to have originated from a lighted cigar or cigarette being dropped in a crevice.

The second blaze occurred about 8 o'clock when a quantity of soot was discovered ablaze in the chimney at the residence of Angelo DiMaggio, Moore court. An alarm was sent in from Box 451, corner of Shaw and Steward streets. A quantity of chemicals proved sufficient to subdue the blaze; the damage was trivial.

Jerry Moshier, 55, a laborer residing at 175 Howard street, was arrested this evening by Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray and Patrolman John Sullivan, charged with breach of the peace in striking Mrs. Peter Hynes, 169 Howard street. Moshier was at the home of a neighbor and so were others and during a conversation an argument arose and ended only when Moshier beat Mrs. Hynes. Moshier was partially under the influence of liquor.

Michael Cunningham, of Tenth street, a boilermaker, about 21, and Shirley Williams, about 30, were arrested late this afternoon, the former charged with adultery and the latter with fornication. Both are being held for trial in the police court tomorrow morning in bonds of $500 each. Cunningham secured his liberty pending the convening of court when his brother appeared at the police station and furnished cash bail.

Cunningham and the Williams woman had been drinking and going to Main street they passed through the rear entrance to the rear of the Johnston block, in which are several stores and residential apartments. Securing a quantity of burlap from the rear of one of the stores Cunningham arranged it for the comfort of himself and companion. His act was witnessed by residents of that section and in a few seconds the police were besieged with messages of the "disgraceful conduct of a man and woman" in the rear of the block. Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray and Patrolman Clarence Martin were sent to the place and there the officers found the couple.

Two sailors, stationed at the submarine base, were on shore leave this afternoon and they frequented some of the places about the city where liquor is dispensed, with the result that they imbibed too freely of the alcoholic concoctions. Both finally became intoxicated and went to Garibaldi park, corner of Bank and Shaw streets, where they engaged in a fight. Although both bluejackets were much the worse for their over-indulgence, they staged a battle that attracted two hundred spectators who formed a ring for the bout. A telephone message was sent to the police station resulting in Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray and Patrolmen William Corcoran, William Riordan and Dennis Cavanaugh being dispatched to the ringside. When the officers reached there the sailors were mixing in vigorous fashion, but they were quickly nabbed and lodged in a cell at the police station to await trial tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Elizabeth Sonk, widow of Frederick Sonk, of New York, died at Home Memorial hospital yesterday, following a surgical operation Mrs. Sonk underwent two weeks ago. Following the operation it was believed that Mrs. Sonk would regain her health but she suffered a relapse earlier in the week.

Mrs. Sonk's home was at 1733 Stephens street, New York, but she made frequent visits to Quaker Hill where her daughter, Mrs. William H. Page, lives. Mrs. Sonk is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Page and Mrs. Edward Lehman, of Quaker Hill, and leaves seven grandchildren, Edward, William, Frederick, Arthur, Henry, Donald and Doris Page, all children of Mrs. William Page.

Mrs. Walter Caswell, of Montauk avenue, is spending a few days as the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Henderson, of West Mystic.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Elion have returned to their home in Groton, having spent several days in New York.

FUNERAL.

William Lee Peck.

Funeral services for William Lee Peck of 41 Blackhall street, and formerly employed as night clerk at the Hotel Mohican, took place Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock at 48 Shapley street and were attended by a large number of mourning friends among whom were many employes and guests of the hotel Rev. C. E. Spaulding, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church officiated. Employes of the hotel acted as bearers. Burial was in the family plot in Comstock cemetery, Montville.

MYSTIC MAN'S AFFINITY CARRIED OFF FURNITURE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 1—A man named Clark, residing in Mystic, came to New London this evening and sought the aid of the police in recovering a quantity of furniture which he claimed had been removed from his home, brought to this city and placed in storage. Clark was advised to consult Acting Prosecuting Attorney Perry J. Hollandersky Saturday morning. Clark admitted that he had been living with a woman as his common-law wife and that recently she became enamored with another. Today while Clark was absent from home and by arrangement a moving van from this city appeared at the Clark residence and under the direction of the woman the furniture was transferred from the house to the van and then brought to New London and put into storage. Neighbors of Clark observed the name of the moving company on the van and ascertaining this information he came to New London and located his property.

JIBUTI, IMPORTANT SEAPORT OF AFRICA

French adventurers have recently made the first crossing of northern Africa by automobile from the coast of Guinea on the Atlantic to Jibuti, in French Somaliland, on the Indian ocean, a distance of 3,750 miles. The little patch of French Somaliland where the journey ended represents France's only continental territory in East Africa, says the National Geographic society, which describes the region in a bulletin issued from its Washington, D. C., headquarters:

"French Somaliland is a small reality that France has held on to in northeastern Africa after the collapse of a dream of empire in that region, when the famous Fashoda incident occurred. French troops camped at Fashoda on the Upper Nile in 1898 and planned cooperation with Abyssinia in flinging a band of French territory all the way across northern Africa. But the appearance of Kitchner's forces discouraged the idea and the French expedition passed on to Somaliland, leaving the Sudan to undisputed British control.

"Parts of French Somaliland have been in the possession of France since 1864 when the port of Obok was bought; but the place was not occupied until 1884 when France became concerned over the occupation of the neighboring island of Perim—'the Gibraltar of the Red Sea'—by Great Britain. Within the next few years French control was extended to territory in the vicinity of Obok, and the present region, about 5,800 square miles in extent, was marked out.

"A glance at the map shows the strategic value of the colony. Its coast forms one shore of the strait of Bab el Mandeb, the gateway to the Red Sea. Jibuti, which in 1893, superseded Obok as the capital and chief city, is a French Aden, and is situated directly across the Gulf of Aden and about 150 miles from that important British station. Into Jibuti put French ships of war and trade bound through the Suez Canal to Madagascar, French Indo-China and other French possessions of the east. Its function as a supply and coaling depot has brought a certain prosperity to the port.

"Jibuti's great economic importance, however, arises from the fact that it is the salt water terminus of the only railway which taps the riches of Abyssinia. Started in 1896, the line was incomplete for many years, extending only a relatively short distance into Abyssinia. It was pushed to completion during the World war, reaching Addis Ababa, capital of Abyssinia. Trade passing through Jibuti jumped with the establishment of this steel highway, and in 1918 reached $20,000,000.

"The country traversed by the Imperial Ethiopian Railway is still inhabited by rather wild and unruly tribes. Its trains are operated only in the day time. When the first locomotive ran over the line the ignorant natives thought it a sort of super-lion, and rushing in its path, threw spears against its steel front and sides. The loss of legs and arms taught them that the new 'beast' was invulnerable to their weapons, but they still harbor a keen resentment against the railway and its trains. The railway exists largely for political reasons and was built at a tremendous cost. Before the World war the passenger fare was about 35 cents a mile. The increase of business, however, is putting a different economic complexion on the project. The products brought out of Abyssinia consist in the main of coffee, ivory, hides and skins.

"It took imagination and the ability to look far into the back country and into the future to see any economic value in French Somaliland at the time France began her acquisitions there. The coast and a coastal strip of considerable width is one of the most desolate regions imaginable, consisting of sand and volcanic rocks, with here and there patches of low scrub. The Gulf of Tajura, 28 miles wide at the mouth, bites into the land to a depth of 36 miles. Cliffs of volcanic stone form the shore of this gulf for many miles, giving way in places to tumbled masses of volcanic debris. Some five miles inland from the tip of the gulf is Lake Assal Somaliland's 'Little Dead Sea.' The four miles wide, lies nearly 500 feet below sea level. Its shores are encrusted with beaches of shining white salt. In the terrific heat of the depression natives gather the salt and its production constitutes one of the major industries of the colony.

"Supplies of underground water have been located and tapped by the French, and garden plots established where the French advent all was desolation. On the upland plains inland antelope and other game abound. Lions and leopards are also found in considerable numbers.

"Italy wanted France to cede Jibuti to her at the time she entered the World war on the side of the Allies. France would not part with her valuable coaling station and door to Abyssinia even in those trying times, but instead made Italy a concession on the Tripoli-Tunisia frontier. Jibuti is a town of white buildings, for the most part one-story structures. It numbers less than 10,000 inhabitants of which 350 are Europeans, the remainder being a hodge-podge of Somali and other African natives, Armenians, Jews, Arabs and East Indians."

Developing the Fullest Possibilities of the Four

If you will follow the new good Maxwell step by step through the great plants where it is built, you will quickly understand its extraordinary quality.

The new good Maxwell is manufactured almost to the smallest detail in Maxwell's own factories by an organization that has all the resources in mechanical equipment, scientific precision instruments, and trained man power to create superior qualities in any product it sponsors.

The new good Maxwell starts from the engineering department with a definite advantage—a design that is the result of a determined effort to develop as never before all the fullest possibilities of the four.

It is a design that is so far in advance of other fours that only in the new good Maxwell can you get a combination of 58 miles an hour, 5 to 25 miles in 8 seconds, gasoline economy of 25 miles to the gallon and riding qualities finer than any other four ever possessed.

Only with such superiority of design, and only with complete Maxwell manufacturing, can so much better four-cylinder motoring be sold at the new good Maxwell price. We are eager to demonstrate these values to you, so that you, too, will be numbered among the ever-growing army of contented Maxwell owners.

Touring Car, Roadster, Club Coupe, Club Sedan, Standard Four-Door Sedan—extraordinarily priced from $685 to $1025. All prices f. o. b. Detroit, war excise.

We are pleased to suggest the appointment of those dependable, fully equipped Maxwell dealers and engineer Maxwell service stations listed below.

MARKET SHOWED STRENGTH

New York, May 1—Stock prices showed more strength than they had at any other time for the past two weeks. Revival of speculative activity in the railroad shares was the feature of the day's trading, which showed a marked expansion in volume. A few weak spots cropped out here and there, but they failed to halt the upward trend in other parts of the list, net gains of 1 to 3 1-2 points being quite common at the close.

The announcement that the Delaware and Hudson had leased the Buffalo-Rochester and Pittsburgh for a long term of years stimulated the buying of the rails. Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh, which soared 37 points to 86 yesterday, moved up 99 and then fell back to 86 1-4. Delaware and Hudson closed a point higher at 150 3-4. New peak prices for the year were attained by Norfolk and Southern, the control of which has passed from Marsden Perry to Ernest Williams, who will succeed him as chairman; Gulf, Mobile and Northern and New Orleans, Texas and Mexico.

Southern Railway duplicated its high of 92 1-2 and then sagged back to 92 1-8 for a loss of 3-4 on the day. Atlantic coast line jumped 3 1-2 points to 160 1-2. Other strong spots in the railroad group were Chesapeake and Ohio, Chicago Northwestern, Ann Arbor preferred, Chicago and Alton, Chicago Great Western preferred, Lackawanna, Kansas City Southern, "Katy" preferred, Norfolk and Western, New York, Ontario and Western, Northern Pacific, Frisco common, St. Louis Southwestern, Texas and Pacific and Western Pacific, all of which closed one to 2 1-2 points higher.

Trade news was rather colorless. The weekly mercantile reviews reported further irregularity although Bradstreet's stated that "a slightly more cheerful note is sounded in the business situation."

Public utilities were again in active demand, new peak prices being attained by Utah securities, Federal Light and Traction, Columbia Gas and Electric and Electric Power and Light certificates. Laclede gas soared ten points to 170 and General Electric and Montana Power each climbed more than 3 points. American Can led the advance in standard industrials by climbing 5 points to 176 3-4, closing half a point from the top. Baldwin, Studebaker, and United States steel improved fractionally. United States industrial alcohol, common and preferred, Maxwell B certificates, Coca Cola, Glidden company and American Ice all moved up to new high levels.

Liquidation of American Woolen sent that stock down more than two points to 38 1-2 but it rallied later to 39 1-4. The preferred dropped over 3 points to a new 1925 low at 75. New bottom prices also were established by Pittsburgh Coal common and preferred, Jones Brothers Tea, Butte and Superior, Miami Copper and the new Dodge preferred, which sold as low as 96 1-8. Other weak spots included America Sumatra Tobacco preferred, Barnsdall A., Otis elevator and Virginia Railway and Power.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent. and then dropped to 3 1-2. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Foreign exchange rates displayed a firm tone. Demand sterling ruled around $4.84 1-4 and French francs at 5.23 1-2 c.

The Norwegian and Danish currencies established new high records for the year at 16.61 and 18.71 cents, respectively.

BOND MARKET

New York, May 1—Bond prices shot forward under the active leadership of the railroad issues. Stimulated by new merger developments and favorable dividend rumors, trading in securities of the carriers assumed broad proportions and gains of one to two points were registered by a score or more of the popular issues.

The proposed lease of the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburgh railway to the Delaware & Hudson on a rental basis guaranteeing six per cent dividends provided the signal for renewed accumulation of the railroad obligations. The deal had been foreshadowed by yesterday's brisk spurt in the prices of the road's stock and bonds, which was extended. The Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh 4 1-2s sold as high as 88 but dropped back at the close to 86 1-4, a net gain of 1 1-2 points. Delaware & Hudson Convertible 5s moved up a point.

Other rail bonds which responded to accumulated by new interests included the Norfolk & Southern 5s, which advanced to 76 and closed at 75, a gain of 1 1-4 points. A large block of the road's stock passed into the hands of a new group, understood to represent the Duke Tobacco interests, who likewise were credited with the purchase of its bonds.

The general revival of interest in the railroad situation also contributed to the strength of Southern railway, Frisco, Missouri Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, Chicago & Northwestern, Northern Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Seaboard and "Katy" issues, most of which advanced more than a point. The activity in the rail liens was reflected in an unusualy large volume of sales and one of the sharpest gains of the year in the railroad averages.

United States government obligations supplied the principal feature of trading outside the railroad list. The treasury issues rose to new peak prices for the year and Liberty bonds worked irregularly higher. Sugar company bonds continued to drift lower in reflection of declining commodity prices.

ECHOES FROM THE LODGE ROOMS

FORESTERS OF AMERICA

The last meeting of the members of Court Sprague, No. 90, of Baltic held April 7th was well attended. There was great spirit shown in the choosing of a delegate to attend the state convention to be held on May 13th in Waterbury this year. Brother Dennis J. Hines succeeded in being elected and Brother Eddie Lambert alternate.

As is the usual custom of this court to hold a smoker on the night of the installation of officers a committee was appointed with Brother Eddie Lambert as chairman which guarantees that it will be a success. The newly elected officers will be installed in Caron's hall on Tuesday night, May 5th by the newly appointed deputy grand chief ranger, William Smith of Taftville and his staff. This should be an inducement for all the members of this court to be present.

As yet Baltic is on standard time and all concerned should remember this unless changed by Monday 4th. The meeting will be called to order sharply at 7 p. m., if still on standard time.

EAGLES

The Eagles started another eight nights' pinochle tourney in their rooms on Shetucket St., Thursday evening with sixteen members entered.

Competition for the evening resulted in H. Follenius and E. J. Mullins being tied for first place with a score of 7375, the latter winning on the cut. W. R. Hastedt was third 7310 and Walter Cauchey fourth 7210.

Although R. A. Krohn (champion Moose) was very successful in the pinochle tournament between the Eagles and Moose Wednesday evening, he went below the standard of the Eagles fatter Thursday evening when he had a total score of 5,925.

This series will be continued on Thursday evenings until further notice.

GROTTO.

Nemrod Grotto members have an interesting schedule ahead of them for the May meetings, beginning with that of Monday May 4, when final plans will be made for the Atlantic City club's May party. There are still five reservations remaining for those that wish to join the party to attend the national convention. The May party will be a social event that all who are privileged to attend will want to be present at. All through the month of May, the members will be securing petitions from applicants to join the Grotto in anticipation of the ceremonial to be held June 8. This is promised to be something different from former ceremonials and will be an event that no Grotto it will want to miss.

ODD FELLOWS

The regular meeting of Uncas Lodge No. 11, was held Monday evening in Odd Fellows' hall, Main street, with Noble Grand Merwin Leffingwell in the chair. Considerable routine business was transacted and committees appointed for future events.

Shetucket Lodge, No. 27, met Tuesday evening with Noble Grand Archie Barry in the chair and the third degree was worked on a good sized class of candidates. Plans were also made for activities during the months previous to July.

Palmyra Encampment, No. 3, met on Thursday of last week with Patriarch Leslie Fowler in charge. Balloting on candidates was done and interesting reports rendered by several committees.

At the meetings of all three bodies committees were appointed to arrange for the joint celebration of the 106th anniversary of the founding of Odd Fellowship in the United States. It is planned to hold the celebration some time in May, although the anniversary fell this week and at meetings to be held next week final arrangements will be made and announcements given by the several committees in their respective lodges.

AHAB SANCTORUM

Ahab Sanctorum, No. 230, U. O. S. P., Odd Fellows, is planning for a banner meeting on June 20th when the anniversary celebration is to be held in Mystic. At the meeting of the sanctorum held on April 25th committees were appointed and it was announced that over 1,500 members of Ahab Sanctorum, with members of many other sanctorums, would be in Mystic on June 20th to take part in the parade and the feature event in the evening, when over 100 candidates will cross the desert sands.

At the meeting to be held in Mystic in May a class of candidates will be initiated into the order and a spread will be prepared for the journeying caravan at Odd Fellows hall. Norwich members expect to make the trip in a body, members with automobiles furnishing transportation.

B'NAI BRITH.

On Thursday evening, the Rose of New England lodge, No. 888, Independent Order of B'Nai Brith, held an entertainment at Steiner Hall in honor of the ladies of the Rose of New England Auxiliary, No. 40, I. O. B. B. The ladies of the auxiliary and their immediate family were guests of the evening. The program was a cultural program but contained several amusing sketches staged under the direction of W. Kirsch and Harry Schwartz.

Abner Schwartz, the president of the lodge, was master of ceremonies.

Max Hanover opened the program with an amusing parabie which illustrated the thrill which members get out of an organization whose scope is civic betterment—the parable served as an introduction to a paper prepared for the occasion by Max Hanover, entitled "Friendship as a Duty and Obligation to our Fellowmen."

The second number was a banio duet by Anthony Messino and Mr. Bourne which was received with generous applause.

This was followed by a sketch entitled "Pincus the Cloak Manufacturer" with W. Kirsch as the leading man ("Pincus"), Alex Pasnik as the buyer Dave Trachtenberg as the salesman and Mrs. Kirsch as the model. The sketch was specially well performed and many derisive allusions were made by "Pincus" mentioning the business houses of the members present, which kept the audience in an uproar of laughter and applause—the members who were hit the hardest applauded the most.

After the sketch young Master Bernard Schwartz sang "Honest and Truly," receiving an ovation which called for an encore and he responded with "All Alone," which was received with equal enthusiasm. Young Miss Mildred Weisinger received generous applause after ably rendering recitations in both Hebrew and English.

Refreshments were served during the intermission which followed; it being "Raisin Week," hence sun-kissed raisins formed a part of the refreshments.

After the intermission the final sketch of the program "A School Act," was performed with Harry Schwartz as the teacher, Dr. Kopeland Markoff, Josiah Greenstein, Rudolph Henschel and George Schiller as the pupils. The act was a "scream" from the beginning to the end. The audience simply rolled and swayed in laughter The comedy was cleverly gotten up and very well performed.

Great credit for the success achieved is due to the entertainment committee, Jacob Weisinger, W. Kirsch, Abraham Bruckner, Josiah Greenstein, Morris Sussman and Rudolph Henschel.

The lodge is indebted to Anthony Messino and Mr. Bourne for their kindness and to Schwartz Bros., for the furniture and stage setings also to J. N. Weymouth of the Southern New England Telephone Co., for kindly loaning a telephone.

JUNIOR MECHANICS.

Buckingham council, No. 14, met on Wednesday evening in Buckingham Memorial with Junior Past Councilor E. Leseman presiding. There was a very large attendance.

Five membership applications were referred to the various investigating committees. Several membership teams have been formed and the team bringing in the most members will be awarded several prizes. These prizes will be given by the council and State Secretary Wallington. It was planned to work the degrees the fourth Wednesday of each month.

JEWETT CITY

The Community Meeting held at Pachaug Thursday evening, was called to order by the President, William A. Edmond. After a short business meeting the entertainment committee took charge. The committee was George R. Edmond, chairman; Mrs. George R. Edmond, Mrs. John O. Peckham, Mrs. Albert Dawley and Everett Whipple.

The exercises opened with a Spring Song, by Lorraine Robinson, Elsie Edmond, Marian Edmond, Jane Whipple, Elizabeth Duffy, Mildred Kinnie, Genevieve Gaudette and Evelyn Valencourt.

Four Boy Scouts of Voluntown Troop 1 entertained with Scout Work. They were, Wilfred Perry, Floyd Magrey, Eugene Bebo, and Arthur Russi.

Then followed a recitation, Betty and the Bar, by Genevieve Gaudette.

Musical number, by Three members of the Wylie School Orchestra, Ebba Oikkonin, William Lintberg and Eddie Suoninon.

Recitation, Pillar Fights, by Mildred Kinnie; music, piano, Ethel Popple, violin, Elsie M. Edmond.

Recitation, Farmer Grey and the Wasps, William Lintberg.

Dialog, Make Haste Slowly, by Evelyn Valencourt, Elizabeth Duffy, and Lorraine Robinson.

Violin Solo, Miss Ethel Popple, assisted at the piano by Mrs. John Richardson.

One-act play, Elizabeth's Young Man, given by Mrs. Henry Kaufman, Mrs. Christina Murphy, Mrs. John O. Peckham, and John O. Peckham.

Two songs by the girls who gave the opening song:—A Frog he would a-wooing go, and May Song.

Cake and orangeade were served after the entertainment. The committee for the May meeting is Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. John Perkins, and Miss Margery Brewster.

If you like chop suey we have the necessary ingredients to make it. Free cook books. Edw. Blanchard, Tel. 156. —Adv.

The local council of the Knights of Columbus is to hold its annual banquet at an early date. From all indications, this event will be the most elaborate of its kind ever attempted by this organization.

The Junior Missionary Society is to meet at the Methodist parsonage at two o'clock this (Saturday) afternoon.

The public schools in town were closed Friday and the teachers attended the Children's Day Health Day at Windham Street School, in Willimantic.

Finn's tonight, Bebe Daniels and Richard Dix in Sinners in Heaven.—Adv.

Two kitchen stoves, sideboard, etc., for sale. Call at Andrews Place, Sylvandale, today, 2:30 to 4.—adv.

Mrs. F. H. P. Clement and son have returned from a Norwich Hospital.

Stanley Kaiko, a lad of ten or twelve was struck by an automobile driven by Otis Littlfield, early Thursday evening and received several cuts and bruises. He has recently bought a bicycle, and coming out from behind an automobile which was standing beside the road on Factory Hill, ran directly in the path of the Littlefield automobile, before the driver could stop his machine. The state police attached no blame to Mr. Littlefield, as the accidene was unavoidable on his part.

Mrs. Katarzyna Osga, widow of Wicanty Osga, received a check for two thousand dollars from the Welfare Department of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. Friday, the check being given her by Louis Masse, a local agent. The directors of the company authorized this gift to the family. This is in addition to the amount allotted Mrs. Osga each week for six years by the company, because Mr. Osga was on duty as an agent for them at the time of the accident where he lost his life.

Mr. Gartaka had recently paid for a building lot, purchased of Ashland Cotton Co. and L. M. Carpenter has returned the money to Mrs. Gartaka. Such helpful contributions on the part of the companies by which these men were employed are highly commendable.

Ten dollars from hte achang Ladies' Aid Society, five dollars from T. F. Burleson, two dollars from John Tarka, and a friend whose name is not given, have not before been publicly acknowledged.

An Opportunity

Yes, this is a real opportunity that should interest every alert homeowner. If you've put up with gas and dust from your furnace, or if you groan when you think of your coal bill, or if you had a hard job trying to keep the house comfortable in the snappy spells during the past winter–this is an opportunity.

Next Week---Sterling Furnace Club Sale

And we are going to sell a lot of furnaces to people who know a good thing when they see it, because the reputation of the Sterling and the special terms we are offering (from Monday to Saturday next week) make a combination that is extraordinary.

This is

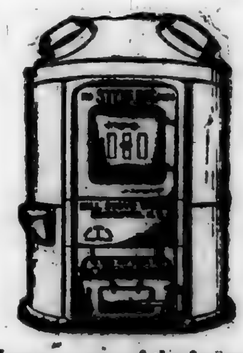
the factory representative, who will be at our store during the Club Sale. He's a practical furnace man and knows the business from cellar to attic. We're mighty glad to have him with us because we know he can help a good many people who have heating problems to solve. If you're puzzled on any phase of home heating, see Mr. Chaput.

He's at your service—without cost or obligation on your part.

If you buy during the Club you pay a small membership fee now and make the first payment September 1st. You have a year to pay.. THAT'S SOME OFFER, ON A STERLING. But it will give us the work in the off season, and that's when we should rather do it. We take pride in our furnace installations, and we can do a better job now, when there is no RUSH.

You can't tell a good furnace by looking at the casing. You have to investigate the hidden values. You wouldn't buy an automobile without knowing that the engine under the hood was "up to snuff." Look inside the casing of the furnace and check up some of Sterling's hidden features. Let us explain some of Sterling's hidden values.

The Sterling Furnace is installed under a Double Guarantee Bond signed by ourselves and the manufacturers.



Here are some of the features which make the Sterling high class heating equipment:

1. Heavy two-piece firepot.
2. Large straight sided combustion chamber.
3. Dust-tight square back ashpit.
4. Sterling triangular cutting grates—shaker bar on outside.
5. Gas-tight cup joints.
6. Two-way radiator. Same depth as combustion chamber.
7. Correctly proportioned air spaces.
8. Extra large air moistener.
9. Positive draft control.
10. Copper bearing steel.

This is the chance of a lifetime to install a warm air heating system that will assure you "Summer comfort in Winter" for years to come.

IN NORWICH FIFTY YEARS AGO

Annual meetings and the rage of spelling matches that were sweeping the city kept Norwich people supplied with news a half century ago. The spelling matches were held in all parts of the city and some of the words given to the boys and girls, as well as to the older people, would make a person's head swim.

Items from the Bulletin of 1875 are printed as follows:

Monday, April 26, 1875—A Broadway resident is put strong for a chance to get rid of animals on the street where he lives. He claims that his sleep is broken nearly every night because of the squealing of his neighbor's pigs. This same trouble is experienced by others on the street and a movement is underway to rid the street of squealers.

Frank Adams of this city has been giving exhibitions of his remarkable finger billiards in Boston at the Palace Royal.

The smelt fisheries in the Shetucket and Thames rivers have been paying poorly this year, but catches in other sections of the state are reported to be excellent.

On Wednesday of last week one of the roads in Lebanon, fifteen miles north of Norwich, was impassable on account of snow drifts.

Many families in the city are still without any water in their homes because the pipes are still frozen in many sections of the city.

There was a total eclipse of the gas on Main street last evening, this condition prevailing for about an hour before the pipes were again filled and the lamps could be lighted.

Tuesday, April 27, 1875—Members of Uncas Lodge, No. 11, I. O. O. F., assembled at their rooms last evening to celebrate the 56th anniversary of their order in the United States. O. G. Bailey presided at the meeting which opened with a quartet number, music by organist, Prof. Lewis. One of the principal speakers of the evening was Col. Charles A. Converse, whose remarks created considerable merriment. Other speakers were Rev. Mr. Kellogg and Benjamin Cross, the later giving a history of the order and of the lodge in Norwich.

There was quite a number of prominent members of the Masonic fraternity from different parts of the state in town yesterday to attend the annual Council of Deliberation of the Scottish Rite bodies of the state, which took place at the rooms of the order, in the afternoon. In the evening the visitors assembled with the members of the Connecticut Sovereign Consistory to witness the exemplification of the thirtieth degree.

The Fredonia has at last arrived back at Stonington. She left that town in December last year and was forced to put in at New Haven for three weeks because of head winds. Arriving at Black Rock she was frozen in for 84 days and then held up in New York for another long spell.

The coal yard property on Thames street belonging to Dr. Cassidy and William H. Shields will be sold at auction this afternoon and presents a rare chance to acquire a most valuable piece of property.

Wednesday, April 28, 1875—Under the act passed by the legislature it is now necessary for the fish commissioners to appoint two or more persons in each town to be fire wardens. The appointments for New London county towns are expected to be announced in the near future.

One of the most horrible deeds perpetrated in Norwich in many years was carried out in Greeneville last evening. A gang of ruffians poured kerosene on a dog, set fire to him and then stoned him as he ran through the streets. Police are searching for the guilty parties and they will be most severely dealt with.

Fred. J. P. Miller has made arrangements to furnish a brass and string band for the Larkin and Watch Hill houses at Watch hill, this summer.

Sidney Risley, whose death was noticed Tuesday, was generally known as a manufacturer of Risley's stone ware, in which business he was engaged for over forty years.

John T. Wait has been elected president of the New London County Bar association, his election taking place at the annual meeting, held yesterday in this city.

Thursday, April 29, 1875—Trout are plentiful in streams around Norwich and big catches are being made. E. H. Palmer of Greeneville brought in a string of 26 trout yesterday that weighed 16 pounds, one of the trout weighing two pounds. Other catches not quite as large are being reported almost every day now.

The employes of the Thames River Worsted company showed their esteem for their superintendent, Willard W. Stearns, Wednesday, by presenting him with an elegant gold watch.

The "Little Folks" spelling match is to be held at Breed hall, Saturday. Every school child of the city is eligible and it is expected that a large number will enroll for the match.

Friday, April 30, 1875—A memorial tract has been published containing an address by Gov. Buckingham, which he delivered before the Connecticut Temperance Union. It is entitled, The Safe Way, and is a plea against the use of intoxicating drinks. E. W. Tompkins, Mr. Brandegee of New London and Gen. William A. Aiken have provided means for its circulation.

The schooner Charles Shearer has arrived at Stonington with 1,600 seal skins. The voyage is not considered a profitable one owing to the poor quality of the furs.

H. H. Roath has caught about 8,000 pounds of smelts this season and has given most liberally to the poor of the city. He has now reeled in his nets, the season being over.

Now that the spelling matches are the rage it is suggested by a young man that kissing matches be held, the girl to hold out the longest to be awarded the prize.

The Norwich Croquet club has resumed practice and has flung out a challenge to any croquet club in the world for a match or series of matches.

Labor unions have been organized in Danielsonville and Jewett City, enrollment reported to be large.

Saturday, May 1, 1875—Hugh King of Preston has a Bramah hen which performed her little feat yesterday and seemed proud of it. She deposited an 8 by 7 inch egg, which when opened, was found to contain not only it's own yolk and shell, but also another egg, shell and all, which was as large as an ordinary sized egg.

Nash, Brewster & Co., has taken the contract to furnish the lumber for the new Catholic church on Broadway.

Capt. Whaley and the police department have been invited to go to Hartford on Inauguration day.

The first shad of the season were taken from the Shetucket by Bushnell Saturday.

The spelling match between the boys and girls of Bulkeley High, New London, resulted in victory for the boys much to the surprise of everyone. Six boys were up when the last girl went down and the match was finally won by Hempstead Prince.

COLUMBIA

Cecil L. Gates who has been residing in Hartford since last fall, was in town Wednesday, at his home by the lake.

A special meeting of Columbia Grange was held Wednesday evening at Yeomans Hall, when the recently elected members, Edna Edwards, Harrie Field, Juliette Hennegion, Theodore Ladd, Erwin S. Collins and Clinton M. Lewis, were given the third and fourth degrees, initiating them into full membership of the grange.

At the close of the meeting a supper was served in honor of the new members. It was provided by the Stouts, recently defeated in the competitive program between them and the Thins. Dancing closed a very pleasant evening.

WILLINGTON

The Crusaders are to hold a meeting this (Saturday) afternoon, and the Willing Workers will meet at the home of Emily Zemina at the Glass Factory.

Wilmer Bennett has returned to the state road department to work and is boarding with his aunt, Miss Jessie Bennett.

Miss Vernetta Colaman came Saturday from New York to spend a few days at her home, The Studio.

Miss Jennie Murphy of Stafford Springs spent the week end with Mrs. Hans Hansen.

Henry McRule started working for Howard Pratt Monday. Mr. Pratt will build a sleeping porch for Miss Frances Mersereau.

Ernest King and Joseph Binok, with two friends from South Manchester, were guests of Joseph Kollar Saturday. They attended the dance at Daleville, which was well patronized, with good music by a five-piece orchestra.

Mrs. Blanche McDonald, of Plainville was a guest at the Korner Lyon home over Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Burian and son of New York, have arrived at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pobuda, where they will spend the summer.

Sunday Miss Marie Lipps, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. George Lipps, her brother Ralph Lipps, and a friend, and Miss Inez Pierce of Providence, R. I. motored from West Hartford, where Miss Lipps is a teacher, and attended church.

Col. Earl D. Church of Hartford was a guest Tuesday of his sister, Miss Jennie Church.

Mrs. Ida Brown, Miss Helen Rollinson and Miss Catherine Ricketts were Hartford visitors Tuesday.

Sunday Mrs. Margaret Ryder of Waterbury with her niece and a friend were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Robbins.

Members of the Gardner family from Rockville and New Haven, with friends came to their home Three Gables Sunday, which has been closed during the winter. They attended church here.

Miss Mary Pelikan, of Hartford, spent Sunday at her home.

Miss Viola Sands has returned from Providence and is working in Parisek's button factory.

As Mrs. Joseph Kalbac was by her team at the side of the road near her house Monday night, she was struck by an automobile driven by Paul Brudar, who lives in Moose Meadow, breaking her shoulderblade and bruising her. She was taken to Johnson hospital, Stafford Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. George V. Smith, who have spent the winter in Tioga, Pa., will return next week to their home on Willington Hill.

It sometimes happens that a woman loves her enemies because they give her a chance to say such mean things about them.

SALEM

Mrs. Julia Spencer and Lou Lawrence were callers at Niantic and Lyme Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George K. Crandall of New London were callers on friends here Sunday.

Louis Chapman and family were at C. F. Jewett's in Lyme Sunday.

Richard Coolidge spent the week end at the Hulburt house.

A surprise was given Mr. and Mrs. John Hackett, Saturday evening in Grange Hall, it being their 37th wedding anniversary. Supper was served at 7:30 after which dancing was enjoyed. Friends from Hartford, Waterford, New London and Niantic were in attendance.

Miss Kellie Gray of Colchester visited friends here Sunday.

Mrs. Herbert Maynard, Mrs. Harry Moore and daughters were callers in New London Monday.

James Beebe and family of Orange were here Sunday.

ASHFORD

Makes Pumping Up Tires Unnecessary

Chicago, Ill.—F. C. Hughes of 4605 C. Hughes Bldg., 3512 Monroe, this city has perfected a new air tight valve cap that enables auto owners to pump up their tires once and never touch them again until punctured or worn out. Leading tire manufacturers, after thorough tests, have approved Mr. Hughes' invention and banished the old theory that air escapes through rubber. One inflation lasts the life of a tire and a tire mileage is doubled. Mr. Hughes wants agents and will send proof and a sample set of five at his own risk. Write him today.

The ladies prizes went as follows: First, Miss Nellie Garvie; second, Mrs. Andrew Frohmader, consolation, Miss Mary Nolan. The gentlemens' first prize went to Edward C. Murphy, the second to Robert Mitchell and the consolation to John Henry Murphy. Refreshments were served after the playing by a committee consisting of Miss Nora Murphy, chairman; Miss Zeena Cormier and Miss Agnes Murphy.

King George Vlade, chief of a tribe of gypsies that encamped at the Norwich fairgrounds two years ago, was in town Friday, drumming up business in the copper and nickelplating line. King George and his tribe wander all over the United States and Europe, plying their trade as coppersmiths. The king presented a very picturesque appearance in his gaily colored shirt and scarf, wearing a long white beard, and carrying a formidable looking walking stick. He stated that his tribe, consisting of 200 families, were in Brooklyn, N. Y., and that only six men were with him on this expedition. They were French gypsies, he said, but he was familiar with practically all the languages of the globe as he had traveled over most of it. French, German, Polish and Russian he spoke fluently. The king wore plenty of jewelry in the line of massive brooches and pins, and rings with highly colored stones.

SECURES SECOND DIVORCE FROM MAN SHE HAS MARRIED TWICE

Judge Edwin C. Dickenson in the superior court at New London Friday morning granted five divorces which were on the uncontested list.

Mary A. White of New London was granted her second divorce from Sheldon F. White of parts unknown on the grounds of intolerable cruelty. She was given the custody of one daughter, 18 years of age, who is a cripple.

The plaintiff told of receiving a divorce in New London in 1916 from the defendant. She stated that she had remarried him again in 1919. Her first marriage to him was 28 years ago. She alleged that he had assaulted her on several occasions since the second marriage and that he attempted to assault her daughter, offering the latter $5 if she would submit to his proposal. She stated that when she interferred, he struck her.

Myrtle DeWolf Passeler of New London, was granted a divorce from William T. Passeler of parts unknown on the grounds of intolerable cruelty since Feb. 1, 1924. She was given the custody of one child, William T., Jr. She was represented by Attorney Thomas E. Troland. She testified they were married March 21, 1922, at Portsmouth Va., that she was severely beaten time and again by her husband, whom she had tarrested by the police not long ago. She stated that the case was settled out of court but later he beat her again and Detective Sergeant John J. Cavanaugh was called to the house.

Dr. Hill F. Warren testified to having treated her on two occasions following alleged beatings.

George C. Hodges, of New London, was granted a divorce from Martha McKendrick Hodges on the grounds of desertion. They were married in Sept. 1913, and lived together about five months.

Louis George Holder of New London was granted a divorce from Susie Alston Holder on the grounds of desertion. They were married No. 25, 1918.

Mary P. Santacroce of New London was given a divorce from James Santacroce of New London on the grounds of desertion since July 24, 1920.

The divorce action of Beulah (Ennis) Jones of New London against Robert C. Jones went off the list. They were married on April 28, 1920, desertion being alleged since May 14, 1921.

WILL GIVE ADDRESS ON "THE STATUS OF BUSINESS"

At the 26th annual convention of the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce on the afternoon of Wednesday, May 6, at the Hotel Bond, L. G. Gottlieb, of the Research Staff of the National Industrial Conference Board, will speak on "The Status of Business."

Mr. Gottlieb will outline the major factors that influence business development and he will show the trend of these factors during recent months, illustrating his remarks by a series of graphic charts. He will then indicate the probable results of the recent trend of business and he will summarise the statements made at a recent meeting of the board of directors of the National Industrial Conference Board at New York. At this meeting a number of prominent business executives of various branches of American industry expressed their opinions as to the outlook for the remainder of 1925.

Among subjects of interest to Connecticut business men will be discussed on the afternoon of May 6 by E. P. Blanchard, Advertising Manager of the Bullard Machine Tool Company of Bridgeport. Mr. Blanchare will speak on "Forward New England," in which he will outline the progress of a new movement to place New England to the forefront economically. This movement is one of the results of the convention of the New England Advertising Clubs at Hartford last fall at which the convention slogan was "Forward New England." Mr. Blanchard is chairman of the cooperating committee for this movement.

Mr. Blanchard will outline some of the interesting developments that are already under way to make surveys of the business and industrial assets of New England for the purpose of developing an aggressive New England policy.

FORECLOSURE JUDGMENT IS GRANTED AGAINST SOLTZ CO.

Judgement of foreclosure by sale was granted the Savings Bank of New London against the Soltz Co. et al. of New London, for $47,534.27 by Judge Edwin C. Dickenson in the superior court at New London Friday.

The defense was disclosed in the case for defense disclosure or judgment of Chorumpa, administrator, vs. Tumicki.

The defense was disclosed in the case of Buzenski vs. Curtin, for defense disclosure or judgment.

The motion of Comstock vs. Johnson, et al, for amendment and modification of judgement was granted.

DINNER AND CARDS FOR WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Casey of 45 Division street, entertained with a dinner Thursday evening in honor of their 24th wedding anniversary, covers being laid for fourteen. In the center of the table rested a large wedding cake, with fancy icing in the form of "Twenty-Four" to denote the years. The house was prettily decorated with springflowers. A coincidence was the fact that two of the guests Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Barry were married 29 years ago the same day as Mr. and Mrs. Casey. Three tables of cards were enjoyed following the dinner. Both Mr. and Mrs. Barry and Mr. and Mrs. Casey were the recipients of many lovely gifts and cards.

SETTLEMENT REACHED IN RIGHT OF WAY CASE

Agreement having been reached and a stipulation drawn up for the settlement of the suit of William A. Graham and others vs. John G. Jannson and Hugo Johnson, all of Poquonoc, judgment for the pla t jsmifthiortur judgment for the plaintiffs without costs was directed by Judge Edwin C. Dickenson in the superior court at New London Friday.

The suit was brought over the use of a path over the Graham property and an injunction was asked for.

SHOWER GIFTS WERE PRESENTED IN MAY BASKET

A surprise miscellaneous shower was held Thursday evening by Miss Rose Matassa at her home in Norwich Town, in honor of Miss Olive Bishop, of Yantic, whose marriage to Wallace Bennett will take place in the near future. There were about fifteen guests. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess. Miss Bishop received a number of pretty and useful gifts which were presented in a May-basket.

MERCHANTS BANK'S NEW BUILDING IS READY

Invitations have been issued by the Merchants National Bank for the opening of its new banking house on the site of the old one at 72 Main street. The former building has been replaced by a completely modern structure. The invitations to inspect the new building are from 4 to 6 and from 7 to 9 p. m.

GASOLINE STATIONS MUST DISPLAY PRICE SIGNS

The state motor vehicle department has notified the managers of many gasoline stations that they are violating a state law in failing to post conspicuous signs showing the prices they charge for gasoline.

It is pointed out that the state law is specific on the subject, even to fixing the minimum size of the letters of the required signs which, according to the law, "shall be at least five inches high and four inches wide." The law says: "No person shall sell or offer for sale any gasoline or motor fuel product intended as a fuel for motor boats or motor vehicles without having displayed, where it may be readily seen by any person purchasing gasoline or other product, a sign upon which shall be stated the price per gallon of such gasoline or other product, which price shall include any and all taxes." There is no longer a state tax on gasoline bought at wholesale for use in motors, the tax on such gasoline having been repealed by the legislature in 1923.

The gasoline division of the motor vehicle department is keeping a close watch on the retail gasoline business. One of its duties under the statutes is to watch out for places where adulterated or inferior products are sold as gasoline. The department's duties in this respect have been increased by the growing competition in the retail gasoline business. The volume of business done in the gasoline division has almost doubled since the tax was imposed four years ago. The general subject of handling it involves the head of the section, three inspectors, five clerks and a big filing system. The legislature has been informed of the need of more space for this division and an additional appropriation for office help.

STORRS COLLEGE THIRD IN ENROLLMENT GAIN

A comparison of student enrollment in the land grant colleges in the country reveals that the Connecticut Agricultural college had the third largest increase in student enrollment in 1919-20, as compared with 1910-11, of any land grant college in the New England states. The Massachusetts institute of Technology, which had an increased enrollment of 1,572, is not included in this comparison. The figures are from the department of interior, bureau of education.

Connecticut Agricultural college enrollment which was 322 men and 123 women in 1910-11, had increased by 411 in 1919-20, when the enrollment was 496 men and 266 women.

The University of Vermont and Agricultural college reported the largest increase for such colleges in the New England states, 581, their enrollment increasing from 505 men and 97 women for the earlier comparative year to 680 men and 503 women in 1919-20.

The Massachusetts Agricultural college followed the Connecticut school, the enrollment in the Bay State school being 383 greater. The number fo men enrolled in 1910-11 was 642 and women 167, while in 1919-20, the numbers had increased to 941 and 210, respectively.

The Rhode Island's College enrollment was 181 men and 45 women in 1910-11, as compare with 287 and 58 respectively, the latter year, an increase of 95.

East Hampton, Portland-East Hampton road is under construction. Detour via the Swamp road.

Stafford and Union, Stafford-Union turnpike is under construction, road closed, fair detour.

Montville, Norwich-Hadlyme road is under construction. Detour posted over unimproved road.

Plainfield, Putnam-Norwich road, section is under construction, open to traffic.

Lyme-East Haddam, Norwich-Haylyme road, grading is being done. Detour over unimproved road around a section of the work.

NATIVE WHITES PREDOMINATE IN STATE'S POPULATION

Of the 1,380,631 persons enumerated by the federal census takers as living in Connecticut in 1920, 1,356,732 were classed as whites, 31,046 as negroes, 159 Indians, 646 Chinese, 107 Japanese, 9 Filipinos, 7 Hindus, 6 Siamese, 3 Koreans and one Malay. The last four races are included in the classification of "all others" in the federal census, and were not represented in the census figures of 1900 and 1910.

The native whites in the state in 1920 numbered 982,219, while those 648,304. Those of foreign parentage were 431,153 and mixed parentage 111,-946. Foreign born whites numbered born of native parentage numbered 276,513 of those classed as residing in Connecticut when the census was made.

The cities claimed a considerable part of the state's entire population as shown by the census reports. The urban population of the state was given as 936,326, and of these 918,991 were listed as whites, 16,655 as negroes, while all other races contributed 693 to the general total. The native whites were represented by 482,161 individuals, those of native parentage numbering 366702, foreign parentage 366,359, mixed parentage 75,793 And foreign born whites total 473,371.

Rural Sections Gained Again.

The rural sections of the state, or those so designated by Uncle Sam in his counting of noses of his great family, had a population in 1920 of 444,293, a gain of about 24,000 in twenty years as compared to the increase of 293,000 in the cities. Twin cities represented by 439,743 united, 4,243 progress, and 100 of all the other cities. Of the whites 218,401 were native born, 108,940 were of native parentage, 114,774 were of foreign parentage, 34,161 of mixed parentage, and 100,903 were foreign born.

In the total population of the state there were 688,995 males and 691,636 females. In 1910 of the state's population of 1,114,756 there were 543,403 males and 571,113 females, while in 1900 the population of 908,420 was divided in 454,364 males and 454,126 females. The 1920 figures indicated as shown in the federal figures that for every 100 females in the state there were 101.5 males as compared to 103.3 in 1910. In 1900 the figures were about even, the census men finding that for every 100 females in the state there were 100.0 males.

The ratio between males and females among the negro population was practically on par with the whites. In 1920 for every 100 colored females there were 101.3 males, in 1910 there were 102.3 and in 1900 100.1. The Indians showed a greater variance, there being 106.0 males in 1920 for every 100 females, 91.0 in 1910 and 90.8 in 1900. The ratio of men to women was not given in the other nationalities included in the federal census, the reason being the females numbered less than 100.

Pretty May baskets filled with candy were on sale at an attractively decorated table, with Mrs. Howarth Collins, Mrs. W. Manley Eastwood, Jr., Mrs. Frank L. Crowell and Mrs. William Douglas in charge.

CONTINUANCE IN CASE ON RECKLESS DRIVING CHARGE

Mrs. Albina Pavlik of 681 No. Main street, entered a plea of not guilty to a charge of reckless driving when her case came up in the city court Friday morning. Mrs. Pavlik was summoned to court by State Policeman Morse of the Groton Barracks, who claimed she was speeding through Norwich Town at about 40 miles an hour. He blew his whistle for her to stop but she kept on and he chased her machine, a Paige, from Norwich Town to Yantic before he caught up with her. It was claimed that she had been warned twice by State Policeman Albright but Mrs. Pavlik denied this.

The case was continued until Monday in order that State Policeman Albright might testify in the case as to whether he had warned Mrs. Pavlik.

SILVER WEDDING DAY WAS PLEASANTLY CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Suntheimer of Allyn place, celebrated their silver wedding anniversary Wednesday at their home. About one hundred guests assembled at their home and made merry until a late hour. A delicious supper was served at ten o'clock, and dancing and all kinds of games were enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Suntheimer were married in Philadelphia, on April 29, 1900, came here for their honeymoon, and then decided to stay. They have two sons, Leonard and Frank Jr., who live at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Suntheimer were recipients of many pieces of silver, including a beautiful set from several neighbors.

GAVE MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER FOR MISS ETHEL BROWN

A miscellaneous shower was given Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Abel of Fitchville, in recognition of the approaching marriage Saturday, May 16 of Miss Ethel Brown and Theodore Abel. There were about 30 present. During the evening Mrs. Abel, assisted by Mrs. Harold Winchester, served refreshments. Those present enjoyed a radio concert.

NEW LONDON'S BAD LUCK WITH RESERVOIR TREES

Only ten out of 1,761 pine trees that were set out on the watershed on Lake Konomoc, the New London reservoir, have survived the winter. The trees were secured in Maine at a cost of 50 cents apiece, $446.50 for the lot, but they did not take kindly to the change of climate.

MOTHER'S DAY WILL BE OBSERVED ON MAY 10

Sunday, May 10, is this year designated as Mother's Day. This will be the 13th year of official observance, the second Sunday in May having been set aside as Mother's Day by an act of Congress signed in 1914 by Woodrow Wilson. In its provision was made for display of flags on public buildings, as well as the expression of individual tribute to motherhood.

That the idea was a welcome one has been proved by the rapid growth of ceremonies in connection with the day. Church services on Mother's Day are now almost universally arranged with the day in mind, and other customs of the day are springing up. A white carnation is the accepted flower to be worn in memory of one's mother, and the sending to mothers of specially designed greeting cards noting the day is another simple method of expressing appreciation which has met with approval.

The actual origin of the movement which led to setting aside Mother's Day is not generally known, hence seems worthy of attention in view of the increasing observation of it. Investigation shows that Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia in 1906 made the first step toward Mother's Day when she asked that the church in the little Virginia town where her mother had been a leading spirit, hold a service in her memory. A little later the Philadelphia churches are found to have been generally observing one Sunday in May as Mother's Day, and the plan grew to culmination in National legislation.

Various English customs act as a precedent for the idea of Mother's Day. In the days when young men and girls were bound out as apprentices or maids, the fourth Sunday in Lent was set aside as a day when they might return to their parents. Still earlier, the idea is found in Rome when on the same fourth Sunday, gifts were annually brought to the Mother church. Even the pagans had their idealization of motherhood, expressed in the worship of a super-goddess known as Rhea, the great mother of the gods.

PYTHIAN SISTERS MET IN DISTRICT CONVENTION

(Special to The Bulletin)

Willimantic, May 1.—The annual District convention of Pythian Sisters was held Friday in Willimantic in Odd Fellows' hall, Purinton Temple entertaining. The afternoon session opening at 2.30 was excellently carried out as a school of instruction under the direction of District Deputy Lottie Gilman. Dinner was served at 6.30 to over 100 members and guests. Decorations in lavendar and yellow in charge of Mrs. William Congdon were very attractive.

Representatives were present from Goss Temple, New London, Clover Temple, No. 9, Norwich, Hattie Jackson of Colchester, Woodbridge Temple, No. 37 of Salem, Pequot Temple, No. 24, Mystic. There were also visitors from Rockville, Hartford, Pawcatuck, Norwich, Middletown, Thompsonville, Meriden and Westerly.

A regular meeting with initiation followed at 8. The floor work was exemplified in a fine manner under Mrs. Gilman's direction. In the drill the letters of the name of Mrs. Lena Gates, grand chief of Purinton Temple were formed. She was presented a gold ring bearing the insignia of the Pythian Sisters.

MAY PARTY FOLLOWED D. OF A. BUSINESS MEETING

Goodyear III Landed at Reform, Ala., Outstripping the St. Joseph, Piloted by Capt. Honeywell, by About 40 Miles —Pilot Balloon in Charge of Major Maurice Smith Covered Third Best Distance—Honeywell Denies He Delayed Start of Race Claiming He Started Within Stipulated Time Limit.

St. Joseph Mo., May 3—(By the A. P.)—W. T. van Orman piloting the Goodyear III, covered the greatest distance in the national elimination balloon race, which ended today when the last two bags came to earth.

Van Orman landed at Reform, Ala., outstripping the veteran, Captain H. E. Honeywell, by about 40 miles. Captain Honeywell brought the "St. Joseph" down at Aberdeen, Miss., at 1 o'clock this morning.

Van Orman and Captain Honeywell were the only contestants to remain in the air until today.

In a message to the Associated Press reporting his landing Van Orman estimated the distance he covered at 580 miles. A rough measurement by map showed the distance to be approximately 600 miles.

The race started late Friday.

Captain Honeywell was disqualified by Referee A. B. Lambert for delaying his start, but action on the decision had not been announced tonight by the local contest committee. Herbert V. Thaden, another pilot also was disqualified on the same grounds.

C. K. Wellam rode in the basket of the Goodyear III as aide and Harry Preston was aide to Captain Honeywell.

The pilot balloon in charge of Major Maurice Smith of Kansas City, covered the third best distance, landing at Crenshaw, Miss., early Saturday night. Major Smith was ruled out as a contestant as his small bag was inflated entirely with hydrogen gas, unlike the other balloons which were filled with a hydrogen and water gas Thaden piloting the Detroit, covered only 135 miles, being forced down near Selma, Kansas, at 3:30 a. m., Saturday because of leaks in the bag.

The 3-14, an Army entry, piloted by Lieutenant William J. Flood, came down Saturday afternoon near Batesville, Ark., a distance of about 350 miles.

The race carried a cash prize of $1,000 for the winner, the Litchfield trophy and the right to represent the United States in the international balloon race.

For second place a cash prize of $500 was offered, third place $400 and the fourth $300. Each pilot competing received a bonus of $100.

DENIES HE DELAYED START OF RACE

Aberdeen, Miss., May 3—Captain H. E. Honeywell, who landed near here at 1:10 a. m. today, in the balloon St. Joseph, denied that he had delayed the start of the national elimination race at St. Joseph, Mo., Friday afternoon for which he has been disqualified. He claimed he started within the stipulated time limit.

"The reason I delayed filling my balloon with gas," said Captain Honeywell, in a statement to the Associated Press, "was that the high wind which was blowing had already ripped an army balloon to pieces, and I did not want mine destroyed."

"I have participated in 21 races and four international races," continued Honeywell's statement. "But I have never before heard of a pilot being disqualified for delaying a race in which he started within the set time limit."

BOND PRICES NEAR YEAR'S HIGHEST LEVEL

New York, May 2.—(By The A. P.)—Bond prices last week worked close to the year's highest levels in a steady progressive movement led by the rail-road issues. Apprehension over the outcome of the German election caused a brief interruption but failed to stem the rising tide of prices. Fears of unfavorable developments in the foreign situation were quickly forgotten in the enthusiasm over Great Britain's return to the gold standard and sterling's steady march toward par.

Wall street's initial reaction to the election of Von Hindenburg as president of Germany was found in heavy selling of German, French and other European bonds. German republic and industrial obligations broke to new low records and another sinking spell in French bonds reflected the nervousness of investors over the effect of the election on foreign relations. This anxiety was allayed somewhat later by reassuring statements from bankers, and the bonds recovered.

The new result of Hindenburg's victory, investment bankers agreed, will be to retard negotiations for further German loans and credits. The American financial powers generally were inclined to await the new president's declaration of policies before passing judgment and apparently entertained no fears that he would depart from Germany's present policy and financial programme. Firm support for the Dawes plan, is was held, would do much to win for Germany the continued financial assistance of America.

Great Britain's re-establishment of a gold basis, safeguarded by an American credit of $200,000,000, was hailed in financial quarters as a great constructive step, second only to the Dawes plan in its possibilities of restoring the world's economic equilibrium. Its immediate effects on the bond market were indirect, but confidence in the general foreign situation was unquestionably strengthened. Eventually Great Britain may become more of a factor in the flotation of foreign loans, but American bankers are not worrying over any prospective loss of business. The credits established here by the federal reserve bank and J. P. Morgan & Co., will not involve public offerings.

MANY APPLICANTS FOR CIVILIAN TRAINING CAMPS

Washington, May 3—With the opening of the civilian military training camps this summer still more than two months ahead, applications for admission already aggregated about 60 per cent. of the number that can be received for training within the limit of funds provided by congress for the work. More than one-third of the 35,000 youngsters who will attend the camps have already been accepted.

Figures from all corps areas up to April 30, showed a total of 20,321 applications received this year, as compared to 20,267 on the same date last year. The fifth corps area, covering Ohio, West Virginia, Indiana and Kentucky, led with 5,165 applications, or 36.1 per cent. of its quota of 6,000 who can be trained. A year ago the April 30 figure in the fifth corps area was 2,859 applications received.

OBITUARY

Charles Foster Kent

New Haven, May 3—Charles Foster Kent, 57 years old, professor of Semitic languages and Biblical literature at Yale university, died at his home here today. Professor Kent, who had been connected with the faculty at Yale since 1901, had been ill for several months and was granted a leave of absence during the first term at Yale last fall.

KILLED IN ATTEMPT TO HALT FAMILY ROW

Waterbury, May 3.—The funeral of Patrolman William J. Stokes, shot to death yesterday noon in a Brooklyn tenement where he attempted to halt a family row, will be held at 9:30 o'clock Wednesday morning from the home, 336 Willow street, to St. Margaret's church. Burial will be in new St. Joseph's cemetery.

Officer Stokes is survived by his young bride, whom he married last Thanksgiving day, by his father Thomas, two sisters, Mrs. Mary Gegan and Miss Katherine Stokes and one brother, Thomas.

Mrs. Stokes, formerly Miss Mary O'Rourke, is in a critical condition as the result of her husband's death. A doctor and a nurse are attending her at present and it is feared that the shock of the murder will have serious consequence for her. She fainted at the hospital four times yesterday and is in a state of almost complete nervous breakdown.

Meanwhile Deputy Coroner Theobald E. Conway is continuing the investigation of the murder. Ernest J. Bercier, 27, who is said to have fired the fatal shot when he wrested Officer Stokes' revolver from him in a struggle in the Bercier apartment, 827 Bank street, is held at the police station on a charge of murder. The members of the family, particularly his wife, Georgette St. Cyr Bercier, and his brother, Archie Bercier, have been examined by the coroner and members of the detective bureau in the building up of the state's case against the alleged slayer. Deputy Coroner Conday held an examination today at police headquarters, questioning four or five witnesses.

O'MEARA APPEALS FOR RESPECT OF AUTHORITY

New Haven, May 3.—Patrick F. O'Meara, president of the Connecticut Federation of Labor, speaking at the 25th anniversary banquet of the Journeymen Barbers' Union here today, made an appeal to the 300 present to do all things possible for the best interest of the land in which they live.

The reasons are many why the people are not in accord today," he said. "If big business desires anything in the form of new transportation lines, new electro plants, new water sheds, new grants for use of streets and highways and in the attempt to gain them they find that there are laws on the books that would hinder in the work, they simply send their legal staff to the state legislatures, and have laws made permitting it. In many instances the proper notices of hearing are not announced. It is instances like these that have gotten the people irritable, and they will not respect authority when anything is put over on them.

CHURCHILL MAY ABANDON PROPOSED SILK DUTIES

London, May 3—Somewhat persistent rumors are current that Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, will abandon the proposed duties on silk owing to the strong opposition with which such proposal has been met from the trade.

Mr. Churchill was formerly a convinced free trader, and gossip in some quarters attributes to him a design to show to persistent protectionists of his new party, by proposing this duty in the budget, that in the existing state of public opinion it is useless to attempt to introduce protectionist duties.

There is nothing, however, authentic to substantiate this rumor.

TRACE SEVERE QUAKE TO SOUTHERN PACIFIC

New York, May 3—The seismograph at Fordham university recorded severe earth tremors for a period of almost two hours this afternoon. It was estimated that the quake occurred in the southern Pacific, about 7,700 miles from here.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Sharks Destroy Sardine Schools.

Ferrol, Spain, May 3.—The Spanish government has assigned several warships to patrol the coasts and shoot at sight all sharks, which are responsible for great destruction of sardine schools.

Princess Royal Has Restless Day

London, May 3—The Princess Royal, sister of King George, who is suffering from a severe gastric affection, passed a somewhat restless day. The bulletin issued by the attending physicians tonight, however, reported that she "continues to make progress."

Demonstration For Wales

Capetown, South Africa, May 3—The private dinner given the Prince of Wales in parliament building Saturday night not only was the occasion for a demonstration of enthusiastic loyalty but is being hailed as a historic success owing to the prince's tact and diplomacy. Many nationalist members of parliament declared today it had brought a new era to South Africa.

CHARGES MONOPOLY IN ELECTRIC BULB TRADE

Washington, May 3—A charge that the department of Justice has failed to institute and prosecute proper criminal proceedings against the General Electric company, to determine whether it has been engaged in an unlawful combination and monopoly in restraint of trade in the manufacture and distribution of electric light bulbs is made in a statement issued here today by Basil M. Manly, director of the people's legislative service.

"I am familiar with the general conditions surrounding the manipulation of the General Electric company case by the department of justice," said Mr. Manly. "I intend, however, to press my investigation further to determine what relations have overshadowing influence in the present administration possessed by Mr. Dwight Morrow, of the firm of J. P. Morgan and company and a director of General Electric company has had to the suppression of the most important charges against the so called "electric trust.' Mr. Morrow has been one of the most frequent participants in the Mayflower voyages.

"I intend also to inquire into the extraordinary radio facilities placed at the disposal of the present administration by the General Electric company without compensation."

Mr. Manly made public two letters written by Samuel Untermyer, New York attorney. One letter was directed to him urging that all the facilities of the people's legislative service be marshalled to collect evidence "on which to place this miscarriage of justice before the next congress to the end of bringing about an investigation that will uncover the facts and force a legitimate prosecution of these powerful offenders."

The other letter of Mr. Untermyer, addressed to Owen D. Young, chairman of the General Electric company's board of directors, declared that Mr. Young had sent a letter to stockholders in which he sought to make it appear that the company had been "vindicated" by a court decision of charges made against it by the Lockwood investigating committee of the New York legislature.

"It is not the fact," Mr. Untermyer said in his letter to Mr. Young, "that those charged have been disproved by the decision in the case referred to by you, or that they have even been denied, or that your company has ever sought to disprove them. The government has, on the contrary, studiously evaded bringing suit upon the most serious of such charges and has by its tortuous course of conduct prompted your company to continue in the unlawful exercise and enjoyment of this monopoly to the great cost and injury of the public and to the disgrace of the administration of justice notwithstanding the persistent but as yet unavailing efforts of the committee and its counsel to bring your company to the bar of justice upon these charges."

MOROCCANS PREPARE TO ATTACK SPANISH LINE

Tetuan, Spanish Morocco, May 3—(By the A. P.)—Abd-el-Krim is reaching Tetuan from the interior is to the effect that Abd-el-Krim the Moroccan leader, is preparing a great offensive against the French zone of influence. He is said to have mobilized his Riffian forces at Yebala and the greater part of the Gamaras at Beni Zerual.

The forces comprise all the men under the command of Abd-el-Krim, with the exception of the tribesmen along the Spanish front. The latter forces will, it is asserted, attack the Spanish line in order to keep the Spaniards busy and prevent any movement to get in the rear of the tribesmen and thus put them between the Spanish and French troops.

Abd-el-Krim's objective is Fez, the capital. He is expected to try to fight his way thither by way of the Uarga Valley. His general headquarters is at Beni Zerual. The chieftain, it is said, believes his enterprise will be easily accomplished.

Great preparations have been made by the tribesmen for their offensive. They are declared to have made much progress in recruiting during the Ramadan feast in all the native villages, especially in the French zone.

A despatch from Fez on Saturday said the Moroccan tribesmen operating under Abd-el-Krim were attacking the French zone in Morocco over a front of sixty miles.

KLANSMEN STONED BY MOB AT BERLIN, MASS.

Berlin, Mass., May 3—A clash between Ku Klux Klansmen and anti-Klan sympathizers occurred at Brewers' field today when 300 members of the order, including a scattering of women and children, were stoned by a mob of 100 young men as their meeting broke up. Stones flew from both sides, but no injuries were reported. The crowd was dispersed by Police Chief Walter Cole of Berlin and two state policemen. An attempt to tip over a Klan automobile was said to have precipatated the riot.

BODY OF MAN FOUND IN LAKE

Meriden, May 3.—The drowned body of Michael Russell, 50, was found early today near the old Waterbury railroad trestle on the west side of Hanover lake.

Rolf, a German police dog owned by Joseph Cantwell of West Main street, discovered the body lying in the water. The man is thought to have fallen from the trestle. Cause of death was given as accidental drowning by the medical examiner.

Los Angeles Starts For Porto Rico

Weather Conditions Ideal As Dirigible Left Mooring at Lakehurst and Headed Seaward.

Lakehurst, N. J., May 3—The dirigible Los Angeles which recently completed successfully a trial trip to Bermuda, left here to undertake the more severe test of a flight to Porto Rico.

Weather conditions were ideal as the ship took off from its mooring mast at 11 o'clock. Quickly rising to an altitude of 2,500 feet, the dirigible swayed and dipped for a moment upon encountering rough air currents but soon straightened out headed seaward to the southeast and was lost to view.

Under the command of Captain Geo. W. Steele, the Los Angeles carried 36 men—two officers from its mooring ship, the Patoka, and a news photographer in addition to a crew of 33.

MAKING SPEED OF 50 KNOTS AN HOUR

Orlando, Fla., May 3.—A radiogram received here tonight by William Justice Lee, lieutenant P. S. N. R. F., from the naval radio station and Key West, said the dirigible Los Angeles passed over Barnegat, N. J., at 1.03 p. m, en route to Turks Island, Porto Rico

The dirigible was traveling at a speed of fifty knots the message said and estimates of distance and speed placed the dirigible in the neighborhood of Jacksonville tonight.

MAY INCLUDE CHINA IN "FORBIDDEN ZONE"

Geneva, May 3.—(By The A. P.)—Whether an attempt will be made to cast China into the so-called "forbidden zone," where the importation of arms is prohibited, is one of the questions before the delegates assembling for the international conference on the control of the trade in arms and munitions, which begins tomorrow.

This zone problem is one of the most delicate before the conference. Already both Persia and Abyssinia have protested to the council against being marshalled into the prohibited arms area and against any regulation making it impossible for them to obtain sufficient arms for their own needs. The Geneva conference does not aim directly at the reduction of armaments, it seeks to reduce the arms traffic to a minimum by subjecting it to government control through a system of licenses. Another aim is to check illicit traffic, league statistics showing that vast quantities of arms have been exported from manufacturing countries or destinations, no record of which exists.

One admitted danger in drafting a convention is that of going to extremes and forcing non-manufacturing countries into manufacturing.

DENY ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP ROYAL PALACE

Sofia, May 3—Further investigations today of the report of a plot to blow up the royal palace adduced the following statement from a quarter that may be accepted as reliable.

Immediately after the recent bomb outrage in the cathedral here many wild rumors concerning the mining of the palace and of the ministerial building gained currency. A strict investigation was made of the personnel of the palace staff and three or four persons were arrested but later liberated.

The story of the discovery of a subterranean passage under the palace was false. A canal, or rather a drain, exists there and an investigation was made to ascertain whether it might be used by persons seeking to blow up the palace. It was found to be too narrow for a human being to enter it.

Since the recent happenings in Sofia extra precautions have been taken for the safety of the king, but official quarters definitely and categorically deny the discovery of any attempt to blow up any of the royal residences.

AIR-COOLED AIRPLANE MOTOR PROVES SUCCESS

Washington, May 3—An air-cooled airplane engine of 40 p. c., less weight than the Liberty motor, built for the navy, has given a satisfactory performance in a test flight with a navy torpedo plant from Paterson, N. J., to Washington.

The engine, which is the largest air-cooled airplane motor that has been produced in this country, was built by the Wright Aeronautical corporation at Patterson. In tests the plane equipped with it climbed at a rate of 1,000 feet a minute, took off with a very short run in eight seconds, and landed under control with a greatly reduced landing speed. It covered the 330 miles from Paterson to Washington in one hour and fifty minutes, a remarkable fast time for a heavy duty plane.

The engine is of 450 horse power and has been named the "Cyclone." Whereas the weight of the Liberty installation involves 0.3 pounds per horse power, that of the Cyclone involves but 2 pounds. Elimination of the water cooling system is regarded as of high importance from a military standpoint, as it makes the plane less vulnerable to attack.

TO BURY REMAINS OF MURDERED GIRL

Chicago, May 3.—Burial of the mutilated body of a girl found near Chesterton, Ind., a week ago, will be held tomorrow, Sergeant James Connolly of the Gary, Ind., police force said today.

Another possibility as to the girl's identity was advanced today, but like previous ones, came to nothing when descriptions of a Miss Nadia Dorothy Bing, Indianapolis, given by Mrs. Hazel Walker, a sister, failed to tally with the characteristics of the charred and dismembered torso lying in a Gary morgue.

SERIOUSLY HURT WHEN HIT BY BASEBALL

Bailey's right eye is also in a serious condition and his face was lacerated. He is at the Bridgeport hospital where it was said tonight that his condition is not critical.

Three Rescued From Submerged Auto

Millville Man Dove Twenty-Five Feet Into River and Pulled Women From Capsized Machine.

Blackstone, Mass., May—Diving twenty-five feet into the Blackstone river, Robert Atkinson of Millville rescued three women from beneath a capsized automobile here today and then dived fifteen times from the bank for a fourth person falsely reported imprisoned. One of the women suffered slight cuts.

The automobile, driven by Henry A. Tisdall, Jr., of Worcester, had locked wheels with another ahead of it while about to pass over Staples bridge. Both cars crashed through the low railing, rolling down a 25 foot embankment and capsized in ten feet of water. Joseph Ryzyss, of Blackstone, driver of the forward automobile, escaped with his two companions, Louis Kycks and Herbert Aldrick. Tisdall and his father also saved themselves.

Atkinson was approaching in a third car and saw the accident. He ran to the bridge rail, dived and then pulled Tisdall's mother and Emma and Cecila Jaboury, twin sisters, of Worcester, from the automobile. Cecila Jaboury sustained cuts on the head and one knee. The other women suffered only from shock. Atkinson was exhausted after his rescue work but was revived by two physicians.

GOLD MARKET MAY RESTORE ECONOMIC STABILITY

New York, May 3—(By the A. P.)—Re-establishment of a free gold market in London, with the protection of a $300,000,000 American credit, overshadowed all other development in the business and financial world last week.

Hailed as a step second only to the Dawes plan in its possibility of restoring economic stability throughout the world, Great Britain's return to the gold standard is expected to prove of incalculable benefit to international trade. American exporters, bankers held, were certain to derive great advantages, and since agricultural products form a large portion of our exports to Europe, the farmer eventually is expected to share in this prosperity.

Immediate effects of the gold resumption policy, which extended at the same time to Holland and the British colonies are of course, not discernible, aside from sterling's steady march toward a gold parity basis and a moderate export movement of gold from London. The step was considered too broad to obtain a quick and decisive interpretation in the securities markets, but renewed confidence in the general world outlook reflected the feeling that it would exert a permanently helpful effect.

The favorable developments in Great Britain counteracted the first wave of apprehension which swept over the financial markets following the unexpected election of Field Marshal von Hindenburg to the presidency of the German republic. This action created an unfavorable public impression but reassuring statements from high government officials and bankers did much to dispel the first feeling of uneasiness. Germany, it was believed, would continue of function politically and financially under the provisions of the Dawes plan, without any change in trade relations with the United States.

NINE DROWN WHEN CRAFT OVERTURNED

Detroit, May 3—The body of William G. Stackkford, Sandsky, Ohio, captain of the Sandsucker Kelley Island which overturned and drowned nine men yesterday off Point Pelee, was recovered today by life savers and fishermen, battling a rough sea which threatened to break up the ill-fated craft.

Captain Stackford had remained in the deckhouse as the ship sank, it was indicated by severe gashes on his body caused by the deckhouse bars as he was hurled against them.

The seven survivors were taken to Sandusky early today. The Kelly Island, had almost completed gathering its load of sand when Captain Stackford started to return to Sandusky. Two waves broke over it as the sand hose was withdrawn, the water mashing through the aperture and filling the hold, causing the cargo to shift. Most of the trapped men were in the sleeping quarters.

MUST CEASE ALLEGED UNFAIR BUSINESS PRACTICES

Washington, May 3—An order requiring Dings and Shuster of Long Island City, New York, Baer Bros., of Stamford, Conn., and New York City, and the De Goyler Varnish Works of Troy, N. Y., to discontinue certain alleged unfair business practices, was made public tonight by the federal trade commission.

AUTOS CAUSED 19,000 DEATHS IN UNITED STATES IN 1924

Nearly Half A Million Persons Injured by Machines in The Country Last Year—Statistics Made Public by National Bureau of Casuality and Surety Underwriters Show An Average of 52 Persons Killed and 5,650 Injured Daily —Bureau Finds Signs of Encouragement in A Pronounced Fall in Rate of Increase of Accidents.

New York, May 3—Automobiles caused 19,000 deaths and injuries to 450,000 persons in the United States in 1924, statistics made public by the national bureau of casualty and surety underwriters revealed today. This represents a daily average of 52 dead and 5,650 injured.

Notwithstanding the death total, the largest ever reported, the bureau found signs for encouragement in a pronounced fall in the rate of increase of accidents. The increase in the number of deaths in 1923 over figures for 1922 was 20 per cent., while the increase in 1924 over the preceding year was only 4 per cent. This reduction in the rate of increase was attributed to organized campaigns to reduce accidents.

Grade crossing accidents took a toll of 1,688 deaths, a decrease of 21 from the 1923 total.

Since 1908 the death rate due to motor car accidents has increased steadily until today automobiles cause more deaths than all other vehicles, including trains and street cars, combined. There are now 17,500,000 cars registered in the United States.

BISHOP LAWRENCE ORDAINS OWN SON AS PRIEST

Worcester, Mass., May 3—An unusual Episcopal ceremony took place at All Saints Church today when Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, bishop of the Massachusetts diocese, ordained as a priest his own son Rev. Frederick Lawrence, a curate at the church. The son was presented for the ceremony by his brother, Rev. Bishop Lawrence, who recently transferred the actual administration of his office to Bishop Coadjutor Dr. Charles L. Slattery after 32 years service, was one of the first to congratulate his son after the ceremony.

Rev. David T. Eaton, a classmate of the son at the Cambridge Theological school and a curate at All Saints, was also ordained a priest by Bishop Lawrence, at the same impressive ceremony. Bishop Lawrence, young in appearance, despite his 75 years and bearing a most striking resemblance to the son who is on the threshold of his clerical career, preached the sermon and was the celebrant of the holy communion service that followed, and at which a large number of clergymen were present.

WILL RESUME PROBE INTO OIL LEASES

Washington, May 3.—Plans for reopening investigations of alleged criminal phases of the leasing of naval oil reserves were seen tonight in the summoning of a panel from which selection will begin tomorrow of an extra grand jury.

Atlee Pomerene and Owen J. Roberts, special government counsel in the oil cases, are expected to appear before the new grand jury late in the week.

Indictments returned last June making criminal charges against Albert B. Fall, former interior secretary; Harry F. Sinclair, Edward L. Doheny and his son, Edward L. Doheny, Jr., oil operators, were dismissed a month ago by the district supreme court. The dismissal was based on the presence in the grand jury room of an assistant to the attorney general.

A special grand jury, which last month was given additional evidence by the government counsel, adjourned without taking action.

CHATTERTON ILL AT HOME IN VERMONT

Granville, Vt., May 3—Walter Chatterton, father of Lucille, charged with whose kidnaping earl Woodward is now being held in the Addison county jail, has been ill at his home for two days. Dr. W. N. Huntington of Rochester, who was called yesterday, said today that Chatterton had suffered a re-current attack of epilepsy, to which he had been subject since childhood. The physician said while the attack was more severe than usual, because of the strain which Chatterton had undergone during the week's hunt for his daughter, his patient was in no danger. Dr. Huntington visited him again today and found his condition improved.

LEFT FIVE DOLLARS EACH FOR DEATH HOUSE INMATES

Ossining, N. Y., May 3—In wills made a short time before they went to the electric chair at Sing Sing prison Thursday night, Joseph Diamond and John Farina, each left five dollars to be used to buy cigars and cigarettes for poor and friendless inmates of the death house, prison attaches announced tonight.

The five dollars given by Farina to the men sentenced to follow him to the electric chair was all the money he had at the prison. Joseph Diamond had ten dollars, half of which was left to relatives. Morris Diamond, the third man executed Thursday for the murder of two Brooklyn bank messengers, had no property at the prison.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS HELD IN FRANCE

Paris, May 3—Municipal elections were held throughout France today. The military and police arrangements for May Day were kept in force, which meant that 16,000 men were on duty. No disturbances have been reported either in Paris or in the provinces.

The women took the opportunity to make a demonstration by nominating candidates in every ward in Paris, and the communists headed all their suburban lists with a woman's name.

First returns were unfavorable to the communists, who lost seats in the Paris suburbs.

CATTLE INDUSTRY MOVES TOWARD PROSPERITY

Washington, May 3—The beef cattle industry of the United States seems at last definitely moving toward prosperity, the department of agriculture announced today in a review of the situation.

Prices of beef cattle, the department pointed out, have advanced in spite of increased slaughtering, reflecting an increased demand. Reduced hog marketing has also resulted in a broader market for beef.

HINDENBURG ELECTION EFFECTS FINANCIAL MARKETS

New York, May 4—Foreign political and economic developments were the chief centers of financial interest this week. The election of field marshal von Hindenburg as president of the German republic cast a damper on the financial markets Monday by the announcement on Tuesday of Great Britain's decision to restore the gold standard revived confidence and was widely hailed as one of the most far-reaching events since the armistice. Its immediate effect was to send sterling above $4.84 to the highest quotation in ten years and to stimulate activity in British bonds, which mounted to new high levels for the year.

Stock prices fluctuated within a narrow trading area during the greater part the week, but showed indications of breaking out on the up side in the impressive buying demonstrations staged in the closing days of the week. Business in still regarded as "spotty" but there is an almost general opinion that the recession has not been as pronounced as that of last spring. The establishment of a new high record in New York and Chicago bank clearings on Friday testified to the huge turnover in funds. Bond prices strengthened in reflection of easier money rates.

Wheat prices showed a substantial gain on the week, but the trend of most other commodity prices was downward, raw and refining sugar selling at the lowest quotation of the year.

OVER 600 MOOSE GATHER AT GREENWICH

Greenwich, May 3—The Legion convention of H. D. Davis legion number 8, Loyal Order of Moose convened here today with more than 600 delegates from New York and Connecticut in attendance.

The degree team of Lodge number 13, New York, worked the second degree with 150 candidates. At a banquet held this evening in Red Men's hall, Percy H. Shainer, a New York attorney, Grand North Moose and Dictator of Lodge number 13, of New York, was the principal speaker. Dictator William June and Secretary Charles L. Benson, of Greenwich were also speakers, and were in charge of arrangements for the convention. Dictator Charles Denis of Bridgeport was also prominent in the day's activities.

The Ladies' Auxiliary from various lodges were well represented, at the convention, and plans are now under way for the organizing of a Ladies' Auxiliary of the Greenwich lodge.

WATERBURY COUPLE KILLED NEAR SAVONA, ITALY

Nice, France, May 3—Details of the accident in which Howard S. White of Waterbury, Conn., Mrs. White and their chauffeur, Joseph Oliva, were killed near Savona, Italy, Saturday, were received here today.

Mr. and Mrs. White left Genoa Saturday morning for Nice. The automobile was following the highway paralleling the railway and Oliva was driving at a high speed. When the machine reached the railroad grade crossing he did not see an approaching express train, traveling at the rate of forty miles an hour, and started to cross the track.

When the train struck the automobile, Mr. and Mrs. White were thrown down the track some fifty yards. Both were instantly killed. Oliva was picked up alive, but died a few hours later.

A letter of credit on a New York bank for $2,500, 850 lire in cash, signed checks for 4,500 lire and a pearl necklace and other jewelry were found on the bodies.

THREW FURNITURE OUT OF HOTEL WINDOW

New York, May 3—Charged with having thrown furniture about a room in the Hotel Biltmore, Joshua Cosden, 19-year-old son of J. S. Cosden, oil man and sportsman, was arraigned in Yorkville court this morning with a companion, Thomas Maclary, 17, who said he lived at 92 Fifth avenue held in default of $500 bail each, they were taken to the Tombs for a hearing Thursday.

When they appeared in court before Magistrate Edward Weil, Cosden is said to have rejected offers of his father's attorney for bail. His father said over the telephone from his Long Island home this afternoon that he supposed bail had already been furnished by his attorney, and that it certainly would be.

POLICE CALLED TO HANDLE N. Y. CROWD

New York, May 3.—Two hundred police were called out today to handle a crowd of 10,000 men and women who jammed the streets around Madison Square Garden after 15,000 others had crowded into the building to hear Eugene V. Debs and others speak at the opening of the Women's Circle National convention.

In the rear of the garden police had difficulty in making a line through the crowd for a group of children who paraded at the convention hall. The crowd was demonstrative but orderly.

WILLIMANTIC

The initial spot finder of a new Ford touring car owned and operated by Charles F. Spooner, of South Windham, was demonstrated, at 4:15 o'clock Sunday afternoon, opposite the junction of Jackson street and Main streets, in a rear-end collision with a Cadillac touring car owned by Adelard Monast of 241 Valley street, this city and driven by Arthur Cagne, also of Willimantic. Motrax claimed that the larger car which he was following down Main street suddenly stopped without a warning. Cagne and Monast alleged that their machine was halted for several minutes when it was struck by the Ford. The Cadillac was undamaged. Officer Arthur Hurley notified both owners to appear in police court this (Monday) morning to settle their differences.

The observance of Boys' Week in Willimantic came to a fitting close Saturday, with a program which appealed to the physical in the youths. A very good parade ushered in activities early in the afternoon. Hundreds of boys marched to music by St. Joseph's Boy Scouts' Band and the E. F. O. E. Band. Jeremiah McCarthy was marshal. Upon arriving at Recreation Park the youngsters were taken over by the Junior Olympic athletic committee, headed by John O'Rourke. The events were run off as scheduled and occasioned much delight to the young olympians. Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Valentine L. Murphy.

Following is the list of events and the winners: 50 Meter Dash—Class A—First, Howard Sandstrom, 9 1-5 seconds; second, Sidney Mills; third, Samuel Axelrod. Class B—First, Leon Lavigne, 6 seconds; second, John Lucas; third, Calvin Macomber. Running Broad Jump. Class A—First, William Shea, 12 feet, 4 inches; second, Lawrence Monroe; third, Edward Kelleher. Class B—First, Roland Bonin, 12 feet 10 inches; second, Leon Lavigne; third, Arthur Meikle. Baseball Throwing. Class A—First, Everett Greene, second, Henry Wojcik; third, Alfred Saba. Class B—Vincent Sadowski, Kalib Talage, Leon Lavigne, Chinning the Bar. Class A—Vincenzo Luciani, Alfred Saba, Louis Axelrod. Class B—Max Rosen, Calvin Macomber, Joseph Patrick. The two feature events of the day were the championship baseball tournament and the half mile relay race which was won by the Natchaug School runners, the honors being brought in by the star performer of the day, Leon Lavigne. Those participating were: St. Joseph's School—Stanley Sawyer, Walter Lignar, John Nassin, Albert Olszewski. Natchaug School—H. Farrar, Philip Stiano, Leon Lavigne and John Lucas. Model School—Theodore Ceriatty, Patrick Riley, Harry Blanchette, William Lennon. St. Mary's School—Alfred Dubreuil, Andrew Desrosiers, Ernest Douville, Walter Monast.

In closing it is proper to direct attention to the fact that Willimantic achieved a unique distinction in this year's observance of Boys' Week. The project had its birth here in 1924, under the auspices of The Willimantic Rotary Club. This year the plan reached a wide scope which brought in practically every boy in the city. Willimantic was the only city in the state to put through a successful Boys' Week Election, the credit for which goes to Acting Mayor George W. Hickey and Edwin J. Donnelly, the latter being chairman of the committee of arrangements.

Chief Allen McArthur made the announcement Sunday that a new schedule has been arranged for the traffic officers, in order to have extra policemen on hand to enforce the various city ordinances relative to parking, speeding, one-way streets, etc. Motorcycle Officer Grant Bombria will be assisted in his duties by Officer Arthur M. Hurley who has been assigned to motorcycle duty for the summer months. The schedule is so arranged that the two motorcycle men will be patrolling the streets at the same time during the hours of heavy traffic. A check-up will be made of cars wrongly parked or remaining over-time in limited parking areas. A warning will be handed down to violators and a second offense will mean arraignment in court.

Considerable land on the west side of upper Mansfield Avenue was burned over, in two successive brush fires, at 9:15 and 9:35 o'clock Sunday morning. The first outbreak was believed to have been caused by a motorist who was seen to drive hurriedly away from the spot as the flames spread. Engine Company No. 4, in charge of Lieutenant Michael J. English, was summoned to both fires. Nine gallons of chemicals were used for the first fire. The second blaze proved to be a stubborn one. In addition to using 36 gallons of chemicals, 1050 feet of hose was laid in one line to the nearest hydrant.

Shortly before three o'clock Saturday morning, the gasoline filling station on the South Windham road just over the city line, conducted by William O. Knight was entered by burglars and about fifty dollars worth of candy and tobacco, cigars and cigarettes taken. An entrance was effected through the front of the building by slamming a window. About one hundred feet from the station beside the road the next morning a display tray for selling boxes of candy and the curtain of the window were found. Mr. Knight, whose home is some distance in the rear of the filling station, was awakened by a noise, and when he investigated, heard a car drive away in the direction of Willimantic.

Saturday night Joseph McFarland, of South Coventry, appeared before Mansfield Town Court on a charge of operating an automobile with an unsigned operator's license. He admitted his license unsigned on the date of the charge but said the license had since been signed. A fine of two dollars and costs amounting to $11.50, was imposed by Justice of the Peace George H. Andrews, and was paid.

Frank McCarthy of Boston, an organizer of the American Federation of Labor, addressed the striking body of the operatives of the American Thread company, at their open mass meeting Saturday morning, at the Gem Theatre. Miss Amy Hooker, president of the local Textile Council was in charge. Mr. McCarthy spoke along lines of organization for the strikers, and self-preservation in regard to working conditions, saying that the American Federation of Labor Headquarters was evincing much interest in the Willimantic strike, and that they will give the local strikers every ounce of assistance they would be able. Announcement was made that the speaker Sunday afternoon and this (Monday) morning, was to be Alexander Marks of Boston, who addressed the Polish operatives Sunday afternoon in Polish at the White Eagle Polish-American Hall.

The death of George A. Easterbrooks occurred Saturday at noon at St. Joseph's Hospital. He was born in Eagleville August 24, 1872, the son of Simeon A. and Charlotte A. Popple Easterbrooks. Besides his wife, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Ruth A. Easterbrooks and Mrs. Marion Nauman, a granddaughter, Aubrey Nauman and a brother, Clayton Easterbrooks, all of Willimantic, and by two sisters, Mrs. Maude Rogers of Willimantic and Mrs. Grace Garvey, of Willimantic.

The programme given by Nous Verrons of the Epworth League at the Methodist Episcopal church Friday evening included group singing, Miss Ruth Webber, accompanist, piano duets, Misses Ruth Webber and Hope Morrill; a comedy sketch, "Channing Merrill and Co."; man act of movies, Miss Webber accompanying piano selection, Miss Dainton; exhibition of first aid work, Scouts Kelleher, Jordan and Rice. Miss Miriam Muirhead was in charge of games which followed. Refreshments were served.

After a prolonged discussion it was decided on the part of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce, at their rooms Friday evening, "that the directors of the Chamber of Commerce heartily endorse the resolution adopted by the citizens' Booster meeting, provided they can be carried out by the Chamber of Commerce."

A statement to the effect that the operator's license of Ellery Baker of this city had been suspended, dating from May 1, was received Saturday from the state motor vehicle department by Chief of Police Allen McArthur. The suspension follows a recent conviction in Mansfield town court for reckless driving.

A meeting of the teachers of the towns of Hebron and Columbia was held Friday afternoon in Hebron Center school. Oscar G. Flastwood of Willimantic, state supervisor of schools was in charge of the meeting, and W. F. Wiesseltier, state supervisor of art gave an exhibit of the work done in schools under his direction, along the lines of industrial art, sewing, woven rugs, block printing and toys. Mrs. E. T. Smith, president of Hebron W. C. T. U. read two papers, the first on prohibition, and the other on a plan for cultivating friendly relations between America and other countries through an exchange of letters by the children in the schools of the different countries. Mrs. Smith spoke particularly of Hawaii, suggesting an exchange of letters between one of the children in the Hebron and Columbia third grades with children of a corresponding age in Hawaii.

Constituting the board of relief, Acting Mayor George W. Hickey and City Clerk J. B. Donohue, Jr., held their first meeting for the city in regard to the grand list Friday.

The Annual speaking and spelling contest of the children of the grammar grades was held Thursday afternoon at The Ridges, Mrs. P. S. Hills acted as judge. Cecil Killourey won first honors in speaking, and Paul Namet of Eagleville was second. Barbara Fryer stood first in spelling, and Joseph Caubu second.

A miscellaneous shower was given Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Noble in honor of Miss Dorothy Ayres, of the Model school faculty, by Miss Dorothy Deckstader and Helen Reis, noting her approaching marriage with George Saul of Connecticut Agricultural College faculty. Fifteen guests were present. A color scheme of pink and white was attractively carried out in apple blossoms and roses, and with crepe paper decorations.

According to an announcement made Saturday at the state capitol before the judiciary committee, a hearing is to be given the Willimantic police court judgeship next Tuesday, Judge of Probate Otto B. Robinson, recommended by the Windham representatives, has asked to have his name already sanctioned, withdrawn, and that of the present incumbent, Frank H. Fess, substituted.

A big box of grape fruit was received Friday by the occupants of the Clark block, Church street, from Herbert T. Clark, owner of the building. Mr. and Mrs. Clark expect to return to Connecticut about the first of July.

The president, Lucy Lynch presided at the meeting of Mary Todd Lincoln Tent, No. 15, D. of V. held Friday evening in G. A. R. Hall. The mystery box was awarded Helen Dondero. Four delegates are to attend the state convention in New Haven this week.

JEWETT CITY

The Colonials from Norwich, Mabel C. Buckingham, soprano, Hazel L. Banfield, contralto and Mary E. Gray, pianist, with William J. Banfield, magician, gave an entertainment in the Congregational church vestry, under the auspices of the Ladies' Society. The Colonials were in old-fashioned costumes for the first part, when they sang played and danced old fashioned songs and the Minuet. A set of Chinese songs and dance done in costume closed the first part. Mr. Banfield kept his audience mystified and in good humor with his very clever tricks and witty way of commenting upon them; Songs of Childhood given in childish costumes, included nursery rhymes. If No One Ever Marries Me, The Singing School, Bad Boy, and a Grandma song, and were very catchy. Home-made candy was sold by Bessie Thompson, Isabel and Christine Marshall, Bernice Wolf and Ethel Thompson. L. G. Buckingham received the tickets at the door. The committee was Mrs. E. A. Faust, Mrs. C. D. Wolf, Mrs. Walter Marshall, Mrs. L. G. Buckingham and Miss M. A. Burdick.

Tonight's K. of C. meeting postponed until Tuesday night.—adv.

The funeral of Henry Richards was held at St. Mary's church Saturday morning. Solemn requiem mass was celebrated by Rev. Arthur Veglard, Rev. J. J. McCabe being deacon and Rev. J. J. Tyler sub-deacon. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, Lisbon. Rev. Arthur Veigard and Rev. J. J. McCabe conducting the committal service. Rev. Arthur Veigard is an intimate friend of the family. The bearers were Maxcey Seymour, George Seymour, Noe Richotte, Felix Quillet. The flowers included a standing cross from Mrs. Rosanna Gobeil and family, cross from Victor Richards and family, basket from Mr. and Mrs. William McBurney, sprays from Mrs. Mary J. Richards and daughter Blanche, Mr. and Mrs. August Nerdoff, Mrs. Louise Richards and family and Mrs. Agnes Franklin and family out of town. Relatives and friends came from Westerly, Norwich, Uncasville, Yantic, Norwich Town, Holyoke, Plainfield and Putnam. Hourigan Bros. were in charge of the arrangements.

The man of the family that has been trying for several weeks to secure a place to establish a new home in Jewett City says he reads all about the season's signs of the time but they don't seem to include a "To Rent" sign. Finally certain apartments were offered, but he found them to be, just one room with two or more partitions. He doesn't declare that it would apply to this borough, but says, that in the town he came from there wouldn't have been any housing problem if all the Bawbreakers were in jail.

No time card ever put into operation by the New Haven road, has furnished as admirable transportation facilities between Jewett City and Boston, as the schedule which became effective a week ago. There are several Highland express trains via Putnam; two of especial interest to local people, that do the somewhat remarkable stunt of traveling 55 miles and landing one in Jewett City in 150 minutes after the time of departing from the South station in Boston. There are good connections for Lisbon via Providence, notably one may leave Boston at 3 p. m., city time, and in 2 hours and 55 minutes be getting off among the milk cans at the Lisbon station. A local man, tells of being a passenger on the noon Waterbury express Saturday, that connects at Putnam for Jewett City. He says the way those Highland engine-drivers hit it up, between the top of the East Douglas hill and Willimantic, was something fine to see.

For a long time, he says, a mile a minute was slow, with the telegraph poles resembling a fine-toothed comb. There is evident intention of making the Waterbury service popular, and with this end in view the equipment is slick, but the man up ahead next to the boiler butt, are slicker.

LEONARD BRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sisson and daughter Gladys of Burnside, spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Schroedter.

Harry Keith who is employed in Worcester was home Sunday.

TWO ARTILLERYMEN ARRESTED; TRY FORGERY AT NEW LONDON

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 4—Lee Sheffield a member of Battery K, 11th Co., C. A. C., stationed at Fort Wright, is at the police station on a charge of forgery, Russell Hereau, also of Battery K, is a prisoner at Fort Wright, charged with the same offense, and will be delivered to the local authorities Tuesday morning.

Sheffield, whose home is in New Britain, visited that city a few days ago, and, according to his own admission, found a quantity of blank checks, the property of John Cantaras, proprietor of the Capitol theatre, New Britain. Returning to Fort Wright, Sheffield filled in the checks, four in number and fixing the amount in each instance at $150, excepting one check, which was made out for $200, he forged Cantaras' name to them. Early in the week he gave the $200 check to Hereau, who was to come to this city and told Hereau to "take a change" and attempt the negotiation of the check at a New London bank. This Hereau did and going to the Union Bank and Trust company he was given the money. A day or two ago the check was returned to the bank as being a forgery.

Sheffield and Hereau having been successful in obtaining easy money, decided on negotiating one of the other checks. Saturday forenoon Sheffield came to New London and going to the same bank tried to pass one of the $150 checks. When he presented the check for payment, he was detained until the police could be summoned, Sergeant John Cavanaugh hurried to the bank, and finding Sheffield there apparently awaiting the money, he placed him under arrest.

Arthur Perry, 20, a chauffeur, of 519 Bank street, and William Brown, of 43 Bank street, were arrested Saturday night upon complaint of Charles Maiouf, proprietor of the Star garage, Maiouf charging Brown and Perry with taking cars owned by Maiouf without permission of the owner. Both are being held for a hearing in the police court Monday morning. Brown, who is employed at the garage, was arrested by Sergeant Samuel Hick and Patrolman John Sullivan about 10 o'clock. Brown was unable to secure a surety on his bond of $100 and was locked up, but Perry obtained a surety on his bond in his father, Joseph Perry.

Henry S. Berg, 48, of 12 Williams street, and a motor express driver, was taken into custody Saturday night charged with operating his truck while under the influence of liquor. He is a prisoner at the police station in default of a surety on his bond for his appearance in the police court Monday morning. The accused has been apprehended before for the same offense. Berg was operating his truck on Main street when the driver attracted the attention of Motorcycle Officer Augustus Ray, who investigated Berg's endeavor to drive with the result that the accused was alleged to be intoxicated. His arrest followed.

Donisius Carecari, about 54, of Old Mystic, died in an ambulance while being rushed to Memorial hospital, Saturday afternoon, as a result of a fractured skull, sustained by being struck by an automobile, owned and operated by Frederick Gerlace, also of Old Mystic. Carecari was riding in an automobile in Center Groton, and as he alighted from the car, he stepped in front of the machine driven by Gerlace. Before Gerlace could materially reduce the speed of his car, Carecari was struck with great force. When Gerlace reached the side of the unconscious man, Carecari was bleeding from the nose and ears, indicating that he had sustained a fractured skull. The state police barracks were notified and Officer Giles Watson was dispatched to the place on a motorcycle. Officer Watson had the hospital ambulance summoned and the man was placed in it and a race to defeat death was started. Officer Watson preceded the ambulance, in an endeavor to hold up traffic, but in passing through Bank street, death was victor, for Carecari expired.

Mrs. Thomas Hamrah, 183 Main street, reported to the police late Saturday afternoon that an automobile operated by Mrs. Julia K. Shay, of Mott avenue, in passing through Main street had fractured the leg of Mrs. Hamrah's dog and that the driver of the automobile failed to stop after the animal was struck and maimed.

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth Sonk, widow of Frederick Sonk, former resident of New York, was held this afternoon at 2 o'clock at 48 Shapley street. The services were conducted by Chaplain R. A. Parker, stationed at the submarine base. Burial was in Elm Grove cemetery, Mystic.

Because of the immense throng of men, women and children that patronized the cars of the Connecticut company today, open cars were operated for the first time this season between the State street terminal and Ocean Beach. The weather was mild and thousands visited the shore resort during the afternoon.

Eng Young, Chinese, proprietor of a laundry at 137 Main street, was arrested Saturday afternoon by Narcotic Agent Kelley, Providence, and Patrolmen Frank Philopena and William Babcock, charged with violation of the narcotic law and violation of the alien law, in having a revolver in his possession. He was held for trial in the police court Monday morning, in bail of $500. Louis Ettenheim qualifying as surety on Young's bond. Young had been suspected for some time of being a user of narcotics and it is claimed that he even provided smokes for frequenters of his place. When the officers searched the laundry they found an opium pipe, a small quantity of opium and a loaded 38 calibre revolver. Young's place was robbed over a year ago and the thieves were arrested an hour later in Norwich.

The funeral of Maria E., widow of Henry T. Squires, was held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at her residence 131 Ocean avenue, the services being conducted by Rev. Chester H. Howe, pastor of the First Baptist church. The bearers were Frederick A. Beckwith, East Lyme; Monroe Beckwith, Palmer Carroll, George R. Morris, William Brown and Richard B. Wall. Burial was in Cedar Grove cemetery.

Funeral services for Muriel Frances, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip A. Robinson, of Fog Plain road, Waterford, were held at the residence of the child's parents Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. Chester Strouse officiating. Burial was in Jordan cemetery.

George Reichelt, of Pacific street and Samuel Mincobb, Bank street, patients at Lawrence Memorial hospital, were dismissed Saturday.

Mrs. Dorothy Nose Simon, widow of Jacob Simon, died late Friday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. W. S. Holmes, in Waterford, after an illness of nearly a year. Mrs. Simon, besides her daughter, Mrs. Holmes, is survived by three other daughters, Mrs. E. M. Whiting, Mrs. Charles P. Boss, both of Waterford, and Mrs. C. K. Hayes, Fresno, Cal., and by two sons, John S., and Jacob L. Simon, both of Waterford.

The body of Mrs. Annie Bower, wife of Louis Bower, former residents of New London, whose death occurred in New Rochelle, N. Y., several days ago, was brought to New London Saturday afternoon for burial in the family plot in St. Mary's cemetery.

Shirley Lee, a young woman who has been in New London but a few months, was presented in the police court Saturday for an offense against nudity and there was fined $25, which took her to jail. She did not remain there long, however, for a "friend" paid her fine and the costs of her prosecution and she was released. Miss Lee was with Michael Cummings and he, too, was fined a similar amount but he had the cash to settle, so escaped a term in jail. The pair were arrested in an alleyway on Main street when neighbors complained to the police of their conduct. The girl was intoxicated. She said so herself. Judge Prince advised the girl to get away from New London when she should attain her liberty. Miss Lee said she had wages due her when she was presented in court, and that statement appears to have been true.

Two sailors, Michael O'Hare and William Delnd, members of the crew of a government vessel at the state Tpier, celebrated when they came to town and were arrested for fighting in the street. The men were chums, but when they loaded up they were antagonists. Each pleaded guilty to the offense and each was fined $10. They settled for they had wages due them on the ships on which they came here.

Jere Mosier, an employee on the tug Harriet of the Chapman-Merritt-Scott company, indulged in booze and got into the police court for creating a disturbance at his rooming house on Howard street. He didn't know much about what happened, but he was insistent upon using a door to the house which he had no right to use and he became abusive when another tenant in the house objected. Mosier was inclined to strike a woman but a chief petty officer who happened along interferred, with the result that Mosier was arrested. He was fined and given an opportunity to pay up the costs while he is on probation.

Clifford Smith was fined $25 for reckless operation of an auto truck. He was charged with driving while under the influence of liquor, but the prosecutor concluded that such a charge could not be sustained and the reckless driving charge was submitted. Smith thus saves his license to operate a car, unless the commissioner shall suspend it for a time. State Policeman Giles Watson made the arrest, and he and Police Sergeant Howard were of the opinion that Smith was intoxicated.

Rev. Chester Howe of the First Baptist church, in continuance of the so-called "fireside talks" to his congregations, this evening spoke on the subject of "What Ails the Grown Folks?" dwelling upon the manner in which social life is presented in these days. He hit right out from the shoulder of his statements, and his arguments went right to the point of the matter. The musical programme was one of the best that has been heard in this city in church in a long time. Miss Marie Leverone, a student at the Connecticut college, and who is educated in music played a solo from Mozart that pleased her audience. W. H. Bush was at the organ. Misses Marguerite and Elizabeth Campbell and Donna Phillips and Agnes Wright played a piano overture for eight hands that was also well received, and the Campbell sisters were heard in a well executed piano duet.

The 200 or more slot machines that have been located in stores, restaurants, hotels, pool rooms and all places where men and youths congregate, were removed from their respective locations this afternoon by the employes of the distributing agents, whose headquarters have been at 32 North Bank street. The reason for the removal of the machines was the recent activities of the state police from Groton barracks, who have seized many of the machines. The proprietors of the places where they were found were arrested and fined and in some instances the machines were ordered destroyed. Because of the large number of these machines in operation in New London, the agents of the distributing company were fearful that the machines would be seized here and if ordered destroyed they would suffer a considerable financial loss.

A week ago eight places where machines were maintained in Waterford were raided, the machines seized and ordered destroyed and the proprietors fined $10 and costs each.

Catherupom Bruno, who has a long police record of charges of intoxication and breach of the peace, was taken into custody late this afternoon on both charges, by Patrolman Clarence Wells and William Graham. He will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning. Bruno went to the home of an acquaintance, Mrs. Perrello, 554 Main street, where he annoyed the woman because of his intoxicated condition. When Bruno was ordered from the house he created such a disturbance that Mrs. Perello sought the aid of the police, to be relieved of further annoyance.

An automobile owned and driven by Clayton W. Avery, 185 Main street, in passing through Jay street this afternoon struck a little girl, the identity of the child not being obtained because she refused to reveal her name. The girl sustained injuries no more serious than bruises and scratches.

The automobile owned and driven by Joseph Matus of East Lyme in which two companions were passengers, was wrecked early this morning and Matus was slightly injured, when the car was overturned on the corner of Pequot avenue and Glenwood avenues. Matus, who had been drinking was taken into custody on a charge of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor.

The automobile overturned when Matus, not being familiar with the highways and being uncertain in his operation of the car from drink, attempted to guide the machine from Glenwood into Pequot avenue. When the car overturned, Matus' companions made their escape, leaving Matus a prisoner under the auto. Matus being unable to extricate himself, yelled long and loud, finally awakening a resident of Chapel street, who caused the police to be notified. Patrolman John Hogan, who went to the overturned car, pulled Matus from beneath the machine and then placed him under arrest. He will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning.

Howard Radcliffe, 570 Dickinson avenue, Springfield, Mass., was arrested late this afternoon by State Police Officer Henry Albright, Groton barracks, charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was later released upon furnishing a bond of $100 for his appearance before Justice of the Peace Frederick L. Goss in Waterford Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Radcliffe was arrested when Officer Albright detected the machine traveling in a course that took up the greater part of the highway.

GILES M. HARRIS DEAD AT HOME IN ARLINGTON

SUSPICIOUS FIRE SUNDAY CORNER HOWARD-BANK STS.

(Special to The Bulletin)

New London, May 3.—What is believed to have been an attempt to destroy the paint and wall paper store of J. F. Denison, Howard street, or the pharmacy of Eugene Callahan, corner of Howard and Bank streets, by incendiarism, occurred early this morning, but because of the timely discovery of the blaze, the fire was extinguished with little damage. About 1 o'clock a blaze close to the two buildings was discovered by Patrolman John Sullivan, who caused an alarm to be rung in from Box 42, corner Bank and Howard streets. With the arrival of the department the fire was found to be in a quantity of excelsior and wooden boxes that had been placed in such a manner as to ignite one or both of the buildings, if the blaze was not discovered until it had gained headway. A quantity of chemicals was sufficient to extinguish the fire.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

"Lifebuoy before eating" is the rule in this clean-hands home

You'll never understand a mother's enthusiasm for Lifebuoy until you've watched it change grimy youngsters into shining-faced, respectable little members of society.

"It's perfectly amazing," writes one mother, "the way Lifebuoy removes ground-in dirt from hands, knees and faces."

That's the dirt you see—but Lifebuoy gets, too, the unseen, dangerous dirt—the germs that thrive in the sticky moisture and body-waste in pores.

Lifebuoy's wonderful pore-cleansing protection is guarding the health of millions of children—that is why it has become the great family toilet soap of America.

—secret of lovely skin

This marvelous purifying of pores brings new beauty. Pores awake—the skin lives. Lovely color pulses below the surface. Day by day, the skin grows softer, smoother.

Slater Hall Musical Course

On Monday evening, May 11th, the Flonzaley Quartet will appear in Slater Hall, under the auspices of the Norwich Free Academy.

It is difficult to refer to the Flonzaley Quartet except in seemingly extravagant superlatives. In the 21 years of its existence the Flonzaley quartet has made its name the standard in chamber music by which all other string quartets are judged. The Flonzaleys were organized orginally by Mr. E. J. de Coppet, a wealthy New York patron, to play for himself and his friends at his villa on Lake Geneva, Switzerland. The soiree given at this residence "Flonzaley" from which the Quartet derived its name became widely famed, and the playing of the newly formed quartet attracted general attention. A few years later the Flonzaleys still as a private organization were brought to America, with a result that the demand for appearances became so insistent that a public career was adopted.

Their success was phenomenal. Never before had such wonderful rendering of chamber music been heard.

Since their organization for public concert, the Flonzaley Quartet has played in more than 600 American cities, has made 1,300 appearances in America and more than 500 in Europe. The supremacy of the Flonzaley quartet has been given international recognition.

Tickets for this concert are on sale at the Cranston Co., Broadway.

Mail or phone orders will be given prompt attention.

At the Bread

When is a flapper not a flapper?

This is not one of the trick questions so popular in the humorous magazines, but a serious inquiry regarding present day young womanhood. And, as such, it is one of the major questions presented and answered by The House of Youth, the Regal release now running at the Bread theater, where everyone interested in the modern young woman is finding a new interest in the flapper question.

It shows that the flapper is not a woman apart, but that she is for the time being a woman passing through a peculiar stage of her life—the stage in which she craves excitement beyond her power to sustain—then her real womanhood asserts itself through some great emotion which makes her rise above that which she hitherto has been. In The House of Youth it is a great injustice, the loss of her good reputation which bring Corinne Endicott "out of it"—but the picture shows that any equally powerful cause would accomplish the same end.

A flapper, then, bears toward a woman the same relationship that life in the Roman era bore toward modern civilization—it was necessary for the world to pass through the one in order to progress to the other. Youthful excesses, in the individual no less, than in the evolution of mankind have to burn themselves out before may dawn the maturity of understanding; such a metamorphosis then occurs as is so dramatically presented in The House of Youth.

Annual Meeting of Auxiliary

The annual meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the Norwich Young Men's Christian Association will be held at The Osgood Memorial Parish House of Park Congregational church on Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. In addition to the brief business session a very interesting innovation will be address by K. Appasamy of Palamcottah, South India, whose subject will be "The Literature of India with special reference to Poetry". Tea will be served.

This meeting promises to be one of the best in many months.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Paul Specht's Appearance at Palace Theatre an Eventful Surprise. LeRoy Smeck Entertains.

Half in jest and half in earnest, Mr. McEvoy, of the Palace Theatre, during the course of a conversation held in New York city recently with Paul Specht, the famous orchestra leader remarked: "Paul, every time one of your bands play the Palace Theatre, many of our audience are of the impression that they will see you personally. While your bands have pleased to the utmost I think we should have you come down to Norwich with your original band."

Paul smiled and then in all seriousness informed Mr. McEvoy that it was always his hearts desire to appear in the smaller cities because of the fact that it is truly difficult for music lovers in such territory to spare the time from their work and go to the expense of traveling to the big time houses to gratify their love for musical entertainment of the highest calibre.

Ever since Paul Specht and his sensational band took Broadway by storm, his phonograph records, radio concerts and vaudeville engagements have carried his popularity to practically every portion of the civilized globe. As a natural result, with such prominent people in public life, his mail runs as high as two thousand letters

DANIELSON

Strangers to him—the dead man—stood about his coffin Saturday afternoon, while Rev. Walter B. Williams of the Westfield Congregational church conducted a funeral service for Joseph Johnson, colored, who met his death a week ago this morning in an attempt to beat B. E. Terwilliger of South Killingly to death with an automobile jack that he had seized from the light motor truck of Sylvio Gauthier of the Mashentuck district. The public is familiar with the circumstances of the case. After the service Johnson's body was laid at rest in what may be described as Potter's field near the Killingly town farm at Killingly. None came to mourn him, none to pay him the respect usually accorded the dead, whatever their end. He was buried as he was killed—a mysterious person, erased no doubt and a menace to humanity, nevertheless, a human being with all of the frailities attached to such and with all the obligations to pay here and hereafter.

It would appear in the light of what had happened since Johnson was killed last Monday morning, that such friends as he had acquired during his year's residence in Providence slipped out on him after he was dead and gone. Six colored men came here last Monday night and satisfied themselves as to his identity. They indicated they would see that arrangements were made for his burial. They said that he had a sister in Baltimore. They agreed they had known him as a quiet and peaceable man. And they went away, without telling very much about what they knew, it is now very clear, and they never came back. The town of Killingly paid to bury Johnson from the undertaking romos of L. E. Kennedy Saturday afternoon—the unfortunate deserted by all mankind, except strangers, a victim of one of the variety of misfortunes of which man is gratuitiously the victim.

What does it profit a man to gain the whole world and suffer the loss of his own soul; or what will he give in return for his soul? There's a question that has been buried at humanity from pulpits for centuries—and few, indeed, are those who have thought seriously of it, until death or disaster stared them in the face.

And with that as a text it may be set forth here, very modestly, this morning. What does it gain a man to stick out in the sticks and hide his lights under a bushel, to mix metaphors for convenience of a presentation of the happenings of the day?

All of which leads to saying that Waren Braley and his Royal Serenaders have won a place and are getting real money for stepping out from Killingly and selling their music to communities who like "better dance music" and can afford to pay for it.

Mr. Braley and his serenaders are, it appears, a fixture at Lake Hopatcong, N. J., for the summer season Lake Hopatcong is regarded by many as the most beautiful lake in New Jersey, and without question is the playground of thousands of people, during the spring, summer and early fall seasons of the year. It is something of an achievement for the Braley orchestra to win an engagement there—deserving as the musicians may be. Their slogan of "better dance music" evidently has begun to pay well deserved dividends.

This orchestra, little known to people of this town, where the musicians were recruited, with some additions from the town of Plainfield, first attracted general notice by its concerts broadcast during the late winter seasons from W. S. A. D., Providence. Their success there won them greater opportunities, which they have not been slow to seize, that their own home-town never could open the gates of entry to—and it is an unfortunate fact that this same applies to many other ardent and faithful workers here. All of which suggests a revival of the "Go West, Young Man" a slogan of many years ago. Today it may not necessarily be "Go West" but "Go Somewhere"—if you have something to go with and can deliver the goods.

The most important real estate transaction in Danielson in years is involved in the agreement for the sale of the Cyr building by Mdme. Oscar Trudeau, formerly Mdme Joseph Cyr, to Dr. Joseph N. Perreault, who has had an office and home in the building since he began practice in Danielson well over a decade ago.

The Cyr building probably is the finest business block in Danielson, with one exception. It houses the millinery business of Mdme Cyr, the clothing and shoe departments of the Church company and the drug business of A. A. Bonneville, on the street level and apartments, one of which is occupied by Dr. Perreault, on the second floor.

The Cyr building is a brick structure in the center of Danielson's garment, men's clothing and dry goods district. It is modern, well appointed and desirable from every viewpoint. The deal for the transfer of the property is complete except for the execution of certain legal papers.

Dr. Perreault, a graduate of Tufts college and medical school, came to Danielson as a successor to the late Dr. C. J. LeClaire. The price agreed upon for the sale of the building is not revealed. There appears to be ground for a belief that the sum is in excess of $40,000, which likely will indicate to the public the magnitude of the deal that has been closed.

Mdme. Trudeau, better known here as Mdme. Cyr, has been making her home in the Outremont section of Montreal for years, coming here for the spring and fall seasons, but spending the remainder and greater part of each year in the Canadian metropolis. Mdme. Cyr rates as the most successful business woman that Danielson has produced, achieving wealth, of which the Cyr block is only a part, from a very humble beginning. As a milliner she became known throughout this section of eastern Connecticut and her business always has been very successful.

There was belligerency in the complaints of motorists who ran into long stretches of fresh and uncovered road oil, between this place and Central Village, Saturday at noon and skidded, at the peril of life and limb, and, incidentally, plastered their cars, good, bad and indifferent, with muck that can be removed only with extreme difficult. Their complaints center one's attention on the fact that the state highway department has little or no excuse for oiling state highways without an immediate follow-up of the sanding equipment that at least makes travel comparatively safe and insures a driver against having his car messed up. Motorists are charged plenty by the state for the privilege of driving and they feel they are entitled to protection from such messes as the application of oil on the Wauragan road created Saturday. The contention is that oil should not be applied to highways faster than it can be covered by an immediately trailing sanding equipment. This has been done and can be done. Why endanger the lives of people, especially on a Saturday, when the traffic is reaching the week's peak? Those who have a pacifying answer can help some by telling drivers who got into the oil just why such things are.

Speaking of oiling highways, the borough is to have an experience with such work this week. First Selectman John A. Gilbert said Saturday that such streets of the brough as are to be oiled, according to arrangements concluded, likely will receive the spring dressing Wednesday, depending on the weather. If Wednesday is finally decided upon, the announcement will be made through the press tomorow morning. The selectmen would greatly appreciate the co-operation of motorists, as to non-interference, while this work is underway. Parked cars, the owners of which cannot be located, are a great handicap. Traffic is also. If the selectmen are able to give a schedule of the streets to be oiled and the times at which they are to be oiled, the car owners likely will be good sports and give the workers a chance to do what oiling they have to do and do it quickly.

Mrs. Charles L. Darbie, of North Main street, mother of Speaker Elbert L. Darbie, of the house of representatives at Hartford, suffered a shock early Saturday evening and was rendered unconscious. Mrs. Darbie remained in a critical condition during Sunday.

This (Monday) evening Killingly grange is to confer the third and fourth degrees on a class of candidates.

Lester A. Bates of Pawtucket was a visitor with friends in Danielson over the week-end.

Mrs. John Duggan of the West Side was reported Sunday as very critically ill.

There are times when scolding seems about as ineffective a weapon as any one could use. Yet it appears to retain its extreme popularity.

Mrs. Lucy Danielson Hutchins, 97, is critically ill at her home on Hawkins street. Mrs. Hutchins is one of Danielson's most distinguished women, and of the family for which this place is named, Danielson being founded by one of her ancestors.

Miss Rogers Gained 15 Pounds in Six Weeks

Skinny Men and Women Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days or Money Back.

My dear Friends:

After my attack of Flu I was thin, rundown and weak. I had a sallow complexion, my cheeks were sunk in and I was continually troubled with gas on my stomach. I felt stuffy and had lost my appetite. I had read about McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets and decided to give them a trial. At once, I began to pick up an appetite, my cheeks filled out and my complexion became healthy looking and I gained 15 pounds in six weeks and am very thankful for what McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets did for me.

Miss Alberta Rogers, 264 W. Cerro Gorda St., Decatur, Ill.

To take on weight, grow strong and vigorous, to fill out the hollows in cheeks and neck, try McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets for 30 days. 60 Tablets—60 cents at Lee & Osgood Co., and live druggists everywhere. If they don't give you wonderful help in 30 days, get your money back—you be the judge. But be sure and ask for McCoy's, the original and genuine.

Mr. and Mrs. Hermisdas LaBonte announce the marriage of their daughter, Olina, and Dr. H. Secunda, of Chicago, Ill. They were married April 20th, and the wedding was attended by the bride's sister, Miss Yvonne LaBonte. Mrs. Secunda is a graduate of the Burnside hospital, Chicago, in the class of April 15, 1924. She is well known in Putnam and has many friends here. Dr. and Mrs. Secunda will make their home in Chicago.

Just before closing time at the Dean Pin factory, Sherwood Connell, an employe, on behalf of Mr. Dean and the workers at the Pin factory, presented Earl A. Potter a traveling bag, as a token of their esteem. Mr. Potter is leaving for Los Angeles, Cal. He has been employed at the pin factory for about ten years.

Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Sweet of Intervale street have gone to Lexington, Mass., to make a visit with their daughter, Mrs. W. M. Crawford and her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Lyon have been entertaining Mr. Lyon's father from New Haven.

Mrs. Effie V. Lowne has returned to her home on Grove street after a visit of several weeks with her son, Wilbur, at Madison, Wis.

Seventy members of the Northeastern Connecticut Fish and Game club attended the annual banquet at the Putnam Inn. It was expected that John Titcomb, state fish and game commissioner, would be the special guest of the evening, but at the last moment he was forced to send regrets. The president, Ernest C. Morse, addressed the club and the secretary, Prosper Veglard, read a number of interesting communications.

Following the banquet the members of the club went to the Bradley Theatre, where they were guests of the managment who showed special reels of sport pictures, fishing and hunting, after the regular evening performance. Those who attended the theatre Thursday evening were also invited to remain to the special pictures.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Reardon, of Putnam, entertained in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary at their home at 16 Wilkinson street. About twenty-five friends were present and lunch was served, after which there was music and whist. Mr. and Mrs. Reardon received a number of handsome and useful presents. Mr. Reardon was born in Putnam, the son of John and Mary Spleen Reardon. For the last thirty-five years he has been employed by the Putnam Woolen company. Mrs. Reardon was also born in Putnam, a daughter of Michael and Mary Monohan Carey. Both are well known and have a large circle of friends and acquaintsnces. Mr. and Mrs. Reardon have one son, William H. Reardon, Jr., 18.

Rev. and Mrs. Richards have left for their home in Needham, Mass. For the past four months Mr. Richards has been the temporary minister of the Second Congregational church, he and his wife having made their home with Dr. and Mrs. H. L. Pease on Freemont street. Although coming here with the distinct understanding that he could remain only until a permanent minister was secured, Mr. Richards has taken an active interest in the affairs of the church, has filled the position very acceptably and has made many friends. He will return here every Sunday until July, when Rev. Mr. English is to take up the duties of the pastorate.

Mrs. Ernest Hibbard of East Woodstock who was operated on for appendicitis at the Day Kimball hospital Thursday, is making a good recovery.

Dr. A. H. Strahan was in Hartford on Friday and Saturday and attended the convention of the State Dental association of which organization he is a member.

The Woman's club of North Grosvenordale held a meeting recently at the home of Mrs. George Carlson. Mrs. Carlson and Mrs. Verne Rawson were hostesses. Miss Johnson of the Howe-Marot school of Thompson, gave a short talk on England. Being an English woman, she was very successful in showing the true English spirit and her love for her country. Her talk was emphasized by reading poems by English authors, including "The Band Wagon," by Noyes, and Kipling's "Recessional." A short business preceded the talk. Lunch was served during the latter part of the afternoon.

Miss Jennie Obletz, cashier at the Victory Theatre, is at St. Vincent's hospital in Worcester, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mrs. Mary A. Clark is spending a few weeks with her son, Arthur M. Clark, and his family at Salem, Mass.

Mrs. Hector Guertin and six children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Audrey and two children of Norwich, and Theodore Carrier of Burlington, Vermont, have been guests of Adelard Carrier, of Providence street.

The next well child conference is to be held in the High school auditorium on Tuesday, May 5, from 2 to 4 p. m.

Friends of Mrs. Jacob Betts, formerly of Putnam, are interested to know that having spent the winter with her sister in Boston, she has opened her summer cottage at Willimantic camp ground.

Mrs. William Gagnon has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. James Leland at Worcester.

A number of benevolent women of East Thompson and vicinity are meeting one day each week to sew for the Day Kimball hospital, most of them belonging to the King's Daughters. Last week they met at the home of Mrs. Frank Hall and this week they will meet at the King's Daughters' hall at East Thompson.

An attraction when Sarah Williams Danielson chapter, D. A. R. met a few days ago, was the exhibition of a small trunk bearing the autograph of William Williams, of Lebanon, a signer of the Declaration of Independence, shown by Mrs. Maud A. Keech, a direct descendant of the Revolutionary statesman. Mrs. Keech is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Douty of Putnam and is a sister of Mrs. Harry A. Houghton of Grove street.

D. B. Gilbert and Stanley Shaw and two daughters, Martha and Patricia, motored to Springfield, Mass., and returned with Mrs. Shaw who had been visiting relatives there.

Attorney and Mrs. Irving H. Miron and Miss Elsie Gallant motored to Worcester and Millbury, Mass., last week.

WESTERLY

It is expected that a report on the condition of the defunct Kingston, R. I., Trust Company, for dealings in connection with which financial institution, Miss Maud Tefft was sentenced to State Prison at the last session of superior court for Washington county, will be presented this (Monday) morning, when the Westerly trial calendar will be taken up by Judge Blodgett, in the April term of Washington county superior court.

The court session begins at 10:30 o'clock in the superior court room of the county court house on Union street. A murder trial is the first case on the docket, that of state vs. Aubrey Frederick Blackman, charged with the murder of Warren Blackman, both colored men, September 25th on the Metropolitan line sound steamer, "Boston," while off Point Judith. Some seven or eight witnesses, mostly colored, have been summoned from Boston and the first mate H. G. Morton, officer in charge at the time of the alleged crime, together with a number of witnesses from New York city. On the Attorney General's docket to come up in this Westerly trial calendar are eight cases. Petit jurors, who were excused at the last session of the superior court at West Kingston, are all to report for jury duty this (Monday) morning.

The Narragansett convocation of the Episcopal diocese of Rhode Island was held Friday afternoon and evening in Christ Episcopal church, Westerly, with the dean of the convocation, Rev. Charles Meader of Coventry, presiding. The general topic of the session was "The Church Programme for the Next Triennium Year." For the afternoon meeting the topic was "Mission Study." The speaker was Mrs. M. T. Holbrook, whose topic was "The Girls' Friendly Society." A paper was read by Mrs. Herbert Piper of Wickford. Following the meeting supper was served.

At the evening meeting, the principal speaker was George Lamas, of the Nestorian church of Assyria, who has been in this country studying under the direction of the Geneva Council of Episcopal churches. His subject was "The Influence of Mohammedanism in the East and Its Danger to Christian Civilization."

Officers for the coming year elected were: Dean, Rev. Charles Meader of Coventry, R. I., secretary and treasurer, M. T. Holbrook, Centerville, executive committee, M. T. Holbrook, Rev. James Crawford of Wakefield, and Mr. Switzer of Apponaug. The next annual convocation will be held next May at St. Peter's-by-the-Sea, Narragansett.

The funeral of Mrs. Vesta Knowles Budlong, wife of Edward Congdon was held Saturday afternoon from the Gavitt funeral home. Many relatives and friends attended. Representatives of Phebe Greene Ward chapter, D. A. R., in which Mrs. Congdon had held various offices, were among those in attendance. Rev. Clayton A. Burdick was the officiating clergyman. The bearers were Elisha Burdick, Rogers Trainer, William Healey, John Burdick, Earl Robinson and Frank Saunders. Burial was in River Bend cemetery.

Prior to the removal of the body to Westerly from Providence, a brief prayer service was held at 10 a. m. in that city. Mrs. Congdon's death occurred Thursday morning at the home of her mother, Mrs. Stephen W. Budlong, 169 Arlington Avenue, Providence.

In a raid Friday afternoon, the places of Joseph Grabiele, 94 Oak street; Prisco Boveasso, 50 Pierce street and Luigi Murano, rear of 92 Oak street, were visited by Chief of Police Thomas E. Brown, Sgt. Michael Curtin and Patrolmen George H. Champlin, George L. Madison and Robert Kessel. The following wet goods were seized and taken to police headquarters: 88 bottles of beer, 2 wine bottles of cider and samples from Grabiele; 133 bottles of beer from Boveasso's; and 3 bottles of beer from the Murano place. Charles Sposato's place on Pond street, was visited but found to yield no moisture.

TRAFFIC IN ARMS

Once more the attention of the world will be centered this week upon Geneva, where on Tuesday there will assemble an international conference for the purpose of considering ways and means of controlling world traffic in arms and ammunition. It makes a lot of difference how this problem is looked at as to how simple its solution may seem. Much trouble has resulted from the traffic in arms between countries but much salvation has likewise resulted from it, depending of course on the situation.

After the war the powers agreed to the St. Germain treaty for the purpose of regulating the traffic in war materials. It restricted such traffic except between governments, called for publicity in connection with it and prohibited any such sales in certain areas.

This country was unable to ratify this agreement because it was left to the league of nations to regulate and supervise the enforcement, because certain other countries refused to ratify and because there are conditions in this hemisphere which may it unwise for this country to tie its hands in such a manner.

Consideration has been given to the American position and this new conference is called for the purpose of trying to meet our objections, though it is now shown that Mexico and Russia are among the countries which will not support such an arrangement. This government will have representation at the conference, whose duty will be to make clear our views and to have them taken into consideration in any remodeling of the provisions of the convention.

While the nations which make their own arms are in a position to take one view of the matter those which are dependent upon other countries look at it from another angle, while this country has had much experience in restricting as well as in permitting the exportation of war materials in connection with its support of constitutional government.

THE WRIGHT MACHINE

Half a century from now, if Orville Wright carries out his plan, people will be standing about the first Wright flying machine in the Times museum in England and wondering why such an American product of American inventors should be a permanent display in a British museum.

It is customary for any such relic, marking as it does the successful outcome of a problem that had been worked on for many years by many individuals, to be preserved for posterity to see in the country where it was produced. If such a thing is not possible, others might be expected to furnish the protection.

In this particular instance it isn't a case of ability on the part of this country to house and protect the original Wright machine. It is for a different reason that Mr. Wright contemplates sending it to England, and that discloses a feeling which Mr. Wright has against an official of the Smithsonian Institute over the design placed on the Langley flying machine. This machine preceded the Wright machine but the claim is made that a flight was not actually made in it until years after the Wright machine's flight was demonstrated, and even not then it had undergone certain changes. Because the Langley plan is marked as "the first airplane capable of flight," Mr. Wright feels aggrieved.

It can be readily understood that he will have no difficulty in gaining support for the position he has taken regarding the Langley machine, even though he does not attempt in any way to minimize the aid which he obtained from the Langley experiments and Langley's studies. The fact that the capability of the latter's machine wasn't demonstrated until long years after he had made a machine fly vexes Mr. Wright. It brings up again the old controversy concerning the Langley folly, and the allegation that the original machine could never have been made to fly but for changes made after the flight had been made by the Wright machine.

It is unfortunate that the situation should be such that there is any thought of the Wright machine being sent abroad permanently. It is to be hoped that some arrangement can be made whereby differences can be patched up and this important invention can be kept on this side of the water for admiration by those in future years who will be eager to see the first flying machine.

GOOD WORLD TO LIVE IN

Among the prominent after dinner speakers is Chauncey M. Depew. He can tell stories, he can give a long and interesting review of national progress as he has had an opportunity to see it, he can give a political resume that will cover many decades, he can picture developments along many lines, and even though he has passed his 91st birthday he is nevertheless a keen observer and sees no reason for being any less an optimist than he has ever been.

In addressing the Montauk club of Brooklyn Saturday night it was inevitable that he should refer to his age or what he thinks of life. It is to the nonogenarian that the question, What is the recipe for reaching such an age? is almost always put. Mr. Depew says "Longevity is largely a matter of curbing appetites, until temperance and moderation become habits." In other words it depends largely upon the individual.

For one who has seen much of it for a long period and from many angles Mr. Depew does not change his mind. He is "more firmly convinced than ever that this is a mighty good world to live in, inhabited by mighty companionable and lovable people and I want to stay here as long as I can."

These were his words after he had dealt with the question of world problems. He is not sure that there will be no more wars but he is confident the "king business has fallen into desuetude," now that the three autocrats William II, Francis Joseph and Nicholas are disposed of. Equally confident was he that the exhibition of communism in Russia has soured the rest of the world on it.

What pleased him greatly in the changes that have taken place in late years is that the people of this country are saving, that they are taking out insurance policies, that they are owning their homes and that there is a marked improvement in the relations of capital and labor.

Taken all in all Mr. Depew's address was most inspiring and by no means that of an old man.

THE SENATE RULERS

Some of the senators have been heard in regard to the proposed change in the rules of the United States senate. As might be expected opinions are divided. There are those who are opposed to it because Vice President Dawes had anything to say about it, there are those opposed because it would interfere with one of the long standing practices of the senate, there are those who think it is not fundamental, there are those who approve it and there are those outside of the senate and anxious to get in who are ready to run as a candidate on the Dawes plan as the chief plank in their platform.

It is to be expected that there will be a voicing of opinions in and out of the senate by senators and by others. That is desirable. Vice President Dawes has in fact invited it. He has pointed to a matter which in his opinion shared by a large number of people, should be changed. Senator Moses declares he will not support any material changes in the rules. Senator Fess doesn't think it will be necessary to make any extensive changes, but does recognize the popular demand for the power which the rules confer upon one or two members. He thinks a change that would require a senator to speak to the subject will meet the requirement. He would end the practice of talking for hours about everything else except the subject under discussion.

Whatever the outcome it is evident that Vice President Dawes has got the senators to take into consideration a certain situation which has long since aroused the resentment of the people they represent. The impression is gained that Mr. Dawes doesn't care what the remedy is so long as it is effective.

AUTOS AT FIRES

Those who rush to fires in automobiles at the ringing of an alarm have long since been furnishing a serious handicap for fire departments. Too often the attempts to beat out the fire companies or to get there ahead of others leads to the display of recklessness which entirely casts aside the matter of safety, while those who fill the streets with parked machines give no consideration to those who are expected to fight a fire.

Instances have come to attention where streets clogged with autos have not only handicapped the firemen in the immediate vicinity of the fires but have actually prevented apparatus from getting to fires.

Fires have always attracted the spectator. As long as the crowds utilize the sidewalks, avoid racing fire apparatus and automobiles and keep the cars at a sufficient distance from the scene of the fire to leave the firemen unhampered there is no harm done, but that is seldom the case. Cincinnati is one of the cities where conditions have gotten so bad that the director of safety has asked the council to prohibit the driving of autos int othe zones of general alarm fires. Efforts to curb the practice otherwise have been fruitless and if the autoists will stop and reflect they will recognize the seriousness of their acts and the fact that no one is responsible for the seeking of restrictions but themselves. Highway difficulties and troubles are increasing almost every day.

WOMAN IN LIFE AND IN THE KITCHEN

SUGGESTIONS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

Good flour should smell sweet and nutty and have no hint of mustiness.

Sprinkle talcum powder in the new shoes to prevent their burning the feet.

A coarse comb will remove ravelings and hairs from the brush of the vacuum cleaner.

Sunflower seeds make splendid bait for mouse traps.

Palms and ferns should be kept away from draft and gas.

Spirits of camphor will give the sickroom a pleasant odor.

Fruit should always be passed accompanied by a silver knife.

You had better start now to save the pasteboards that come in shirts from the laundry. They keep everything shipshape when the vacation trunk is packed.

Do not stir sponge cake batter after the whites of eggs are added, but fold the batter over and over, enveloping as much air as possible into the batter.

When you give medicine read the label on the bottle and shake the bottle before you pour it out.

To remove marks on paint which have been made with matches rub them with lemon, then with whiting and finally wash with soap and water.

When wall paper becomes soiled looking dip a clean duster in dry powdered borax and rub it over the soiled parts. This method is even more effective than rubbing with bread.

Varnish your dinner candles with plain shellac or paint them with delicate water colors. Besides making them pretty, it prevents the wax from dripping down the sides of the candle.

A good way to keep the juice in a fruit that has been cut, such as grape fruit, orange or lemon, is to cover the exposed part with a piece of oiled paper and lay cut side down on a dish.

When cleaning an ermine tie, or any other soft white pelt, plain flour or plaster of paris will be found good cleaning agencies. When not in use, white furs should always be kept in blue paper. This will help to preserve the color and prevent them turning yellow.

APPETIZING SMELLS

Unless the culinary odors are objectionable, such as when cooking onions, cauliflower, sauerkraut, etc., don't try to disguise them. Is there anything nicer than to enter a home where you are invited for dinner and smell that delightful odor of good things being cooked? It fairly creates an appetite even if you had none.

HOT ASHES

Everyone should use metal containers for ashes. Not only for safety's sake, but the ashes should be removed from the ash pit of the furnace as soon as the fire is shaken, and only metal containers could stand the hot ashes. If ashes are allowed to cool in the pit, it means sure destruction to the grate.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY

A hot water bottle, wrapped in a towel and held close to the face, or cloths wrung from hot water and carefully applied will give relief for toothache.

Where sleeping porches are not available, there are several makeshifts which may be adopted. Sometimes the windows are taken out so that the fresh air can freely circulate. In such a case, thin unbleached muslin shades should be hung at the windows.

When on a motor trip and using different water each night, keep a small box of borax in your traveling bag and soften the water with it before using it on the face and hands. Otherwise you are apt to return from your trip with roughened skin.

The mouth is a most favorable breeding place for germs. Through the tonsils much poison may be absorbed. That is why strict cleanliness of the mouth and teeth and the frequent use of an antiseptic mouth wash safeguards one from the invasion of disease germs or bacteria.

SANITARY COTTON

When there are kiddies in the family (and it isn't always the kiddies) it is hard to keep the box of absorbent cotton closed and sterile. The cotton is gotten in haste and is left out of its wrappings and forgotten. A Mason jar is nice to hold absorbent cotton and stands more chance of being closed after using.

MOOD REFLECTORS

There is no mirror that reflects so much as a child does the mood of the person with whom it is. If mother is cheerful, so is baby, but if mother is upset, how quickly baby senses it and is anything but happy. Perhaps that is how so many mothers learn patience.

LESS RATHER THAN MORE

When cake baking don't think a larger lump of butter will make the cake better. Too much butter will absolutely spoil a cake and many of the best cakes you have eaten have no butter at all in them.

A TABLE FOR THE KIDDIES

One mother has taken a discarded card table and covered it with plain white oil cloth. She keeps this in the play room and what fun the children have when they want to play games, paint, cut out paper dolls, etc. The oil cloth will wipe off easily and if scratched it is not serious, as it may be cheaply replaced.

A LIGHT IN THE DARKNESS

If you have a light in your home that has no switch connection, but just a pull chain, purchase one of the chains that ends in a knob made of phosphorescent material, which is easily seen in the dark. They are not expensive and certainly do away with that search in the dark for the pull chain.

A SOFT CRUST

The crust of your home-made bread will be lovely and soft if the top of the loaf is rubbed with butter about 10 minutes before removing it from the oven.

DICTATES OF FASHION

Extremely smart are ensembles fashioned of heavy black ribbed silk trimmed with natural colored fur.

The mannish coat vogue is now making its appearance in softer fabrics than the English woolens, duvetyn and suede-finished cloths being among the media.

The spring ensemble lightens itself for warmer weather. Coats of cashmere and cashmere twills are worn unlined over thin frocks of printed silks. In some cases the coat is sleeveless.

Skirts are decidedly shorter. They begin at 10 inches from the floor and go up. The short skirt looks young, trim, boyish, and is very popular.

Women are going back to corsets to keep themselves flat and to prevent the dreaded middle-aged spread. Corsets are large in the waist, low in the bust and light in the matter of bones.

The latest hand coverings from Paris are garnished with steel beads. These gloves are of suede, heavily embroidered with the steel bead designs on both cuffs and backs.

Many of the debutantes are wearing bandeaux of feathers or brilliants in the places where their shingles used to show, and the popularity of the large hat is being indicated by the increased number of transformations used to disguise the fact that the hair has been bobbed.

SHORT JACKETS WORN—

Some afternoon dresses are worn with short straight jackets opened in front or with short or semi-long shaped capes tied at the neck. A very smart model in black and white printed crepe had a dress with a shaped apron in front going up at the sides and bordered with black crepe which was worn with a straight and loose jacket in the same printed crepe. The colors for the afternoon are black, navy-blue, beige, havana, cinnamon, gray, red and a dull green. The materials are crepella, crepe marocain, crepe georgette, crepe de chine, plain and printed (the latter nearly always in black and white) and much chiffon.

JABOT IS IMPORTANT

The right jabot for wear with the modern day costume is now more important in scoring a sartorial knockout than a left jab is to a boxer. The charmeen coats, the straight satin coats and frocks of printed silks which are now so popular all feature the jabot. Ecru lace, georgette edged with lace and faille, all are used to add distinction to the silk frocks.

NEW GARTER CONCEIT

Garters worn by the modern woman usually have an initial or a cipher peculiar to the wearer in the stone appropriate to the month in which she was born. They are worn below the knee and more for ornamentation than use since most stockings are sustained by grips attached to the corset or brassiere.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES

Crocheted lace can be cut without its raveling if stitched across the lace twice on the sewing machine, then a small space left and stitched across twice more. Cut between the two sets of stitching.

Keep clothes hanger right in the sewing room when making a new frock. Then the half-finished dress may be placed on it when not working on it. There is no sense in bundling it up in a knot and causing wrinkles when this small step will prevent it.

A double crochet thread can be used to sew on the kiddies' buttons and will prove far more secure than ordinary cotton.

To string small beads on silk before knitting a bead bag, lay the end of the thread on which the beads come on the end of the silk thread. Fasten carefully together with a little glue. Let dry and then slide the beads from the thread to the silk.

THE GROWING GIRL

When making slips for the growing girl (who is almost bound to have dresses of various lengths) it is wise not to join the shoulder seams, but to have snaps in a series of three about an inch apart that will govern the length of the slip. Then the slip can be snapped together at whatever snap fits the length of the dress worn at the time.

AGAIN IN FAVOR

Few people sniff at perfume since it has come to be a recognized accessory to the toilet. But if one must sniff the place to do so is behind the ear. That is where the modern woman places a little dab of perfume. If she be recently arrived from London, the probability is that the scent to be observed from such sniffing is ashes of roses or lavender. The latter old-time perfume has taken on new popularity.

CONCERNING WOMEN

Mrs. Mary Lucas Keene of London, the first woman professor of anatomy in the world, is only 26 years of age.

Miss M. B. Carstairs, an English woman, is building a speed boat to compete in the International Riviera regattas.

Madam Chikako Kuroda, the first woman to receive a medical degree from any school in Japan, has just entered upon the practice of her profession in Tokio.

When Mrs. S. W. Carothers of Temple, Okla., inherited $250,000 from the estate of her grandfather, she arranged a family dinner and presented each of her five children with a check for $30,000.

The press gallery of the British parliament is now open to women, and the first of the sex to take advantage of the privilege was Miss Stella W. Murray.

The University of Debrecan, Hungary, has opened the doors of its theological faculty to women on the same terms as men, but they cannot serve as clergymen.

STAIR CARPETING

When buying a stair carpet it is wise to buy an extra yard. In laying the carpet fold the surplus length in at either end. When the carpet begins to wear, push it up on the stairs. By employing this method the carpet will wear much longer.

CLEANING PHOTOS

Photographs that have become soiled may be made to look like new by washing them with a piece of white cotton wadding dipped in cold water. Do not use colored cotton wadding and never use soap, soap powder or ammonia—just cold water.

RECIPES

Cocoanut Custard Pie: Line a deep pie plate with flaky pastry, having the pastry extend three-fourths of an inch beyond the edge of the pie plate; fold the edge all around the plate; flute this double fold of pastry with the thumb and finger. Sprinkle with two tablespoons of cocoanut. Beat four eggs slightly; add one-fourth teaspoon of salt and three-fourths cup of sugar and beat again; then gradually beat in three cups of milk. Turn into the prepared pie plate and bake in a moderate oven. When pie is half baked, sprinkle the top with cocoanut, which will brown delicately during the remainder of the cooking. Serve cold.

Banana Cream Pie: Line a deep pie plate with flaky pastry. Select six large very ripe bananas (if unripe, the bananas must be baked until soft). Force the bananas through a potato ricer (there should be two cups of pulp), add one-half cup of sugar and one-fourth cup of very fine cracker crumbs, one-half cup of milk, a few grains of salt, the juice and grated rind of one orange, one-eighth teaspoon of cinnamon and two eggs well beaten. Mix thoroughly, pour into pastry lined pie plate; and bake 30 minutes in a moderate oven (300 degrees F.). Chill and just before serving cover the top with thin slices of fresh ripe bananas and pile whipped cream sweetened and delicately flavored with vanilla roughly over the top. The cinnamon may be omitted.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Municipal Business

Mr. Editor:—The city of Norwich gas and electrical department is advertising vacuum cleaners at $5. down and $5. a month and $10. worth of fixtures that go with it and an apron for the ladies thrown in and a full line of electrical and gas fixtures for sale on the same terms. How does it effect the taxpaying merchants that deal in the above appliances to have such competition with no taxes to pay and the benefit of a 22 1-2 mill tax, if the department don't make good?

And how is the poor dub of a taxpaying merchant, paying said 22 1-2 mill tax that is responsible for the debts and upkeep of the plant and trying to add to the value of his business that is up against such competition to live and pay his taxes and rent?

It is pretty near time that our $3500 a year mayor put up a protest for the taxpaying merchant who is up against such illegal and unfair methods of the so called gas and electrical department of the city of Norwich in order to keep it on its feet. If the plant cannot be made to pay under the above conditions why not put in a line of furniture or clothes for men and women outside of the ladies aprons they now deal in on the installment plan? And if this don't work the chamber of commerce might take the matter up in connection with the cigar and bottle business in its monthly letter in regard to the benefits of Norwich and the prosperity of its taxpaying merchants.

A Taxpaying Merchant.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Field Marshal Sir William Birdwood, whose latest promotion to the highest rank in the British military service is coincident with his appointment to the command of the forces in India, has had a long and brilliant career as a soldier. Since he completed his training at Sandhurst and entered the army in 1883 as a lieutenant in the Royal Scots Fusiliers he has seen active service in South Africa, in India, and in the great war in Europe. In South Africa he was military secretary to the commander-in-chief, General Lord Kitchener, and was severely wounded while fighting the Boers. It was in the recent World war, however, that Sir William distinguished himself in a manner to make his name remembered in history. He commanded the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps in the ill-starred Callipoli campaign, and afterwards commanded the Australian forces in France. He was known as "The Soul of Anzac."

Thief Detector.

Valuable metal had a habit of disappearing from a German factory recently, so a clever scientific thief detector was rigged up by the physicists connected with the works. At the end of the day's work each employe was required to remove his knife and other metallic personal possessions from his pockets and pass through a specially constructed gateway. This was so wired that any concealed metal being taken away illicitly would make itself known by inducing a current in a device that emitted a loud warning signal for the guard's benefit. The loss of metal has decreased markedly since the construction of the device.

FUNERALS

Mrs. William E. Jones.

Funeral services for Lottie May Willis, beloved wife of William E. Jones of Wequestequock, formerly of Norwich, were held Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the parlors of Church & Allen, 15 Main street. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, many from out of town and the many beautiful floral forms were a testimonial to the esteem in which she had been held by her many friends.

The service was conducted by Rev. Edward C. Dunbar, pastor of the First Baptist church, and Nearer, My God to Thee and the Christian's Good Night, were sung by Mrs. Helena M. T. Church.

Burial was in the family lot in Yantic cemetery where the committal service was read by Rev. Mr. Dunbar. Friends acted as bearer.

Mrs. Jones pased away Thursday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock at her home in Wequetequock following an illness of about one week, of pneumonia. She was born in Providence, the daughter of Irving J. Willis and Louise Wilson Willis. Practically her entire life was spent in Norwich where she had many friends who learned of her death with profound sorrow. She was a member of the Norwich Grange and the Royal Neighbors of America. Ladies' Auxiliary of the Woodmen of America, New London branch.

In Norwich she was united in marriage with William E. Jones, the couple making their home on the West Side. About two years ago the family moved to Wequetequock.

Besides her husband she is survived by an only son, Irving Howard Jones of Wequetequock, and her father, Irving J. Willis of Norwich.

Miss Thelma L. G. Johnson.

After an illness of about 10 days of diphtheria, with complications, the death of Miss Thelma Louisa Gustava Johnson, 17, daughter of Iver and Anna Johnson of 5 Johnson Place, occurred Saturday night about 11 o'clock.

She was born in New York, May 15, 1908, but came to Lisbon when a child, with her parents. After living in Lisbon for four years the family moved to Norwich about 2 years ago making their home at 5 Johnson place. She was a graduate of Elizabeth street grammar school and was attending the Norwich commercial school. She was a member of the Swedish Lutheran church and was popular with the younger set of the church, as well as many other friends in the city. Of a quiet and loving nature and possessing a pleasant disposition she was well thought of by all who knew her and news of her death will be received with regret by a wide circle of friends who extend their sympathies to the bereaved family.

Surviving besides her parents are two brothers, George and Carl, and four sisters, Viola, Anna, Hilderzard and Greta, all of Norwich and several uncles, aunts and cousins in New York.

William J. Reilly.

The funeral of William J. Reilly took place from his home on Orange St., New Haven, at 9:30 Saturday morning. In the solemn mass of requiem at St. Joseph's church at 10 o'clock, the celebrant was Rev. John J. Reilly of Norwich, son of the deceased, the deacon was Rev. Chas. Cavanaugh of Middletown, the sub-deacon, Rev. Alfred Driscoll of Bridgeport and the master of ceremonies the pastor, Rev. Andrew F. Harty. The Censer-bearer, Rev. Raymond O. Callahan of New London. Thirty-seven other clergymen were seated in the sanctuary, including Rt. Rev. Monsignor M. H. May of Norwich and Rt. Rev. Monsignor Edward Flynn, of Hartford.

Monsignor May assisted Father Reilly in the final absolution following the mass. About forty Sisters of Mercy attended the services. The choir sang as a waiting hymn "When Evening Comes" and a quartet sang "Thy Will Be Done." As the body was borne from the church the choir sang "Nearer, My God, To Thee". Burial was in Mt. St. Benedict cemetery. Rev. Emil Wilson, of Bridgeport, read the committal service, the other clergymen assisting in the responses.

Rev. Myles P. Galvin, Rev. Raymond O'Callahan of New London, John P. Corcoran, William Dougherty and Mrs. M. H. Donahue, motored to New Haven and attended the funeral.

MOTORCYCLE TIPPED OVER ON NORTH MAIN ST.

Saturday afternoon about 6 o'clock, Walter Matthews of Baltic, who was operating a motorcycle with sidecar turned out sharply to avoid hitting an automobile that was pulling out from the curb on North Main street alongside of the old car shops. The motorcycle tipped over and Mrs. Matthews, who was riding in the sidecar was thrown out, sustaining injury to one knee.

Charles E. Riley of 259 North Main street, who was driving the automobile agreed to settle for the injuries to Mrs. Matthews.

HIT STONE WALL IN AVOIDING A COLLISION

John Sullivan of Taftville, driving a Dodge sedan belonging to Thomas J. Shahan which is used in jitney service, reported to police headquarters Saturday night about 10 o'clock that he was forced to turn his machine sharply to the left and run into a stone wall on a curve on the Fitchville road to avoid a collision with another automobile that came near running into him. The sedan had the left front wheel smashed and the glass in the right side of the car was broken.

The name of the driver of the other machine was not learned.

MERCHANTS BANK'S NEW BUILDING IS FINE MODERN BANKING HOUSE

The latest addition to the bank buildings of the city, the fine new modern building of the Merchants National Bank at 71 Main street, is ready for opening and invitations have been issued for the inspection hours on Wednesday from 4 to 6 and from 7 to 9 p. m. The new building will enable the bank to extend to its customers on a larger scale than ever before the helpful service that has been a distinguishing characteristic of its history since it was incorporated July 10, 1833.

The front of the new building is of red tapestry brick with limestone trim and granite base. In the center are two large bronze doors with a steel sash. The building measures 23 1-2 feet wide and 56 feet deep. It has a 20 foot ceiling inside with a mezzanine story in the rear which accommodates the directors' room, president's office and men's room.

Entrance to the building is made through a tiled and mahogany panelled vestibule directly into the public space. One is instantly impressed with the pleasing, yet dignified treatment of this room with its blended tapestry tile floor, imported marble wainscot, ornamental plaster walls and ceiling, steel sash windows and marble and bronze banking screen. On the right of the entrance is the cashier's space with marble rail and on the opposite side the customers' desk. The banking screen accommodates two tellers' windows and a bronze gate to the working space.

The working space is of good size, is very well lighted, has a battleship linoleum floor and is thoroughly equipped. The counter at the rear of the banking screen is equipped with steel counters and shelving of latest design.

The directors' room has a mahogany panelled wainscoting, tile fireplace, and with its equipment of mahogany furniture and beautiful lighting figures is very pleasing to the eye.

In the basement of the building is located a second tiled toilet room, the storage vault and boiler space.

To the right on the main floor is the reinforced concrete steel lined vault of ample dimensions in installing which the bank officers have provided a safe deposit vault that furnishes impregnable security. It is fireproof and burglar proof, having walls of concrete, reinforced with railroad iron, and its doors made of Donsteel, the new metal invented by the Mosler safe company, which is the only metal that will withstand the oxy-acetylene torch. The vault is designed to resist every conceivable kind of attack which could be made upon it either by the forces of nature, or the lawless element of mankind.

The 20-ton steel door of the vault is fitted with controlling devices designed to keep the door locked even if all the locks were blown or otherwise forced from the door. It is the boast of the manufacturers that once this door is locked it will defy all human attempts to reach the contents of the vault until the maze of safety devices is released by the time lock.

Under the main vault is another vault of the same size, of fireproof construction, fitted with the latest type of steel shelving, allowing for an excellent storage of books, supplies, etc. This is so arranged that every book of account from the first one used in 1833 down to within the last six months is instantly available when required at any time. In this vault is also ample storage space for bulky articles, such as pictures, brig a brac and similar articles left with the bank during the seasons when people are occupying cottages at the shore or on vacation trips away from the city.

Officers of Bank

The president of the bank is Frank L. Woodard who became a director April 1, 1895, was elected vice president Jan. 19, 1909 and president Jan. 8, 1924. Mr. Woodard is the veteran treasurer of the Dime Savings bank with which he has been associated 46 years.

James C. Henderson, who has been a director of the Merchant's bank since Aug. 5, 1915, is vice president of the bank, having been elected Sept. 2, 1924. He is treasurer and general manager of the Crescent Fire Arms Co., and a director of the Dime Savings bank.

Henry F. Powers, the cashier, is well known in banking circles for his ability and progressiveness. He came to the Merchants bank as assistant cashier after ten years at the Thames National bank and became cashier Jan. 8, 1924, after the death of Charles H. Phelps, who had been with the bank for 52 years

The assistant cashier is William Manley Eastwood, Jr., who was elected to that position Jan. 8, 1924, having entered the employ of the bank in 1917.

The clerical force includes Frank A. Powers, assistant teller; Leonard G. Partridge, general clerk; Miss Gladys Williams, bookkeeper; Miss Gertrude Topliff, stenographer; and Hans Rasmussen, messenger.

The board of directors comprises business men of long standing in the community and consists of Frank L. Woodard, president of the Merchants and treasurer of the Dime Savings bank; Joseph Hall, president of Joseph Hall & Son; James C. Henderson, treasurer of Crescent Fire Arms Co.; L. Henry Saxton, treasurer of Saxton Woolen Co.; Joseph P. Connor, of Joseph Connor & Sons; Herbert W. Gallup, of the Bishop, Bidwell Co.; and John Almy, treasurer of the Attawaugan Co.

The new building has been erected under the direction of the building committee, which comprised President Woodard, Cashier Powers and Director L. Henry Saxton. The following firms and individuals installed the fittings and equipment: Cudworth & Thompson, architects; Archibald Torrance, contractor; Mosler Safe Co., vaults; Williams Bros., heating; Robert Goldstein, plumbing; Archibald Buchanan, decorating; Hourigan Bros., furniture; Eaton-Chase Co., electrical; W. N. Hlock, steel counters, etc; Porteous & Mitchell Co., floor coverings; Shea & Burke, draperies and fixtures; N. S. Gilbert & Sons, rugs and carpets; Marble & Tile Works of New London, tile and marble; William H. Page Boiler Co., heater.

MOOSE INSTALLATION IS FOLLOWED BY BANQUET

Over 250 members of Norwich lodge, No. 950, L. O. O. M., and visiting Moose from out of town were present at the annual installation service, banquet and entertainment of the local lodge, held Sunday afternoon and evening, at Pulaski Hall on North Main street.

The meeting began at 3 o'clock with the installation of the following officers for Norwich lodge; dictator, R. A. Krohn; vice dictator, Bernard Wunderlich; prelate, John Mehrhols; treasurer, C. O. Wright; trustee for three years, S. A. DeRusha; sergeant at arms, Richard A. Sabrowski; inner guard, Henry Swartzburg.

The newly installed officers were inducted to their respective offices by Past Dictator George J. Goepfert, installing officer in the presence of guests from Hartford, Bristol, Waterbury and New Haven.

Following the installation many interesting sidelights of past performances of the "old timers" were revealed in talks by Herman A. Bruckner and Richard Marks. In the course of events the newly installed officers, as well as the members pledged themselves to cooperate to the last man in an effort to increase the membership of the Norwich lodge to 1,000 members.

Plans were made for an out door meeting and initiation and ceremonial during the month of June and announcement was made that this meeting would prove one of the greatest held during the life of the lodge in this city.

Following the meeting adjournment was taken to the banquet hall where the annual banquet was served, the menu being as follows:

Grape Fruit Cocktail
Roast Turkey
Brown Gravy Dressing
Mashed Potatoes
Cucumber Salad Green Peas
Cranberry Sauce
Rolls Coffee
Neapolitan Ice Cream
Assorted Cakes Cigars

After the annual banquet a delightful entertainment program was staged by a professional troupe from Boston. The numbers were extremely well chosen and the delighted audience insisted on a number of encores which were pleasingly given.

A vote of thanks was given the committee in charge of arranging for the installation and banquet on the success of the events of the day. The committee members to whom praise for the success of the day is due comprised Albert H. Kamisky, S. A. De Rusha, Charles Pierson, (banquet), George Seidel, (entertainment, Ivan Maynard, Charles O. Wright and R. A. Krohn.

Duluth

Although its harbor is closed approximately four months of the year by ice, Duluth is rated the second largest cargo shipping port in the nation in the annual report of marine commerce of the Duluth-Superior harbor, issued under direction of Major E. H. Marks, of the United States engineer's office. New York harbor only had more shipping than Duluth last year, and Los Angeles was third, according to the report. Then came Buffalo, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Ashtabula, O., and Boston harbor, Mass. Cargo freight, with a value of $516,837,517 in 45,416,956 tons, for a season of 238 days, was recorded for Duluth harbor. The net registered tonnage of the 3,993 cargo vessels which entered and left the harbor during the season was placed at 37,676,722 tons, while the total number of vessels of all classes to enter and leave the port was 9,783.

BISHOP ACHESON CONFIRMS AT THREE NORWICH CHURCHES

Rev. E. Campion Acheson, suffragan bishop of the diocese, visited the several Episcopal churches of the city, Sunday, to confirm classes at services held in the morning, afternoon and evening.

In the morning at 10.30 o'clock he visited Trinity Episcopal church where a class of seven were confirmed and one received into the church. In the afternoon at 3.30 Bishop Acheson confirmed a class of ten at St. Andrew's Episcopal church in Greeneville.

In the evening a confirmation service was held at Christ Episcopal church when rectors of the several parishes of the city were present and the congregation filled the church. The service began with a long processional in which the Service Guild of St. Vincent took part. During the service Bishop Acheson confirmed a class of twelve women and six men and also delivered a short address. The church was beautifully decorated, the flowers about the altar being memorials to relatives of members of the class, who have passed on to their last reward. The large offering taken during the evening is to be used to add to the Bishop's fund for diocesan work. A number of familiar hymns were sung by the congregation after which the service closed with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Acheson.

Announcement was made that a confirmation service would be held at the State Sanatorium, Uncas-on-the-Thames, today (Monday) for a patient at the institution.

The class for confirmation at Grace Episcopal church, Yantic, will be received on Wednesday evening, June 10th, when Bishop Acheson will again visit Norwich to perform this work for the church.

It was also announced that the first corporate communion of the confirmation class at Christ Episcopal church would be made at the 10.30 o'clock service on the morning of the third Sunday in May, which is also the corporate communion for the vestry of the parish.

SOUTH AMERICAN DOCTORS VISIT UNCAS-ON-THAMES

Uncas-on-Thames had a party of distinguished visitors Sunday when six of a group of South American physicians who are making a tour of inspection that includes visits to sanatoria and hospitals, visited the Norwich institution. They were accompanied by Health Commissioner Stanley M. Osborne and Dr. Cole E. Gibson, superintendent at the Undercliffe, Meriden.

They were guests at dinner of Dr. Hugh B. Campbell and afterwards were shown the provisions made at Uncas-on-Thames for the care of tuberculosis sufferers. They also visited Undercliff at Meriden and the Seaside at Niantic during the day.

Dr. Andres Gubetich, delegate from Paraguay, commenting on the tour said: "It is a delight to discover such scientific research work, such excellent equipment and such smoothly run sanatoria. Connecticut is giving its tuberculosis sick a grand chance for recovery in their fights for life.

"This state is far in advance of most countries and states in its developed child work. We today looked over the large children's sanatorium at Meriden for lung cases where we saw 325 young people improving under progressive methods. We went to Niantic where we saw on the seashore some sixty more being brought back to health and strength by the sun cure methods. We viewed the Norwich sanatorium and saw more than 200 adult patients being treated under conditions which can be matched in few places."

In the party were Dr. Andres Gubetich, professor of the faculty of medicine of Asuncion, Paraguay, Dr. Carlos R. Lardo-Arthes, professor of pathology of the National university, San Salvador, El Salvador. Dr. L. Garcia Maldonado, physician surgeon of the faculty of Caracas, Venezuela. Dr. Emygdio Jose de Mattos, sanitary inspector of the national department of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. Dr. Rafael Schiaffino, professor of the faculty of medicine of Montevideo, Uruguay. Dr. Juan Francisco Valega, chief of the practical work of the faculty of medicine, Lima, Peru.

From the United States they are going to Canada and then to Europe.

BROKE HIS NECK IN FALL OF SIX FEET

Stephen Morris, 46, of Parrsboro, N. S. Spences in building the new Bishop school building on Main street, Nova Scotia, employed by Contractor East Side, was fatally injured Saturday morning at 8:40 o'clock, when he fell from a scaffolding, a distance of about 6 feet to the ground, suffering a broken neck. Death followed within 10 minutes after the accident.

Mr. Morris was working on a five foot, 10 inch wooden horse staging. As he fell his chin struck another horse standing nearby, causing the break which resulted in his death.

With Eugene Monty, Mr. Morris was engaged in putting on grounds for picture moulding in one of the rooms of the school and Morris was sawing off a plug when he evidently lost his balance and fell. Workmen in the room rushed to his assistance as did Mr. Spencer and the latter immediately sent for the ambulance of the W. W. Backus hospital and arranged with Dr. Harry E. Higgins to be at the hospital when the ambulance arrived. A quick response was made but Mr. Morris died as the ambulance arrived in less than 10 minutes and the nurse and attendant were placing him in the machine.

Medical Examiner Dr. C. C. Gildersleeve was notified at once and after viewing the body gave permission to Cummings & Ring to remove it to their establishment on Main street. After an autopsy Medical Examiner Gildersleeve pronounced death due to fracture of the cervical vertebrae, evidently caused when Mr. Morris fell against the second horse striking it with his chin.

Mr. Morris leaves a wife and two children in Parrsboro, Nova Scotia, and an uncle, John White, who lives in Hartford. Word was immediately despatched to Mr. White and he arrived in Norwich Saturday afternoon and made arrangements with Cummings & Ring for sending of the body to Nova Scotia.

The body was sent from Norwich Sunday morning on the 11:40 o'clock train, accompanied by Mr. White and will arrive in Parrsboro, Nova Scotia, this (Monday) afternoon, where burial will take place.

Mr. Morris was a most capable workman and a man of quiet habits. Since coming to Norwich he had made many friends and his sudden and shocking death came as a severe blow to them, all work being suspended on the school building for the remainder of the day.

WRINKLES, LINES OR CROWS-FEET

Lemon Juice Tightens Skin

Squeeze the juice of two lemons in a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well and you have the very mildest anti-wrinkle lotion to tighten relaxed skin, erase fine lines and eradicate crows-feet.

Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion into the skin at night. By morning most of the tell-tale wrinkles, tired lines and crows-feet are smoothed out, giving a more youthful contour to cheeks, chin, throat. It leaves the skin velvety soft, clear and fresh.

Beauty experts use this astringent lotion for enlarged pores, also to bleach and whiten sallow, tanned skin.

Mix this harmless lotion yourself since it acts best immediately after prepared.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Dennis Bowen.

After an illness of about one week the life of Mary Enright, wife of Dennis Bowen, came to a close Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at her home at No. 49 Central avenue. Mrs. Bowen was born in Hanover, sixty years ago, the daughter of John and Mary Brickley Enright, but had made her home in Norwich for many years. In St. Mary's church about two years ago she was united in marriage with Dennis Bowen who survives her with one sister, Miss Elizabeth Enright, of Norwich.

She was a member of St. Mary's Memorial church and always took an interest in church affairs. Of a quiet and loving disposition Mrs. Bowen had many friends in this city who will learn of her death with regret. Those left to mourn the loss of a loved one will have their sympathy in this time of bereavement.

Patrick Gallivan

Following an illness of some time the death of Patrick Gallivan occurred Saturday afternoon at the home of his sister, Mrs. John Hasler of 173 Norwich avenue, Taftville.

Mr. Gallivan was born in Ireland about 43 years ago but had made his home in this country for over 20 years and had been employed as a molder at the Richmond Radiator company. He was a member of the Iron Molders union of Norwich, and of the Norwich Arie, No. 367, Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. John Hasler, with whom he had resided, his Hasler, with whom he had resided, his mother, who resides in Ireland; a brother, Michael Gallivan, of Norwich; two brothers, John and Timothy in Ireland and one sister, Mrs. John Shea, in Ireland.

News of his death will come as a shock to his many friends in Norwich and those left to mourn the loss of a loved one will have their profound sympathy.

ACADEMY PLAYS BRILLIANT BASEBALL BUT LOSES TO LASALLE OF PROVIDENCE

Playing a form of brand new baseball, baseball that thrilled a large crowd of local fans and spectators, the Academy baseball nine fighting gamely went down to defeat at the hands of LaSalle, a fast team of ball tossers, who hailed from Providence by a score of 2-1. The score indicates how closely the contest was waged, but it does not indicate that the Norwich boys had a slight advantage over their rivals from little Rhody and were outplaying them.

The game was a great one in every sense of the word and it was no disgrace for the local lads to lose as they were losing to a fast team of players. A game similar to the one witnessed on Saturday has not been seen on the campus for some time and the featured playing of both teams was greatly applauded by the onlookers.

La Salle drew blood in the very first rounds with two out Victory got on stole second, stole third when McElroy was passed and came home on Chapman's timely single. In the fourth the visitors added another run, when Chapman socked the pill for a two bagger to left field and crossed the plate on a sacrifice hit by Smith. The La Salle aggregation could do no more, but the two runs achieved in the early innings proved to be sufficient to win. Although leading by two runs throughout the contest the La Salle boys were continually menaced and were not sure of winning until it was all over.

The visitors found Jarvis deliveries for six hits, most of these being bunched and going for their two tallies. Moran, although pitching a good game for the visitors was no mystery for the Red and White batters to solve. They found his deliveries for eight hits and went for only one run.

Jarvis started the game and pitched air tight ball, deserving to win but Old Lady Luck was not smiling his way. He struck out nine husky opponents and bested Moran with out doubt. His deliveries kept the opposing batters puzzled and after taking some healthy swings that simply cut the air, they went back to the players' bench in a surprised way, wondering what it was that Jarvis was feeding them.

The Academy played a fine game on the defensive, the infield working in fine fashion and stopping many hot liners that seemed to be hits. It is true that there were one or two slips made in the early rounds that could have been avoided, but the team made up for them by their fine support in the latter part of the game. The locals staged one or two rallies to cover up things getting men on bases, but these rallies fell through either because the player did not hit timely or because of the fine defensive work of the La Salle team. In the ninth, however, things were started a humming when with one out Hinrichs got a clean single to left field and stole second. Cimokoske flied out to Victory, making it two out. Greene was walked and the crowd went wild with joy. Barker, the next man up was reliable, making a single to left field, Hinrichs going to third and making for home, beat out the throw to the pan. Hinrichs had used his head to good advantage and his run sent the fans into the air with joy. Things began to look dark for La Salle. Greene was at present stationed on second. Mish, the next batter failed to do anything, thus ending the rally and the game. It was a game fight, but La Salle had a sufficient lead to win.

For the Academy Hinrichs was all there as usual, making two hits out of three trips to the plate. Mish also had his eye on the ball making two safeties in three chances.

For La Salle, Chapman started making a two base hit that later was sent across for a run. His performing at the shortstop position was also spectacular, robbing the Red and White players of some sure hits.

What was greatly enjoyed by all was the spirit in which the home team fought. It was the spirit that was part of the old Academy team of bygone years, the spirit that wins ball games. With this new fight in their system, the home team will bear watching and will be due for many wins in the future.

The crowd was given a treat to some good ball playing Saturday. They have a team that has stuff in it that is worth backing and with their backing behind it much more will be accomplished.

The team will not begin practice until Tuesday on account of a game to be played. On Wednesday the local between Lyman High and the Academy second. On Wednesday the local ball tossers will again be seen in action. This time it will be against Chapman Tech, one of the leaders of the Eastern Interscholastic league this year and ancient rival of the Red and White. The game is scheduled to be played at New London.

Notes on the Game

Mish is favoring thus far this season with his hitting. He is leading the Red and White batting [illegible] his did not [illegible]sh and Jarvis make a good looking combination. With just a little more confidence Mish will play the backstop position in a remarkable way.

Burke showed up better today. It was his single in the ninth that sent Hinrichs home. Burke needs still to steady down a bit on the offensive end of the games.

Greene has made a hit with the crowd. Every time Greene smiles the fans know something is coming. When [illegible] one person would think the [illegible] the [illegible]ing [illegible] up [illegible]n

Old man weather shed a few tears but he finally decided to desist after noting the style in which the locals were playing. Here's hoping that he convinces Old Lady Luck to roll over and smiles sweetly on the home team for the rest of the season.

AGGIE TRACK TEAM WINS FROM R. I. STATE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, Ct. May 3—The Connecticut Aggie track team won its first dual meet of the season, when Rhode Island was defeated here by the close score of 69, 2-3 to 65, 1-3. Connecticut got a way to a good start and piled up an early lead in the running events, but Rhode Island came back strong in the field events and made a strong bid for victory. The broad jump was the last and deciding event on the program, and Johnson saved the day for the Aggies when he placed first with a jump of 21 feet 4 1-2 inches. Captain Jacoby in the distance runs, and Quigley in the dashes also starred for the Aggies.

Captain Jacoby, the Aggies star two-miler placed first in the mile and two ile runs. In both of these events, the race resolved itself into a contest between Jacoby of Connecticut and Strong of Rhode Island, with the remainder of the field some fifty to seventy-five yards in the rear. Jacoby got away to an early start in both events, and maintained a pace that Strong was unable to overcome, though he kept within a few yards of the Aggie leader for the entire distance.

In the dashes, Quigley was easily the best man of the field, placing first in both the 100 and 220 events. In the hundred, the Aggies made a clean sweep, with McCarthy and Kane following Quigley to the tape in the order named. Quigley turned in time of 10, 3-5 for the century.

"Val" Johnson, with three firsts and 15 points to his credit, was the high scorer this afternoon. He was first to the tape in both the 120 and 220 hurdles, and his first place in the broad jump was all that saved the day for Connecticut in the final event of the afternoon. Johnson was track captain last year, and is one of the mainstays of the Nutmeg team. Connecticut placed first in nine of the fifteen events run off.

For Rhode Island, the work of Strong in the running events, Hall in the high jump, Brown in the javelin throw, and Lawton in the discus, was the best.

The summary:

100 yard dash: Quigley, C; McCarthy, C; Kane, C; time—10. 2-5.

220 yard dash: Quigley, C; Orr, R. I; Kane, C; time—23. 4-5.

ROBERTSON'S WILDNESS LOSES GAME FOR CHICAGO

Chicago, May 3—Charley Robertson's one base on balls and a wild pitch paved the way for his defeat, St. Louis winning from Chicago, 3 to 2. Both Robertson and Wingard pitched great ball, the former having only one bad inning.

Sensational fielding, including two double plays, helped the St. Louis southpaw. Mostil and Williams each cracked out home runs.

George Sisler in smashing out a single in the first inning ran his record of safe hitting in consecutive games to eighteen. Score:

RIVERVIEW WINS SLUGGING MATCH FROM MERIDEN

The Riverview club fattened their batting averages at the expense of Meriden Saturday afternoon at the State Hospital diamond and walked away with a 19 to 9 victory over the International Silver Co. team. The game was full of action from start to finish if the fans care for heavy slugging and a one-sided game. There was plenty of heavy hitting, all of the hospital players registering in the hit column except Paul Zemke who pitched the last three innings after the Hospital was well in the lead. # LAST WEEK IN MAJOR BASEBALL WAS FEATURED BY CLOSE SCRAMBLE FOR LEAD

New York, May 3—(By the A. P.)—Philadelphia teams shared the center of the baseball stage during the third week of play under the big league tents.

Splitting series with the champions in both circuits, the Phillies and Athletics precipitated a general first place scramble, which makes possession of the trail-blazing post sufficiently uncertain to focus no small interest on the approaching initial tests between contenders of the East and West.

After succumbing to the fast-stepping Giants in the first two games of their series, the Quakers turned on the National leaders with a blinding barrage of hits to capture the third and fourth tilts. They then closed the week with two wins in three starts against Boston. As a result of the checking of their march, the New York tossers found their grip on first place no firmer at the close than it had been at the opening of the week, with the running-up Cubs but one game behind.

Dropping only one contest out of five—that to the Reds—the Chicago Cubs were able to take advantage of a temporary collapse on the part of Cincinnati's pitching staff by moving into second place yesterday.

Pittsburgh, rated by the critics as a foe to be reckoned with in the Giants camp, began to find itself. Starting from seventh position at the close of last week, the Pirates hewed their way up to the fifty deck by taking three straight games, winding up with a powerful offensive which overwhelming the Reds, 18 to 2. Two victories over the Cards had preceded this triumph.

A four-cornered fight for the American lead was prolonged, with the top pegs affected by four changes. Cleveland opening in the pacemaking saddle, only to lose the honor on Monday jointly to Washington and Philadelphia, only to have the Senators step into clear possession of the lead Tuesday, while the men of Mack and Speaker were late. A decisive victory over the champions on Saturday by the Athletics hurled Stanley Harris's club back into second place again as the Indians, scoring their fourth win in five games once more took the lead.

HERRUPS SOUNDLY TRIM MOOSUP TEAM, 9 TO 3

The Moosup baseball club took a terrific 9 to 3 beating from the Herrups team of Hartford Sunday afternoon, at the Corner Grounds at Moosup. The visitors started off in the first inning with a bunch of hits that resulted in five runs. The home club was retired, the players seemed to be off their game, allowing several scratch hits with everything Chick Dow's offerings. In the second frame five safe hits were in four times runs which put the visitors in the lead with One hitch [illegible] it almost impossible [illegible] balls. In the seventh inning Duffy the stocky Herrups catcher popped one over the right field fence for a circuit clout scoring the first run for the home club. In the ninth inning the Herrups found itself with [illegible] on [illegible] through [illegible] sent in a run and scored on W. Liberty's hit. The scores.

POETRY FOR THE WIDE AWAKES

Mischievousness

What right have I to crush the work
That crawls beneath my leaden foot
Or, prod the bug to see it squirm
Torment the lamb to hear it bleat?
What right have I to cast the gun
By falling song birds on the wing
And proclaim, Oh, this is fun!
Just watch me made the songsters sing!

Have I a right to crush the flower
Or pluck its petals—one by one?
Or tear the grapevine from its bower
Then cry for fruit when there is none?
Have I a right to mar the trees
Or lay them low by needless fires?
Exterminate a hive of bees
To gratify my own desires?
No man was placed upon this earth
To rule the field, the beast, the bird—
The Master King did not give birth
To man to wreck His work and word.

Adolph Hotlen.

Beavers

We've built a dam in the Valley,
On the course of the Little Horn,
And mighty oaks have fringed it
From drifting acorns born!
We've seen the days primeval
When tawny hunters came
In barks adown the ravids
For fish and meadow game!

We've seen the yellow birches
A-flush against the sky;
Dhauturna's colors tinging
The tides that darkle by!
And some of us are aged,
The grandsires of the clan,
With seasons' shifting fall-ward
Beyond the haunts of man!

The snows lash down the Valley
Along the Little Horn.
But garnered is our forage,
In stores of bark and corn;
And while the blizzards whitten
And ice-doors snap and creak,
We fluff our leafy covers
And curl to pleasant sleep!

UNCLE JED'S TALK TO THE WIDE AWAKES

Throughout the United States last week people everywhere observed what was called American Forest Week. The week was set aside as a time to bring to the attention of the people of the country the unnecessary waste caused by forest fires. Every year forest fires cause losses of millions of dollars. [illegible] have been cases where whole villages have been burned down by forest fires. It is high time that we get the timber to build our homes mills public buildings, schools, furniture so you can see how important it is to protect the trees from waste by forest fires.

Boys and girls can help to conserve the trees by being careful with fire while they are in wooded areas, on hikes, at picnics and while they are camping. Here are a few simple rules which, if observed, will help reduce the number of forest fires.

When you are using matches to light your camp fire be sure your match is out when you throw it away. The best way is to throw it right into the camp-fire and not away from the fire where it may land in dry grass.

Before building a camp fire be sure to scrape away all inflammable material from a spot five feet in diameter. Dig a hole in the center and in it build your camp fire. Keep your fire small. Don't let it get so big that it will spread and never build it against trees or logs or near brush.

When you leave the camp or picnic be sure the camp fire is out. Don't leave burning embers as they might break out in flame again and cause a serious brush fire. Be sure the last spark is dead before you leave.

A Present

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you how I received a present. One day as I was playing outdoors with my friends my mother called me. I went in and she told me to go to the store.

When I came back there was a number of girls in my house. I asked my mother why they were there. She told me that they came for a visit.

While we were talking we heard a knock at the door. I went to see and it was a friend of mine. I told her to come in.

She handed me a wristwatch saying "This is a present for you." I thanked her very much. We played many games. Night came and they had to go home. We had a lovely time that day.

The Sponge

Dear Uncle Jed: The sponge is a most useful and interesting plant. It grows on rocks under the water and is a kind of sea-weed. People go and pick it and dry it and wash it, because little fish and insects live in the holes of the sponge. Some are very fine and soft, babies are washed with them. The sponge has many uses. One is to wash the face. Second when the other sponge is put over your nose, breathe hard and don't kick, and your teeth will come out easy.

Third, put some water on a sponge and squeeze it at the children in the morning and that will wake them up. Another interesting thing is done with sponges, and this is when they go under an operation. Sand and shells are found in a sponge. I think it is a nice idea to know about the uses of a sponge.

How many of the Wide Awakes have read and studied about sponges?

Saw a Coon

Dear Uncle Jed: One Saturday night we were coming home from the city. We go up to the foot of a hill. A coon ran across the road. It ran into a bar way. When we got home we took the groceries out of the automobile. Then my father and brother took the automobile and went down there but couldn't find it.

A Hungry Fox

Dear Uncle Jed: One morning when my mother got up she looked out of a window and she saw a fox. He had a big bushy tail and he was brown. He went in back of our shed and stayed there a long time and then he went away.

After I got up I went out there and I found some feathers, where he had eaten a hen.

One morning in the winter we saw a fox in one of our corn fields. He was looking for something to eat. After a while he went away.

Saw a Deer

Dear Uncle Jed: One day our father told my brother and I to get the cow. We went and took the dog with us. When we had looked all around in our field we went in the second field to look. The cow wasn't there and so we went in the third field. There we saw a deer with large horns. We had a stick and we pointed it at her and she ran.

Picking Blackberries

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you and the Wide Awakes about a trip I made to grandpa's farm last summer. I went out in the lot late in the afternoon and by five o'clock I had picked four quarts. I thought that was very good for a little girl.

The Scratching at the Door

Dear Uncle Jed: One day I lost my dog and I looked everywhere for him. The next evening while I was eating my supper I heard a scratching at the door. Thinking it was my dog I was very glad. When I opened the door who do you think it was It wasn't my dog but my cat. I was very disappointed.

My mother said it was a good thing that it wasn't on April 1st for that would have been a good April fool on me.

Trip to Sandy Point

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my trip to Sandy Point. Last Saturday my father and I thought we would go after clams. So we got our pails and hoes ready, and started down to the river where our motor boat was. When we got there my father tried to start the engine but it failed to start but after we were there about a half hour we got started off. And it took us about two hours to get there. When we landed we were just in time to dig. We stayed until we dug about two bushels.

ADDISON VARS, Age 9.

Joe's Reward

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my fourth letter to you. I am going to tell you about Joe's reward. Mrs. Brown, a poor widow, had a little boy whose name was Joe. She managed to send him to school. On Saturday he would run errands for a big store. The man who owned it gave Joe a letter for a gentleman who lived far off.

As he was going on he met two of his schoolmates who were watching a white rabbit eat. They asked Joe to stay with them, but Joe said he could not, but when he came back he would stop.

He came to the gentleman who said, "If you had come five minutes later I would have been gone. Here is 50 cents for you." Joe went home and gave his mother the fifty cents. She was very glad and thanked God that she had a good boy like that. I hope the Wide Awakes will like my story.

Our School

Dear Uncle Jed: I am going to tell you about my school. We have a picture of the Chelsea bank where we put our money. There are fifteen children in the school. We have a victrola. There is one big black board and six little ones. We have one entry to keep the wood in. My Uncle Elmer brings the wood. We have another one to hang up our hats and coats. There are three in the first grade, three in the second grade, three in the fifth grade, three in the sixth grade, and three in the seventh grade.

Thought They Saw Deer

Dear Uncle Jed: We had company one day in winter and they were going to stay all night. About nine o'clock my mother looked out the window and saw a deer. She called all of us and we thought it was a real deer but my father went out and it was only a rock with a little snow on it and we all laughed.

The Star Spangled Banner

Dear Uncle Jed: During the War of 1812 a British ship was anchored at Chesapeake bay. A young doctor by the name of Beanes whose residence was in Baltimore was captured by the British. Francis Scott Key, a lawyer and hearing this, rushed to free his friend. When he arrived he went right straight to the captain to get him to release Beanes, but the captain would not let either go. Throughout the night they watched with anxious eyes the bombardment of the fort and the bombs bursting in the air and the rockets' red glare. At the first rays of dawn he still beheld the beautiful banner waving. It inspired him and he wrote what became our national hymn, the star spangled Banner.

ORINA COTE, Age 12.

The Careless Boy

Dear Uncle Jed: This is my first letter to you and the Wide Awakes. I am going to tell you about Roland, a careless boy.

One day as Roland was going to school, he found a match. He picked it up. He lit a cigarette with it and threw it in the hay near a barn.

In a half hour all the barn and house and the chicken coop were burned to the ground. There was so much loss that Roland had to pay it all.

It was almost $1,000. Poor Roland! If he only could learn how to be careful. He would be a better boy.

THERESA CHENAIL, Age 11.
Wauregan.

The Cat

Dear Uncle Jed: The cat is a sweet animal. I love them very much. They are clean and pretty, and catch rats and mice, and let you pet them, and are fond of you if you are kind to them. They are very wise, and can find their way anywhere. Little cats are called kittens, and are dead things. I have two, named Hus and Buz, and their mother is Topaz, because she has yellow eyes. Topaz is very fond of rats. One morning when I went out to the barn she had caught five large rats. Some cats catch fish and are great enemies to birds.

I hope the Wide Awakes will be kind to the birds and dumb animals. Good bye for this time.

IDA ROODE, Age 15.

My Cat

Dear Uncle Jed: I have a very pretty cat at home. Her name is Pussy. She is brown and gray. She can jump through your hand and does all sorts of tricks. When I come home she follows me every place I go. At night we leave her in the pantry to catch the mice. One night she caught three small ones I like her very much. This is my first story.

RAYMOND ROSS, Age 11.
Norwich.

Had Narrow Escape

Dear Uncle Jed: One day in the summer at haying time my father had to cut some hay. He cut it with the help of his men. My sister, my cousin, and I went down there one day with him. It was near the water so we took our bathing suits and went in the cove. There was a railroad there and on the other side was a river. We were not quite so small then and did not realize that we should not go in there for we would be drowned. I was going to see how deep it was. I stepped on a rock that had some sea weed on it and slipped into the water. When I realized what was happening I called, "Oh, Mary!" (this is my sister's name). She jumped in after me. None of us could swim and there wasn't any one near to get us out. My cousin stayed out. I was just going under the third time when my sister caught me. I hung on to her but we could feel ourselves being carried out by the waves. She thought of handing one of the sticks to my cousin. (I had dropped them.) She did and he pulled us out.

DOROTHY BAUDRO, Age 12.
Gales Ferry.

The People Who Invented Our Alphabet

Dear Uncle Jed: Long before people knew how to write there lived a carpenter named Cadmus. He was one day working on a house when he wanted a tool which he had left at home. Picking up a chip of wood he wrote something on it, and handing it to his slave, told him to go to his home and give the chip to his wife, saying that it would tell her what he wanted. The slave did as he was told. When he returned to Cadmus with the tool, he begged for the chip. When he gave it to him he hung it around his neck for a charm.

We say our alphabet like this, A. B. C, and so on. The Greeks had a harder way. They called A-alpha, B-beta, and so on. So the Greek boy spoke of learning his 'alpha-beta" and that is why we call it the alphabet. The Arabs invented our figures which we use in arithmetic.

SOPHIE PLOPA, Age 12.
Norwich.

How America Was Named

Dear Uncle Jed: Do you know why our country has been named America rather than Columbus? I am going to tell you why our country has been named America.

This man Americus Vespucius was born in Florence, Italy and like other Italians he entered the service of neighboring countries.

He was sent to Spain and was sent to explore the continent. Columbus had discovered. He said that the new world was full of animals and that the climate was even more temperate than in Africa or Asia. After he had written many interesting facts about the New World, a professor said why shouldn't we name the New World America? Everybody agreed and they named it America in honor of Americus Vespucius.

A Visit to Hartford

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first letter I have written to the Wide Awake Circle. I want to tell you about my trip to Hartford with my grandmother. In the afternoon we went to the Capitol theater. We saw a wonderful place. Then my uncle took me to see the Wethersfield prison. The prison is a large building made of brick. At one end of it is a big high wall. Then my uncle took me to see the capitol. It is pretty just when the sun is setting. The next day we came home.

RUTH MORRELL, Age 10.

A Gray Squirrel

Dear Uncle Jed: I have written to you before. Now I am going to tell you about the gray squirrel I saw. I was sitting on a fence fishing one day and I heard a noise in a tree nearby. I looked and say a squirrel sitting on a branch. Then I said, "Come chipping, chip chip." and he began to run from tree to tree. Once I thought he would fall but he didn't.

Pretty soon I felt a bite and I landed a fish. When I went to look for the squirrel he was gone.

I only caught one fish and I was getting tired of fishing so I went home. That is all I can tell you about the squirrel.

SIDNEY COLLINS, Age 13.

Saw Red Berries

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written. I thought you would be interested to learn about berries. One day I was out in the woods. I saw some red berries so I took some home and asked my father what they were. He said they were partridge berries. He told me they were good to eat so I ate them.

I went out again and found a bird after them. These berries grow on the side of a hill. The flower is white and the vine is green.

HARRY WHIPPLE, Age 13.
Ledyard.

The Italian People

Dear Uncle Jed: This is the first time I have written to you. I am going to tell you about the Italians. The Italians live in Italy. Italy is in the southern part of Europe. It is a very warm country. The Italians have dark hair and eyes. They raise oranges, lemons, peas, peaches, and olives.

The peasant children sleep on the floor. The grown people sleep on stocks, of straw laid on the plank floor above. Their houses are made of rough stone and mortar and in some cases covered with stucco.

The smaller houses have but two rooms a kitchen and bedroom. The floor is of stone and earth. The window panes are paper. The furniture consists of a bench two or three chairs and a table. The peasants have to wear cotton clothes and wooden shoes when at work in the fields.

Sundays and feast days their clothes are silk and woolen mixture. The food of the Italians is chiefly corn meal, polenta, and macaroni. I like to study about different nations.

How Would You Buy A Furnace?

IN THE PAST SOME PEOPLE HAVE BOUGHT CHEAP FURNACES. SUCH FURNACE JOBS HAVE USUALLY PROVED GASSY, DUSTY, AND POOR HEATERS. THESE PEOPLE HAVE SOMETIMES FELT THAT STERLING WAS TOO HIGH PRICED. A STERLING SYSTEM OFTEN COSTS NO MORE THAN THE CHEAPER FURNACE JOB AND IS WORTH A GREAT DEAL MORE BECAUSE IT DELIVERS COMFORT, HEALTHFUL HEAT, AND SAVES FUEL.

NOW IT IS EASY TO BUY AND PAY FOR A STERLING FURNACE ON THE CLUB PLAN.

All we are asking is a small membership fee to join the special Club. We will put the furnace in now while our men are not so busy as they will be this fall. You can buy just as cheaply now as if you waited until Fall.

Here is

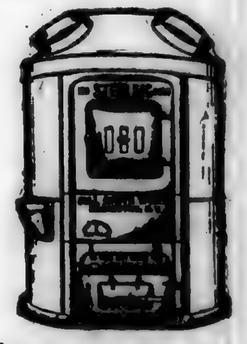
ALFRED E. CHAPUT

Direct from the factory. Furnace jobs to do good work must be designed by men who know their business. Heat losses from the house must be figured—not guessed at. The job must be properly laid out. We have made arrangements for Mr. Chaput's services through the manufacturers of Sterling Furnaces. He knows furnace work. He is here to help you and us solve heating problems. His advice is absolutely free. Be sure to see him.

You make your first payment September 1st with a year to pay. You gain by this exceptional offer because you get better workmanship than you might in the fall. We admit that in the fall rush our men can't do their best work. We will be just as frank about this club sale. It is an extraordinary opportunity. It gets you PREPARED for "Summer Comfort in Winter."

What's a furnace? So much iron and steel? If that is your thought you will never have the comfort of summer on cold winter days. You will always envy those who go South. There are all kinds of furnaces from those that fill the house full of gas, dust, drafts and dry hot air, to the Sterling.

The Sterling Furnace is installed under a Double Guarantee Bond signed by ourselves and the manufacturers.



Here are some of the features which make the Sterling high class heating equipment:

1. Heavy two-piece firepot.
2. Large straight sided combustion chamber.
3. Dust-tight square back ashpit.
4. Sterling triangular cutting grates—shaker bar on outside.
5. Gas-tight cup joints.
6. Two-way radiator. Same depth as combustion chamber.
7. Correctly proportioned air spaces.
8. Extra large air moistener.
9. Positive draft control.
10. Copper bearing steel

This is the chance of a lifetime to install a warm air heating system that will assure you "Summer comfort in Winter" for years to come.

The Red Terror Is True to Its Name

The Great World knows no worse disaster
Than letting Fire be the master.
—Old Mother Nature.

Fire is called the Red Terror by the little people of the Green Forest and the Green Meadows, and they could not have chosen a truer name. The very smell of it carries terror to the little people in feathers and fur. Little timid Whitefoot the Wood Mouse is no more frightened at the smell of smoke than big Buster Bear.

So it is not to be wondered at that Jimmy Skunk hurried home as fast as he could when he discovered the Red Terror just starting beside the road through the Green Forest. He felt that if he would be safe anywhere it would be at home under the henhouse in Farmer Brown's barnyard. You see he knew that Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy could and would fight the Red Teror if it should come that way.

Just before he reached home he met Mrs. Jimmy and the children starting out. Jimmy stopped them. Mrs. Jimmy looked at him in surprise for it was clear that Jimmy was frightened and Mrs. Jimmy couldn't recall ever having seen Jimmy afraid before. "What is it?" she asked.

"It's the Red Terror!" cried Jimmy. "It has started to eat up the Green Forest over there along the old road, and you know what the Red Terror is when once it gets started. Keep the children at home. It will not be safe for them to go anywhere to-night, for there is no knowing where the Red Terror will go. I've hurried as fast as I could so as to get here before you had led them somewhere where the Red Terror might come. I'm quite out of breath, my dear."

"It's the Red Terror!" cried Jimmy

Meanwhile Mrs. Jimmy had been looking toward the Green Forest. At first she could see no signs of the Red Terror, but while Jimmy was talking she saw a thin streamer of smoke rise above the tree-tops and grow darker and larger, until in a few minutes it was a cloud. Then in turn she became filled with the same fear that had driven Jimmy home so fast, and she headed the children straight back for their home under Farmer Brown's henhouse.

All this time the Red Terror had been growing from a wee fire in the dry leaves, where a burning cigarette had been thrown from an automobile, to a flaming, hungry monster that was spreading along that side of the old woodroad, but was unable to jump across it to the side nearest Farmer Brown's. Fortunately, there was little wind and that was blowing the other way. But how it did eat up everything on that side of the road! It ate all the dry leaves on the ground. It climbed up the bushes and burned off the leaves and the bark, so that while it left them standing it left them dead, dead and black.

It climbed a pine tree faster than ever Chatterer the Red Squirrel could do it, and almost as quickly as you can draw your breath the beautiful green top had disappeared, had been eaten up, and the Red Terror had leaped across to the next tree. It was beginning to snap and sputter and growl. And the smoke began to hurry ahead of it and warned the little people in feathers and fur that the Red Terror was loose and that they must fly or run for their lives.

And some there were who, receiving the warning, knew not in which direction to fly or run, and in their dreadful fear rushed toward instead of away from the Red Terror. And the latter, growling more and more angrily until the growl had become a roar, was ready to its name and spread terror in all directions, and the terror was the greater because night was approaching and many of the little people knew not where to go or what to do.

And all this terror and all this destruction was caused by the careless throwing of a cigarette from an automobile Jimmy Skunk knew, for he had seen it.

Norway has an interesting industry which few countries possess, namely, kelp burning. Seaweed burning is a source of income for many of the peasants along the entire Norwegian coasts, the total production of ash averaging about 2,000 tons a year. Practically the entire output is sold to iodine manufacturers in Scotland.

OCCUM & VERSAILLES

The Versailles M. E. church Friday evening added another to its long list of pleasant gatherings when a royal welcome was extended to its new pastor, Rev. Harvey H. Conklin, and the members of the pastor's family. The evening's programme began at 7:30, with Alfred R. Boutilier master of ceremonies. Howard R. Bushnell was organist. Rev. Mr. Conklin takes up the church work laid down by Rev. Chauncey W. Ruoff the first of April, on account of failing health. Rev. Mr. Ruoff having served the Versailles people for the past two years. Rev. and Mrs. Conklin were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Perkins and Rev. Edwin G. Crowdis, of Taftville Congregational church. Rev. Mr. Conklin, in replying words of welcome by A. R. Boutilier, expressed in a heartfelt manner, his willingness to serve the Versailles people in every way within his power. Rev. Edwin G. Crowdis gave a brief and very pleasant address. Enjoable piano solos were rendered by Miss Boutilier, violin solos by Howard R. Bushnell, there were recitations by Misses Ruth Allen, Ruth Frohmander and Katherine Topliff. A pleasing part of the evening's programme was the presentation of an elaborate decorated cake to Rev. Mr. Conklin, by Miss Margaret Boenig, and a May basket to Mrs. Conklin by Misses Ruth Frohmander and Katherine Topliff. Refreshments were served by Mrs. A. R. Boutilier and Mrs. W. G. Frohmander hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Fred Jones, Misses Helen Towers, Alma Boutilier and Mildred Cole. A committee consisting of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Boutilier and Mrs. W. G. Frohmander having the evening's programme in charge, received many complaints for the success of the reception. The church decorations, under the direction of Miss Boutilier, were done with taste and artistic effect.

Members of the Community group of the Versailles Y. M. C. A. went in a body to New London Thursday evening, visiting the New London association. The boys were accompanied by their leaders, Frank Hargreaves and John Macht.

STAFFORD

The Young People's branch of the W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. F. S. Buck. Mrs. Saran Dimmock of the Farm Bureau and Miss Elsie Prebue, State club leader, spoke to the young people and their parents of the work being done in cyclubs. The girls decided to form a Four H club, (head, heart, hands and Health). Their motto is to make the best, better, and the emblem a four-leaved clover. Mrs. W. A. Foster, and Miss Pearl McCluskey were selected as leaders.

Mr. and Mrs. John Foster are expected home this week. They have been spending the winter at Lyan Haven, Fla.

Dr. A. B. Meredith, state commissioner of education, of Hartford, will be the speaker at the High school commencement exercises to be held at Warner Memorial hall on June 26th in the evening.

The fourth annual conference of the Older Boys of Tolland county, to be held at Storrs college, Saturday, May 16th, under the direction of the Y. M. C. A. and the Tolland county Sunday School association.

Tests at the United States bureau of standards indicate that good leather and leather goods are not seriously damaged by being kept in storage under ordinary conditions for many years.

HIGHWAY "GOLDEN RULE" BULLETIN MAKES HIT

Permission to reprint the Connecticut motor vehicle department's April bulletin on "The Golden Rule on the Highways" for general distribution throughout California, Oregon and Washington has been granted to the industrial relations department of a large San Francisco corporation. In reply to a request to that effect, the Connecticut department has notified the California people that all the office publications here are free from copyright, issued for educational purposes and intended to be distributed and used wherever anyone thinks they are worth while."

The demand for the bulletin mentioned, in which the department appealed to the self-respect of operators in an effort to reduce traffic dangers caused by thoughtlessness, discourtesy and the manifestation of bad tempers, has taken the motor vehicle department unawares, and the circulation has reached nearly 12,000 copies with only a small supply now available to meet requests. The Connecticut department's bulletins, all of which are issued in the interest of better driving conditions, are now being received regularly, in response to requests, in thirty-seven states of the Union, two Canadian provinces, the Philippine Islands, the District of Columbia, London, England and Japan.

The states to which the bulletin is sent are those in New England, and New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Virginia, North Carolina, Maryland, Oregon, Minnesota, Indiana, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Washington, Oregon, Minnesota, Indiana, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Washington, California, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Ohio, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Montana, Kentucky, Missouri, Kansas, Alabama, Colorado, North Dakota, Nebraska and Texas.

In commenting on the last bulletin one man wrote to the department: "Make the careless or reckless driver realize that he is a fool and an incompetent and, if there is any spark of shame or pride left in him, you have him doing something that a million motorcycle cops could not make him do, viz: obey the laws and have a decent regard for the rights of others."

PENSIONED AFTER 42 YEARS SERVICE WITH RAILROAD

Among those recently pensioned by the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company were the following from Groton and Norwich:

Frank B. Lamb of 64 Cottage street, Groton, who entered the employ of the New Haven March 20, 1903, as drawbridge tender under Captain John B. Getchell at Thames river drawbridge, New London. On March 20, 1914, he was transferred to the Providence and New London Division, and in May, of 1922, he was made crossingman on the New London Division which was his position at his retirement after 22 years of continuous service.

Charles Sullivan of 46 McKinley avenue, Norwich, entered the employ of the New Haven on May 26, 1883, under Foreman Calvin Thomas at the Norwich yard as a section laborer. Two years later he was made engine cleaner for the mechanical department, and in 1887 as hostler helper. In February, 1903, he was promoted to foreman in the mechanical department and in March, 1918, he became a machinist, in which capacity he served until his retirement with a record of 42 years of continuous service with the "New Haven."

LADIES' RIFLE CLUB GIVES BIRTHDAY SURPRISE

Mrs. George Heibel, Sr., of Lisbon, was pleasantly surprised Friday evening, May 1, in honor of her sixtieth birthday by members of the Ladies' Rifle club, who presented her two large May baskets of flowers and fruit. She also received many other pretty gifts.

The evening was enjoyed in music and old time stories. Refreshments of salads, cold meat, cake, coffee and fruit were served by Mrs. George Heibel, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Winchester. The centerpiece of the table was a large birthday cake.

Those present were: Mrs. Bernard Krauss, Mrs. A. Kempf, Mrs. John Puchta, Mrs. Henry Erlbeck, Mrs. Joseph Waldron, Mrs. John Heibel, Mrs. Annie Fetterman, Mrs. Richard Thoma, Mrs. John Habberly, Mrs. Katie Cocker, Miss Annie Seidel, Miss Margaret Seidel, Mrs. George Heibel, Jr., and Mrs. Robert Winchester.

Back to Christ and Calvary

Thus saith the Lord, "Stand ye in the ways and see, and ask for the old paths, where is the way, and walk therein, and ye shall find rest for your souls."—Jeremiah, 6:16.

Back to Christ we all must go,
Back to Calvary's pain and woe!
Back to where He shed His blood
On Golgotha's Cross of wood.
We must see His wounds again;
We must share His grief and pain;
We must feel the shame and scorn
He for all the world has borne.

Back to Calvary we must flee,
If from self we would be free;
Tread the thorny path He Trod;
Share with Him the chast'ning rod,
We must seek the strayed and lost;
Like Him counting not the cost;
From the highways bring them in;
Seek the perishing to win.

Back to Calvary! Yes; oh yes!
We must leave sin's wilderness
Leave the gods of wood and gold;
Christ in Moses rod behold.
Lifted up for you and me,
To the Cross we all must flee;
Plunge afresh beneath the flood
Of all the all-atoning blood.

Back to Thee, O Christ, we come,
Nevermore from Thee to roam;
All our sins we bring to Thee;
Grant us pardon, full and free.
Back to Calvary! Sacred place!
Here we come to seek Thy face!
Look on us in pity, Lord.
Breathe, oh, breathe, Thy pardoning word.

—By Jennie Wilson Howell.

The Rhodora

In May, when sea-winds pierced our solitudes,
I found the fresh Rhodora in the woods,
Spreading its leafless blooms in a damp nook,
To please the desert and the sluggish brook.
The purple petals, fallen in the pool,
Made the black water with their beauty gay;
Here might the red bird come his plumes to cool,
And court the flkower that cheapens his array.
Rhodora! if the sages ask thee why
This charm is wasted on the earth and sky,
Tell them dear, that eyes were made for seeing,
Then Beauty is its own

THE WEATHER
Conditions

Pressure is low over the lake region with centers over southern Wisconsin and northern Lake Huron, and is relatively off the south Atlantic coast. During the last 24 hours, showers have occurred in the lake region and the Ohio valley. Elsewhere the weather has been fair.

It has become warmer in the north portion of the Middle Atlantic states.

The outlook is for unsettled weather with showers on Monday in the lower lake region, the Ohio valley and the Middle Atlantic and north Atlantic states. Elsewhere east of the Mississippi river the weather will be generally fair Monday and Tuesday. The weather will continue cool over Middle and northern states east of the Mississippi river.

Winds

North of Sandy Hook: Fresh, possibly strong south and southwest and weather partly overcast Monday with showers over west portion.

Sandy Hook to Hatteras: Fresh, possibly strong south and southwest and weather partly overcast with showers near the coast Monday.

Forecast

Eastern New York and New England: Unsettled, probably showers Monday; Tuesday fair, not much change in temperature.

Observations

The Bulletin's observations show the following changes in temperature and barometric readings Saturday and Sunday:

BIG BRUSH FIRE IN NEIGHBORHOOD OF SANATORIUM

A brush fire, which was reported to have started from sparks from the incinerator at Uncas-On-Thames, burned over more than half a mile of woods northerly from the sanatorium between noon and 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Squad A and Engine 6 of the fire department with Fire Warden Browning and numerous assistants spent the afternoon fighting the fire, which burned over lands of the Mary A. Morgan estate, Bushnell estate and Michael Maguire.

MAKES STATE SURVEY OF TAXATION OF CORPORATIONS' PERSONAL PROPERTY

The May issue of "Connecticut Industry", official publication of the Manufacturers' Association of Connecticut, contains the results of a survey which the association has made under the direction of Fred R. Fairchild of Yale, of the taxation of personal property of corporations throughout Connecticut.

The survey, which has been under way for some months, has necessitated an examination of tax records in every city and town of the state including Norwich and is complete and exhaustive in its extent. Acknowledgment is given by the association to the cooperation of Tax Commissioner Blodgett and his assistants as well as that of town clerks and assessors throughout the state. The survey was undertaken in the first place because of the possibility of changes in the tax laws and the necessity of having available accurate data concerning the exact operation of the present law in order that it might be intelligently understood by all taxpayers. Since the year 1917 no figures have been compiled on this subject and state and city officials have welcomed the work as a constructive contribution to the public records. This investigation has been held rigidly within the limits of scientific impartiality and its whole purpose has been to discover and present pertinent facts. No discussion of the merits of property taxes or gross sales taxes in general or of any proposed tax measure is heretofore contained in the report.

Before the survey was well under way the hitherto only vaguely discussed changes took the definite form of a proposal by Tax Commissioner Blodgett to substitute for the personal property tax a tax on the gross income of all corporations. Accordingly Professor Fairchild has included in his data for each town figures to show what rate on gross sales would be required to yield the same amount as the present tax.

In Norwich, where the present tax rate is shown to be 45.35 mills, the highest in the state, it is shown that a rate of 2.2 mills on gross sales would be required to yield the same amount as the property tax rate. Putnam with a tax rate of 33.5 mills would require a rate of 2.1 mills on gross sales and Windham with a rate of 24 mills would call for 9.8 mills on gross sales, and New London with 26.5 mills as its property tax rate would need to apply a rate of 3.6 mills on gross sales.

*The towns included are all those in which business corporations were assessed on more than $500,000 of personal property.

In this table it may be noticed that tax rates differ from those published by the tax commissioner in a number of cases. The tax commissioner published one rate for each town, but in many of the towns there are several rates on account of taxing districts, school districts, city and borough organizations, etc. In all such cases (about forty in number) a special inquiry was necessary in order to determine the rate borne by the majority of the manufacturing and mercantile property. The example of the tax commissioner's reports was followed in ignoring fire district rates, lighting district rates, etc. For the reasons already stated, these separate town rates should be regarded as giving a general idea of the situation only and they of course do not imply that these particular tax rates should or would be imposed upon gross sales in these respective towns. Conclusions as to this point should rest upon the combined figures of Table II.

In explanation of the following table Professor Fairchild says:

"The figures of property assessed are taken from original tax lists and the classification of property on these lists is generally very inaccurate. In particular the distinction between goods of merchants and goods of manufacturers is honored more generally in the breach than in the observance. In some towns all of both classes of property is regularly listed as goods of merchants, in other towns, as goods of manufacturers. As a rule neither taxpayers nor assessors show any interest in a correct classification. When ever possible, errors have been corrected in preparing this report but too much reliance must not be placed upon these figures as regards the classification of personal property. The only important respect in which this affects the accuracy of the results is in the common merging of machinery with real estate. It is probable that a considerable amount of machinery is still listed as real estate item, thus making the total of personal property somewhat smaller than it should be. Errors in distinguishing between goods of merchants and goods of manufacturers do not affect the accuracy of the conclusions to be drawn from this report, since such conclusions are concerned with personal property as a whole, not with the separate classes.

"For most of the smaller towns the ratios, when taken individually are not sufficient to furnish a basis for conclusions as to the effect of proposed legislation. This is due to (1) to margin of error in the reports of the local officials (2) the method by which the gross sales were apportioned, and (3) the fact that, even with perfect accuracy in the compilation, there would inevitably be considerable diversity in the relation between personal property and gross sales among the different small towns. This diversity appears even in the case of some of the larger towns listed separately in Table III, giving in a few cases ratios that appear a bit fantastic. This is, however, no more than was to have been expected, since there is in the nature of the case no uniform relation between personal property and gross sales in the several towns."

U. S. ARMY CO-OPERATION PRAISED BY BELGIAN PRIEST

The three great congregations at St. Patrick's church Sunday were stirred from the complacency of their numbers and prosperity by the simple and direct narration of the needs of the Philippine missions, by Rev. P. J. Puttemaus, of the Belgian Foreign Mission Society, with motherhouse at Brussels, Louvain. Father Puttemaus, who has been laboring in that field for six years, is in this country for a brief space, that he may acquaint American Catholics with the needs of the islands. When it became known that he is a native of Louvain, comes from the country of brave King Albert, charitable Queen Elizabeth and the revered Cardinal Mercier, there was special eagerness to hear him.

The Order of the Immaculate Heart of Mary to which he belongs has no parishes, being wholly engaged in spreading the Gospel in mission fields. In Amerika, the missionaries labor in Mississippi, Oklahoma and Arizona. Their New York headquarters is No. 2 Convent Hill and 139th street. This month before returning to the Philippines, Father Puttemaus is addressing the churches in Connecticut, going from Norwich to Sacred Heart parish, Waterbury. His appeal is not alone for funds but for additional priests, Sisters and lay brothers, who are so urgently needed in the Philippine Islands. It is no pleasure trip for the missionaries; they go with the knowledge that they are leaving father and mother, sisters and brothers and native land forever, consecrating themselves to the work until death. Yet such is the missionary zeal—the same zeal, he said which animated St. Patrick, St. Francis, St. Martin, St. Augustin, St. Barnabas, that already there are laboring in the islands 73 priests, 92 Sisters and 32 lay brothers.

In all fields, including China and the Congo, the Order has a total of 84 priests, 1,450 Sisters and about 400 lay brothers.

The population of the Philippines is 11,000,000, of which number nine millions are Catholics. Yet insurrection, avarice and adverse propaganda have done their work, so that many of the Spanish priests have been driven from the islands, leaving the great burden upon missionaries of other nations. The character of the obstacles may be judged from the fact that the workers have to deal with 2,000,000 pagans, of whom those in the north of the island of Luzon, for example, count it their glory to have the greatest number of heads of their foes to display. They live in primitive squalor, scarcely have a shred of clothing, know no family life.

Father Puttemaus eloquently praised the work of Christian civilization being done by the U. S. army in the islands, and paid a fine tribute to the ability and achievement of Governor-General Leonard Wood.

Already the Belgian Mission schools are self-supporting, the Sister-teachers having instructed their apt pupils in lace-making, the manufacture of brooms, shoes, et al. It is an interesting fact that in Eastern waters on nearly every ship of the navy of the United States—a country famed the world round for generosity and high principle—the brooms used come from the Catholic mission schools of the Philippines. Much of the lace made is sold in New York for the benefit of the missions.

Incidentally, there is now in progress an experiment on which the eyes of the world are fixed—a test in ethnology being made by one of the most learned of the mission priests, who was sent to one of the islands to study a people believed to be the most savage in the world—the Negritos. A celebrated ethnologist, at the suggestion of the Pope, who in his zeal yearned for the salvation of the souls of these benighted unfortunates, has been among them, in the endeavor to teach the primitive savages something of the truths of the gospel. Whether it will mean death or success, the missionaries are consecrated to the effort, zealously taking up their stupendous task among the 12,000 barbarians, as low as or even lower than the primitive races of Madagascar. The pioneer ethnologist missionary, by his investigations already has refuted the claim of writers who have maintained that the Negritos had absolutely no idea of a supreme being—a conception which prevails even among the lowest races of the globe. They have—and working upon this, it is hoped eventually to reach the minds and souls of the degraded beings and to bring many of them, if not all, into the fold.

Father Puttemaus' plain and practical story of the life-work of his heroic mission band touched, not only the hearts but the pockets of his listeners at St. Patrick's, who made a liberal offering toward the work; and others will leave further contributions at the rectory with Mgr. May, during the coming week. The preacher put it clearly before the congregations that, in this pleasure-loving world, they are remiss who leave neglected those who are laboring in the foreign fields, often discouraged and disheartened.

COLUMBUS AND LINCOLN PICTURES AT Y. M. C. A.

The parlors of the Y. M. C. A. were filled Sunday afternoon at the 4 o'clock service. After the opening exercises of songs prayer and scripture reading interesting moving pictures of Columbus and Abraham Lincoln were shown and these proved to be most interesting and instructive. Hugh Kinder rendered two vocal soles with good effect and Secretary Hill gave a brief talk, and among other things said, "Columbus was a great discoverer, and we owe him a great debt of gratitude. Likewise Lincoln was a great discoverer of another sort; he discovered that it was not the will of God that any of his creatures should be in physical slavery, and he set himself to free them and he accomplished his great task to the blessing of many. We, too, may all be discoverers, but the greatest discovery that any man can make is to discover that Jesus Christ died for his salvation; I trust every man here may make this discovery for himself, and then try his best to help others to make the same discovery.

JAIL INMATES IMPRESSED AT SERVICE BY Y. M. C. A.

Y. M. C. A. representatives conducted a meeting at the Norwich jail on Sunday morning at 9.15 o'clock. Hugh Kinder rendered pleasing vocal solos, Edmund A. Prentice read the scriptures and Secretary Hill made a brief talk on "From the Storm to the Calm," using for the basis of his talk the story of Jesus and the disciples in the boat on the stormy lake, where Jesus stilled the tempest. The speaker stressed the fact that there are tempests in many lives that only Christ can still, and that if only you men will let Him into your lives he will give you peace instead of the discord that now exists. At the close of the talk the speaker asked how many really wanted to take Christ as their Saviour and a dozen or more indicated their desire to do so.

SORE, TENDER FEET
RAW, ITCHY TOES

Irritating acid perspiration from the foot pores produces and aggravates cracked toes, itching between toes, rawness and tender, aching, swollen feet.

The moment you apply "Phillips Milk of Magnesia," all this soreness, itching and tiredness disappears. Just pat it on, it dries instantly. Nothing else stops foot odors, relieves foot soreness and foot weariness so promptly as this harmless antacid.

Insist upon genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia." All druggistores sell 25-cent bottles.

AUTOMOBILES TO BLAME FOR MANY DEATHS IN MARCH

Four hundred and twenty-three lives were snuffed out during the month of March in automobile accidents reported to the National Safety council by the eighty cities having a total population exceeding thirty million. Fifty of these cities reported 108 other public accident fatalities; thirty-seven cities reported 189 home accident fatalities and twenty six cities reported fifty-seven industrial fatalities.

The daily automobile death rate per million population increased from .359 in January and .437 in February to .49 in March. The greatest increase is found in deaths of children under 15 years of age.

Deaths by accidents in the home decreased in March as compared with February.

Notable in the National Safety council's monthly survey are the facts that male motorists were involved in more than twelve times as many accidents as female and twice as many male pedestrians as female were injured. The most common circumstances attending the occurrence of accidents as far as the motorist was concerned are "did not have the right of way," "exceeding speed limit," "cutting left corners sharply," "cutting in," "on wrong side of road," and "motorist intoxicated."

"Walking, running or playing in the street" accounted for many pedestrian fatalities. "Going into the street not at intersection," "riding or hitching on vehicles" and "crossing intersection against signal" were other common causes of fatal pedestrian accidents. The large majority of accidents occurred in day-light when the weather was clear and the road surface dry. Sixty per cent. occurred at intersections.

"Cities must provide better playing facilities with proper and adequate supervision in order to keep the children off the streets this summer and thereby reduce the growing fatality rate among children under 15 years of age," says the National Safety council in announcing the monthly report.

"The reckless motorist must be curbed, and it is the duty of each individual citizen to report the license number of automobile drivers operating their cars on the public street and highway without regard for other motorists or pedestrians. Pedestrians must be educated to cross at the crosswalk with the signal. Police and other city officials should study the local traffic situation by means of spot crying need for controlled arterial maps.

There is, according to the council, a street systems in order to lessen the number of motor accidents. It has been found by safety engineers and others studying the traffic problem that accidents are almost negligible where there is an adequate control system at intersections which is properly enforced.

BRANDEGEE'S MARYLAND HOME BRINGS $94,000

The late Senator Frank B. Brandegee's country home in Montgomery county, Maryland, with 300 acres of land, have been sold to Allen E. Walker, a Washington real estate man for a price said to be close to $94,000. This property, however, was encumbered with a $35,000 mortgage so the Brandegee estate receives only about $60,000.

This leaves about 700 acres of the late senator's other holdings in that vicinity to be disposed of. This remainder is expected to sell for over $100,000. But it is burdened with an $80,000 mortgage.

The plot already sold, including the house, is opposite the Burning Tree Golf club and not far from Glen Echo, a local amusement place. Mr. Walker expects to live in the Brandegee house he has bought.

YOUNG PEOPLE ENJOY HOME-TIME SUPPER

Forty young people enjoyed a supper given Saturday evening at 6.30 at the Community house for those attending the Home-Time of the United Congregational church.

The thirteen boys in the class of Herbert B. Cary in the church school were the guests of honor, having made the best record for attendance at Home-Time for a period of eights. The five girls of Miss Jane McG. Aiken received May baskets containing handkerchiefs in recognition of making the next best record.

The supper was served under the direction of a committee consisting of Miss Marian Beebe, Mrs. John Kukla, Miss Elizabeth F. Pullen, Mrs. W. H. Dawley and Mrs. Clarence A. Spear, while the waitresses were the Misses Elsie Adams, Elizabeth Higgins, Elisabeth Smith, Dorothy Rasmussen and Gerdtrude Gallup.

CENTRAL CHURCH LIKELY TO BUY GILBERT PROPERTY

A recommendation of the board of managers of the Central Baptist church for the purchase of the Gilbert property at 3 Union street is to be presented to a special church meeting on Thursday evening.

The property adjoins the church on the north and consists of a lot with about 65 to 70 feet street frontage and a four story brick apartment house on the northerly half of the lot. It is desired for use in the church's plan for enlarged facilities for the Sunday school and other departments.

For Arctic Animals.

The French minister of colonies has set aside, by executive decree, a number of islands owned by France in the Antarctic region as game sanctuaries for polar bears, walrus, sea lions and other animals. The protected area includes the islands of Crozet, St. Paul and Amsterdam, Adelia Land and the Antartic Coast between Doigt de Sainte Anne and Port aux Lapins.

TAFTVILLE

Miss Mildred Kloss of Lorenzo street has been a recent visitor in Hartford.

Miss Roberta Crowe has returned to South Manchester after passing a week's vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crowe of South A street.

The regular meeting of St. Jean Baptiste society was held Sunday afternoon at Parish hall.

The bi-monthly communion service was observed at the Taftville Congregational church, following the regular morning service of the church on Sunday. The pastor, Rev. Edwin G. Crowdis officiated. In the evening the meeting of the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor was led by Miss Isabelle Barritt.

Dr. George M. Thompson of North Second avenue and George N. Beardow of Providence street were Saturday visitors in Hartford.

Miss Dorothy Wood of Willimantic spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Wood of South Second avenue.

Harry Ingall's Checker Girls appeared again Saturday evening at Ponemah hall, with their musical comedy, jokes and sketches.

George Vlado, king of a gypsy tribe was again in the village Saturday and attracted a great deal of attention by his unique appearance. He was also smoking a huge curved pipe that reached to his waist. As he replied to questions of various people of foreign birth, each in their own language, it was evident that the king was familiar with the tongues of Pentecost and then some!

RUSS REDS' SPY SYSTEM TOUCHES ALL COUNTRIES

Soviet Russia's spy system does not stop at the Russian frontier. It extends to all countries, not only to spread Communist propaganda but to watch Soviet representatives in the outside world. Members of the intelligentsia who have entered the service of the reds in order to keep alive are watched more carefully than are the known Communists. Thus doctors who leave Russia to buy medical supplies and leaders of commissions sent to negotiate with other governments are kept in sight by members of the spy system. Usually two spies are sent to dog the footsteps of a suspected "white." Even the most important representatives are watched some times. Through the indiscretion of an agent it has become known that Rakovsky was watched during a stay in Baden. He went there with the avowed intention of taking the cure. One of his watchers took a room in the same hotel. He was the daily chess partner of Rakovsky's secretary and telephoned twice a day to the Soviet embassy in Vienna. But this man tried to play the game both ways and offered to obtain information for the Rumanians. Not satisfied with his returns, one day he menaced the members of the Rumanian vice consul's family with a revolver. Rumanians take especial interest in Rakovsky who was a Rumanian of Bulgarian descent, before he became Soviet commissar for the Ukraine.

FRENCH TROOPS IN MOROCCO HAVE HALTED TRIBESMEN

French Advanced Posts Had Been Surrounded—Reinforcements Sent to Relief Killed Fifty of Abd- El- Krim's Forces—French Officers Are Perfecting a Carefully Organized Operation to Clear Out the French Zone—Bulk of the Forces of the Riffians Are Assembling in the Center of a Sixty Mile Front.

Fez, Morocco, May 4—(By the A. P.)—A slight action by the French troops along the Guergha river at a point where it was necessary to get food and other supplies to French advanced posts which had been surrounded in the first drive by the Riffians, sufficed to bring comparative calm all along the front. These isolated posts had defended themselves single-handed until today, when General Colombat sent forward a small column to clear that region.

Abdel-Krim's forces left fifty dead on the field and lost a number of prisoners and a quantity of supplies. The French losses were insignificant, and so far the advanced posts have been able to keep the invaders at a distance with machine guns and three-inch field pieces.

The Riffian forces, however, had succeeded in slipping between the posts and assembling considerable forces south of the Guergha river. Although Marshal Lyautey is not yet ready to begin a carefully organized operation to clear out the French zone, it was decided that the tribesmen could not be allowed to proceed any farther, and a slight rush, it developed, was all that was needed to drive them back.

The lesson of this defeat is expected here to have the double effect of making the Riffians less audacious and of stiffening the resistance of the tribes in the French zone which have been solicited to join the invading forces. The followers of Abd-el-Krim, by slipping into the French zone at as many points as possible, had exercised an influence on a greater number of tribesmen than they could have done in a concentrated attack, and this made it difficult for the French to put a stop to an immediate invasion.

The bulk of the attacking forces seem now to be assembling in the center of the sixty-mile front of the present activities, which is called the "Skerbouaou line." This point probably will be the objective of the first French drive. Airplanes have been active during the past few days keeping the French headquarters informed of the tribesmen's movements.

Marshal Lyautey is quite satisfied with the situation and gratified at the results of today's action. It is anticipated however, that the Riffians will return to the attack with reinforcements as there is every indication that Abd-el-Krim is determined to make every effort to get to Fez and so deliver a blow both to the prestige of the French authorities and of the Sultan of Morocco.

HOUGHTON WARNS EUROPE ON ATTITUDE OF AMERICA

London, May 4—(By the A. P.)—Alanson B. Houghton, newly appointed ambassador to the court of St. James, made his bow to a British audience tonight at the traditional dinner of the Pilgrims, which is always the first welcome a new American representative to London and always the first to receive a full and frank expression of his views on vital matters which affect the relations between the two countries.

It was a night of plain speaking. Ambassador Houghton, in a brief concise address, told his audience, which included the Duke of York, Premier Baldwin and other members of the British cabinet and the most representative men of the realm, Ramsay Macdonald among them and others of every political belief, that the United States wanted a settlement of Europe's vexing problems, and that unless peace were established in Europe he feared the part the United States had previously played as an interested and sympathetic participants might give way to a lesser role.

In return, Lord Desborugh, the chairman, Stanley Baldwin, the prime minister, and former Premier Ramsay Macdonald, assured him of the interest in which the people of Great Britain held his pronouncements, and lay stress on their appreciation of the bond between the two nations.

GOLD STANDARD BILL PASSES SECOND READING

London, May 4—(By the A. P.)—The house of commons, after a comparatively brief debate and without division tonight passed the second reading of the gold standard bill and agreed to the necessary money resolution for putting into force the government's arrangements for restoring the gold standard.

The house had been extremely anxious to learn the details of the terms of the government's agreement for American credits to protect the bank of England's gold reserve.

Hence, the explanation of the bill given by the Right Honorable Walter Guinness, financial secretary to the treasury, showing that the country would not be liable for any interest payments unless it became necessary to utilize the American credits, was received with great satisfaction.

These credits are for $200,000,000, the first, amounting to $200,000,000 being arranged with the federal reserve bank, and the second, with the house of Morgan, amounting to $100,000,000. In each case the arrangement is for two years.

PRESBYTERY OF CHICAGO WOULD AVOID CONTROVERSY

Chicago, May 4—The Presbytery of Chicago today adopted unanimously an overture to the generally assembly of the Presbyterian church in the United States of America which meets at Columbus, Ohio, on May 21, intended to avoid controversy on what has been termed modernism and fundamentalism.

The overture urged the general assembly "to issue an encylical letter warning all persons subject to its authority to refrain from calling brethren who are in good and regular standing in the church 'rationalist', 'modernists', 'liberals', or 'fundamentalists.'"

OBITUARY

William Edward Critchlow

Macon, Missouri, May 4.—William Edward Critchlow, said to be the oldest traveling salesman in the country, died at his home at Shelbina, today. He was born in Kentucky, Nov. 4, 1822.

Dr. Henry G. De Kraft

Greenwich, Conn., May 4—Dr. Henry G. DeKraft, 86, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. M. Livingston after an illness of several months. He had been a practicing physician in New York city for more than half a century and was one of the pioneers in the therapeutic use of electricity.

MRS. JESSE M. BUDLONG LOSES SECOND SUIT

Newport, R. I., May 4.—Mrs. Jessie Margaret Budlong today lost her second attempt to secure separate maintenance from her husband, Milton J. Budlong of New York and Newport, in the superior court here. Her suit was dismissed by Judge Arthur Sumner on motion of counsel for the respondent who claimed that Mrs. Budlong had no legal residence in Newport.

A previous decision had favored the defendant and gave him custody of their two sons, following which Mrs. Budlong barricaded herself in Budlong's New York apartment and went on a hunger strike. Twice today in court, Mrs. Budlong burst into tears while being cross examined by Abbott Phillips of Providence, attorney for Mr. Budlong. She had contradicted testimony which he had given earlier in the day and he was attempting to have her change this.

The suit heard today offered wilful desertion as a grounds as well as neglect to provide, which was the basis of the first suit. Mrs. Budlong lost her first point in the morning when Judge Sumner refused to allow her counsel fees and custody of the children.

Further action in the Rhode Island courts is now barred for two years to Mrs. Budlong, until she shall have re-established residence. She made no statement of her plans after the suit had been dismissed other than to say that she would remain in Newport.

SIGNIFICANCE OF HOUGHTON'S PILGRIM DINNER SPEECH

Washington, May 4.—(By the A. P.)—Ambassador Houghton's Pilgrim dinner speech tonight was read with interest by high administration officials, although comment was withheld. While it was admitted that the address amounted virtually to a warning that American helpfulness in European reconstruction might cease unless the European nations were able to assure the American people "that the time for peaceful upbuilding has come," officials here made no effort to amplify or explain the ambassador's remarks.

Additional significance must be attached to Mr. Houghton's address because it was his first public utterance since he succeeded Secretary Kellogg at the London embassy, and also because it was made within less than a month after his departure from Washington, where he was in conference repeatedly with President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg in preparation for his new duties. His words gain added force as well because of the fact that he went from the Berlin to London embassy with only the Washington conference and a brief leave in this country intervening.

In view of the circumstances and despite official reticence here, it seems clear that Mr. Houghton was voicing the fundamental conception of the Coolidge administration as to the attitude America must take on European problems. Whether he was aiming directly at such specific questions as the outcome of the recent German elections, the somewhat unfavorable reception which met tentative administration feelers as to the possibility of a new arms conference and like matters, does not appear because of the general nature of the ambassador's remarks.

COUPLE MARRIED IN CITY PARK IN WILLIMANTIC

Willimantic, May 4.—An unusual marriage, considering the time and place, took place here tonight with one of the city parks as the scene of the ceremony.

Henry B. Pepin, 36, and Agnes Dasinet, 27, both of Windham county, of which Willimantic is a part, motored to Spring Hill, which is in the town of Mansfield and requested Rev. Leonard Smith to marry them. The clergyman notified the couple that as their license had been signed by the town clerk of Windham the ceremony could not take place in Mansfield.

The clergyman consented, however, to accompany the couple over the town border line and there performed the ceremony. The party motored to Willimantic City Park Springs, where with a taxicab driver as the only witness and the light from a street light 150 feet away, the ceremony was performed.

The United States now has aerial bombs six times as large as any dropped on either London or Paris during the war.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Two More Bomb Victims

Sofia, Bulgaria, May 4.—Two additional deaths of persons injured in the recent bomb explosion in the cathedral here occurred today. The men who died were Lieutenant Colonel of Reserves Nicolaf and Ambulance Colonel Tantcheff. As the entire country is calm the government has decided to allow the people to circulate in the streets until 9 o'clock in the evening.

Fought Duel With Swords

Rome, May 4.—Edmondo Rossoni, secretary of the Fascist labor unions and Signor Suckert today fought a duel with swords. The encounter lasted through six assaults, when it was ordered stopped by the physicians as Rossoni had twice been wounded in the right forearm. The wounds are not serious.

Prince Has Captivated Cape Town

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, May 4.—(A. P.)—The Prince of Wales has captivated Cape Town, and particularly its female population. When he drove through the city today on the commencement of his trip into the interior, women, old and young, turned out in their smartest attire and gave him a boisterous testimony of their delight.

STREETER ADMITS GIVING POLICE REPORT PUBLICITY

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 4—There was the liveliest sort of a meeting of the city council this evening because the much talked of report of the committee that had has been inquiring into the efficiency of the New London police has not been presented to the council nor to the city manager though the hearing of testimony was completed two months ago. Councilor Fox asked for a report and insisted upon having it.

When Mayor Clark interrupted to preserve order and asked the gallery to be patient with "this opera bouffe" and referred to grand stand play, Mr. Fox replied in hot words. He said: "Mr. Mayor, there never was a man sitting in that chair who has been as disrespectful to members as you have been." Then he hesitated a moment as if to control himself from severer condemnation. But he went on speaking with a great deal of heat. He said that two weeks ago the council was promised at its meeting that the report would be forthcoming in a few days. It has never appeared, but last Saturday a deleted report of all the testimony that condemned the police or members of it was published. That report was most unfair, he declared. He said that the men before the committee whose testimony was published, with a very few exceptions were not qualified to pass judgment upon the efficiency or the inefficiency of the department, and what those who were qualified to judge said as testifying was not printed. He said the whole purpose was to prejudice the public against the police and not to allow the men who were criticised to have a chance to defend themselves. He declared the manifest purpose was to remove the captain of the department and not to give him a chance to be heard. He told the council that the superintendent of the New Haven railroad here and in New Haven had written to the city management stating that the New London police force was the most efficient in the state. Mr. Fox asked why that gentleman was not called on to give his opinion to the committee. He volunteered the opinion that such testimony was not wanted. The purpose was to remove the head of the force and he said it was arranged in advance to do that. Turning to Councilor Streeter he accused him of having given the report to the Day, and finally Mr. Streeter admitted that he did give it to that paper. Mr. Streeter did not reply to Mr. Fox for several minutes and then he did not flat-feotedly admit his acts. Mr. Fox went on to say that the committee was holding up the police department to the ridicule of the citizens and to the state. He said the report was edited and deleted in The Day and declared that the committee was unfair to the police and to the council and the city. It then came out that one man who testified before the committee declared that he would not give any information if what he said to the committee was to be published as coming from him. That man is Federal Agent Avery. He was promised that what he said would not be published. Now it is published a betrayal of a promise and discreditable to the committee and to the city.

Mr. Streeter and Councilor Whiton explained that the committee was not appointed by the council but by the city manager and to him the committee was responsible. Then came the query from Mr. Fox "Has the committee reported to the city manager and did the city manager give the reporter the testimony that he printed?" Mr. Streeter got behind the director of law by saying that at a hearing in the council chamber some weeks ago the director of law declared that the testimony before the committee was public property and for that reason he gave the report to the newspaper. "But," replied Mr. Fox, "You have heretofore been antagonistic to the director of law and refused to accept his opinions."

Councilor Murray declared that as a member of the committee he knew nothing of the report being given to a newspaper, and said that it was not published with his consent. He admitted what was charged by Councilor Fox that the committee had held but one meeting since the conclusion of the taking of testimony by the committee and told that he had read in the newspaper statement attributed to Mr. Streeter in which he said that the report was to be submitted in a day or two. Mr. Streeter denied responsibility for anything that appeared in the newspapers "unless the statement was over his signature."

Republicans Win in Branford

Branford, May 4. — The annual borough election was held at the town hall today with the republicans making a clean sweep. Those elected were: Warden, Irwin W. Morton; burgesses, Joseph B. Smith, F. Alfred Anderson, John Nelson; treasurer, Harold G. Baldwin; clerk, Harold G. Baldwin; tax collector, Daniel F. Daily; bailiff, William J. McKee.

Suicides in Front of Train

Chicopee, Mass., May 4—A man believed to be Ambrosio Bestofein of Naugatuck, Conn., deliberately threw himself in front of a Boston and Main train this afternoon as it was leaving the Chicopee Junction Station and was instantly killed. Partial identification was made by means of a Red Cross membership card and pay slips.

Earthquake Fears Were Unfounded

Garbled Report Had Intimated That Islands of the Dry Tortugas Islands Had Disappeared Into the Sea.

Washington, May 4.—(By The A. P.)—A cabled report indicating an earth movement among the Florida Keys reached the war department late today but inquiry revealed that fears of a serious disturbance had been unfounded.

The message at first was interpreted by some war department officers as meaning that one of the uninhabited islands of the Dry Tortugas group of islands had disappeared in to the sea. A recheck, however, showed that nothing alarming had taken place.

QUAKE ALONG NORTH SHORE OF MASSACHUSETTS

Boston, May 4—Earth tremors, very slight but noticeable enough to cause excitement among residents, were reported from the North Shore of Massachusetts. First reports of the shock came from Lynn, indicating that Eastern Lynn and Swampscott, which is to be the summer home of President Coolidge, were shaken. Farther north, Marblehead also reported a slight shock. The tremors occured between 12:45 and 12:51 p. m. and lasted but a few seconds.

At Lynn and Marblehead the shaking was accompanied by a distinct rumble. Stove covers and dishes were rattled. Residents of the Clifton district of Marblehead reported that their houses trembled noticeably as if there had been a violent quarry blast. Inquiry revealed, however, that there had been no blasting in the quarries in that region.

K. F. Mather, Harvard University seismologist, said that if an earthquake had occurred it was very slight and of a purely local nature. So slight was the shock that no record of it could be found, he said, without removing the needle of the Harvard seismograph.

SEEKING HUSBAND OF WOMAN FOUND SLAIN

Gary, Ind., May 4—Satisfied with the identification of the dismembered and burned body of a girl found a week ago near here as that of Mrs. Josephine Desiderio, police tonight sought her husband, Lius, to charge him with murder.

Miss Florence Boto Kish, who said she was Mrs. Desiderio's companion at gay parties in Gary, Chicago and South Bend, Ind., identified the body. The Kish girl also identified clothing she had loaned Mrs. Desiderio.

Some persons remained skeptical of the identification, despite confirmation by Mr. and Mrs. Bernardo Garcero, Mrs. Desiderio's parents, and Sam Ross, who said he had lived with the young woman two weeks.

Desiderio is sought because he once attempted to shoot his wife. On the Saturday before the body was found he again threatened her life, the Kish girl told the police.

SUMMARY OF YESTERDAY'S EVENTS IN WASHINGTON

The commercial agreement between the United States and Spain was extended one year.

Treasury officials announced that debt refunding negotiations were in progress with the Esthonian legation.

Plans for extensive postal rate hearings in several cities were announced by the joint congressional postal committee.

Selection of a grand jury to which alleged criminal phases of the Teapot Dome cases will be presented was begun in district supreme court.

Massachusetts' special tax upon foreign corporations engaged in strictly interstate business was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court.

The quinquennial convention of the International Council of Women was opened with addresses by its president, Lady Aberdeen and Secretary Hoover.

BALLOONS TO CONTEST FOR THE GORDON BENNETT CUP

Washington, May 4—The three winning pilots in the national balloon race last week will constitute the American team in the Gordon Bennett cup contest to be held at Brussels, June 7.

This announcement was made by the National Aeronautical Association, in making public the official results of last week's race. W. G. Van Orman was credited with having covered 853 miles, Lieutenant William J. Flood with 842 miles, and H. E. Honeywell with 43 miles. Honeywell was "demoted" to third place and Herbert Von Thaden to fifth, in the distribution of prize money, the statement said, because of their objection "to inflating their balloons during the official inflation period."

The pilot balloon, in charge of Major Maurice Smith, was logged as having covered 450 miles, but it was not a contestant.

TRIAL BY COURT MARTIAL OF LIEUT. J. S. THOMPSON

Manila, May 4.—(A. P.)—Trial by court martial of Lieutenant John S. Thompson, U. S. A., for the murder of Miss Audrey Burleigh, 18 year old Memphis, Tenn., girl, started here today.

After a number of witnesses, who are leaving the Philippines soon, had been heard, however, adjournment was taken for three months to allow the defense time to secure from the United States depositions bearing particularly upon Thompson's mental condition.

The defense indicated that it would show Lieutenant Thompson's mental condition on the night Miss Burleigh was shot was such that he could not be declared responsible for his acts.

Two corporals who were on duty at Fort McKinley the night of the killing testified today that Thompson arrived at the fort about 1.30 a. m. in an automobile carrying Miss Burleigh's body. They said he told them to take care of the body and then lock him up, because he had killed the girl.

Bomb Exploded in Lisbon

Lisbon, Portugal, May 4—A bomb was exploded in the garden of the superintendent of the tramway service. The explosion was in protest against the company running street cars.

To Intensify Anti-Rum Warfare At Sea

Announcement Made by Captain W. V. E. Jacobs, New York Divisional Commander of U. S. Coast Guard.

New York, May 4—A war of extermination was declared on rum row when Captain W. V. E. Jacobs, divisional commander of the United States coast guard, announced that the entire force of men and vessels under his command tomorrow would launch the largest anti-rum offensive in the history of American prohibition.

Twenty-three boats—five speedy cutters, six patrol boats and an even dozen converted submarine chasers—were at the Clifton bay, Staten Island, base with the supply ship Argus, being overhauled for the drive. Engines were tuned up in anticipation of speed contests with the more courageous of the whiskey buccanneers, and machine guns were put into condition for an emergency.

It became known that a part of the plan would be the assignment of one or more coast guard boats to watch each of the floating warehouses on the row every hour. In this manner, the government men believe they will be able to prevent the transfer of stocks into small boats plying between the illicit fleet and the shores of Connecticut, Long Island and New Jersey. This precaution also would prevent the carrying of provisions, water and other supplies to the ships on the rum line by small boats operating from the shore.

Captain Jacobs, while reticent on his plans, took occasion to deny reports that he had received or given any orders to "shoot to kill."

"We have found it necessary to take stronger measures against the liquor smugglers than were employed during the past year," the captain said. But this was all. He refused to say just what rigorous measures were planned. There ultimately will be at least fifty coast guard boats in the war, he admitted, ten of them being cutters. These include the Seminole, the Gresham, the Mojave, the Seneca, the Red Wing, the Yamacraw and the Obissa, the last-named two having recently been brought here from Savannah, Ga., and Portland, Me., for the new offensive.

The blockade against the rum runners has been gradually tightening up, the government men said, and they reported that the supply seeping into the country from rum row had been so depleted that the price for Scotch whiskey had increased from $38 to $60 a case during the past week.

It was pointed out that orders for the new offensive had come from Washington after Brigadier General Lincoln C. Andrews, chief of the combined enforcement branches, and Rear Admiral F. C. Billard, commander of the coast guard, had made a personal investigation of conditions.

COUNCIL OF WOMEN IN QUINQUENNIAL SESSION

Washington, May 4.—Addresses in the four official languages of the convention—English, French, German and Spanish, were heard at the formal opening tonight of the seventh quinquennial session of the International Council of Women.

The formal opening, at which Secretary Hoover delivered an address of greeting and Lady Aberdeen, as president of the council, presented her message, followed a day of activity in committee meetings for the delegates representing the component organizations in forty-two countries. Mrs. Philip North Moore, president of the National Council of Women of the United States, presided. Music was furnished by the Marine band.

Lady Aberdeen declared the organization's truest strength lay in its constitutional inhibition against dealing with controversial, political and religious issues between nations.

At the meeting of the immigration and emigration committee today foreign delegates voiced a plea that the American immigration law be temporarily relaxed to permit members of families abroad to join their relatives in the United States.

BEQUESTS IN THE WILL OF ISABEL WOODWARD

New Haven, May 4—Approximately $300,000 in equal shares is to be divided among eight New Haven organizations, according to the terms of the will of the late Isabel Woodward, filed today in probate court. In addition to several personal legacies to distant relatives and heirs-at-law, the will provides that the homestead and lot at 169 Grand avenue, the furnishings of the house, the automobiles and the jewelry of the deceased be turned over to Laura H. McGean, for many years housekeeper for Miss Woodward. The sum of $35,000 is left to Anna Clifford, Mrs. Woodward's maid.

The $300,000 will be divided equally among the home for the friendless, the New Haven Orphan asylum, the Young Women's Christian association, the Young Men's Christian association, the Visiting Nurses association, the General Hospital society of Connecticut, the Grace Hospital society of New Haven and the Organized Charities association.

DISCORD IN THE THEATRICAL PRODUCING MANAGERS' ASSN.

Ordered by Supreme Court Justice Guy in New York to Show Cause Why the Organization Should Not be Dissolved—Lack of Harmony Among the Members Given as One of the Reasons For Seeking Dissolution—Court Action Marks One of the Last Stages in New York's Theatrical War.

New York, May 4—The Producing Managers association, considered the strongest organization of theatrical men in this country, today was ordered by Supreme Court Justice Guy to show cause why the organization should not be dissolved.

Lack of harmony among members of the association was given in the petition as one of the reasons for seeking dissolution.

Justice Guy's order was issued on petition of counsel representing the majority of the directors of the Producing Managers' association, including John L. Golden, Sam H. Harris, Arthur Hopkins, Benjamin Roeder, Henry W. Savage, L. Lawrence Weber and A. H. Woods. The order is returnable June 22. The petitioners stated that they were directed to institute proceedings for voluntary dissolution by a resolution passed by members of the association.

The petition states that dissolution is sought because the basic agreement between the corporation and the Actors' Equity association, made September 6, 1919, has terminated and has not been renewed, because "there are differences of opinion and lack of harmony among the members," and because "the objects and purposes for which the corporation was organized cannot be attained" owing to these conditions.

The petition lists debts of the association totaling $16,810 and assets of an estimated realizable value of $185,059.

The court action marks one of the last stages of New York's long drawn out theatrical war, which began with the formation of the Actors' Equity association in 1919.

REICHSTAG COMMISSION SIFTING RUHR CREDITS

Berlin, May 4.—(By The A. P.)—The special reichstag commission which is investigating the Ruhr credits—the payment by the Stresemann government in 1923 of 1,700,000,000 marks to the Ruhr industrialists without authority from parliament—today called on Dr. Stresemann, now foreign minister, as the star witness. He denied the allegation that the socialist members of the cabinet had been excluded from the negotiations for the government's advance payment to the Ruhr mine owners.

The socialists have accused the government of collusion with the Ruhr magnates without knowledge of the people's parties. But today, Stresemann declared that the cabinet had unanimously agreed that it was incumbent to restore the Ruhr mines and that for a fortnight conferences had been conducted between the Socialist Ministers Sollmann, Schmidt and Braun, on the one side, and the late Hugo Stinnes and Dr. Albert Voegeler, on the other.

The present minister of finance, Dr. Otto Von Schlieben, mentioned the plan to refer those who had suffered by reason of the inter-allied Ruhr mines and industries control mission (micum) for compensation to foreign loans, while the reich took over the interest in the guarantee or relief on the Dawes loan for the purpose. Dr. Stresemann replied: "I regretted that other parallel negotiations were proceeding. We faced the question at the time of either preparing for the Dawes report or a rupture with France. I said, if there is a rupture now, if the micum agreements are not extended it will smash the entire Dawes report."

Answering a question, Dr. Stresemann declared emphatically that not a single member of the cabinet had even considered separation of the Rhineland as a possible means for fulfillment of Germany's obligations.

WOULD HAVE HIGHWAY SAFETY TAUGHT IN SCHOOLS

Washington, May 4.—Safety instruction along the lines proposed by the National Conference on Street and Highway Safety has been urged by Secretary Hoover in letters to public school superintendents throughout the United States.

Writing at the request of Dr. Frank W. Ballou, president of the Department of Superintendence of the National Education Association, Secretary Hoover called attention to the fact that approximately 6,000 children of school age or under are killed every year in automobile accidents.

Methods recommended by the safety conference for the protection of children, in addition to safety education in the schools, include the organization of school boy patrols and the regular assignment of traffic officers in the vicinity of public schools.

LIQUOR RAIDS IN NEW HAVEN AND EAST HADDAM

New Haven, May 4—Two liquor raids in this city and one in East Haddam were made by Federal agents, state police and local police today.

The largest haul was made tonight when Chief John Morse of the New Haven prohibition bureau and the local agents visited the place of Louis Esposito at 14 Myrtle street. The house was vacant but the raiders seized 17 barrels of grain alcohol and 8 five gallon empty cans. The alcohol is valued at $5,000, according to bootleg prices. A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Esposito.

Louis Chippie, proprietor of the Hygienic restaurant here, was arrested today after a raid on his place. The raiders found three one-gallon cans of alleged alcohol and soda bottle half filled with alleged liquor. A large still was also confiscated by the federal agents.

HAYNES IN PSYCHOPATHIC WARD BELLEVUE HOSPITAL

LUCILLE CHATTERTON REMAINS IN LIMELIGHT

Middlebury, Vt., May 4.—Lucille Chatterton, who in the space of a week was transformed from one of a brood of eight children living in obscurity in Braintree Mountain, Granville, to the center of interest of feminine Middlebury and to a lesser degree of New England, continues to find each day one of startling adventure.

Today in her new clothes she went to school and was duly registered in the fourth grade, with the promise that she would be allowed regular attendance.

After school her bobbed hair, which had grown down to her shoulders was freshly cut. The manager of a nearby riding school then offered her the use of a horse on which she cantered about the village. Gifts and callers continue to pour in on her at the home of Mrs. Noble J. Sanford, the wife of the jailor.

Several offers of adoption have come including one today from Albany, N. Y. The girl at any rate, will remain with the Sandford's until after the trial of Earl Woodward on May 12 on the charge of kidnapping her from her mountain home.

ANOTHER FAMOUS NEW YORK RESTAURANT HAS CLOSED

New York, May 4.—Jack's restaurant at 761 Sixth avenue, one of the last of the gay restaurants that made New York's night life famous during the past quarter of a century, closed its doors forever tonight.

Jack's was particularly widely known in theatrical, sporting, political and newspaper circles as a place to meet in the early morning hours, and was the rallying place for college students on their visit to this city.

Unlike most of the other famous New York restaurants which have disappeared one by one, it was not prohibition that was responsible for the passing of Jack's. Its owner, Jack Dunston, who founded it in March, 1891, is nearing his seventy-second birthday, and he has "had enough."

"There is no particular reason for closing except that I think it is about time I retired," he said tonight. "I want to travel; I want to go to Europe, and I don't want to see the old place pass into other hands."

CITED AS VIOLATOR OF STANDARD TIME LAW

Bridgeport, May 4.—The chamber of commerce, which maintains a large public clock at the foot of Fairfield avenue near the railroad station, was cited today as a violator of Connecticut's standard time law. The clock has been out of order for several months. It was repaired and set today and was started by the repairman to record daylight saving time, which is the prevailing scheduled time followed by the majority of residents here. A bystander called the attention of a policeman that the clock recorded daylight saving time, in effect, violation of the law, and the officer warned Secretary Robert A. Crosby, of the chamber of commerce, who ordered the clock to be reset in accordance with the statute.

BOTH SIDES HEAVY LOSERS, NO STRIKE COMPROMISE

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, May 4—The ninth week week of the American Thread Company deadlock opened without developments, Monday morning, with an approximate payroll of $360,000 lost to the operatives and a corresponding loss in income to the company. No chance of an immediate settlement appears on the horizon. Both sides in the controversy are maintaining a passive but determined attitude, and the two parties are playing their cards with deliberation. The American Thread company is continuing in its program to make the best of the situation by having its work done in its other mills, which include two new plants in the Bronx, N. Y., and Mt. Kisco, N. Y. Much of the finishing work is being done in Holyoke, where the Merrimac Mills of the company are located. Part of it is being done in Fall River. The strikers are making every endeavor to unionize the Holyoke workers and to date have met with a noteworthy degree of success. Meetings are being held in Holyoke under the auspices of the local strike committee and the controversy, as it affects Willimantic, Holyoke, Fall River and the entire Textile World, is explained by special speakers. Enlisting Holyoke to their ranks would appear as an ace card in the local strikers and local enthusiasm waxes warm as more and more of the operatives there join the union.

The death of John M. Daggett, 74, an old-time resident of Mansfield, occurred Thursday at his home in Manchester. He was born in Ellington in 1851, the son of Jesse and Susan Miles Daggett. Before his removal to Manchester he had resided in Mansfield City for thirty-four years.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Sarah B. Daggett, three daughters: Mrs. Olive Richardson of Norwich, Mrs. George Hollister of New Britain, and Mrs. Mabel F. Ladd of Willimantic and a sister, Mrs. William Elthorpe of Ticonderoga, N. Y., a son, Jesse Daggett of New Britain; thirteen grandchildren and fifteen great-grandchildren. Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at three o'clock, at Manchester.

JEWETT CITY

At 4:19 Monday afternoon the big borough fire alarm whistle caused no little confusion by sounding a mixed-up mess of numbers, when the operator on duty at the telephone exchange, threw in the gears to sound 43 for a chimney fire in the Joseph Brown house, on East Main street. On account of the incorrect whistle number, the fire truck driver got a wrong start and came down Main street, believing 21 to be the number. Joseph Rosenberg is the owner of the property, the chemical tank did the job, no damage resulting. Half the town was there, to see the firemen working on the roof.

Guests Sunday at Mrs. John W. Blake's were Misses Nellie J. Harty, Grace Ladley and Nellie M. Whitehead, Mrs. Margaret Whitehead, George and James urey, James Furey, Jr., Albert A. and Vincent Whitehead, James Williams nd Rollin Miller, all of Providence. The guests included members of a noted orchestra in Providence, and Mechanic street was thrilled with the music played by these artists.

Lewis Gray, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Gray of Jewett City, and Miss Diana Pepin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maxime Pepin of Hopeville were married at St. Mary's church Monday morning. Rev. J. J. McCabe performed the ceremony and celebrated the nuptial mass. The bride wore white canton crepe. She wore a veil and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and sweet peas. Her bridesmaid was her twin sister, Miss Alexzina Pepin. She wore orchid taffeta with a hat to match and carried pink carnations. Albert Dugas was best man. A breakfast and reception followed at the bride's home, for near relatives of bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Gray went to Hartford and Boston for their honeymoon, and will live in a newly furnished home in Hopeville. The bride's traveling dress was henna brocaded crepe, with hat to match and brown coat. She received numerous gifts of silver, cut glass, linen and money. Last week a shower was given her by Pachang friends. She gave her sister a pearl ring, and the best man received a pair of white-gold K. of C. cuff links.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brown and Miss Adrienne LaMere of Greeneville were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Masse's.

The names of John Barnett and Michael E. Shea were not printed among the list of bearers at the funeral of Henry Richards.

George Jarvis and Miss Stella Zajac were married at St. Mary's church Monday morning, Rev. J. J. Tyler celebrating the nuptial mass. They were accompanied by George Jarvis and Stella Zajac, Lloyd Jarvis and Julia Tenczar, and Medos Raill and Mary Cholewa.

Mr. and Mrs. August Heick and daughters Mildred and Rita, of Norwich, were Sunday dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Holmes, of Pachang.

Monday, another local Bulletin advertiser offered a bit of gratis commendation, of the sort that is worth while. Saturday, he had a 3 line adv. in the for sale column, telling of a couple of dozen lambs and sheep he had to sell. The next morning, bright and early, a man from a nearby city drove up to his farm, on the northern edge of the town, and bought the whole outfit. Moreover putting the cash in the farmer's jeans. He sold several hundred dollars worth of lamb and mutton, on the hoof, with a 20 cent adv. as the answer—and adds—"Can you beat it?"

"Doc." Wallace is reckoned among the most skillful trout fishermen that ever wet a line. Sunday, as per his solemn affidavit, he caught a dozen that weighed as many pounds. Any person that did not see same, or test their reputed delicate flavor, cannot be expected to vouch for this piscatorial exploit. As the late Hiram Miner used to remark in such cases, "Probably didn't, probably did, probably didn't!"

Herbert C. Webster was four years old last week and had two birthday parties. Friday he was invited to the Jeffers home in Lisbon, and came home with a birthday cake, an Indian suit, a wheelbarrow, a gun, and a few more things, after being entertained at tea. Saturday, he entertained his playmates and several older juniors at his home. He had another birthday cake and gifts and everybody played games. Tiny maybaskets were the favors. His great-great aunt, Mrs. G. A. Haskell was there and brought him gifts from Washington, D. C., which greatly impressed the little four year old. The other guests were Thomas and Grace Fogarty of Taftville, Robert Silvia of Norwich, Kenneth Carpenter; Harold Tomilson, Wallie Wyatt, Corinne Zegeer, James Shea, Jr., Margaret Blanchard, Lester Blanchard and Eunice Webster. Lucile Webster waited upon the children when the refreshments were served. Mrs. Webster was assisted by Mrs. F. H. Gilbert, Gladys and Marian Jeffers.

Sunday was one of these rare out-of-door days, one of the sort which usually always meets with favor and finds many anxious to take the opportunity for walks afield. All about the borough shad-bush blossoms give a touch of white to the as yet unpainted hill sides. Judging from the advance the blossoms have made, the one-time Quinebaug shad-rows would, in the days of the almost forgotten past, be now at their height. It is of great interest to read, notably in an old diary, owned by G. A. Ross, how on the seining grounds opposite the "High Banks," a mile above the town, so many shad were taken, this day or that morning. Impossible as it may seem, three generations or more ago, shad ran the Quinebaug.

The shad bush is sometimes called June Cherry, because its crimson fruit appears as early as June. Records of local Indian times claim that it was called "service berry" because of the use made by them of its fruit, which they gathered in great quantities, and much crushing and pounding, made into a sort of cake.

Manager John Barnett, of the Broadway theater in Somerville, Mass., spent Sunday at home in Jewett City.

Mrs. A. R. Young and Mrs. M. E. G. Wilson, two of the oldest people in town, are confined to their beds by illness.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. McLaughlin entertained as dinner guests on Saturday Miss Frances Henesult of Norwich, John Wood, George McAvoy and John Martin of La Salle Academy Providence. The young men were members of the ball team which played N. F. A.

Machines for gathering pea vine lice have been used successfully in the pea fields of Wisconsin, gathering as high as 21 pounds of aphids an acre.

Nature produces no finer FRUIT-FOOD!

Serve Prunes often—For their healthful qualities & fine flavor

It is not an accident that so many well-known Dieticians and Food Experts make Prunes their first choice for breakfast!

They know what a properly-balanced breakfast means in health and working efficiency. And they know that Prunes supply just those elements needed to balance the eggs, cereals and meats, and other highly-concentrated foods that make up such a large part of the average breakfast menu.

This is the Time to Serve Them

Right now—during the Spring season—Prunes are particularly needed in the diet. Serve them often! And be sure you get the very best prunes—thin-skinned, delicately flavored SUNSWEET PRUNES from the famous orchards of California.

There are two ways to buy them: Sealed in our new, sanitary 2 lb. carton—or in bulk, from the regular 25 lb. SUNSWEET box.

Order from your grocer—and enjoy them, prepared according to the recipe below:

A Quick Way to Cook Prunes

Wash SUNSWEET PRUNES, cover with hot water and allow to soak one hour. Bring to the boiling point in the same water in which they were soaked, cover and cook until Prunes are tender, from thirty to forty-five minutes. Add sugar ten minutes before removing from fire. Allow one tablespoon to one cup of Prunes, measured before soaking or cooking. If a thick syrup is desired, remove Prunes to serving dish when tender, and boil the liquid until it is of the desired consistency. A little orange peel, lemon juice or stick cinnamon improves the flavor for some tastes.

53 Miles of Carpet

The wool used daily in the weaving of carpets and rugs by a New York manufacturer is equal to the shearing from thirty thousand sheep. The soft, rich coats of these animals are turned into the looms at the rate of 120,000 pounds every day.

These and many other interesting facts were revealed recently through the publication of statictics concerning their mammoth mills at Yonkers, N. Y., by Alexander Smith & Sons Carpet Company, said to be the largest manufacturers of carpets and rugs in the world.

If all the wool used in these mills were reckoned according to the number of animals from which it is sheared, a year's output at the mills would represent the clip from 9,000,000 sheep—a number which would constitute herds beyond the imagination.

For the manufacturing of all this wool into American-made carpets and rugs, the energy and industry of 7,600 employees is devoted with a spirit of co-operation and craftsmanship resembling the loyalty given to his individual loom by the smaller weaver of bygone days.

The army of workers operates 1,500 looms, with a total daily production of 90,000 yards of carpets and rugs. Place one day's tremendous output in a continuous line and it would make a strip of carpet 58 miles long. In one year of eight-hour working days, the 1,500 looms turn out 28 millions of yards, making an annual production of almost 16,000 miles, enough to reach more than half way around the world.

Every hour this mill produces 11,250 yards, or 187 1-2 yards per minute! The amount of mechanical energy entering the work may be pictured from the fact that the company uses 225 tons of coal every day. And all this activity takes place in mills which occupy 32 1-2 acres of floor space, ample area to accommodate the parking of about 40,000 motor cars!

It is interesting to note that the founder of these giant mills was also the inventor of the famous Axminster loom. The institution which has carried on since 1860 has specialized, it is said, in the making of four basic weaves known as Axminster, Velvets, Tapestry, Brussels and Wilton Velveth.

Sold on Watrous Avenue

Real Estate Broker John A. Moran sold for Gottfried Zachae the modern 6 room cottage house located at No. 16 Watrous Avenue. The new owner Mr. Merton B. Johnson will occupy it as his home.

Palace Theatre

Never in the history of the Palace Theatre was such a reception accorded an act as that which greeted the efforts of Paul Specht and his orchestra who opened Monday as the headline attraction.

Starting with "Indian Love Call" followed by "Lady Be Good" then "Le Roy Smeck," "Scenes from the South" which concluded the acts usual routine, vociferous applause brought forth encores consisting of "Copenhagen", "The Prince of Wails," and a jazz melange by the Original Georgians a selected section of the band.

To hear this marvelous aggregation of artists headed by its genius the inimitable Paul Specht is a treat the amusement lovers of Norwich will remember for many moons to come.

In view of the fact that Paul Specht himself started in a tiny hamlet known as Sinking Springs, Pa., and by sheer effort attained national prominence and overnight popularity it is proof that the talent from the "sticks" have more than a chance. It was with this in mind that the management underwent terrific expense to make this presentation possible.

As for Le Roy Smeck—if everyone could play the uke, guitar, banjo and harmonica like this wizard of the strings we'd change the name of America to Hawaii. The balance of the surrounding bill is exceptionally good. Isabella Sisters offer a pleasing cycle of instrumental and dance numbers. May and Hill show some dazzling wardrobe and back it up with plenty of comedy and singing; Weston and Schram handle a nifty line of hokum and song; Johnny Harrigan (fine name for an Irishman) tells the stories and lands the laughs; Bowen and Bowen offer a "Study in Physical Culture." We're cultured and are learning, and learning fast. In addition to the feature picture "The Price of Pleasure" with Virginia Valli and Norman Kerry costarring there are several surprises worth while seeing.

ANCIENT $4,000 RUG DISPLAYED AT GILBERT'S

A $4,000 Persian rug, which took 25 years to mak 400 years ago, is on display at the store of N. S. Gilbert & Sons, where a sale of Persian rugs is being conducted by P. G. Selwyn of Boston, a veteran dealer and collector of these ancient tapestries. When it is known that this marvellous piece of Persian art in tapestries contains 1,000 knots to the square inch, or about six million knots in all which were tied by hand, it can be realized what an amount of painstaking labor went into its design and workmanship. As a gift from one chieftain to another it healed the feud that started in the quest for the hand of the "most beautiful girl in the world."

The historical background of the rug lends much attraction to the piece. Abuluighan, an Arab chieftain, was the father of Malahig, sung of by traveling minstrels as the most beautiful girl in the world. Shahmeram, king of Persia learned of her and immediately asked for her as his wife. The Arab chief, who despised Shahmeram, refused, at which the Persian said he would win the maiden by conquering her father's domain. Abuluighan, though his power was much less than that of his enemy, made ready to fight, but Malahig learned of the trouble and promised to marry Shahmeram if he would withdraw his troops. This enraged her father, who was won over only after hours of pleading by the girl, and even then he gave her only a camel and one servant to make the journey to Persia.

Shahmeram set out with a caravan of followers and the two parties met in the middle of the desert. Malahig was presented with the most cherished gift of the time, a beautifully colored bird called "Jelbhoco" and the two proceeded to Persia and were married. Shahmeram ordered his weavers to make a rug telling the story of the meeting in the desert, stipulating that the camel must be composed of the other animals of the region and that the whole story must be told in the border. Upon completion, he sent it to Abuluighan, who was so overjoyed that he forgave Shahmeram and peace between the two nations was restored.

The rug hung in Abuluighan's palace for years and was handed down in his family from generation to generation until about a year ago, when P. G. Selwyn was able to obtain it at a forced sale and brought it to America. It is six and a half by five feet and contains 6,000,000 silk knots, more than 1,000 to the square inch. The central design shows Malahig and a servant being ingeniously contrived so that head, legs, tail and all are formed of other beasts. Shahmeram and his courtiers are also shown on the rug, as are the moon, then an object of worship, and a semi-human god.

The border is composed of panelling, on which is the story of the meeting and the conversation which occurred there. This has been translated and shows that even a medieval princess was considerate of a flapper, for when Shahmeram told her she was "a wonderful thing" and asked her to "fly with me," she uttered a gurgle of delight and whispered, "He likes me," to her maid. Further translation by Ismail from the original Arabic reveals that, due to the lack of railroads and airplanes in those days, the continual sending of messengers back and forth between the two countries stretched the romance over a period of seven years.

Breed Theater

The House of Youth, the screen version of Maude Radford Warren's popular novel of the same name, is running at the Breed theater. This brilliant photoplay of the follies and triumphs of the young people to whom is given the heritage of the earth stars Jacqueline Logan in the role of a daring flapper, who passes through the fire of a great crisis and emerges a woman gloriously fit to carry on the battle of life.

In support of Miss Logan are seen Malcolm MacGregor, Vernon Steele, Richard Travers, Gloria Grey, Edwin Booth Tilden, Barbara Tennant and other players of note. The House of Youth was directed by Ralph Ince.

Broadway Theater

Everyone who saw the opening program at the Broadway theater yesterday were of one opinion and that is a very good program of nine acts of Keith, world's best, vaudeville and a great picture. As each act was shown the show seemed to build up, getting better with each act with a smashing closing number. Here we have the order of each hit.

Tenderhee and Reid, a man and woman, opened with a song and musical novelty that made a great opener.

Ed Levan and Joe Doris, the dispensers. Song and jazz are the pallets of joy and cheer which they dispense.

Mason and Dixon, in black and tan, offer a fine routine of song and comedy and as a blackface couple they score highly.

Hutchins Run followed. Three people appear in this variety offering in which they introduce some clever comedy, songs and dances of the eccentric kind, and is an exceedingly pleasant offering.

Mattylee Lippard, that clever comedienne, is assisted by a pianist in a song cycle with trimmings. The songs are of the descriptive comedy variety rendered in a voice splendid tone and with some saxophone playing makes this an offering worth while.

Wallie James, No relation to Jessie, is known as "sure-fire" in vaudeville and has as fine a collection of comedy and songs as you've ever heard.

Cruising is the name of the following offering. Fun aboard a ship that is outbound is portrayed by a clever quintette of artists, who also know how to sing and dance. A beautiful setting lends real atmosphere to this clever novelty.

Jack and Rita La Pearl are called "The Indians Folks." They dress their part and with their songs, dance and rube comedy bits make this a delightful bit of amusement.

Stanley and Doman are equilibrists. They offer a sensational routine including A Drop for Life, which is the highest drop in the world on their hands. The routine is full of novelties and of high entertainment values.

A great picture is also seen, with a select cast in Fighting the Flames.

Crashing scene upon scene on this picture. The action is continuous through three reels, with a romantic love story woven through the whole picture. You'll be sorry when your friends tell you of what you missed if you don't, this picture and vaudeville program.

Amazing Spectacle in Bagdad Film

Douglas Fairbanks' remarkable picture, The Thief of Bagdad, which will begin a four days engagement at the Breed theater beginning tomorrow, is, according to all accounts, one of the most remarkable moving pictures that has ever been seen. To miss it is to miss the first picture in nine years that has really created a sensation. It is filled with bewildering and amazing happenings, never before considered possible to depict. Nobody ever thought of telling such a wonderful story in such a marvelous way.

No picture produced since the beginning of the moving picture industry has at all approached the sensation achieved by Douglas Fairbanks in the glorious Arabian Nights fantasy, The Thief of Bagdad. Some of the outstanding features of this extraordinary production are: The Magic Carpet that sails across the house-tops, The Undersea City of Crystal where sirens dwell, The Forest of Enchanted Trees, The Cloak of Invisibility, The Winged Horse that flies up to and through the clouds, The Living Dragon in the Valley of Monsters. This marvelous production is hailed, not merely as a greater picture, but as a production that steps so far out of the beaten path that critics speak of it as "the creation of a new art."

Whistler Lecture

On the evening of May 5th, Norwich is to have the opportunity of hearing first hand about the most talked of artist of modern times, James McNeill Whistler. Living most of his life in Europe, although born in America, he was loath to say just where or when. We now know it was in Lowell, Mass., in 1834. His model once asked him, "Where were you born?" "I never was born, my child, I came from on high." Quite unabashed the model retorted, "Now that shows how easily we deceive ourselves in this world, for I should say you came from below." When some years ago it was reported that he was going to America, he said, "It has been suggested many times, but you see, I find Art so absolutely irritating to the people that I really hesitate before exasperating another nation." His long struggle for recognition and the endless controversies for and against his art, which he often took an active part, for a time clouded his greatness as an artist. Everything that Whistler produced, his portraits, landscapes, etchings, and lithographs, had the refined quintessence of genius lurking in them. Whistler achieved fame as an etcher long before the world acknowledged his greatness as a painter. With the nobility of Rembrandt in etching he added a suavity and decorative charm that Rembrandt never had, and is easily the first etcher of the 19th century. As a painter, he stands as a great exponent of harmonies in low tones, with only here and there a touch of brighter color. At times he suggests Rossetti, Degas, Velasquez and most of all the masters and the finest Chinese Lacquers and porcelains.

From the quaint and bizarre union of all of these elements he formed his exquisite and entirely personal style. Only his portraits give us subject-matter and a profound understanding of the character of his sitters. Such portraits for example, as that of his Mother and of Thomas Carlyle and Mrs. Campbell; otherwise, his painting simply expresses the deep meaning of art, as does a Beethoven symphony.

The lecturer, Royal Cortissoz, is a recognized authority upon Whistler and we know from his constant reviews of exhibitions and painters that the subject will be presented in a broad and charming way.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Lee J. Kerkhart, commercial traveler out of New York and Hartford, escaped injury, Monday afternoon, when the coupe he was driving skidded and turned over on the state highway about two miles west of Brooklyn Center. The car was considerably damaged. Kerkhart held that the accident was due to his car striking a sort of ridge in the state highway and then starting to skid on the highway surface which had been oiled the latter part of the past week. The damaged car was towed to a garage in Danielson.

George Erber, 80, died Sunday in Foster, where he had been a resident for about five years, living in that section between the Line store and Moosup Valley. Mr. Erber, an Austrian by birth, came into Foster from New York to engage in farming. He leaves his wife, a son and a daughter.

Mrs. Celina Barriere, 76, a native of Canada, is dead at her home in Attawaugan. She had spent many years in this country and lived in different parts of the town of Killingly, being at Goodyear for a number of years.

There is promise of a tough summer ahead for "hikers" who seek lifts from motorists in this section. A recent startling episode has further convinced a great many who have felt that it is dangerous to give strangers a ride of the correctness of their attitude. That means many who ask for rides will not get them, deserving though they may be and as much as many would like to accommodate. The risk has come to appear too great.

Again the cry for more rain is heard. Streams and ponds are receding toward the low level reached during the late winter season. The bodies of water about East Killingly are typically illustrative of how short the water supply is in this vicinity, though there is ample in storage for all of Danielson's domestic and other needs.

Chief John McFarland has found it necessary to check up reports of children stoning automobiles while they are passing through Water street. His investigation has resulted in locating one boy, a very little chap, who had thrown stones at machines. The parents of the child have agreed to see that the little fellow does no more stone throwing.

Violets are being brought in from surrounding country. The date of their blooming is considerably earlier than in the average spring.

In advance of the meeting of Killingly Woman's club Wednesday afternoon the members will hear an address by Professor Hubbard of Brown University. His subject will be Current Events.

On recent Sundays while work was being done on high tension lines of the Danielson and Plainfield Gas and Electric company, current for lighting and such other uses as a daytime period requires was furnished from the plant of the Quinebaug Mills, which is "tied in" with the lighting companies lines.

Fishermen have visions of the restoration of fine fishing in the Assawaga and Quinebaug rivers when these streams are freed from pollution, as is provided for in a bill now pending in the legislature. The fishermen's plans include restocking of these streams.

A fine of $25 and costs was imposed on Lionel Poirier, on a reckless driving charge by Judge W. Fenner Woodward in the town court Monday morning. Poirier was apprehended Sunday by State Officer Gardner in the North Main street section.

Hank Rondeau, outfielder with the Minneapolis team of the American association for a number of years, has been traded to the Little Rock team of the Southern league. Before going to Minneapolis Rondeau, who hails from Danielson, saw big league service.

Killingly's budget in the Y. M. C. A. county drive that is on this week is $1,500. Plainfield is seeking to raise a similar amount. Many residents of this town are being reached by announcements sent through the mails.

The meeting of the Windham Association of Congregational churches and ministers is to be held Tuesday of next week with the church at Mansfield Center.

A meeting of the Catholic Welfare council that was to have been held this evening has been postponed to Monday.

Miss Elizabeth Riley and Miss Kathleen Burns of Hartford are visiting relatives in Danielson.

A reception in honor of Alton Drew, who has returned to South Killingly after an absence of fourteen years in the west is to be held at the Community House in South Killingly this (Tuesday) evening.

The Memorial day committee, which includes representatives of the American legion, sons of Veterans, G. A. R. and W. R. C. has a meeting planned to be held in G. A. R. hall this evening.

New and heavier rails on the New Haven road have been extended from near Quinebaug lake to a point below Central Village. Last year like rails were put in between Putnam and a point about two miles south of Danielson.

In a number of manufacturing concerns in Moosup, Central Village and Plainfield what approximates daylight saving time was adopted Monday. The Wauregan company continues to operate as before.

The annual springtime talk about a series of band concerts on Davis park during the summer is being revived, but there appears no definite plan for providing the music.

State Officer Edward Stephens has been transferred from the Danielson barracks for duty at Hartford, leaving Monday.

John C. Severance of Lynn was a visitor with friends in Danielson on Monday.

Members of the Brooklyn mission of St. James' parish have a whist planned in aid of the St. James' school fund, which is being increased from week to week.

More streets than have been oiled before in any one season in Danielson will be oiled this week by the selectmen in agreement with property owners who help defray the cost.

Of interest to holders of certain issues of Liberty bonds is the fact that coupons on them will be due on May 15.

In cemeteries of Danielson early work in preparation for Memorial day is now underway.

Mrs. Charles L. Darbie remained unconscious at her home on North Main street Monday afternoon, following a shock sustained at the week end, and her condition was regarded as extremely critical.

A checking account in the Windham County National bank offers a very convenient means of paying your bills. —Adv.

DEATH OF WILLIS D. WINSOR BROTHER OF MRS. A. W. PIERSON

Danielson, May 4—Tuesday afternoon the body of Willis DeLoss Winsor, 72, of Boston, will be buried in Westfield cemetery. Mr. Winsor was a former resident of Danielson. He spent his youthful years and the period of his early manhood here, going to Boston more than 30 years ago. He was a son of Stephen H. and Cordelia Winsor, who were resident on Mechanic street. Mr. and Mrs. Winsor have been dead for many years, Mrs. Winsor dying in 1894. A sister was Mrs. A. Walton Pierson (Frances Winsor) of Norwich.

While here Mr. Winsor was employed on The Windham County Transcript at a period when A. Walton Pierson was also with that paper and later was with The Norwich Bulletin of which Mr. Pierson was editor for many years.

Mr. Winsor was the last of his family, there being no living relatives nearer than cousins. He rarely visited in Danielson, but kept in touch with what was going on in town and the vicinity by subscribing for a local paper. Mr. Winsor was a member of St. Andrew's lodge of Masons and a member of the Typographical union.

PUTNAM

Mr. and Mrs. Child will be at home to their friends rom four to ten o'clock P. M.

Mrs. Carl Eks of Woodstock, who was injured in an automobile accident ten days ago is improving slowly at the Day Kimball hospital.

Dr. L. F. McKenna was in Hartford last week attending the convension of the Connecticut Dental association.

Miss Catherine Geary of Portland, Conn., spent the week end with her grandmother, Mrs. Catherine Dolan.

Rev. Walter McCram of New Britain spent Saturday with his aunt, Mrs. Catherine Dolan, off Chapman street, who remains seriously ill.

Mrs. Ada Fenner, her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Fenner were here Sunday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs J. B. Tatem and attended the funeral of Marshall Kenyon.

The funeral of Marshall Kenyon was held at 2:30 Sunday afternoon at his residence on Grove street. Rev. W. B. Olmstead, dean of the Pomfret school conducted the services. Burial was at Grove street cemetery. The bearers were James B. Tatem, Charles Wagner of Ann Arbor, Mich., William Hayward of Providence, Wilfred Kenyon of Woodstock and Nelson Lowne.

Putnam's population, which has decreased thirty during the period from 1900 to 1910, increased 1,049 during the 20 year period ending 1920, according to figures from the U. S. census bureau. The population was 7,711 in 1920 and 6,667 in 1900. Including Putnam town, the population totaled 8,379 at the last census, 1920, 7,260 in 1910 and 7,246 in 1900.

The population in 1920, including town and city, was the second highest in Windham county; Windham town, including Windham city, was first, with a population of 13,801.

The population of Windham county at the last census was 53,815, as compared with 49,361 in 1910, and 46,861 in 1900.

Of the total for the last census, 23,171 or 43.9 per cent. of Windham county's population was urban, and 29,664 or 57.1 per cent. rural. This represented an increase of 11.4 per cent. in the urban population from 1910 to 1920, and 7.6 in the rural. Putnam city according to wards, has a population of 1,643 in Ward 1 in 1920; 1,653 in Ward 2; 2,074 in Ward 3 and 1,362 in Ward 4.

One of the largest motor busses ever seen in this vicinity was on the streets a few nights ago. The huge car had a seating capacity of sixty and carried an Ohio registration. It is being run through the country for demonstration purposes and had just come from New York state.

Citizens of Putnam, whether members of the chamber of commerce or not have been invited to attend the meeting of the organization Monday, May 11 at 8 o'clock p. m. The committee is Arthur S. Macdonald, T. H. DeCoudres, W. W. Averill, Walter King and Omar J. Milot.

The entertainment committee has secured Alfred C. Moreau of Hartford, manager of the Hartford Credit Rating Bureau, as the speaker of the evening and there will also be other features. Mr. Moreau will give a half hour talk on "Credit as it Affects the Retail Merchant."

The chamber of commerce is about to close its fiscal year and to enter upon a new year's activities. The accomplishments of the past year have been varied and include securing one new industry for Putnam.

Mrs. Elden S. Johnson and daughter, Bernyce of Willimantic has been the guest of Mr. Johnson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Adams.

Joseph Herbert, Jr., of North Grosvenordale is at the Day Kimball hospital, suffering from blood poisoning.

A list of the alumni of Putnam High school is in preparation for the principal's office. This list is to be transferred to cards for a file. When completed it will give the following information: Name of graduate, date of entering, date of graduation, present address and occupation. It is also planned to include a card for each class giving all available information regarding its senior year, that is, its officers, flower, motto, etc. This work is now in the hand of Miss Thelman Bosworth.

The following students have been awarded basketball letters for 1925 season: Captain Sidney King; Captain-elect Alfred St. Onge, Thomas Cody, W. Perry Barber, Charles Murphy, Patrick Cody, Dominick Rove, Manager Gerard Cartier and Coach O. F. Smith.

The newly approved style of girls' basketball letters have been awarded the following girls at the high school: Captain Gladys Peterson, Captain-elect Katherine Allard, Gertrude Nelson, Helen Mahar, Lillian Fisher, Helen Morse, Manager Frances Larkin and Coach Miss Sara Tackaberry.

Since the beinning of the spring term great enhusiasm has been aroused in the class of English 11A of Putnam High school. As an incentive to the reading of good books, Miss Keith has offered a prize to the boy or girl reading the greatest number of books from a given list. Among the books chosen are both fiction and non-fiction so that everyone may have the type of books he likes best. Raymond Robinson and Fred Alvord were chosen to act as captains and sides were selected by them. Thus far Alvord's side is in the lead by a score of 23-17 with George Herrick the high man, having to his credit six books read and reported.

STONINGTON

Calvary Fellowship presented a play, "The Revolt," in Foll's Hall, Friday evening. The following made up the cast: Wilamina Stanton, Millie Miller, Margaret Monjo, Madeline Harper, Harriet Paterson, and the ideal husband was in the form of a stuffed dummy. Marjorie Foit, Phyllis Carrington and Emily Robinson interpreted the leading roles with great skill, the first was a boarding school girl working for her tuition, the next as Grandma Gregg, founder of this school for domestic science and last, Emily Robinson as Susan Jane Jones, a man hater and leading suffraget. Miss Constance Foit and Miss Elizabeth Carrington sang solos which were very much appreciated. A chorus, consisting of Margaret Anderson, Fanny Stanton, Elizabeth Carrington, Ruth Monjo, Constance Foit, Miss Appleton, Wilhemina Broxy, and others sang several old time songs. Majorie Foit did splended work in her comedy role and Emily Robinson gave the audience some hearty laughs. Miss Phyllis Carrington played the part of an old lady with great ability and the acting of Wilhemina Stanton, Millie Miller and Margaret Monjo, as boarding school girls was good. The hall was crowded and it is thought that the proceeds, which will go toward the organ fund of Calvary church, will be large.

A word was received in the borough recently of the death of Rev. Charles J. Mason at Scarsdale, N. Y. He was a former rector of Calvary church, graduated from Berkeley Divinity school at Middletown. # AILMENTS OF YOUNG GIRLS

Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound School Teacher's Experience

Evanston, Wyoming.—"A few years ago I had troubles every month such as girls often have, and would suffer awfully every time. I was teaching school and it made it hard for me as I had to go to bed for two or three days. One day my mother suggested that I take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which I did, and it did wonders for me. In the course of a year I married and after my first baby was born I got up too soon and it caused a displacement. This troubled me so that I could hardly walk or do my housework. I knew what the Vegetable Compound did for me before so I took it again. It strengthened me and now I have five little kiddies. The eldest is six, the baby is five months old and I have twin boys three years old and a boy of five years. I do all my own housework, washing and ironing, and I never felt better in my life. I owe my health to your wonderful medicine." — Mrs. VERBENA CARPENTER, 127 2nd Avenue, Evanston, Wyoming.

SMALL PIMPLES LOOKED BADLY

Were Inflamed and Scaled Over. Cuticura Healed.

"My trouble began with pimples on my neck. The pimples were small and inflamed, and I was ashamed to wear a low necked dress because they looked so badly. The irritation caused me to scratch them and then they would break and scale over.

"I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after using it I saw a great improvement. I purchased more and after using about three cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box and a half of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Rena Leonard, 15 Horton St., Taunton, Mass.

WESTERLY

Westerly town council held its May meeting Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock there being present Council President Clifford Campbell, Councilmen, Thomas Morrison, George B. Utter, Louis J. Rossie, Charles Fowler, John D. Nichols and Farquhar, the full number, together with Town Clerk Everett E. Whipple and Town Solicitor John Ferguson, Jr.

Dr. S. C. Webster had been named at the last session to bring in a list of parties under the ordinance, where the town council acts as a board of health. This ordinance was entitled, "an ordinance in relation of the removal of nuisances and causes injurious out to health."

Dr. Webster presented the following list: Peter Chiridio, 20, Pearl street; Charles P. Champion, (Edwin Stillman, agent) of 196 Main street and Emma Doust, 17 Summer street. The thirty-day legal notice was directed.

H. J. Leon appeared before the council to request an extention of the non-parking zone near his store on Bay street, Watch Hill, that he might be better able to conduct his business and that the way be kept clear there, near a hydrant, for a crosswalk. To be taken up with the police department.

Richard J. Rooney stated that he had received a letter from Town Solicitor Ferguson, in which it was stated that the town council had instructed him to inform Mr. Rooney regarding his claim for damages arising from his wife, Emma Rooney, being struck by a bicycle operated on the sidewalk at the time on Sept. 27, 1924. He said "if you have rejected a settlement, I will proceed further and take the case into court." When the matter was taken up later in the session, it was reported that a rejection was reached upon by the council.

Charles J. Butler inquired "has anything been done about the highway department?" adding "I understand you don't see fit to do anything. "I am not going to sit still, and will take proper steps to investigate," he declared.

Councilman Fowler said that he had obtained the cost of obtaining an audit, but he did not wish the cost to be made public. Mr. Butler of the highway commission said he was not going to let the matter die out as he had a petition prepared with signers asking for a financial town meeting at which the affairs of the highway department could be investigated. In reply to a request for a definite time, the council voted to hold a meeting of the council, highway commission, town treasurer, town auditors Monday evening, May 11th, at 7:30 o'clock. The council decided to have anyone present who could help straighten out matters.

The report of Thomas E. Brown, chief of police, for April was received and voted approved as follows:

Number of arrests, 22, divided as follows: Transporting a woman for lewd and immoral purposes, and fugitive from justice, 1; putative father of child, 1; reckless driving, 1; intoxication, 12; idle persons, 2; possession of intoxicating liquors, 3; sale of intoxicating liquors, 1 and non support 1. During the month two liquor raids were made. It was voted that Chief Brown be sent to the annual convention of police chiefs to be held in New York, to attend the convention there and report back to the council.

Health Officer Dr. Samuel C. Webster reported 12 cases of contageous diseases, as follows: German measles, 9; scarlet fever, 3.

Victualizing licenses were granted Thomas L. Fontana, Mary A. Heffernan, Maria Turisi and Guiseppe Bervacqua.

The matter of parking automobiles on High street was brought up by Charles J. Butler and after a considerable discussion was referred to the police committee.

James Cosenza, represented by Attorney John Dunn, was granted permission to run moving pictures at the Italian Athletic club house on Rose avenue, the fee being $25, with pictures to be run Tuesday and Friday nights, with 350 seating capacity.

When the election of a new patrolman was brought up the name of Fred Ferrano was suggested, but the resulting vote was a tie 3 to 3, the president not voting. As constables without pay there were named Oscar L. Swallow, Fred Ferraro and Leroy Norman. Russell L. Slocum was voted a license as an auctioneer.

The trial calendar of the April session of superior court for Washington county was taken up at the county court house on Union street, when Judge Edward W. Blodgett came in at 11:20 Monday morning.

There were no cases tried for when Assistant Attorney General Louis A. Jackvony responded to Indictment No. 365, State vs. Aubrey Frederick Blackman, in a case of murder, both parties being colored, which involved the death of Warren Blackman on Sept. 25th, last, on the Sound steamer Boston, off Point Judith, the prosecutor said the state stood ready, but the defendant could not be presented in court for he was reported violently insane, and confined at the State Hospital for Mental Diseases. Saying it was foolhardy for the state to proceed, he asked for an indefinite postponement of the case under the statutes. At all events a commission should be appointed to examine into the defendant's condition and to report back if the man was not insane and further, if there was no objection that the case should be transferred to Providence county court.

For the defendant, Attorney Ferguson said that the man was perfectly sane, but to him it appeared that the man was worrying and brooding, or possibly making believe. He said that the defendant's wife had called on the accused and that the letters received by him show no insanity and on a visit to the prisoner three weeks ago when he had been confined about 3 months, counsel found him normal. He told the court that for this reason he would insist upon trial today as this was the second time that he had obtained witnesses from New York and Boston and that they were present in court and he was ready to proceed. Attorney Ferguson also objected to the appointment of a commission and to the case being taken to the superior court for Providence county.

Both attornies agreed that the attorney general's department should have been notified of the man's condition, so that the sheriff would not have been refused to take the man on such short notice.

Judge Blodgett said that the state institution authorities seemed to forget what the status of the man was. He said that the man was entitled to an early trial although it was absurd for the state to try a man when the authorities say he is insane. Mr. Jackvony said that he would get to work on petition just as soon as he got back to Providence, to submit asking that a commission be appointed to examine into the sanity of the prisoner. Judge Blodgett said he would continue the case.

When no civil cases were found to be ready Monday, but one was ready for Tuesday he excused the spare jurors to report at the court house on Union street this (Tuesday) morning at 10:45 o'clock.

Before court adjourned for the day, Attorney General Jackvony asked Judge Blodgett to sign a decree in the Kingston Trust Co., case, George E. Newhall, bank examiner, vs. Kingston Trust Co. Final decree was entered, discharging Mr. Newhall as temporary receiver for the defunct bank. This leaves the commission and the deputy commissioner the trustees.

Judge Blodgett temporarily passed the criminal calendar and took up for consideration the civil cases and they were marked as follows:

Her Wonderful Teeth

Remove the dingy film that's clouding yours and you'll be surprised that your teeth are just as white and charming as any one's—make this unique test.

HERE is a simple test that proves the truth that most of us have pretty teeth without ever knowing we have, or ever revealing it.

This is the reason:

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film. A film which absorbs discolorations and hides the natural color of your teeth.

Remove it and your teeth take on a new beauty. Maybe you have really beautiful teeth without realizing it.

Film is charged too with most tooth troubles. It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. Germs breed in it. And they, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

So, besides loss of tooth beauty, film is a serious danger to healthy teeth. You must remove and constantly combat it. It is ever present, ever forming.

Old-time dentifrices were unable to combat it successfully. And tooth troubles were a serious problem.

Now modern science has discovered a new way. A new-type tooth paste called Pepsodent that acts to curdle film, then harmlessly to remove it. No soap or chalk, no harsh grit dangerous to enamel.

Mail the coupon for a 10-day tube free. Or, buy a full size tube at any druggist's today. See what beauty lies beneath the film on your teeth.

Why Endure That Bad Back?

IS a constant backache keeping you upset? Feel all tired out—so nervous and dispirited you can hardly keep going?

Then look to your kidneys! Your kidneys rid the body of poisonous waste. But if they lag, impurities accumulate and cause slow poisoning of the whole system. Then one is apt to suffer backache, stabbing pains, headaches, dizziness, getting up at night and other annoying kidney irregularities.

Don't risk neglect. If your kidneys are sluggish, help them with a diuretic. Use Doan's Pills. They are praised the world over. Ask your neighbor!

HERE IS NORWICH PROOF:

G. E. Disque, 50 Hedge Avenue, says: "I have had backaches and other symptoms of disordered kidneys. Being on my feet all day, as I have to be, weakened my back and when night came, my back felt tired. I had often read in the paper of Doan's Pills helping many people and this led me to use them. Doan's have always cured these attacks."

TRAINING CAMPS

Military training has a special appeal to many who consider that they have no opportunity to get the benefits of it. They have a strong leaning in that direction but feel that no provision is made whereby they can test it out.

There may have been a time when such was the case, but it is no longer so. Through the citizens' military training camps the war department makes provisions each year for the young men of the country to get a military training. Not only does it provide the camps and the instructors but it meets the expense, such as uniforms, food, medical attendance and transportation. That must certainly be regarded as encouragement.

At Camp Devens this summer there will be a chance for 556 Connecticut young men, between the ages of 17 and 24, to enroll. This means a limit in this state, quite the same as there is a limit to the first army corps area all of which means that those from this state and those from New London county have reason to act without further delay if they are desirous of getting their applications in before the quota is filled.

The object of the training camps is "to bring together young men of high type from all sections of the country on a common basis of equality and under the most favorable conditions of outdoor life, to stimulate and promote citizenship, patriotism and Americanism, and through expert physical direction, athletic coaching and military training benefit the young men individually and at the same time bring them to realize their obligations to their country."

Military training under the training camp conditions affords an unusual opportunity. It means a training in a manner and of a character which should mean a most profitable vacation. It is intended to reach the many who are interested and the results are well calculated to not only be beneficial to the young men but to the country also. The opportunity the government and provides should be eagerly seized.

CARTWHEELS TURNED DOWN

There was a chance for the treasury department to save about a million dollars and such a saving would accrue to the advantage of the taxpayers of the country. It called for cooperation, but all that was required was for the people to carry around a little money. This would ordinarily be agreeable, but in this instance the treasury department proposed that an occasional silver dollar be included in the change instead of a dollar bill. In other words it wanted the public to keep in circulation the silver dollars instead of the paper dollars. The coins would not wear out very soon but it is necessary every few months to replace the paper money, and that replacement costs the government much money in the course of a year.

Even though this seems like asking little in the way of cooperation, the test has been made with just about the results that were anticipated. The silver dollar was never popular when it became necessary to carry it about with other change or in place of bills. The government didn't get into circulation all of its 76,000,000 silver dollars but there were about 10,000,000 that were put out to see what sort of a reception they would get. They were even put into government employes pay envelopes to hasten the good work, but it was useless. They went out but they came back just about as fast.

There are certain sections of the country where the silver dollar is preferred to the paper dollar. Many can be found who are quite as averse to taking the paper as those who demand paper are accepting silver dollars. Throughout the west gold and silver are in extensive circulation, but if there was any thought of extending it throughout the country it has been quashed by the treasury's experience.

The silver dollar didn't require a very long circulation test to demonstrate the opposition which had been freely predicted. There is a widespread interest in and clamor for economy but when the public had a chance to do its bit in this direction it turned a cold shoulder. The treasury must at least be given credit for trying to effect the saving.

WORKING FOR SAFETY

So far as known there is no state where ideal conditions prevail concerning the use of the highways. There are some where there is more recklessness, more speeding, more deaths from carelessness and more disregard of laws and regulations, but in spite of the recognized fact that the safety of the highways depends upon the users there are far too many who entirely disregard their responsibility to self and others and make necessary the making of more stringent laws and regulations each year and a greater force and more far reaching measures for enforcement.

Just at the present time the state of Indiana is aroused over the flagrant disregard for the highway regulations that is displayed by so many persons. The state police department is maintaining a force of 50 men on the roads of that state for the purpose of bringing about a greater respect for the laws and yet in spite of such knowledge on the part of drivers they are being arrested at the rate of 200 a week. There is no reason to suppose that this will put a stop to all violations of highway regulations in that state. There will always be those who will take chances and create dangerous conditions but if such a force is to be permanent it should accomplish much in the long run.

It is possible to fully appreciate the attitude of the head of the Indiana state police when he says "It's a shame that the roads have to be policed thereby making the motorists feel on edge all the time, but we simply have to do it, and we will keep right on doing it until the roads are made safe for the fellow who does drive right."

The great majority of motorists will feel a sense of greater security through such policing. As observers of regulations they have nothing to fear, but they can appreciate the value of having this increased safety provided through such respect, even though it may be limited, for the rules of the road as it forces from the comparatively small percentage of reckless drivers. Every speeder who is restrained and every driver, disposed to cut in or hog the road who refrains because of the possibility of being watched by state policemen contributes to the desired results.

CUTTINGD OWN THE TAXES

Repeatedly this country has been told what could be accomplished by the cutting down of national expenditures, what was to be the outcome of needed economy and how beneficial it would be to the taxpayers if the outlay was curtailed and the wasteful practices eliminated.

There have been two reductions in federal taxes as the result of the retrenchment that has been insisted upon, the introduction of economy and efficiency and the turning away from extravagant tendencies. And if the outlook based on the treasury figures is correct the country is in the way to receive additional benefits through tax reduction.

Computation of the income tax payments in March shows that the amount received was about $3,000,000 in excess of what it was estimated it would be last summer. From the tariff imports there has been received about $5,000,000 more than was received during the first four months of last year, and while the cut in revenue under the tax revision was expected to reduce the government income by $127,000,000 from miscellaneous receipts, it has in fact only produced a reduction of about $105,000,000.

Results are being obtained are pleasing to the taxpayer. He has been told that another tax cut was in prospect if the administration policies were followed, and now comes the statement that the financial outlook is so promising that nothing appears to stand in the way of a twelve per cent reduction in the income taxes next year. This means the production of the promised results. It will thoroughly justify the insistence on the practice of economy, while it sets a most wonderful example for municipal governments.

THE BEST PREVENTIVE

Frequently there are instances which give effective demonstration in support of the demands that are made for the safeguarding of invaluable records by placing them in fireproof structures.

When public buildings are burned and books and papers are destroyed there goes up in smoke the work of years and the records which cannot be replaced. Many a community has experienced the serious handicaps attending such a situation. When a library, a court house, a town hall, a museum or a building where valuable documents, books or pictures are kept for display or preservation is destroyed by fire it means that a large part of what vitally affects a community cannot be replaced. This is most certainly true in regard to records.

No one knows when a fire is going to break out. No one knows when someone is going to carelessly bring together the firebrand and the necessary material for kindling a blaze There may or may not be a disposition to figure that an efficient fire department can be relied upon to deal with any such trouble, but whether there is or not the fact nevertheless remains that every now and then a library, a courthouse or a public building with irreplacable files and documents goes up in flames.

It is too late then to think of protecting what is gone. There is in fact no sense in waiting for that time to come. There is the experience of others that furnishes a good enough guide. The best fire protection is fire prevention and invaluable papers, records, books and the like should have the benefit of fireproof structures. It is the cheapest and best means of safeguarding the priceless.

WASHINGTON AFFAIRS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Washington, May 4—The announcement from London that the so-called McKenna tariff duties are to be restored will occasion no surprise to those who have followed the Baldwin policies. Baldwin is a protectionist of the Chamberlain school and the restoration of those duties is but a step, and a long step, in the direction of that general policy.

For seventy-five years England operated on a free trade basis, so-called, although the per capita duties levied on tobaccos, tea and coffee, liquors, and a few other imports, was larger by far than the per capita in this country on our entire dutiable list. The "safe-guarding of industries Act" was adopted by the British in 1921, a year prior to our own return to the protective tariff. The British act placed some 6,000 articles of manufacture on the dutiable list at the general rate of 33 1-3 per cent, and it was invoked because of intense German and other foreign competition which was setting in at the time. MacDonald's government rescinded the act and almost immediately the pernicious effects of foreign competition were felt.

So long as England was foremost in the machine manufacture of commodities free trade had its logical place in her fight for foreign markets, and the school of Cobden was in the lead. She could not advocate free trade in her export markets while at the same time retaining protection at home. And in lowered cost production due to improved methods of manufacture, England was so far in advance of her competitors that she had little to fear from losing her home markets.

But times had changed by the time the World war broke out and England was feeling the pinch of foreign competition both at home and in her territories, and it became still more painful following the peace. "Safe-guarding of industries" was simply an euphamism for protection. When it is remembered that our own tariff law, now in operation, averages but 35 per cent on all dutiable imports, and that the wage scale in the United States is more than twice that of England, it will be seen that the McKenna rates are relatively greater than our own.

Coupled with the McKenna rates will be the imperial preferences policy by which goods from British dominions will enjoy free trade or lower duties in the markets of the Mother country. For example, dried fruits of "Empire origin" will enter England free, while those from the United States—and there have been a lot of them—will pay protective rates. We have no complaint to make. But the Democratic party can no longer point to England as the great example of a free trade nation.

That was a most unusual speech made in Philadelphia the other night by James M. Beck, the retiring solicitor general of the United States. It is an almost unprecedented thing for a prominent official of the government who realizes that he is about at the end of his political career to take the world into his confidence by publicly proclaiming that the ambition of his life to be secretary of state had been thwarted three times. Most men keep such things to themselves—that is to say most men who have experience in the trying school at Washington.

Mr. Beck's ability has never been questioned. As a lawyer he had few peers and as a publicist his reputation was world wide. But we have always suspected that the principal thing that thwarted his ambition was because that ambition was too well known at Washington. The fact that he was known to be extremely pro-British and and pro-French unquestionably were contributing factors.

When President Harding was elected Mr. Beck came to Washington, took a house and put on a campaign to be appointed secretary of state. When it became evident that there was little likelihood that he would be chosen, he shifted his tactics and offered himself for the attorney generalship but he soon realized that another had been chosen for this post and then he switched again and offered himself for the post at London. He was eventually appointed solicitor general, a post for which he was eminently suited but he was never happy there. When vacancies arose he renewed his efforts to get one of the other posts but failed.

It was a case of "vaulting ambition o'er topping itself" and a great many people in Washington would have been glad to see him in any of the positions for which he aspired but his methods of approach did not appeal to the white house.

General Pershing has returned from a triumphal tour through South America and announces that he was surprised to find that the United States supplies but 24 per cent of the imports into the republics south of the Panama canal. There may be surprise that the amount is so great in view of the fact that "watchful waiting," during eight years of democratic administration, was a standing invitation to people everywhere to deny Americans the rights which are supposed to follow the flag.

The presidential appointment of William S. Culbertson as minister to Roumania is hailed by business America with mingled feelings of acclaim and regret; acclaim, because Mr. Culbertson's abilities as a foreign diplomat have at last been substantially recognized; regret, because a most affable economist has been removed from our midst before he was able to prove his case in favor of free trade.

Mr. Culbertson was a disciple of Wilson, who appointed him to office. He was a good friend of Senator Curtis, whereby he was continued therein. The tariff commission was organized, under the democratic administration on a strictly bi-partisan basis that is to say, four democrats and two republicans. President Harding tilted the scale a bit by appointing Marvin as chairman, Burgess a member, and Glassie, a democrat with protectionist leanings. This left Culbertson, Costigan, and Dave Lewis, of Maryland, as the "bi-partisans," and they quickly combined to unhorse Glassie by declaring him unqualified to vote on the sugar schedule because Mrs. Glassie owned a couple of thousand dollars worth of stock in a Louisiana sugar mill. The sugar schedule was before the commission at the time and the rules of procedure called for a direct report to the president, but, strangely enough, Senator La Follette, who was in the presidential running, received the gist of the report before President Coolidge was apprised of it. La Follette agitated that a bit, but the Wisconsin beetsugar growers placed the silencer on him and he turned to railroads. Culbertson was left unwept, unhonored and unsung. Costigan remains, and Lewis is out, having been supplanted by Alfred Dennis.

The U. S. tariff commission has had a hard row to hoe since protection became the established policy. Its labor has not been eased by Mr. Culbertson, and the president has been well aware of the fact. Still Mr. Culbertson has abilities which it would be poor economy to lose, and Mr. Coolidge is not a poor economist. Culbertson has at various times been spoken of as prospective minister to China, Ambassador to Mexico, and "other posts in the dispensation of the president." He goes to Roumania, at last, and it is hoped that his success in that intransigent country will be as marked as have been his misunderstandings on the tariff commission. Mr. Glassie still holds forth as a member of the commission, and Alfred Dennis is afflicted with no illusions. It is well.

A great deal of controversy has been going on of late with respect to the right of American representatives of the tariff commission, or customs service, to inspect the books of foreign manufactories to ascertain production costs with a view to regulating tariff schedules. The tariff law specifically provides that the federal authorities shall have this right so far as the books of American firms are concerned, and in case foreign concerns refuse it, their sales to this country shall come under penalty, either by way of prohibition of entry, or high duties.

For lack of definite issues it is said that the democratic party has seized on this dispute as an important factor in its major issue—the tariff—in the next campaigns. They will point to these difficulties as additional arguments against protective policies.

As present democracy is understood, it means open covenants, publicity of income taxes and open books. For whom? For Americans only? Are American firms to divulge all their workings while foreign firms keep the doors locked? Are we to have democracy at home and undisturbed timocracy abroad?

The Coolidge administration inherited quite a number of laws which authorize federal investigations into the most private concerns of American citizens. Even childbirth is not exempt. Democracy has reached its zenith. De the democrats contemplate reducing it to its nadir in the hope of getting in?

Secretary Hoover is searching for men of high calibre to serve in the great capitals of the world as trade "ambassadors." He will probably find the type he needs. It is high time that diplomats be limited to the field which they understand, while experienced business men are given an opportunity to represent American financial and commercial interests in foreign lands.

THE BEACH VAMP

"Well, Eva! Who'd ever thought of meeting you! How's that big brother George of mine? You're a fine pair you are, to never come and see a body! Betty, Kiss Auntie Eva. She hasn't seen you in so long she doesn't know you!"

"Yes I do, auntie's old sweetness! Where you bound for, Alice?"

"Best's dancing lesson. She's in a spiffy entertainment tonight and I want her coached up a bit."

"Dancing lesson! She still taking?"

"Taking is right. She has had her name in the papers twice this month Eva, pay attention! Her teacher says she is a s-t-a-r of her school — a g-e-n-i-u-s at dancing—get me? Be careful what you say. I don't want her to—you know!"

"I understand. Let's go in here and have an ice cream or something. I know what Betty likes."

"I don't eat ithe treams, Auntie Eva. It'll make me theo fat."

"Why, darling, you are only 6. You mustn't think of things like that."

"Oh, yes, she must, Eva! Her form must be kept in hand. Her teacher says it is now p-e-r-f-e-c-t-i-o-n. You can see for yourself."

"I surely can, Alice. It's all in sight. Shall we sit here?"

"No, back in the alcove. It's roomier there. I want Betty to show you a step or two. Yes, this is all right. Betty, take off your coat."

"But I'm cold with it off."

"Cold! The very idea! Take it off!"

"Yes, mamma, dear."

"What is she dancing now, Alice?"

"Anything. Everything. Straight-classical. Barefoot. Character. Now a new creation of her own. 'The Beach Vamp!' Listen. M-a-r-v-e-l-o-u-s! A k-n-o-u-c-k-o-u-t!"

"Beach Vamp! That baby?"

"Genius has no age, her teacher says. She also says an hour on the wire with New York and our Bet would be signed up with the Follies for all time at $500 a week—that she would surely stop the show. Can you imagine! Our baby worth $500 a week at her age—6"

"What are her lessons costing you?"

"Seven-fifty for half an hour. George is doing without a new top-coat and I am making my same old vanity case do a while longer. I pay a term in advance. Really it is almost unbelievable what she can do. I want her to show you a little of her Beach Vamp. Everybody in this place knows her, she is always so sweet about doing a step or two when asked. Now make allowances, Eve. She is hampered by her clothing. In the dance she has on only a tiny speck of a sky-blue bathing suit and carries a doll's parasol. It is killing to see her. The men actually go crasy over her! Betty!"

"Yes, mamma, dear."

"Get out there where you have a little space to move around in. Now imagine you have the parasol. Do all your 'come-on' work and your winking. There sits a lovely gentleman over there. Do it all at him."

"What does George think of it?"

"Oh, that old stick-in-the-sticks! Betty, throw your curls more, honey. The gentleman is smiling at you."

"Well, you didn't have her bobbed anyway, did you Alice?"

"Bobbed! Bob those long taffy curls! Well, what do you think I am? Crazy? Watch her, Eva. Did you ever see anything like it in all your life? If she was 18 and 'wise,' as the boys call it, she just could not do the come-on better—the 'nods,' the 'winking,' the coaxingness of the whole thing!

"Well, Eva, say something. My goodness! I thought you would grab her up and squeeze the life out of her. Betty, leave your coat unfastened and slant your hat more to one side. It is a sports hat, not something to go to bed in."

"Yes, mamma, dear."

"Alice, I don't know what to say. I'm sure she's talented."

"Talented! Wait till you see her in her new dance, 'September Morn.' She sure is the cute home-wrecker, 'I'll say.'"

"'Beach Vamp' and now 'September Morn'!"

"Oh, Eva, be a booster for once in your life! I believe you are envious because you haven't a kid like that of your own. In September Morn she practically will not have a stitch on her—art, pure art. Something wonderful!"

"I will, too, mamma dear, have a stitch on me! I'll have eight bown an' wed ottun leaves on me."

"Leaves are not clothing, Betty. How many times must I tell you never to contradict mamma? Eva, don't you just love her to death?"

"Alice, I surely do. I love her so much I am fighting back tears right this minute."—Exchange.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

The Great American Experiment

Mr. Editor: After more than a century and a half of constantly growing agitation and education, the United States on June 30, 1919, entered into war-time prohibition, which continued until January 16, 1920, when the eighteenth amendment to the constitution went into effect, forbidding the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors in our country, and their exportation from our country. It was required that 36 states should ratify the amendment within seven years. As a matter of fact, 45 states ratified it within 14 months, most of them as soon as their legislature could meet, ratifying by tremendous majorities, many of them unanimously. To remove the amendment from the constitution would require the vote of 36 states which can never be obtained. Congress has declared an intoxicating liquor to be one containing more than one half of one per cent. alcohol, the limit fixed by the liquor men themselves and used for many years by the United States internal revenue officers. Repeated decisions of the supreme court have upheld the law. Every year sees it better enforced and more firmly entrenched in public sentiment. It is the greatest step ever made by any nation.

The distinguished journalist, Philip Whitewell Wilson, in his "After Two Years, a Study of American Prohibition," finds that prohibition had in two years cut down the number of American drinkers from 20,000,000 to 2,500,000, only 1,000,000 of whom are steady drinkers; that the churches and women are solidly back of the reform; that the majority of workmen and doctors are for it; that prohibition has helped the theatres, boomed the hotels; increased motoring, improved real estate, conserved health, paid debts, diminished crime, that it has not increased the drug evil, and that smuggling and bootlegging only prove how hard it is to get the stuff. "I was not a prohibitionist," he says, "before I came to the United States. Nor was I entirely convinced on the subject until I returned to Great Britain and saw the alternative. The only thing that stirs up my own mind is the contrast between the health and happiness that I have seen in the new world, especially among the women, and the cloud of expenditure on alcohol of which I was scarcely conscious in the old world until I saw what life can become for the masses of the people without it.

Before national prohibition came into force two-thirds of the population of the United States and nineteen-twentieths of the area of the country was "dry." This shows how absurd is the liquor statement that prohibition was "sneaked through" congress, or forced upon congress by the anti-saloon league. If ever a measure has the majority of our people behind it, it is the 18th amendment. Under prohibition the United States has more money to spend for schools and spends it. Comparing the wet year of 1916 with the dry year of 1920, the nation spent on elementary and secondary schools $640,717,053 increased to $1,036,151,205; the receipts of colleges and universities were from $115,850,848 to $189,235,242, and gifts to the endowments rose from $19,776,363 to $50,906,752.

Most of the prohibition law violators are aliens or the children of aliens not yet Americanized. In Connecticut these constitute 90 per cent. of the violators, in California 85 per cent., in Louisiana 90 per cent., Illinois 90 per cent., Wisconsin 90 per cent., in Missouri 88 per cent. and so an down the list. The opposition to the 18th amendment has been aptly called "the rebellion of Ellis Island."

Before the coming of prohibition to the United States had several hundred hospitals for the cure of alcoholism. Now fully half of these have been closed for lack of patronage. The enforcement of prohibition in eastern cities meets with peculiar difficulty, yet here are some of the results of three years of prohibition in Wilmington, Del., crimes of all kinds reduced from 3,778 cases a year to 4,529 cases; drunkenness from 2,703 to 623; disorderly conduct from 631 to 257; non-support of families from 308 to 170; murders from 20 to 8; offenses against chastity from 103 to 60; death of infants from 138 to 89, juvenile offenses from 790 to 615. Such a showing as this may be made for every city, and in many cases far more favorable.

New York city, because of its large foreign element, is the city where prohibition is hardest to enforce, and yet if prohibition had no other figure to show than those in our national metropolis, it must be a marked success. Prohibition has halved (and more) the arrests for intoxication in New York city, and has made a 30 per cent. decrease in the number of inmates of all institutions under the department of correction. It has halved the number of admissions for alcoholism in the hospitals, and deaths from the cause have been more than halved. The diseases rendered more dangerous by alcoholism, such as tuberculosis, pneumonia, Bright's disease show a marked decrease, so does alcoholic insanity.

A CITIZEN

Norwich, May 4, 1925.

Fighting Tuberculosis

Mr. Editor: For the past year I have been trying to get statesmen to ask congress to offer an award to anyone who could show the public service department and agricultural department at Washington, D. C., how to obliterate tuberculosis in these United States. Nothing doing!

And yet the man is lucky who can get his cup of coffee tomorrow morning without some bacteria of this nature in it.

My proposition is a value-received one for the people of the United States.

I hope the day is coming when our bright and brilliant statesmen can distinguish the difference between a value received proposition and a proposition calling for $70,000,000 of no value received that could be had without the expenditure of one copper cent.

The press and the people should demand that the business of this nation must be run on business principles and not on graft games.

The farmer must sell his potatoes regardless of "adequate amounts."

He must have his governmental costs based on competitive business principles regardless of "adequate amount."

Any other policy is a policy of looting the farmer and others are no better off.

Congress can't make a fancy fix up for a graft combine without robbing some one else who might be much poorer.

Clarence W. Huntington, who has resigned the presidency of the Virginian Railway, presumably on account of the prospective absorption of that line by the Norfolk and western system, formerly vice-president and general manager of then Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad, and for many years has been known to operators of trunk lines both in the east and west as a well-trained transportation company director. The railroad which he has recently administered was organized by the late H. H. Rogers, the Standard Oil magnate, and was first known as the Tidewater Railroad Company, the name being changed later to the Virginian Railway. No expense was spared in building the line, and almost from the beginning it has held unchallenged title as one of the most profitable traffic hauls in the country.

Stories That Recall Others

A Tale of Visiting Pullets

The policeman was making the rounds when a resident he had come to know recently approaching him and after passing the time of day said, "Can I ask a few questions?"

"Sure," was the response of the affable policeman.

"Well, what would you do if you had a neighbor you thought a lot of and who had complained time and again to you to do something with a flock of chickens which were scratching up seeds which the two of you had planted?"

"Well, I'd swear out a warrant charging the owner of the chickens with maintaining a nuisance and have him arrested," replied the policeman.

"Well, that's exactly what I'd like to do if I wasn't afraid of the consequences," replied the meek-looking man.

"What have you got to be afraid of?" asked the policeman.

"Well, you see," said the fellow, "you see the chickens belong to my wife."

POETRY

Summer Longings

Ah! my heart is weary waiting,
Waiting for the May,—
Waiting for the pleasant rambles
Where the fragrant hawthorne-brambles
With the woodbine alternating,
Scent the dewy way.
Ah! my heart is weary waiting,
Waiting for the May.

Ah! my heart is sick with longing
Longing for the May,—
Longing to escape from study
To the young face fair and ruddy,
And the thousand charms belonging
To the summer's day.
Ah! my heart is sick with longing,
Longing for the May.

Ah! my heart is sore with sighing,
Sighing for the May—
Sighing for their sure returning,
When the summer beams are burning,
Hopes and flowers that, dead or dying,
All the winter lay.
Ah! my heart is sore with sighing,
Sighing for the May.

Ah! my heart is pained with throbbing,
Throbbing for the May,—
Throbbing for the seaside billows,
Or the water-wooing willows;
Where, in laughing and in sobbing,
Glide the streams away.
Ah! my heart, my heart is throbbing,
Throbbing for the May.

Waiting sad, dejected, weary,
Waiting for the May;
Spring goes by with wasted warnings—
Moonlit evenings, sunbright mornings—
Summer comes, ye' days darke and dreary
Life still ebbs away;
Man is ever weary, weary,
Waiting for the May!

—Dennis Florence MacCarthy.

Old Gardens

The white rose tree that spent its musk
For lovers' sweeter praise,
The state walks we sought at dusk,
Have missed thee many days.

Again, with once-familiar feet,
I tread the old pasterre—
But, ah, its bloom is now less sweet
Then when thy face was there.

I hear the birds of evening call;
I take the wild perfume;
I pluck a rose—to let it fall
And perish in the gloom.

—Arthur Upson.

KALEIDOSCOPE

Airplanes are being used to fight locusts in the Philippines.

For some time at Pasadena, Cal., V. K. Fisher enjoyed his ability to imitate a police siren to perfection with his voice. He fooled the traffic policemen as he drove his car down the street at a terrific rate, emitting siren-like screeches. At each corner, the policeman would wave traffic to a stop and would give the youth the right of way. Fisher met his Waterloo when a motorcycle officer heard the siren and followed to see what was happening.

The Higashi Honganji and Nishi Honganji sects in Kyoto have decided to make use of the movies in their missionary work, and allow the temples and sacred precincts to be used as locations for filming the lives of the priests and the religious ceremonies. The scenario of a religious drama by the chief priest of Higashi Honganji already is being cast.

Abbotts Langley, a little village in Hertfordshire, England, is preparing to hold a commemoration this summer, in honor of its most distinguished native son, Pope Adrian IV, the only Englishman ever to occupy the Vatican. A tablet is to be unveiled in the parish church to mark the fact that this pope was once a little Hertfordshire boy, named Nicholas Breakspear. A pageant will be held in the grounds which once formed the garden of the house in which Nicholas was born some four centuries ago. Being only an easy hour's motorcar run to the north of London, the village is expecting to entertain a large number of pilgrims.

It was a great mystery for a time, the disappearance of caps belonging to children at a Philadelphia public school. It threatened to be one that only a master mind could solve. Then one day the blacksmith across the way came to the office of the principal with four caps. Asked where he got them, he said, "Why ma'am, my dog brought them to me—one at a time—this morning." And sure enough, as the blacksmith and the teacher stood there talking along came the dog. He went into the cloak closet and in a jiffy was out again—a cap in his mouth. They followed him into the blacksmith shop, and there, in a corner hidden by anvils, was an assorted collection of caps.

JOSEPH P. CONNOR NAMED ON GAS AND ELECTRIC COMMISSION

At the May meeting of the court of common council, Monday evening in the council chamber, Mayor Milo R. Waters announced the appointment of Joseph P. Connor as a member of the gas and electric commission, the appointment to become effective May 15th. During the course of the meeting Mayor Waters took occasion to correct a misstatement made at a recent meeting of citizens on the West Side by a member of a city commission. The mayor said he had received information that the city commission member made an accusation of inefficiency and gross extravagance on the part of the present city administration, citing as an instance the fact that he knew that on one job 45 or 50 bags of cement had been allowed to get wet and spoil. The mayor said that "if he had investigated he would have found, as I did, that out of nearly three hundred bags of cement used on the job two bags were received in bad condition and these two were the only ones spoiled."

Sewer Assessment Hearing

At 7:30 o'clock there was a hearing on the Roosevelt Avenue Sewer assessments. Following the reading of the assessments by the city clerk, Mayor Waters announced that the hearing was open for remarks. E. W. Perkins, attorney, appeared in behalf of the Norwich Water Power Co. He said the company has a frontage of about 440 feet but the land is way below the street level and there is no possibility of making a connection with the sewer unless there is a great deal of filling in of the land. The company, he said, does not feel it should be assessed as the sewer is of no benefit to it. However a reasonable assessment would be agreeable.

Mr. M'Gowan, a property owner, said he felt the assessment against him was too high. He wished to protest the assessment.

These were the only protests made. Following the Roosevelt Ave. sewer hearing the N. Cliff St. sewer hearing was opened. No one wished to be heard and the hearing was declared closed after which the committee recessed to the mayor's office.

The council meeting was opened at 8:20 o'clock with Mayor Walters in the chair. According to custom the minutes of the previous meeting were accepted without reading. The clerk read the return of publication of the amendments to Sec. 39 and 44 of the local traffic ordinances.

Petitions Presented

Petitions were received and disposed of as follows:

From Peter Sullivan, No. 48 Prospect St., asking for the removal of a tree in front of his property. Referred to the tree warden and public works committee with power.

From Lorenzo Rinella and 50 others asking that a sufficient sum be placed in the estimates for the coming year to pave the small strip between the bridges over the Shetucket river and the N. Y. N. H., and Hartford railroad tracks, at the Marguerite bilk corner. Referred to the finance committee to be placed in the estimates.

From Adams P. Carroll, et al., asking that a sufficient sum be included in the estimates to provide for a sewer or drain on Carroll Ave. Referred to the finance committee to be placed in the estimates.

From Frank L. Woodard and 30 others asking that the trees on Lincoln Ave be trimmed and sprayed. Referred to the public works committee and tree warden.

From the United Spanish War Veterans, asking the usual appropriation of $100 to help defray the Memorial Day expenses. The appropriation was voted on motion of Alderman Henry Gebrath.

From William J. Carroll et al., asking that a sewer be constructed on Mowry Ave. Referred to the finance committee to be placed in the estimates.

From Axel E. Johnson and 20 others, residents of Geer Ave., and Summit St., asking the continuation of the sewer now on Geer Ave., as far as Summit street and through Summit St. to the sewer in Carpenter St. Referred to the finance committee to be placed in the estimates.

The monthly reports of the city treasurer and street commissioner and the annual reports of the playground commission, the board of water commissioners, the inventory of the fire department and the annual report of the board of fire commissioners were received and accepted.

A report on the petition of Dorothy C. Potter asking the establishment of a grade for a walk on Hedge Ave. recommended that the grade be established and the evening of June 5th was set for a hearing on the matter.

The public works committee, reporting on the petition for the establishment of a grade for a walk on Carroll avenue, recommended the establishment of the grade and the evening of June 5th was set as the date for the hearing on the matter.

Approved Sewer Assessments

The council then approved assessments for the new sewers constructed on No. Cliff St., Roosevelt Ave., and Maple street.

The assessments are as follows:

Maple street—James L. Tourtellotte and Minnie W. Tourtellotte, $50; Warren T. Willey, $25.50; William H. Robinson, $100; Robert Goldstein $200; Philip Silverman $10; Emma Sadinsky, $20; Lillian B. Cross, $30; Carrie V. L. Pierson, $150; Isaac Geffaud, Robert Goldstein and Frank Becker $82.50; Julia E. Haefner $112.50.

North Cliff street—Paul Banaswicz and Eva Banaswicz, $53.90; Mary E. Toomey, Patrick J. Toomey, Ella F. Toomey and Margaret A. Toomey $55; Antoni Waydaloviski and Paulina Waydaloviski, $55.

Roosevelt avenue—Faddey Arice, $55; The Norwich Water Power Company, $25; Myra Baldwin, $81.40; Josef Daniliowitz, $55; Mikolaj and Pauline Elezialewicz $110; Antone Przbys $57.20; Anthony Jesnach and Bronislawa Jesnach $111.10; Arthur McGeown and Dorothea McGeown, $200; Joseph Wianewski $236.50; The Peck & McWilliams Co., $252.50; Rufus D. Harris $81.40; Valenty Cimuchowski and Marrianna Cimuchowski $55; Eva Ulikowski $110; Antoni Wodarecsk $55; Arseny Woroniuk and Helen Woroniuk $110; Martha T. McGeevey $145.20; Toney Kononchik and Hulia Lukiewicz, $27.50; Andrew Covalenko and Mary Covalenko, $131.50; Lizzie E. McNally, $55; Susanna Politowites, $99; Edmond Cote and Bertha Cote, $55; Paul P. Calande $55.

The auditors report of the water department for the quarter ending March 31 was accepted. The police committee reported the following petitions granted: Mrs. H. Finlayson, et al., for bug light on Frances Pl., verbal petition of Alderman Crooks to change bug lights from bridge to county home on Smith avenue and from bridge to Mowry avenue on Roosevelt avenue to arc lights.

Alderman Gebrath, for the public works committee, made a report of progress on the petition to accept Golden St., as a public highway.

The council voted that the city treasurer refund to W. L. Fletcher $25 paid on the 1923 tax list, $20.75 on the 1924 tax list, for which he should have claimed exemption, being the father of a deceased soldier, killed in the world war.

Claims Settled

The sum of $151 was voted to be paid to Margaret A. Curry in full settlement of her claim against the city for a fall on Main street. The mayor and treasurer were authorized to pay $9000 on the principal of the city's note, number, 407, which has fallen due. It was voted that $50 be paid to Maria B. Walsh in full settlement of her claim against the city for a fall on Warren street.

Claims were received and referred as follows.

From Stanley Andrews $15 for damage to his automobile while driving on Boswell avenue, the damage being the result of the alleged defective condition of the street. Referred to the finance committee and corporation counsel.

From Jessie Donovan, wife of John Donovan of No. 156 Talman street for injuries received in a fall when she stepped into a hole, 18 inches wide and 8 inches deep, on Talman street. Referred to the finance committee and corporation counsel.

From Henry Silverstein, claim for damage to the fender of his automobile which hit an old hot water boiler used as a hitching post on Stanton avenue.

Invitation for Bank Opening

The council received and accepted the invitation from the Merchants National Bank to visit the bank's new quarters on Main street Wednesday from 4 to 8 and from 7 to 9 o'clock in the evening.

Mayor Waters then announced his appointment of Joseph P. Connor as a member of the gas and electrical commission the appointment to take effect May 15th. The appointment was approved by the council.

Mayor Makes Statement

At this point of the meeting Mayor Waters took occasion to correct a misstatement made by a member of the city commission already referred to.

In regard to the matter, Mayor Waters, addressing the council, said:

Gentlemen: One of the most valuable assets of a municipal administration is constructive criticism, and we should profit by it. During the past two years, or the life of the present council, many complaints have come to my office as well as to the heads of the departments, and without exception, each complaint has been investigated and wherever possible remedied. This is no more than is due to the citizens of the city who have selected us to represent them in carrying on the business of the city. It was with great surprise that I received the information that at a gathering of citizens on the West Side a few days ago, a member of a city commission accused the present administration not only of inefficiency, but of gross extravagance, mentioning as a specific instance the fact that he knew that on one job forty-five or fifty bags of cement had been allowed to get wet and spoil and were still there. If he had investigated, he would have found, as I did, that out of nearly three hundred bags of cement used on the job two bags were received in bad condition, and, these two were the only ones spoiled. Owing to the inability of park employes to shut the gate at the pond tightly it was necessary to building a small coffer dam so the work could go on, and empty cement bags were filled with sand and used for that purpose. They can be seen there now. I sincerely hope that the gentleman who made such an unwise statement uses more judgment in his duties on the city commission of which he is a member.

One-way Street Signs

At the conclusion of the mayor's address to the council Councilman Lee Clegg, said he had been asked to speak in behalf of the Retail Merchants Bureau, regarding the present signs designating one way streets. He thought more adequate signs should be erected for the one way streets, so that drivers not familiar with the city's traffic ordinances would be sure to see them. He suggested that a streamer calling attention to the one-way street might be erected across the entrance to the streets.

After some discussion on the matter it was referred to the police committee for investigation.

Bills were approved as follows: Fire department, $6,304.33; water department $4,709.32; Stony Brook bills $8,-804.19; Trading Cove Brook pumping station $904.37; park department $1,529.06; recreation commission $547.-83; gas and electric department $73,-709.93; permanent street improvement $12.20; public works department $9,-561.45; police department, $5,510.49; street lighting $2,330.88; cemetery department $749.25; finance department $6,040.97.

About 9.30 the council adjourned until 7 p. m. standard time, May 20th.

GAVE PICNIC FOR TAFTVILLE BOY SCOUTS

The Ladies' Auxiliary of R. E. Hourigan post, No. 594, V. F. W., held a picnic Saturday at Mohegan park for the Boy Scouts of Troop 4, Taftville, in recognition of the work the Scouts did last Memorial Day in selling poppies. The boys enjoyed the picnic thoroughly and closed the pleasant affair by singing America and The Star Spangled Banner.

The Scouts present were: Francis Simoneau, Alfred Mathieu, Leodore Phaneuf, Leo Thibeault, Arthur Martin, Irenee Girard, Austin Lemoine, Raymond Blandon, Frederick Dugas, Martin and John Waldron, Albert Lavigne, Armand Boldue, Lucien Chenette, Silnie Bedard, Herman Spielnagle.

SKIDDED OFF ROAD, NEW DRIVER AT WHEEL

A Hudson speedster owned and driven by Joseph S. Laskey of New London, skidded and ran off the road and down the bank by the side of the road about two and a half miles out of Norwich on the Norwich and Westerly highway about 11 o'clock Monday night. In reporting the accident at police headquarters Laskey said he has only had the machine since April and was learning to drive it. He had a licensed operator, Henry Crouschia, of New London, with him.

Mr. Laskey secured a garage crew to pull the machine out of the ditch and onto the road again. No one was injured.

Given Surprise Party.

An enjoyable surprise party was given Saturday evening for Miss Nellie Chappell at her home on McKinley avenue. About thirty young people enjoyed the evening with games and dancing and refreshments were served by the hostess. Among those present from out of town were James Kemp and three of his friends.

FOUR MANSLAUGHTER CASES ON CRIMINAL DOCKET

Twenty-six new cases are on the docket of the criminal supehior court which opens the May term in New London this (Tuesday) afternoon at 1 o'clock, standard time, with Judge John R. Booth, presiding. Four manslaughter cases and one in which the charge is assault with intent to murder make the docket unusual.

The following are the cases and the offenses charged:

PLANT-SMITH WEDDING IS INDEFINITELY POSTPONED

Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter Smith 101 East Seventy-fourth Street, New York, have authorized the announcement that the marriage of their daughter, Miss Judith Smith, to Philip Morgan Plant, formerly of New London, which was to have taken place on June 5, had been indefinitely postponed. They would make no further statement. However, it is understood that the postponement is due to the illness of Mr. Plant, who has been at the Polytechnic Hospital for several weeks.

At the time the engagement of Mr. Plant to Miss Smith was announced last January it was said that the wedding would not take place until he had finished his course at Yale. He is now a junior at the university and would not finish until 1926. Mr. Plant is the son of Mrs. William Hayward and a stepson of Colonel William Hayward of 1,051 Fifth Avenue. Colonel Hayward refused to comment on his stepson's illness, but said that it was true that the ceremony had been postponed indefinitely.

VOITURE CEREMONIAL WILL BE BIG EVENT HERE

Plans are rapidly being formed for the spring ceremonial of the Voiture to be held in this city on May 23rd. Chef de Guerre Jonathan L. Johnson has appointed his committees and it is expected that a class of over 50 candidates will be ready to go over the top at the zero hour.

Members of the Voiture from several cities of the state will be in town for the day to take part in the parade which is being planned and to enjoy the big time in the evening.

The affair is being planned by Voiture Locale No. 743, La Societe Hommes et 8 Chevaux, which includes Legion members of New London county. The first ceremonial was held in New London last year when nearly 100 candidates were initiated and it is expected that the membership will be sent to 150 in the spring ceremonial.

EXPECT ANSWER ON STATION PARKING SPACE

Within a week it is expected that some definite statement will be received fro mSuperintendent E. E. Regan of the New Haven railroad as to what will be done about the parking space at the New Haven station in this city, which the railroad has closed to parking.

Saturday Mayor Milo R. Waters, Alderman Patrick Sweeney, Secretary John J. O'Rourke of the Chamber of Commerce, Corporation Counsel William H. Shields, Jr., John M. Lee and Abner Schwartz were in conference here with Superintendent Regan, who told the Norwich men that the road had received several propositions and he expected to be able to give some definite information in a week.

AGGIE FRESHMEN TRACK TEAM SCORES EASY VICTORY OVER DEAN ACADEMY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Storrs, Conn., May 4—The Connecticut Aggie freshmen overwhelmed Dean Academy here in track meet this afternoon by a score of 77-28. Coach Daly's men placed first in ten of events, and they had a decided edge over their Bay State rivals in practically every event. Walford, Williams and Shaw were the high point getters for the Nutmeg yearlings, scoring 12 points between them. Walford was easily the best man in the mile and half mile runs, playing first in both events. Shaw took first in both the 220 and 440, and second in the century. He scored 13 points, the highest individual score in the meet. Williams husky frosh football star, used his weight to good advantage and played first in both the hammer throw and shot put. The Aggies made a clean sweep in both the mile runs and in the high jump. Shapiro in the broad jump and Simmons in the 120 yard hurdles were the only two Dean men who played first.

Connecticut Aggies Freshmen-Dean Academy track meet:

100 yard dash, Watson C; Shaw C; McCarthy D—10 3-5 sec.

220 yard dash, Shaw C; Watson C; Smith D—24 1-5 sec.

440 yard dash, Shaw C; McCarthy D; Best C—56.6 sec.

880 yard run, Walford C; Bigelow C; Nevins D—2:19 4-10 sec.

Mile run, Walford C; Mehl C; Schleffer C—5:14 4-5.

120 yard hurdles, Simons D; Shapiro C; Laconk D—17. sec.

Field Events.

BULKELEY TO CLASH WITH WEAVER HIGH THIS AFTERNOON

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 4—The late start Bulkeley made in her baseball campaign this season resulted in but six games being played last month. With the advent of May first, Bulkeley opposed Morris High at New York city and was robbed of performing at least two more times by errors of judgment by managers and bad weather. With the beginning of this month the schedule calls for the heaviest part of the campaign. The high spots in the schedule for this month include the adhering to competition among Connecticut High school teams. The game with Weaver High for this (Tuesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock will be the week's opener followed by a game with New Haven Commercial High on Saturday.

Weaver High with its victory over Windham High by an 8 to 5 score, seems to have been walloped by several other teams with the exception of the Thread City nine. But the game which is in store for Bulkeley on Tuesday cannot be considered too lightly. Weaver made a good showing against Bridgeport High, losing to the Park City nine in a short game of five innings by a 5 to 3 score. That the Capitol City boys possess a latent batting punch is obvious by comparison in scores in the following weeks. But no matter how good the Weaver pitching and defense may be, Bulkeley having tasted the fruits of victory will be rather reluctant in changing to the more bitter fruit of defeat. All told, it seems as though Bulkeley will meet a hard game throughout. For the Weaver pitching is supposed to be first class.

In dividing the assignments which comprise the Bulkeley schedule, Dazzy Parisi is the next member of the staff to plant his shoes in the pitching box. The easy victories of the Bulkeley team over its opponents has not required the Orange and Black boxman to be especially well versed in pitching. The defense has been strong and a team which can go out and gather a dozen or more runs has not been troubled by poor work in the box. But the stage is being reached where better pitching will have to be demanded of its twirlers, and the first indication of this was in the game with Morris High in New York when Daniels barely escaped pitching a no-hit game. Parisi lost a ball in the sun which went for a double and cost Daniels a chance to enter his name in the hall of fame.

MARRIOTT'S HIT IN NINTH WINS GAME FOR BRAVES

Boston, May 4—Marriott's single in the ninth inning with two out scored Bancroft with the run that gave the Braves a 6 to 5 victory over the Brooklyn Dodgers this afternoon. Jess Petty and Rube Marquard were the rival pitchers when the game started, but in the eighth Petty was removed for a pinch hitter and Marquard was chased off the slab. Osborne and Graham were opponents in the box at the finish. Score:

CHAPMAN TECH READY FOR ACADEMY TOMORROW

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 4—A dead lock in the standing of the Eastern Connecticut interscholastic league which was the result of victories by Chapman Tech and Norwich Free Academy will be settled without a doubt when these teams meet at Morgan Park Wednesday afternoon. As has been predicted the league will be a free-for-all fight for the top position this season. The two strong teams of this organization were the winners in their first battle in league competition. The Chapman Tech-Westerly game was as close as was expected, while from that early showing it looks as though Stonington will again be the weakest nine in the league. But Stonington showed some form, and may be expected to improve as the season progresses.

The trouble, as was expected, in Westerly's defeat came from her pitching department. There seems to have been a defense which could hold its own with any team in the league, and a hitting power which could warrant the placing of this team in a similar position which both Chapman Tech and the Academy hold. The relief pitching as well as the twirling on which Westerly expects to vie for first class honors with the present leading teams is below par to that which is expected to carry both Tech and the Academy to the top. A chance for comparison will be able to be made when both Chapman Tech and Westerly oppose each other for the league leadership on Wednesday.

YANKEES LOSE AGAIN TO THE ATHLETICS

New York, May 4—The Yankees lost their fifth straight game today when "Bing" Miller, whose homer decided yesterday's game, delivered a ninth inning triple which scored Dykes with the run that gave Philadelphia the victory by the score of 8 to 7. Heavy hitting, much substitution of new pitchers and numerous pinch-hitters marked the bitter struggle of the Yankees to stop their slump. Score:

SISLER WINS HIS OWN GAME FROM TIGERS

St. Louis, May 4—George Sisler, manager of the St. Louis Browns, had a field day today and was largely responsible for the 5 to 4 defeat administered Detroit. In addition to getting two singles, Sisler hit into the right field bleachers, with two men on the bases, and then in the eighth inning pilfered home on a double steal. It was the nineteenth consecutive game in which he has hit safely. Davis although issuing nine passes, held Detroit safe until the ninth, when he had to be relieved. The scores:

SO. WINDHAM TAKES FAST GAME FROM EAGLEVILLE

There was plenty of good and bad baseball displayed at Recreation Park, Sunday, when the So. Windham All-Stars again defeated Eagleville, 8 to 5. Eagleville's big inning was in the second when three errors and a hit gave them three runs. The All-Stars tied them in the third with hits by Sweet, Adams and Mathewson and two errors sandwiched between. In the seventh, the All-Stars got three more on 3 hits and two errors. The score:

EBBETS LEAVES ESTATE TO HIS FAMILY

New York, May 4—Charles H. Ebbets, late president of the Brooklyn National League baseball club, bequeathed his interest in the club equally among his widow, his son, Charles Jr., and his three daughters, it was reported this afternoon. The baseball property must be disposed of within ten years.

Mrs. Ebbets, it is said, will receive an annuity of $3,000 and the use of the Ebbets home at Clearwater, Fla., for three years. To his first wife, the mother of the four children, he bequeathed $7,500 yearly.

Charles H. Ebbets Jr., will receive an annuity of $2,000 and a stickpin presented to his father at the opening of Ebbets Field.

The will was taken to the surrogate's office in Brooklyn last week, but has not been filed for probate.

BIG OFFER MADE DEMPSEY FOR BOUT IN GERMANY

New York, May 4—Jack Dempsey, announced today that he had received a cable from Samuel Rachman, motion picture producer in Germany, offering Jack Dempsey $160,000 for a heavyweight bout in Berlin while the champion is abroad on his honeymoon trip with Mrs. Dempsey, the former Estelle Taylor, moving picture actress.

Hans Breittenstraetter, the German heavyweight, or K. O. Sampson, who boxed in America a few years ago, would probably be selected as an opponent for Dempsey, according to Curley.

Sampson failed to reach the pugilistic heights during his American tour, while Breittenstraetter was kayoed in seven rounds three years ago by Ermino Spalla, the Italian champion.

Broadway Sixth Graders Victorious

The Broadway Sixth Graders continued their winning streak yesterday afternoon when they defeated the Elizabeth St., sixers by the large score of 20 to 4. Wennacott started the game for the Broadway team but was hit freely and was replaced by Pepperelli who would fihished the game getting 14 strike outs. Pepperelli also hit a home run in the fifth inning. Gustamachio and Wennacott got a triple, while two base hits were made by Lamis, Coles and Dickerman.

SLATTERY KNOCKS OUT McDONALD IN FIRST BOUT AS HEAVYWEIGHT

Buffalo, N. Y., May 4—Jimmy Slattery of Buffalo, entered the heavyweight ranks here tonight, knocking out Jack McDonald of Butte, Montana, in the third round of a scheduled six round bout. Slattery scored three knock-downs before the knockout.

The weights were: Slattery 164 1-2; McDonald 177.

YOUNG COULON LOSES DECISION TO THOMAS

Young Coulon of Taftville lost a close decision Monday evening in the preliminary bout to the Wilshur-Suggbont at the Elm Rink in New Bedford, to Johnny Thomas, brother of Tony Thomas. Coulon was outboxed during the last few rounds of the fight although he had a slight edge in the first few stanzas. In the third round Coulon slipped over a punch that floored Thomas for a count of nine but the New Bedford boy refused to stay down and made a great comeback in the last three rounds.

KRAMER KNOCKS OUT TRAVERS IN EIGHTH

Philadelphia, May 4—Danny Kramer, Philadelphia featherweight, tonight knocked out Mickey Travers, New Haven, Conn., in the eighth round of their scheduled ten round bout. The fight was fast and hard.

For the first five rounds, Travers forced the going, repeatedly sending Kramer to cover. Starting the sixth, the Philadelphian assumed the offensive and early in the eighth round sent his opponent to the canvas with a series of hard lefts to the jaw. Travers regained his feet at the count of nine, but was met with three successive left hooks and went down and out.

Kramer weighed 125 1-2; Travers 128 1-2.

CHAPMAN WINS HECTIC GAME FROM WESTERLY

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May 4.—Chapman Tech emulated the well known story of Garrison's sensational finish to gain a 10 to 9 victory over Westerly High here Saturday afternoon at Morgan park. Coming from behind in the last inning, Chapman Tech scored three runs and walked into the leadership of the Eastern Connecticut Interscholastic league. The game was weirdly played, with every description of baseball imaginable thrown in for good measure. Both teams used two twirlers, and it was more a matter of luck than anything else that Tech came out the winner. About fifteen minutes prior to game time, rain began to fall and it looked as though the game would have to be called off, but it subsided enough to let the two teams go to it—and go to it they did. Plays never seen before, nor for that matter ever expected to be duplicated again were very much in evidence. The pitchers were far from effective and wild as hawks. The defense at tight moments was no defense at all, and the bad over throw of McQuire's hit by W. Dabrowsky was just about the last straw for the Rhode Islanders and they lost a tooth and nail contest.

The lead changed hands time and again. Westerly was first to go into the lead by scoring twice in the third, but Chapman Tech came back getting into the leader's position by scoring three times. Westerly took advantage of the wild pitching by Gero and some well bunched hits made a mad dash for the front by scoring a quartet of runs in the fifth, Chapman Tech was not to be left behind and scored twice after Westerly scored one in the sixth. With the score at 7 to 5 for the visitors, a single by Montgomery, Hewitt's double and Courbois' single with some bad play on Westerly's part brought the score to a dead lock at the end of the eighth frame.

But Westerly was undaunted by the boldness of the Red and Black, and rode to the front in the ninth which made it look as though it was their game. But while Gero flittered out of the scene in the sixth in favor of Morris Brown, so was Meikle scheduled to be forced to retire. Westerly's runs were scored with Meikle's hit, and by Brown in passing Larsen, Payne came through with a fine two bagger and two crossed the plate for Westerly. Things looked unusually bright before Tech took her turn at the plate. Meikle was weakening fast, as J. Brown and McDonald drilled him for singles. That was enough for Meikle and Larsen took up the mound duties. He was wild and inefficient and the change was not for the better. Two men walked, Pongetti and Montgomery, and J. Brown was forced over the plate with a run. McGuire cuffed one of Larsen's curves to W. Dabrowsky at short stop. He scooped up the ball, not any to cleanly, and whipped it with such force to the home stop that Salimeno could not have reached it standing on the Woolworth building. It was all over, but the shouting as two runs trickled across the plate which gave Chapman Tech the lead in the league with a two-win margin with Norwich Free Academy second.

OPIUM JOINT CASE, WITH OTHERS, DISPOSED OF IN NEW LONDON COURT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

New London, May. 4—The police court had eleven cases to consider this morning and completed the task in ten of them, the other, that of Lee Sheffield, a soldier who forged checks on a New Britain bank, going over till tomorrow when his companion in crime may be presented in court. The case is likely to go to the superior court, which comes in tomorrow.

Joseph Matus, a mill hand at Lyme, filled up with booze and then he upset his automobile in the manipulation of it near Ocean Beach. Policeman John Hogan, on duty there, heard cries for help and found Matus under the overturned automobile. Whether he was hurt was a question Officer Hogan did not care to decide, though Matus assured him that he had escaped injury. The officer conveyed Matus to the hospital where an examination led to a report being made that the man upset was "just drunk". In court this morning an attorney explained for Matus that Matus was a proper citizen, but that he had imbibed too freely Sunday and that the result was before the court. Matus was fined $10, which he considered to be a reasonable penalty.

Oscar Hill, a fellow who works about the water, departed from his employment Saturday and Sunday he was found badly intoxicated. He took that as a matter of course and said that he met friends. He did not buy any booze himself, but he was so far away from the water that he couldn't get back. A fine of $10 was meted out to Hill.

Arthur Perry and William R. Brown took a joy-ride without having the necessary credentials. Of course they got into trouble, for it developed that Brown, who has been employed at the Star garage, had appropriated a machine to his own use and had invited Perry to go along. Charlie Maloof, proprietor of the garage, discovered that the machine the men had was taken from his garage without permission. Brown and Perry were arrested and could not explain. One had a license to operate a car while the other had registration issued in New Jersey. Things were so mixed that they were charged with violating the automobile laws of this state and they were both fined.

James Jones, a negro, who said his home was in Omaha, was picked off a New Haven road train Saturday night. He did not have a ticket nor did he have the cash to buy one, so he was arrested. Jones admitted that he had just put in ten days at Springfield for the same offense. "You will be a candidate for an undertaker unless you ride on trains with a ticket," said Judge Prince to him as he allowed him to get out of town. Jones declared that he was making his way to Philadelphia, where his sister resides. He promised to walk the distance if he did not earn money to buy a ticket.

Harry Berg, an expressman with a family of children numerous enough to form a baseball nine, paid a fine of $25 for reckless operation of an auto-truck. He was doing stunts on Main street when he was arrested Saturday night about 8:30. He pleaded guilty and was mighty glad that he was not accused of an offense that would take his license away from him.

Two sailors from coast guard ves-sels, Charles Sharpe and Millard Trebault mixed things up at the beach. They got into a fight that was fast and furious while it lasted, or until officers interfered. Sharpe said it was a case of mistaken identity. He saw Trebault and supposed he was a fellow he was looking for to hammer. Sharpe started in but he discovered his mistake when Trebault came back at him in kind. Sharpe is just completing a year's service in the coast guard, where he says he has a good record, so Judge Prince turned both men over to the navy branch that they may be dealt with according to their deserts.

A Chinaman known as Eddie Young suffered the breaking up of his sleep parlor, when Agent Robert Kelley, representing the narcotic branch of the government service, took Officers Philopens and Babcock with him and visited the place, where they found all the equipment of an opium joint. The officers confiscated what dope they found and a pipe which had been in use there. They found couches for the sleepers and said there was accommodation for ten addicts. The attorney for Young represented that he was an addict, but that he was breaking away from the habit, and declared that he did not commercialize the business. There were three ounces of the narcotic in the place and this was taken by the agent. Young was fined $50 and paid, but he was also given a jail sentence for having a revolver in his possession, something aliens are not allowed to have. The jail sentence was suspended, that Young might get on his feet or rather get away from dope.

Catharupo Bruno, also known as Charlie O'Brien, was convicted of a breach of the peace charge and was fined $10, which penalty took him to jail. He rooms in a tenement house on Main street, where Julia Paroli occupies rooms with her mother. The rooms are across the hall from the room of Bruno, but he managed to get to them and tried to kick his way in. Then an officer was called and Bruno was arrested. Judge Prince allowed Bruno to explain and the accused started in to talk, but he was so rapid that no one could get the point of what he said, other than to hear Bruno declare that he "never troubled anybody and no one ever troubled him." He seems possessed of an idea that he can drink all that he can hold and that his habits are not in the keeping of the state. This is the seventh time Bruno has been prosecuted because of that notion and there is slight chance that his experience will teach him wisdom. He did make some statements that were detrimental to the character of Julio, but they were not taken seriously by the court.

Private Lee Sheffield, Battery K, 11th Co., C. A. C., Fort Wright, charged with forgery in forging the name of John Caziares, proprietor of the Capitol theatre, New Britain, to two checks, one for $200, and another for $150. The money on the former check was paid by the Union Bank & Trust company and the arrest of Sheffield followed when he attempted to negotiate the second check Saturday. The case did not come to trial in the police court this forenoon. The trial will take place tomorrow morning. Sheffield is a prisoner at the county jail. Russell Hereau, an accomplice of Sheffield is under arrest at Fort Wright and will be delivered to the civil authorities tomorrow morning when both soldiers will be tried. Witnesses in the case, including the New Britain theatre proprietor and a cashier in a bank there, were summoned to appear in court this afternoon.

Mrs. Frank Prottas, 316 Williams street, died this morning at a health resort in New York state where Mrs. Prottas had been under treatment some time, in an endeavor to obtain beneficial health condition from asthmatic and lung trouble, with which afflictions she had been a sufferer for a long time.

Mrs. Nelsen Appleby, of Old Lyme, was taken into custody this afternoon by Sergeant John Cavanaugh, as a precautionary measure against harm befalling the woman, who is undoubtedly of unsound mentality. She was detained at the police station until her husband arrived here and took charge of the unfortunate woman. Mrs. Appleby was about the streets and at the municipal building where she attracted attention because she alleged that people were seeking to injur her. She was highly painted and powdered, the facial applications entirely covering her features so as to making it almost impossible to recognize the woman. When Mrs. Appleby was being questioned at the police station as to her identity, she made an attempt to leave the building, rushing to the front entrance, but she was overtaken by officers. So vigorous was Mrs. Appleby's attack upon the officers that it required the combined efforts of three of them to restrain the woman.

Joseph N. LaPointe has sold a house and lot on Moore avenue to John and Samuel Turello.

Mrs. Ralph Atkins and infant son, of 106 Smith street, Groton; Mrs. Elder Morris, Niantic; Mrs. Charles Tyler, Norwich; John Tasca, Bank street; Miss Doris Nash, 343 Montauk avenue; Mrs. Robert Edgar, Water street, Stonington; Robert Keosin, Jefferson avenue; Mrs. Singe Wilson, Gardner avenue; Mrs. John O'Connell, Montauk avenue; Miss Gladys Terranova, 342 Montauk avenue; Manual Koss, Fort Wright; Peter Doucette, 79 Bayonet street; Miss Anna Hamilton, 7 Fourth street; Henry Picken, 317 Shaw street and James Mead, a wanderer, patients at Lawrence hospital, were discharged today.

The funeral of Francesca DiBiasi, whose death occurred at his residence in Noank Saturday, was held this morning at 10 o'clock at the St. John's Catholic church, Noank, and was attended by an immense throng of mourners. A mass of requiem was celebrated by Rev. Fr. Sullivan, Westerly. The bearers were Frank Zuccardy, Attilio Covino, Manuel Caputo, Charles Zuccardy, James Moriscatto and James Fuscone. Burial was in St. Mary's cemetery, New London.

Everett Joslin of Center Groton, was in the Groton town court this morning on a charge of statutory burglary. He entered a demurrer, through counsel, the demurrer being overruled and Joslin was held for trial in $300 bonds for the next term of the superior court. He was unable to furnish a surety and was remanded to jail to await trial. Joslin and a youth of 15, are accused of having entered the Center Groton gasoline station, of which George W. Daboll is proprietor and having stolen a quantity of gasoline and oil. The boy was placed on probation for a month.

The continued case of Harold Bur-bank, charged with reckless driving, was not disposed of this morning, being continued a month. The continuances was ordered by Judge Cornelius C. Costello because of Ray Fancher Mitchell street, Groton, who was struck by Burbank's car, still being a patient at Lawrence hospital suffering from a fractured leg. Besides hitting Fancher, Burbank's car collided with a machine owned and operated by Herbert McKenzie, of Dean street, Groton.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Ganey have returned home, having spent several days in New York.

Charles Alquist, grocer at 99 Wil-letts avenue, residing at 43 Woodbridge street, was arrested late this afternoon on a charge of non-support and will be given a hearing in the police court Tuesday morning. Alquist is accused of not only failing to properly provide for his wife, Edie, but is alleged to have failed to support his daughter, Edna, 6. Mrs. Alquist became tired of her husband's failure to provide for herself and her daughter and today placed the facts of her husband's treatment toward her and their daughter before Acting Prosecuting Attorney Perry J. Hollandersky, who issued a warrant for Alquist's arrest. Motorcycle Officer William Babcock was given the warrant to serve and located the accused at his place of business.

Annie Dabrowski, 13 Hill street, complained to the police this afternoon that she had been greatly annoyed of late by the action of Valentine Pedajwa, who occupies a tenement in the same house and who is employed at the plant of the New London Ship & Engine company. When Pedeajwa returned from work tonight he was ordered by Motorcycle Officer Ray to appear in the police court tomorrow morning and answer a charge of breach of the peace.

GALES FERRY

The theme—Why Join the Church—was concluded, by Rev. George Smith Brown, in his second sermon on the subject, at the morning service, in the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday. A duet—Jesus is Mine—(Krats) was sung by D. R. Povey and C. E. Colver, following the offertory. At the conclusion of the sermon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Clark, were received into membership with this church, by Rev. Mr. Brown.

Church activities for the week were announced, as an Epworth League social, in the vestry, Wednesday evening. Norwich District Epworth League Convention is to be held in Willimantic, in the M. E. church Friday May 15. The May meeting of the Mohegan Trial Circuit League is to be held in the same church that evening at 7:30 (standard).

Mrs. George Smith Brown was the leader of the Epworth League evening service, the topic—The Freedom, Rev. Mr. Brown, spoke in conclusion on the topic. Special singing followed Mrs. Rufus W. Hurlbutt, being at the piano. At the social hour, the hostesses were Mrs. Avery Main, Misses Sarah L. Latimer, Edna Chapman, Alice Satterlee. Fancy wafers, and cocoa were served, there being a large attendance.

As noted in the Ledyard news Saturday, when the annual speaking and spelling contest of the schools of the town together with the athletic stunts were held in Grange Hall, at Ledyard Center Tuesday afternoon. In the speaking contest, William McNaught of Gales Ferry, won first honors, speaking Horatious of the Bridge. Among those attending from this section of the town, were Mrs. Walace Norcross, Mrs. Lincoln Fairfield, Mrs. James Whipple, Mrs. Emerson Whipple, Mrs. Carl Lanson, Miss Bella R. J. Kind, teacher of the Long Cove school and Miss Evelyn E. Whipple, teacher of Gales Ferry school.

In the garden of Minor Moxley, can be seen thrifty pea vines, 12 inches in height, and rhubarb stalks 14 inches and more in length.

Agnes Lester Greenman and her sister Mary Greenman of Norwich, were week end guests at the home of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Noyes.

Mrs. Billings F. S. Crandall of Stoddard's wharf, Miss Alice Satterlee of Gales Ferry and Mrs. James A. Stoddard of Long Cove, members of Anna Warner Bailey chapter, D. A. R. attended the April meeting of the Chapter, in Westerly Friday afternoon.

Rev. Allen Shaw Bush of Gales Ferry occupied the pulpit of the Methodist Episcopal church in Uncasville, Sunday in the absence of the minister Rev. Charles Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll S. Hurlbutt and child were over Sunday guests of Mrs. Hurlbutts parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wither in Wakefield, R. I. motoring there.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Colver and Misses Colver with C. E. Colver, Mr. and their guest Mrs. Fanny Mothrop, motored to Middletown Sunday afternoon to call on relatives.

Arbor Day, was observed in the grammar school, under direction of the teacher, Miss Evelyn E. Whipple, with the following program: song—America the Beautiful, school; readings—Arbor Day Proclamation, Anna Mae Duffy; An Arbor Day Message, Robert Allyn; recitation—Who Likes the Rain, Harold Hurlbutt; reading—Robin Red Breast, Richard Latimer; original essay,—"A Tree's Story," Rose Norcross; recitation—We Thank Thee, J. Edmund Norman Jr.; reading—Questions and Answers About Trees, William McGaught; recitation—April Weather, Ruth Allyn; readings—Three Trees, Helen DeRuska; story of Johnny Appleseed, Rose Norcross; The Blue Jay, Anna Mae Duffy; A Walk, Eleanor Smith, song—Flow Gently Sweet After school Pupils perfect, in attendance for April were: Rose Norcross, Helen DeRusha, Ruth Allyn and Joseph DeRusha. There was much illness in the school, due to whooping cough, mumps and pink eye, during the past month. The teachers of the two schools, Miss Whipple and Mrs. Rufus W. Hurlbutt, decided to continue the school year on standard time.

Rev. Horace B. Sloat, of the State Baptist Board of Promotion, of Hartford, and Mrs. Sloat, and sons, Harold and Donald, with their nephew, Barry Sloat spent Sunday, at their summer cottage on the Bluff.

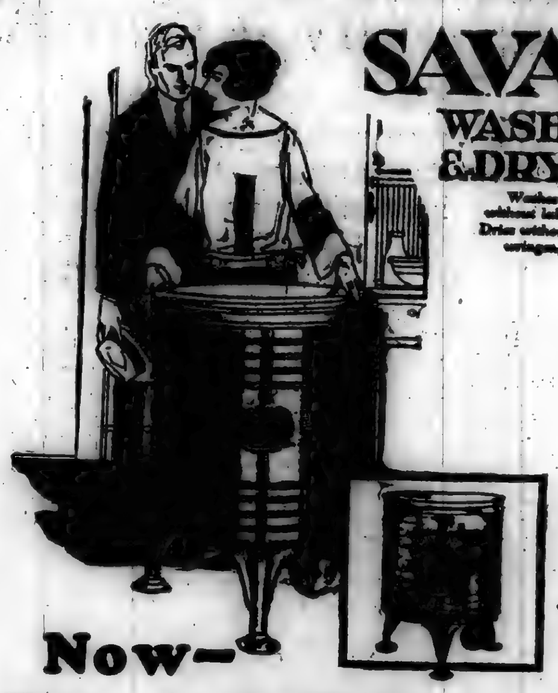
Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Parker motored to Meriden Sunday afternoon.

Miss Jennie G. Perkins, president of the local Epworth League chapter, attended a council meeting of the Mohegan Trail Circuit League, at the M. E. church, New London, Saturday afternoon.

Carl W. Brown, and his mother, Mrs. Lucius Brown, of Norwich, were callers Friday on their uncle, Noyes B. Allyn.

Miss Barbara Quinn of Mt. Vernon, is spending some time, with her grandmother, Mrs. Frank A. Aplin at the latter's home here.

Noting their birthdays, Miss Caroline B. Freeman and Danny R. Povey, entertained, at the home of the former, The Bowerie, Thursday evening. Attractive invitations were issued. A feature of the evening was a huge birthday cake. Games were played. The guests were Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Kenerson and Mr. and Mrs. Max Underhill, of New London, Rev. and Mrs. Allen S. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Noyes, Mrs. Gertrude Latimer, Mrs. Mary C. Watrous, Miss Susan Mathewson, Misses Povey, R. D. Povey and Miss Freeman, all of Gales Ferry.



SAVAGE
WASHER & DRYER
Washes without labor. Dries without a wringer.

"A Demonstration is a Revelation."

Now—
You can wash in any room in the house

The housewife takes more than ordinary pride in her Savage Washer and Dryer (Wringerless) because, besides being a safe, easy, efficient, economical way to wash and dry all her household furnishings, it pleases the eye, like fine furniture.

The old, unsightly wringer is gone—along with all visible rods, levers, pedals, springs, gears and gear-casings.

Nothing to see but the beautifully polished and lacquered copper tub, with its white enamelled, flat table-top, its pressed-steel legs with their ball-bearing castors, the simple push-button switch that controls all washing and drying operations, the motor tucked away under the double-bottom. In Savage the entire operating mechanism is encased in one unit within the tub.

Now you can wash anywhere in the house, with pleasure and profit, safety and ease.

We'll gladly demonstrate the utility and beauty of the combined, Wringerless Savage.

Mrs. Grouse's Loss

Until you've watched a fire spread
You cannot know how great is dread.
—Old Mother Nature.

Mrs. Grouse had not made her home this year in that part of the Green Forest where she had been in the habit of making it. Perhaps she thought that too many knew where to look for it. Perhaps she was thinking of Reddy Fox and Old Man Coyote and Yowler the Bob Cat. Anyway, she didn't make her nest near where she had made it for several years. This time she went up across an old wood road that cut through the Green Forest, and when she crossed that road she was off the land of Farmer Brown.

"I never have nested over here," said she to herself as she looked about, "and no one will think to look for my nest over here. I believe that will be a clever thing to do. It will fool everybody. I will take care that no one sees me coming here and so no one will be likely to look here for me. It will be a secret; just my own."

So Mrs. Grouse found just the place she wanted for her nest. At the foot

A great uneasiness took possession of her of an old stump, well hidden by a young hemlock tree with low-growing branches, that nest was made of leaves and a few feathers. So watchful were those bright eyes of Mrs. Grouse that not even Sammy Jay, who occasionally flew that way, discovered her. Presently there were ten eggs in that nest and the breast of Mrs. Grouse was swelled with pride every time she looked at them. After the tenth egg had been laid she began sitting on them and dreaming beautiful dreams. When she left them to get her meals she took more care than ever to keep from being seen. Never had she felt so safe. Never had she felt that she had so little to worry about. Few ever came on that side of the old road, for the brush was thick.

Now Mrs. Grouse had made her nest not far in from the old road and when an automobile passed, which was seldom, for that old road was little used, she could hear it plainly. But she wasn't afraid of it. She knew it to be harmless if she kept out of its way. But one night she was wakened from sleep by a dreadful noise and this frightened her for the time being. It was the honking to make Jimmy Skunk get out of the road the night he saw an automobile for the first time.

Two days after, late in the afternoon, she heard that dreadful noise again. But she wouldn't leave her precious eggs to go find out what it was all about and presently the noise stopped. She heard the automobile go on and then all was still again. Mrs. Grouse dozed contentedly. But soon her eyes flew open with a start. A great uneasiness took possession of her. She didn't know why she felt uneasy, but she did.

By and by she heard a sharp, crackling sound, and looking in the direction from which the sound came she saw little red tongues darting at the dry leaves on the ground, and for a minute it seemed to her that her heart stopped beating. She knew what it was! She knew! She had seen it before. It was the Red Terror. It was fire, the most awful thing that could be in the Green Forest, and it was coming straight toward her and her precious nest!

For as long as she dared Mrs. Grouse remained on her nest. It wasn't until the heat became too great to bear, and the smoke threatened to choke her to death, that she left those precious eggs and on her stout wings shot into the air and away from that dreadful Red Terror. And the Red Terror seemed to leap forward in glee to destroy the nest and the ten precious eggs of Mrs. Grouse as if it rejoiced in her loss.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET WAS STRONG

New York, May 4—Stock prices made further recovery in today's active market, which was featured by revival of speculative interest in the railroad shares and a continuation of bullish demonstrations in the public utility issues, many of which soared to new high levels for the year. Easy money rates, strength of sterling exchange which mounted to the highest level in ten years and a moderate rally in wheat prices had a bullish effect on sentiment.

Buying of the rails centered largely in shares which have been prominently mentioned in connection with impending merger or favorable dividend developments. Southern Railway, Frisco, common, Seaboard Air Line common and preferred, Gulf, Mobile and Northern common and Hudson and Manhattan, also broke through to new high levels for the year. New York Central eased more than a point higher at 118 in reflection of the expiration of the bond conversion privilege.

Other strong spots in the rail group included Atlantic Coast Line, Baltimore and Ohio, Rock Island, Lackawanna, Louisville and Nashville, "Nickel Plate," Peoria and Eastern, Texas and Pacific and Wabash preferred A, all up 1 to nearly 3 points.

Virginia Railway and Power led the advance in public utilities by climbing more than 5 points to a new peak at 107. American Telephone touched a new 1925 high at 137 and Consolidated Gas at 80 3-4. Utah Securities broke from 101 7-8 to 97 on profit taking and then rallied to 102, where it was off one point on the day.

American Can was the principal feature among the standard specialties closing 1 1-4 points higher at 183 1-8 after alternating between 181 and 184 3-4. United States Steel common closed fractionally higher at 114 7-8 and Baldwin at 115.

Maxwell Motors B was bid up briskly in the late trading closing 3 1-4 points highs, at 38 1-4. Mack Truck closed 1 1-2 higher at 151 1-8 after having sold within a fraction of the year's high.

Associated Dry goods was the outstanding feature among the industrials, soaring 8 points to a new high for the year at 196. New maximum prices also were recorded by Woolworth, Coca Cola, United States Industrial alcohol, United States Realty American Ice, International Shoe, Foundation company and American Tobacco B. Good gains also were recorded by the commercial solvents issues, General Baking, May Department Stores, Montgomery Ward, Sears Roebuck, Tidewater Oil and United States Cast Iron Pipe.

The coal shares were weak, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron and Pittsburgh Coal preferred sagging to new low levels.

Call money opened at 4 per cent and then dropped to 3 1-2.

Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Sterling exchange continued its march towards parity, demand bills being quoted at $4.84 1-2. Norwegian Exchange soared 30 points to a new high at 16.91 cents and Canadian dollars went to a premium of 1-16 of one per cent, also a new 1925 top. French exchange ruled slightly easier around 5.22 1-2 cents in reflection of the Moroccan troubles.

IN MEMORIAM

In Memory of
LOWELL H. MAFFITT
Died May 5, 1924

No one knows a father's worth
Until he's taken from this earth.
I'd give all I own without thought of pain,
If I could hear his voice again.
HIS WIFE AND CHIDREN.

TAFTVILLE

Magdiam Delair of South B street has been called to Fall River, Mass., by the death of his grandson.

Miss Jean Copeland of Norwich avenue, has returned from a week's stay with relatives in Newport, R. I.

Miss Florence Lake of New London was a week end guest of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew White of South A street.

Mr. and Mrs. George Meyer of South Manchester, were week end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer of Germania avenue.

Miss Agnes M. Dougherty of Merchants avenue, is spending some time in Washington, D. C.

Miss Eva Nagle of the Ponemah house, spent a short time recently in Bristol.

The German Shooting club are planning to install some new street lights in the village of Hilsonville. It is planned to have lights from the Lisbon bridge, extending to the property of the Shooting club.

The Fellowship Circle of Versailles and the Young People's society of Christian Endeavor of the First Congregational church of Norwich Town, held a union meeting at the Versailles Methodist Episcopal church Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustave Hedler and son, Curtis, of Terrace avenue, have returned from Baltic, where they have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Christopher Hedler.

Tent caterpillars have already appeared in town and are making havoc with the fruit trees, lilac bushes and wild cherry trees. The nests are very small as yet, and the occupants seem to have just recently hatched, but they have voracious appetites and are fast stripping the trees of foliage. It is hoped by the villagers that the English starlings which have been such a pest for the past few weeks, will now show their usefulness in assisting to keep down (after getting down) the tent caterpillars.

Local radio fans tuned in their instruments Saturday afternoon to hear the Ideal Novelty orchestra broadcasting from Station WJAR at Providence, R. I. The orchestra is composed of local young men, and as atmospheric conditions were ideal, the music came through the ether in fine shape and delighted the Taftville listeners.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Routhier have vacated their house on Norwich avenue.

The monthly meeting of the Taftville Social & Football club was held in the clubrooms in the Ponemah house Monday evening with President Allan Bogle in the chair. Routine business was transacted, and various business items were disposed of.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McAuley and family have given up their house on North B street and have moved to Central avenue, Greeneville.

The Artisans held their monthly meeting in their rooms in the St. Louis hall building on Dion street, Monday evening.

Lewis A. Tillinghast of North Third avenue has been spending a few days with his sister, Mrs. W. W. Clapp of East Great Plain, Norwich.

William H. Whitehead's Samoyede whelped a little of five puppies last week. They are by Champion Nansen, the winner at the Westminister show at New York, for the two past years, and adjudged the best of the breed wherever shown.

Harvey Heroux of South A street has resigned his position with the No. 3 weaving department of the Ponemah company.

A number of friends surprised Emil B. Sweet at his home on Norwich avenue Saturday evening, the occasion being his birthday.

Ralph Donais of Seattle, Wash., is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dieudonne Donais of Norwich avenue. Mr. Donais has been a resident of Seattle since leaving Taftville some years ago, with his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. George Lamoureux.

WATER DEPARTMENT ANNUAL REPORT SHOWS INCREASE IN RECEIPTS

Receipts in the Norwich water department last year exceeded the previous year by $3,320.59, according to the annual report of the board of water commissioners for the year ending March 31, 1925, which was presented to the common council Monday evening.

The report places stress upon the need of securing an additional watershed, which it says is imperative, and in this connection points out the contrast between the city water conditions before and since acquiring the Stony Brook reservoir. Before Stony Brook was built the city had a dependable supply of one and one-half million gallons but was using one and three-quarter million gallons daily. The excess of usage over supply then was 17 per cent. Since building Stony Brook reservoir, we have a dependable supply of three million gallons. This is an excess of 43 per cent. over dependable supply. Thus, the report states, we are worse off now than we were before having Stony Brook reservoir.

Water Department's Annual Report

The report was given as follows:

Norwich, Conn., April 1st, 1925
To the Honorable Court of Common Council of the City of Norwich.

Gentlemen: In compliance with the provisions of the City Charter, we herewith present our report for the fiscal year ending March 31st, 1925.

Accompanying it are the reports of the Supervisor of outside work, including an itemized account of the expenditures at Stony Brook and Trading Cove Brook during the past year, and the reports of the Cashier and Inspector.

Financial Statement

| Receipts | Disbursements | Balance |
|---|---|---|
| April 1 to June 30, 1924— | | |
| $ 25,476.96 | $ 14,761.08 | $ 10,715.88 |
| July 1 to September 30, 1924— | | |
| $ 36,138.95 | $ 25,294.74 | $ 10,823.61 |
| October, 1 to December 31, 1924— | | |
| $ 28,319.60 | $16,612.08 | $ 17,707.53 |
| January 1, to March 31, 1925— | | |
| $ 35,440.06 | $ 20,105.99 | $ 15,334.07 |
| Totals— | | |
| $105,434.97 | $ 50,773.80 | $ 54,661.68 |

The receipts for the past year exceed those of the preceding year by $3,320.59 and the amount turned over to the city treasurer, together with the amount on hand, will exceed the estimate by $2,661.08.

During the past year we have given much serious thought to the matter of an adequate water supply and no satisfactory solution of the problem other than the increase of our present watershed, seems possible. We are relying on a watershed of four and eight-tenths square miles to furnish us with water and our experience of the past two years has shown us that it is not sufficient.

Attention was called in our last annual report to the fact that October 20, 1923, the amount of water on hand was less than it had been at any time since the Stony Brook reservoir was built.

It was also stated that a worse condition might come in a short time unless provision was made to prevent it. October 20, 1923, it began to rain. 4.61 inches of rain fell before the month ended. This was followed by 4.14 inches in November, 5.31 inches of rain in December and 3.3 inches in January and January 30, we had 490 million gallons of water stored and a little later 500 million gallons.

Our good fortune lasted till October 1, 1924, when we had about the same amount on hand as at the same time in 1923.

October 1, 1924, a striking difference in rainfall occurred. From October 1, 1923 to January 30, 1924, our total rain fall was 12.67 inches. From October 1, 1924 to January 30, 1925, our rainfall was 7.4 inches.

November 12, 1924, Stony Brook reservoir, was empty, and there was only about 200 million gallons in Fairview reservoir, and the amount was decreasing about four million gallons a day.

The matter was taken up with the large users, and through their cooperation and that of the state hospital and other large users the use of water was materially reduced temporarily.

Land was obtained where the Stony Brook pipe crosses Trading Cove Brook, a station built, and a pump and motor installed.

Since December 23, water has been pumped into the Stony Brook main at the rate of about two million gallons daily.

Manufacturers and others are still using less water than they formerly used.

In spite of the pumping and saving, January 30, 1925, the amount of water on hand was only 117 million gallons against 340 million gallons January 30, 1924.

If no water had been pumped from Trading Cove Brook, or saved by other means, we might not have had enough water January 30, 1925, especially if any large fire had occurred.

Since January 30, 1925, pumping has been continued, but April 1, 1925, we had only 560 million gallons of water on hand, while a year earlier we had 850 million gallons.

Unless we have a very unusual amount of rain, our reservoirs will not fill and we shall be in a still worse condition than we were last year.

Our condition regarding water supply is due to the fact that we are using water at the rate of 4 1-4 million gallons daily, while our drainage area of 4.5 square miles and storage capacity of about one billion gallons cannot be depended upon to furnish much, if any more than three million gallons daily. It is of course to be understood that the amount of water available from a combination of drainage area and storage may vary widely in different years, and that there is no way in advance to tell which future years will be wet and which dry. Two dry years in succession naturally produce a much worse condition than two dry years with a wet year between them.

We believe that present conditions demand an addition to our supply at the earliest practicable time, and that such addition should be able to increase our available water pressure over at least a considerable part of the city.

When in 1912 we doubled our water supply, we were criticized for not making a greater increase.

Our situation as regards our use and our supply is worse now than in 1912.

Before the Stony Brook addition we had a dependable supply of one and one-half million gallons and were using one and three-quarter million gallons, an excess of seventeen per cent.

We have now a dependable supply of three million gallons and are using four and one-quarter million gallons, an excess of forty-two per cent.

The increase in amount of water being used since 1912 from one and three quarter million gallons to four and one quarter million gallons is one hundred and forty per cent.

To provide for a similar increase now requires an additional supply of about six million gallons daily.

There are several places from which such a supply can be obtained and the question of which is the best place is being investigated.

At the meeting of the Board of Water Commissioners held February 27, 1925, it was unanimously voted: That application be made to the General Assembly sitting in Hartford for permission to issue bonds to the amount of one and one-half million dollars ($1,500,000.00) and that the president of the board inform the honorable court of common council of the action taken.

The following is a copy of the communication sent to the court of common council:

To His Honor the Mayor and the Court of Common Council of the City of Norwich:

At the regular meeting of the Board of Water Commissioners, held at their office, Friday evening, February 27th, 1925, several plans for increasing our water supply were discussed.

The Board of Water Commissioners have realized for some time that we cannot rely upon our present water shed of four and eight tenths square miles to furnish a dependable supply of water in dry years. On October 20th, 1923, our reservoirs were at the lowest point of the year. We had stored at that time, about sixty days' supply and we predicted that a similar condition or a more serious one, might come again in a short time, unless we made provision against it. In October 1924, conditions were worse than in 1923 and continued to grow still worse until the pump at Trading Cove Brook was started on December 22nd, 1924, at which time we had about 35 days' supply of water stored.

The Board of Water Commissioners feel that the time has come, when we must increase our water supply if we are to avoid another shortage of water and in order that there should be no unnecessary delay, we have adopted the following resolution which we trust will meet with your approval.

That application be made to the present General Assembly meeting at Hartford, that the City of Norwich be permitted to issue bonds to the amount of one million five hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000.00) for the purpose of increasing its water supply, on condition that the citizens in City meeting, approve of said action.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

The Board of Water Commissioners
By John J. Corkery

A hearing on the matter of the bond issue was held before the Finance Committee of the General Assembly at Hartford and the petition was approved. It is the intention of the Board of Water Commissioners to present the matter to the citizens in City meeting and await the result of their action.

Following is the act approved:

An Act Authorizing the City of Norwich to Issue Water Bonds

"Section 1. The city of Norwich is authorized to issue bonds to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate one million five hundred thousand dollars, bearing interest at a rate not greater than five per centum per annum, payable semi-annually, the principal of such bonds, or the principal of each issue thereof, to be paid in equal annual instalments commencing not later than five years from the date of issue thereof, and the principal of such bonds, or the principal of each issue thereof, shall be payable within a period of forty years from the date of issue. Such bonds shall not be issued at less than par and the funds realized from the sale thereof shall be applied to the payment of the expenses which may be incurred by the board of water commissioners of said city in providing an additional permanent supply of water for the use of the inhabitants of said city and of the inhabitants of any other territory which may be entitled to the use of such additional supply of water including in such expenses those incurred by taking by eminent domain or acquiring by purchase lands, waters, ponds, streams, water rights, waterways and necessary pipe-ways, property, privileges and franchises, and also such expenses as may be incurred by building dams, reservoirs, pipelines and other structures and apparatus pertaining thereto, and also such expenses as may be necessarily incurred in the alteration or abandonment of highways in connection with providing such additional supply of water or for such purposes as may be necessary for providing such supply of water. It may be stipulated in such bonds that the principal and interest shall be payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of weight and fineness and such bonds shall be denominated, "Water Bonds of the City of Norwich, Issue of ——, 19——."

"Sec. 2. No bonds shall be issued under the provisions of this act unless their issuance be first approved and authorized by vote of an annual or special city meeting of the city of Norwich duly warned for that purpose.

"Sec. 3. The court of common council of said city of Norwich is authorized to prescribe, subject to the limitations of this act, the several and aggregate amounts of such bonds, the form of the same, the rate of interest to be paid thereon, the times and places of paying such interest and principal and the person or persons who shall execute the same for said city. Said court of common council shall prescribe whether such bonds shall all be issued at one time or at different issues, and shall provide for the sale and negotiation of such bonds."

The problem of an adequate water supply is one of the most serious of the problems that are confronting a large number of New England municipalities today. Water is as essential to commercial growth as it is to plant and animal growth. If a town cannot furnish water to its citizens, its growth is automatically stunted. It is not attractive to industry or to individuals looking for new homes.

The construction of a good and adequate supply of water when you consider what you get—greater comfort—fire protection—added safety from water born diseases—is well worth all it costs. The benefits form an attraction to new inhabitants and result in greater prosperity and increase in property values.

Rainfall

Other annual statistics of the water department are the following:

The rainfall for the past year, as will be seen by the following table, was 33.86 inches. This amount is 10.47 inches less than the average for the past fifty years and is in keeping with the amount of rainfall in the years 1910-1911 and 1912—a period of dry years that caused the water shortage at that time and caused us to increase our dependable supply by acquiring the Stony Brook Watershed.

Table of rainfall and average from April 1, 1871 to March 31, 1925.

SEEK $10,000 DAMAGES FOR SULPHURIC ACID BURNS

Because of injuries she received by being burned with sulphuric acid about feet and limbs, Maybelle Racine of Norwich has brought suit for $10,000 damages against the American Woolen Co., of Massachusetts, and having one of its mills in Moosup.

The plaintiff alleges that on Nov. 16, 1924 that she was on her way from Providence to Norwich in a motorcycle with side car when she was overtaken by a heavy shower of rain about 7.16 p. m., and was permitted by an agent of the Woolen Co., to take refuge in a building owned by the company at Moosup. In the building she sat upon a box which contained a carboy of sulphuric acid and this running out so severely burned her feet and limbs that she will never have the full use of them again.

The plaintiff alleges that she did not know what was in the box when she sat on it, that she was not warned of the dangerous character of its contents and that the stopper was out of the carboy so that the acid was allowed to run out.

The suit is returnable before the superior court in June.

SENIOR CHOIR SANG AT ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH

At St. Joseph's church at 10:30 Sunday morning the music was given by the full senior choir of 30 voices as follows:

"Adagio Cantabile," from Sonata, in E. flat, Hayden, "Souvenir", Op 10, Karasoff, organ; twelfth mass, Mozart, offertory, "Ave Maria," Luigi Luzzi, Miss Anna Jacaboski, contralto; March Pontificale, Charles Gounod, organ.

Rev. Father Leist was celebrant of the mass and gave a short instruction. Rev. Peter Sroka delivered an eloquent and inspiring sermon on the gospel of the day.

BRILLIANT MAY DAY DANCE AT BALTIC

A brilliant May day dance was given last Friday evening by the T. S. M. club in the club hall, Baltic.

The hall was tastefully decorated in the club colors, orange and amber, and the club emblem was prominently displayed in the center of the stage.

The music, furnished by the Ideal Novelty orchestra, was rendered with excellent ability and the constant demand for encores by the dancers were willingly responded to.

The gowns worn by the girls were of the most beautiful hues and the contrast of the colors against the softness of the dimmed lights was most effective.

The patronesses were: Mrs. Mary Cote, Mrs. Elizabeth McNulty, Mrs. Hilda Buteau, Misses Caroline Buteau and Margaret Dalton.

Refreshments were served during intermission.

Arrangements for the dance were made by the Misses Muriel Goldblatt and Myrtle Buteau, who also acted as hostesses during the evening.

Guests numbering approximately seventy-five couples were present from New London, Norwich, Willimantic, Jewett City, Taftville, Hanover and Baltic.

TOOK 192 MAY BASKETS TO STATE SANATORIUM

May-day was made enjoyable at Uncas-on-Thames, when Mrs. Thomas J. O'Rourke, chairman of the hospital committee for the Connecticut council of Catholic Women, and her assistants brought happiness and cheer to the many patients there in the form of a May-basket party.

One hundred and ninety-two May-baskets, many colored and shaped, filled with home-made candy, made and donated by council members and friends, were given so as to provide one for each patient, nurse, and attendant.

To add to the pleasure of the party, several baskets contained numbers, the lucky holders of which received a gift.

Mrs. O'Rourke was assisted in distributing baskets and prizes by Miss Miriam Campbell, Miss Cook, Mrs. John R. Tarrant, Mrs. Charles P. Hill, Mrs. John J. O'Rourke and Miss Helen O'Rourke.

Cars were loaned by Miss Ella C. Shannon, Miss Isabelle Leonard, and Mrs. John J. O'Rourke.

OLDER GIRLS CONFERENCE IN UNCASVILLE SATURDAY

The conference for Older Girls of New London county, under the auspices of the New London County council of Religious Education, and the Young Woman's association, of New London, will be held at the Uncasville Methodist church, on Saturday, May 9, 1925. There will be sessions morning and afternoon; and the conference will close with a banquet at six o'clock.

Among the speakers will be: Mrs. George H. Prior, of Jewett City, international president of the King's Daughters; Rev. Howard M. Wells, of Old Lyme, president of the New London County council of Religious Education; Mrs. Frederickson, of Bridgeport, superintendent of Young People's work, Fairfield Co., council of Religious Education; Mrs. George Cramer, of New London.

Miss Elliott and Miss Ramsay of the New London Y. W. C. A., will have charge of the recreation period, and of the singing at the banquet. All girls 15-24 years old are eligible to attend this conference. Lists of those who are to attend are to be sent in advance to Miss Nellie J. Starr, Uncasville.

INSURERS WILL SPLIT THESE COMPENSATION PAYMEN

In the workmen's compensation claim of William Witchekowski of 58 Otrobando avenue against the Falls Co. Commissioner J. J. Donohue has awarded compensation to the claimant and finds that the two insuring companies shall share the payments of the compensation award on a 50-50 basis. This method of adjusting the situation is taken because one company was the insurer at the time the injury was received but another company was the insurer when the disability resulted.

Witchekowski had two toes of his left foot broken when a truck ran over his foot May 7, 1925. One of the toes had to be amputated.

The award is that the insuring companies share the medical bills, that each forthwith pay Witchekowski $234.20 for total disability for a period of 24 weeks and in addition compensation for a further period of 13 weeks for the loss of second toe on left foot, all at the rate of $12.66 per week.

SUES TO HAVE ASSIGNMENT OF MORTGAGE SET ASIDE

Suit to have an assignment set aside and foreclosure granted on a $1,775 mortgage on a 100 acre tract in Salem has been brought by Wanda Durawowics, executrix of the will of John Dach, late of Salem, against Teckla Dach of Salem, Martin Rozycki of Norwich and Andrew Kuralchek of New York city. The mortgage was executed by Kuralchek, June 13, 1922, in favor of John and Teckla Dack, husband and wife. The wife subsequently assigned her interest to her husband and he made an assignment of the mortgage to Rozycki, Oct. 3, 1922, for the sole consideration, it is claimed of saving Rozycki from loss when Rozycki gave a penal bond for Dach. The latter died at Norwich, Dec. 20, 1924 and it is claimed the bond is fully satisfied and void and Rozycki has not suffered any loss nor is he further obligated under the bond.

The suit is returnable to the superior court in May.

ST. PATRICK'S CHOIR NOTES MUSIC WEEK SUNDAY

In response to the suggestion that church choirs inaugurate National Music Week by special programmes Sunday, Organist and Chorister Frank L. Farrell, of St. Patrick's church, repeated portions of the Easter music Sunday at the high mass.

The numbers given included General's Kyrie and Gloria, Francke's Credo, General's Sanctus and Agnus Dei. The soloists who did such fine work throughout the service were Mrs. Frank L. Farrell, Miss Loretta Bellefleur, Frank R. Murdy and Frank C. Aubrey. The singing of the chorus was especially smooth and harmonious.

At the offertory, Mr. Murdy sang O Salutaris, by Bohn, with the surety and rich, full tones always expected from him.

Returned to Nashua

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Paradis and sons, Charles, Henry and Felix Paradis, have returned to their home in Nashua, N. H., after passing a few days with Norwich relatives. The Paradis family came to Norwich last week to attend the funeral of William Shea, of 65 Sherman street, Mrs. Paradis and Mrs. Shea being sisters. Other relatives who were called to Norwich, because of Mr. Shea's illness and death, were his brother, Mark Shea of Salem, Mass., and a step-son, Henry Mackie, of New Bedford.

BALTIC ACADEMY PUPILS HOLD BIG MISSION SALE

At the Academy of the Holy Family, at Baltic, there was great activity Monday for on that day was held a Foreign Mission sale, under the auspices of the Children of Mary.

For days, before hand, the committees were busy, decorating and arranging booths and the gym was like a corner of fairyland. The predominating tints used in the decoration of the hall were early spring colors.

The fancywork booth was decorated in pale daffodil yellow, the candy booth in green, the miscellaneous article booth in blue and silver and the tea rooms, partitioned off from the main hall was dainty and inviting in their draperies of orchid and coral.

At 1:30 p. m., the sale commenced, and so great was the number of purchasers that the girls in their respective booths had a busy time in attending to all their generous customers' wants. The girls were dressed to represent the children of the foreign missions—Chinese, Negroes, Japanese, etc. Many choice and useful gifts had been donated, from an exquisitely dressed doll lamp to lovely pieces of linen and embroidery.

The fancy work booth was the busiest and many exquisite articles were disposed of quickly; while the ice cream, cake and coffee disappeared as if by magic.

Another attractive center was the grab-bag, where each was eager to try his or her luck.

Parents and relatives of the students who attended the sale were delighted with the spirit of enthusiasm with which the young workers conducted the event. They also helped admirably to make the sale the grand success which it proved to be, and greatly encouraged the students in their worthy efforts to aid those less fortunate than they.

The girls declared their intention to double the proceeds received in their next missionary effort by having a "Mission Day" on a much larger scale.

This is a continuation of mission activity that has been carried on during the school year. Frequently generous sums have been sent to the "field afar," often little donations being money given to the girls for personal pleasure. The mother of one of the Academy pupils, contributed $100, to the girls' mission fund.

It is in such ways that the Academy girls are learning practical lessons in sacrifice for the needy; so that they, too, will "carry on" when school days are left behind.

PRETTY PARTY GIVEN FOR SEVENTH BIRTHDAY

At the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Lucas, of Spring Garden avenue, Master John C. Lucas, Jr., entertained seventeen little friends in observance of his seventh birthday, Saturday afternoon from 3.30 to 5 o'clock. Those present included Florence Smith, Richard Quinn, Norman Woodmansee, Margaret Young, Evelyn Ward, Alden Standish, John C. Herbert, Jr., Irma Catherine Fritz, Dorothy Dean, Mary Lynon, Clifton Doak, Emmitt Fritz, Dorothy Ward, Jack Young, Russell Firbush and Albert Smith, of Brooklyn, Conn., the last named being a cousin of the little host. The color scheme was pink and white. In the dining room the table was attractively adorned with pink and white crepe paper. The favors were May baskets filled with candy. Each child had a fancy paper cap. Mrs. Lucas was assisted by Mrs. Edwin Woodmansee in serving sandwiches, fancy cakes, cookies, ice cream and fruit punch. The handsomely decorated birthday angel cake bore the figure 7 and the little boy's name. This was further adorned with pink and white candles.

During the afternoon the children played various games. In the peanut hunt Albert Smith won the first prize and the consolation award went to Margaret Young, while Clifton Doak took first prize in the rabbit game, Russell Firbush receiving the consolation. Master Lucas received some very nice birthday gifts from his friends.

Sixth Birthday Party

On Friday afternoon little Miss Mary Case, of Laurel Hill, entertained six little friends to celebrate her sixth birthday. Mary received many pretty gifts and a pleasant time was spent in singing, dancing and playing games. In the peanut hunt the prize was won by Miss Rose Peckham and Miss Lucy Greenman succeeded in pinning the missing point to the star.

Those present were: Rose Peckham, Lucy Greenman, Elna Hastedt, Jean Spencer, Mary Jane Fontaine and Mary Case.

Mrs. Case served a dainty repast assisted by Mrs. William Dowsett, Mrs. George Tillinghast and Mrs. Richard Young.

INGROWN NAIL
Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

21 VESSELS PUT OUT TO SEA TO EXTERMINATE RUM SHIPS

Government Craft Are Equipped With Ordnance Ranging From Machine Guns to Six Inch Rifles and Anti-Aircraft Guns—Movements of the Boats Are to be Directed From Shore by Radio or Wireless Telegraphy—Warning is Given That It Will be Dangerous For Anybody to Try to Escape When Ordered to Surrender.

New York, May 5—Modern methods of warfare today were adopted against the modern pirates of rum row, when twenty-one vessels of America's Blue fleet put out to sea to open an offensive, every move of which will be directed from shore by radio or wireless telegraphy.

Night and day, the commanders of the blue-painted fleet will be in touch with the customs house in New York, advising with Captain W. V. E. Jacobs coast guard commander for this area, and making all their moves on his instructions. The warfare is to be waged on comprehensive plans that were days in the making at conferences between Captain Jacobs, Admiral Billard, coast guard commandant, and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lincoln C. Andrews, in charge of prohibition enforcement on land and sea.

From the scanty information available concerning the expedition, it was learned that orders had gone out from coast guard headquarters in Washington that this was to be a war of extermination and that every effort was to be made to sweep the rum armada from the Atlantic seaboard by June 1. No secret was made of the fact that it was to be the most comprehensive campaign the dry navy has made against rum runners since the prohibition amendment was passed.

Captain Jacobs refused to discuss his plans of campaign, although it was generally understood that one or more government boats would remain within hailing distance of each of the floating liquor warehouses every hour in an attempt to "starve" the liquor vendors off the row. Captain Jacobs denied yesterday that he had issued orders to his men to "shoot to kill," but today said:

"It will be dangerous for anybody to try to escape when we order to surrender." The vessels carried a variety of ordnance, from machine guns to six-inch rifles and anti-aircraft guns.

The blue-painted craft that took to sea today from the Staten Island base—the cutters Seneca, Red Wing, Gresham, Yamacraw, Manhattan and Acushnet, followed by fifteen patrol boats and low-flying converted submarine chasers driven by powerful engines—later will be joined by others of the augmented dry fleet. The cutters were reported well equipped with extra rations, fuel and ammunition for transfer to the smaller boats, that the siege may be kept up for an indefinite period. More than 200 men manned today's fleet. As many more on a score more vessels were being held in reserve. It was announced the blockade to be put into effect would spread from the Connecticut to the New Jersey coasts.

The dry offensive was preceded by a shakeup among the approximately 400 men attached to the coast guard here. Captain John I. Bryan, in charge of this base, admitted that in addition to the arrest of nineteen men on charges of ranging from bribery to assault and battery, virtually every other member of the contingent had been transferred. As a result, no two men of any old crew were permitted to serve in the same crew under the new arrangement.

TO ESTABLISH AVIATION COURSES AT ANNAPOLIS

Washington, May 5—Orders were signed by Secretary Wilbur establishing aviation courses at the naval academy at Annapolis under which all graduates hereafter will be trained as pilots or observers.

The action was in line with recommendations of the special board appointed by the secretary at the request of the president last September to study the relative values of the various naval weapons, including battleships and aircraft.

Under the orders, the study of aeronautics will constitute an integral part of the academy curriculum, with a considerable extension of the present course in aeronautics, which has included some study of aircraft engineering and indirect instruction in aviation as related to seamanship.

The details have not yet been worked out, but decision has been reached to expand the department of engineering into a department of engineering and aeronautics, and the department of seamanship into a department of seamanship and flight tactics.

In addition, members of the graduating class will be given three months special intensive instruction in ground and flight work, ordinarily at the close of the regular acedmy year, so that all, according to their physical abilities, may qualify either as naval observers or aviators.

The new instruction will begin with the class of 1926, one half of which, instead of making the annual summer cruise this June, will remain at the academy for the intensive instruction in aeronautical subjects. The other half will receive this instruction next year, while those who remain at the academy this summer will take their cruise next year. The summer cruises for the other classes will be carried out as scheduled.

Graduates of the academy will be assigned to aviation duty insofar as other requirements of the service permit, after they have completed at least two years sea service.

BRITISH COMMONS HAS PASSED GOLD STANDARD BILL

London, May 5—With much less difficulty than had been expected, Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, has secured the passage of his gold standard bill unamended through all its stages in the house of commons with unanimity. No decision was challenged, although he had to submit to much criticism of its clauses. The commons passed the third reading of the bill, and it will now go to the house of lords where its passage is likely to be quite formal.

The debate turned largely on the American credits and the cost to the country of the advance purchase of dollars for the American debt and the prospects of a return to gold coinage. On general principles Mr. Churchill admitted the unsoundness of obtaining American credits, but explained that the credits were resorted to not as a necessary means but as a contingent precaution. They would enable the government to influence exchange, if it desired, from both sides of the Atlatic. Mr. Churchill gave further details showing that a commission was payable only on the Morgan loan, $100,000,000, which in two years, if the credit was not used, would amount to £375,000.

The chancellor repeated that he did not expect ever to need the use of credits, which were invoked as a great deterrent to speculation, and incidentally remarked that he could have easily arranged for credits up to $500,000,000 if he had chosen.

STRIKE OF PARIS TRANSPORT EMPLOYES HAS ENDED

Paris, May 5—(A. P.)—The striking transport employees, who closed work today in some sections of the city, have decided to resume work tomorrow. The strikers were informed by the delegates that the company had agreed to reinstate without exception or punishment all the men who quit their jobs on May day. The 200 men who were under suspension for quitting their posts May day are to receive pay for the two days they were laid off.

The strike movements had extended today until more than half the employes of the street car and auto bus services were out.

INDICTED FOR ALLEGED LANDING OF 14 ALIENS

Norfolk, Va., May 5—Several officers and members of the crew of the French steamer P. L. M. 21, were indicted today in connection with the alleged landing of 14 aliens from the ship recently at Newport News.

In addition to the ship's officers and men, four in number, three others accused of being implicated in the landing and of the alleged alien smuggling conspiracy, were also indicted.

Two indictments of 14 counts, the number of aliens involved, were returned against each of the men charging violations of the immigration laws. If he should be found guilty on all counts each would fave a maximum penalty of 96 years imprisonment and a fine of $168,000.

Those indicted were Emile Bourge, commanding officer of the steamer; Pierre Prigent, engineer officer; Abdulla Diape, and Stavros Vackus, firemen, all whom are now under arrest; M. Poncia, of Phoebus, Va., who is at liberty under bond and Gus Constantinos, and E. E. Urguibe, who have not been apprehended.

AMERICAN MUSIC TOPIC OF COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Washington, May 5—After a day of committee meeting at which resolutions on the league of nations, disarmament, the world court and other subjects were drafted for consideration tomorrow, the delegates attending the quinquennial convention of the International Council of Women turned their attention tonight to American music.

Music, interpreted by a band of Sioux warriors brought here from South Dakota, the chanting by negroes of their spiritual ante-dating the Civil War, and selections from recent American composers made up the night programme, arranged to illustrate the development of music in America.

CONN. CO. TO OPERATE BUSSES IN BRIDGEPORT

Hartford, May 5—The Connecticut company and the City Service corporation, of Bridgeport, have been granted permission to operate busses on a number of streets in Bridgeport in continuation of their lines by the public utilities commission. The Citizens Bus company and eleven individuals applying for these streets were refused, the commission finding that better service would result by extending the scope of existing lines rather than by establishing new short routes.

The commisgion has also denied the application of James A. Dickson for a bus route from Torrington to Winsted by way of Norfolk.

SEES STEADY RE-BIRTH OF GERMAN NATIONALISM

Berlin, May 5—The forty-third birthday tomorrow of Former Crown Prince Frederick William, today inspired the ultra-conservative Kruez Zeitung to a visionary panegyric. It records how Frederick William since his return to Germany from his exile in Holland after the World War has been enabled to witness the steady re-birth of German nationalism.

The newspaper admits plaintively that an emperor no longer exists in the country, but it consoles the one-time crown prince that Germany now has a president who at least is no longer identical with the representatives of the revolution of 1918, but a leader who is a product of Prusse German history.

CONCERNING MEMORIAL FOR SAMUEL GOMPERS

Washington, May 5—Members of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor today began consideration of plans for a permanent memorial to the late Samuel Gompers and gave attention also to the proposal for a general campaign in extending the use of the union label.

Both projects will be studied further tomorrow by representatives of the 108 national and international labor bodies affiliated with the federation, at a meeting called for the purpose by William Green, president of the federation.

CABLED PARAGRAPHS

Choir of Church Collapsed

Salamanca, Spain, May 5—Several persons were killed and many injured by the collapse of the choir of a church at Sahelices. Late this afternoon two bodies had been recovered from the debris. The collapse occurred while mass was being celebrated.

Travels of Prince of Wales

Cape Town, Union of South Africa, May 5—The Prince of Wales intends to get plenty of sleep during his trip through South Africa. The program for the next few days provides that the special train upon which he is traveling shall halt for twelve hours each night in order that he may sleep undisturbed. Today the prince visited Worcester, an agricultural and business town about sixty miles from Cape Town. A fully-equipped and mounted military command met his train and escorted him to various ceremonies. Crowds lined the streets and cheered him everywhere. The prince rode in the mayor's carriage, drawn by horses decorated with ostrich plumes.

AT ODDS ON AMENDMENT TO OSTEOPATH ACT

Hartford, May 5.—House Chairman William L. Higgins, of Coventry, of the legislative committee on public health and safety quit the committee hearing on proposed amendment to the state osteopathy act today immediately after Senate Chairman C. H. Brigham, of Granby, seemingly ignored Dr. Higgins' questioning of a proponent of the bill and directed the man to continue his remarks on the bill under discussion. Senator Brigham seemed to make an effort to detain the house chairman and then, directing the stenographer to take the testimony, followed his colleague to the corridor. Loud conversation in the corridor was audible in almost all parts of the room for a few moments and then both chairmen returned to the hearing.

Representative Higgins, who is a doctor of medicine, questioned Dr. E. W. Spicer, of Meriden at some length when the Meriden man, an ostepath, rose to speak in favor of the bill and announced himself as "doctor." Dr. Higgins asked if the speaker was a doctor of medicine and was informed that he was not. Dr. Spicer told Dr. Higgins that osteopathy had a statutory right to call themselves "doctors." Dr. Higgins looked up the law and later explained it to the committee.

SEEKING INJUNCTION AGAINST DOG KENNEL

Bridgeport, May 5.—Prominent residents of the exclusive Brooklawn section, Fairfield, desirous of prohibiting by court injunction the keeping of a dog kennel by Dr. Charles E. C. Atkins on the land of the Brooklawn riding academy, testified before Judge Arthur F. Ells at a special hearing in superior court this evening.

An application for an injunction was brought by Emily T. Stagg, widow of former Alderman Joseph H. Stagg, president of the Hawley Hardware company. Mrs. Stagg declared that barking dogs disturbed her and awakening her very early mornings. Once, she said, she was obliged to go to a physician for treatment. Judge Ells reserved decision.

Among the witnesses who testified in support of the injunction application was Harry Walker, who said his Fairfield residence cost him "more than twice $100,000." Dwight C. Wheeler, secretary and general manager of the Acme Shea company, also testified.

YOUNG MEN HAD NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Stamford, Conn., May 5. — Three young men, who, it is charged, stole a rowboat from Shippan Point late this afternoon, narrowly escaped drowning off Wallack's Point early tonight.

The boys were Elton Renton, of Springdale and Joseph Malosky and Michael Briduk, of this city. When they reached a small island about a mile from the point, Renton remained in the boat and the others went ashore. A strong tide carried the boat away from the island, leaving the other two stranded.

The current carried Renton and the boat to shore and he notified Sacred Heart Academy and the Stamford police from there. Motorcycle Policeman William McCormick went with Joseph Hoyt in Hoyt's power boat to the rescue of the two boys and reached the island just before the tide had covered it.

The boys were brought ashore and the three are being held by the police pending an investigation of the ownership of the boat.

GROWING SPOT ON WESTERN EDGE OF SUN

New York, May 5.—(By the A. P.)—A new and steadily growing spot on the western edge of the sun was so large today, according to Dr. David Todd, emeritus professor of astronomy and navigation at Amherst college that it was almost visible to the naked eye.

Dr. Todd, who is making his home temporarily in New York city, discovered the spot Friday, he said. It has developed during the last few days he reported and has reached a magnitude of between 50,000 and 60,000 miles in diameter on the surface of the sun.

Displays of the aurora borealis may be expected, he believed, if the light of the moon is not too brilliant. The sun is now approaching a period of maximum spots, which have been found to occur at more or less regular intervals, the astronomer said.

PROPOSE STATUE FOR "WAR GOVERNOR" M. H. HOLCOMB

Southington, May 5.—The erection of a statue of the "war governor," Marcus H. Holcomb, in the state capitol, like the statue in the capitol west lobby of William A. Buckingham, the "war governor," during the Civil war, was advocated by Executive Secretary Edward L. Kelly in an address before the Exchange club at the Hotel Edson tonight. The plan was received with great applause. Secretary Kelly had been introduced by Ex-Governor Holcomb for an address on the state government.

Riffians Repulsed By French Troops

Tribesmen to Number of 20,000 Said to Be Concentrating to Attack French in M[illegible]

French Morocco, May 5—[illegible] reports say the French operations against the invading tribesmen of Abd-El-Krim are proceeding most favorably for the French.

General Colombat has completed operations whereby he was able to get food and supplies to the French advanced posts, some of which had been cut off by the Riffians. The morale of the French at these outposts was found to be excellent.

The best political use of the French victory is being made by the authorities, with a view of influencing the local tribes against yielding to the temptations to revolt made by the invaders.

In the center sector Colonel Freydenburg's trops chad fiercely contested engagements yesterday near Taourirt and the latest reports are that Freydenburg is completely clearing this region of Abd-El-Krim's forces. To the east General Cambay is clearing the approaches to Teza by a series of actions in which the enemy has lost severely. The Abd-El-Krim forces have made a number of counter-attacks in the sector where Cambay is operating but all have been repelled.

20,000 TRIBESMEN ASSEMBLED FOR ATTACK ON FRENCH

Fez, Morocco, May 5.—(A. P.)—The latest information received here from the troubled areas are that 20,000 Riffian tribesmen have been assembled for an attack on the French zone of the Moroccan protectorate. Of this number 5,000 are on the border line and making incursions into the territory of tribes which, prior to the advance of the French last autumn, occupied a sort of neutral position between the French and Spanish zones.

These tribesmen now are between two fires—they are exposed on the Riff side to pillage and reprisals if they refuse to join in the movement against Fez, and on the side of the French territory to the same fate as awaits Abd-El-Krim's forces if they throw in their lot with the pretender. Some members of these tribes were among the prisoners taken by the French General Colombat Monday, and there are indications that they may find their position particularly unenviable.

The French effort thus far has been purely local and made with the object of preparing for a movement which will take place only when all circumstances are favorable. The results already obtained, however, [illegible] from that which has been taking place between the tribesmen and the Spaniards in the Spanish zone.

The French have delivered sharp, quick blows on both wings of the front attack by the tribesmen. In both cases the invaders gave way after short, courageous but hopeless stands. The Riffians have artillery and seem to be well supplied with ammunition. Also they have acquired considerable strategic skill; but they are quickly demoralized by the French methods of fighting.

Abd-El-Krim seems to have a good intelligence service, as the movement of his men indicates knowledge of the whereabouts of the French columns. When they come in contact with the seasoned Colonial troops, however, the issue is quickly decided.

LOST IN HER RACE TO REACH HOME TO DIE

Washington, May 5—Mrs. Carolina Beatty Kling, step-mother of the late Mrs. Florence Kling Harding, lost today a race with death.

Advised by her physicians of the approach of the end, Mrs. Kling left Daytona, Fla., yesterday with the hope of reaching her home at Columbus, Ohio, before she expired. Death overtook her at noon, today, however, when her train was between Richmond and Washington.

"I want to go home to die," Mrs. Kling told friends in Florida, where she had spent the past few winters. She was accompanied north by a trained nurse and her sister, Mrs. Jane Beatty Stevens, who was beside her at the end.

Mrs. Kling, who was 80 years old, succumbed to pernicious anemia, from which she had been suffering for three years. The body was removed from the train here and prepared for burial. It was sent tonight to Columbus, where the funeral will be held.

Mrs. Kling is survived by three sisters and a brother.

DENIAL OF SMALLPOX EPIDEMIC IN WASHINGTON

Washington, May 5—A formal proclamation denying that there is a smallpox epidemic in Washington was issued today by the District of Columbia commissioners, the governing body of the national capitol.

The proclamation said that while the health officer had suggested the advisability of vaccination to the residents of the district "such suggestion was not due entirely to conditions peculiar to the District of Columbia, but was due to the fact that smallpox is prevalent in various parts of the U. S.

It was added that the population of the District of Columbia is nearly 500,000, and that since January 1, only 54 cases of smallpox has been reported.

Berlin, May 5.—(A. P.)—The election of Field Marshal Von Hindenburg as president of the German republic was officially ratified today by the federal election committee which is composed of six representatives of the major reichstag parties and Professor Dr. Wagemann [illegible] for elections.

Mrs. Shepherd May be Accessory To Murder

Coroner's Jury Implicates Wife With Husband in Death of William N. McClintock.

Chicago, May 5—The coroner's jury investigating the death of William N. McClintock, millionaire orphan, tonight concurred in the action of the grand jury which indicted William D. Shepherd, McClintock's foster-father, for his murder, and also recommended that Mrs. William D. Shepherd be held to the grand jury as an accessory to the murder.

The coroner's jury also concurred in the action of the grand jury which indicted Charles C. Fatman with Shepherd. Fatman confessed Shepherd offered him $100,000 for typhoid germs to give McClintock. Regarding Mrs. Shepherd, the jury said it believed she had "guilty knowledge as to the administration of the typhoid germs or other manner causing the death of the deceased."

Harry Mennelly, assistant state's attorney, who has attended the inquest, said a mittimus would be issued for Mrs. Shepherd and she would be taken into custody tomorrow. William Scott Stewart, Shepherd's chief of council, expressed surprise at the jury's finding and characterized it "an outrage and a persecution."

TESTIMONY IN MURDER TRIAL OF OLYMPIA MACRI

New Haven, May 5—The principal witness put on the stand today to testify against Olympia Macri, who is on trial for the murder of John Bagnano on February 26 last was Sergeant John G. Schmitt, police officer who arrested her in front of the Poli theatre a few moments after she had shot down the man she claims to be the father of her child.

Other witnesses who were called to testify for the state later in the afternoon were introduced by State's Attorney Arnon A. Alling in an attempt to support his contention that Miss Macri will be 21 years of age on next July 9. Joseph Koletsky, counsel for the defense, claims that she is two years younger.

A few minutes before today's session closed Judge Christopher L. Avery excused the jury while counsel argued over the inclusion as evidence of the death certificate of the slain man. Koletsky took exception to the word "homicidal" in the phraseology of the certificate and the court sustained his objection on the grounds that the jury might be influenced by it.

Most of the morning session was taken up with the examination of [illegible] alias Joe Harris, who was in the lobby of the Poli theatre at the time of the shooting. Koletsky brought out the point in his statement made to Coroner Eli Mix the actor had not told of hearing Bagnano mutter an oath as he ran past him in the theatre lobby although in his testimony in court he had told of hearing such an oath.

The girl who is on trial for her life made only an occasional comment to her counsel during the day and appeared fatigued at the end of the day. She showed no signs of emotion except once when Sergeant Schmitt testified that she had been laughing in her cell at 3 a. m. on the day following the shooting. She raised her hand to her face and shook her head as the police officer made the statement.

TO GUARD TRAFFIC IN ARMS AND AMMUNITION

Geneva, May 5.—(A. P.)—Through the voice of Dr. Gustavo Guerrero, of Salvador, noted jurist, who spoke before the international conference on the control of the traffic in arms and munitions today, Latin-America has told the world that arms should henceforth not be exported freely to countries in the throes of a revolution, but only to governments which have been chosen by constitutional means.

This opinion is thought to represent the views of many South and Central American states, and if put into effect implies an important amendment to the draft convention before the conference, which permits the exportation of arms as soon as the manufacturing country has recognized the government of the purchasing country.

SEC'Y MELLON ADDRESSED MISSISSIPPI BANKERS

Jackson, Miss., May 5—Lowering of the maximum surtax rates and radical reduction in rates or elimination of the federal estate tax will probably be recommended to the house ways and means committee next fall, Secretary Andrew Mellon, of the treasury today announced in his address here before members of the Mississippi Bankers' association.

The levy of an income tax, he said, is "at proper rates, a fair and economically sound means of raising necessary government revenues, but the tax must not be levied at rates so high as to hamper business, slacken initiatives, distort investment and encourage avoidance of the tax."

FINDINGS ON DEATHS OF SEVERAL OSAGE INDIANS

Washington, May 5—Investigation of the circumstances surrounding the deaths of several Osage Indians in Oklahoma has been completed by department of justice agents and their report is in the hands of Attorney General Sargent for study to determine whether the matter is one for action in the federal courts.

POLA NEGRI IN CONTROVERSY WITH CUSTOMS OFFICIALS

Trouble Caused by Contraband Liquor and Undeclared Jewelry—Fifteen Bottles of High Power Liquors Were Smashed in Presence of the Actress—Miss Negri Maintained That Maid Had Put the Liquor in Her Baggage Without Her Knowledge—A Diamond Ring and Two Bracelets Were Seized and Declared Subject to Forfeiture.

New York, May 5—Pola Negri, motion picture actress, will leave for California tomorrow with her customs and contraband liquor disagreement still in the hands of the government.

She announced her impending departure after she had spent more than an hour in conference with Philip Elting, explaining how she entered the country plaing how she entered the country on the Berengaria last Friday without having declared three pieces of jewelry she had acquired abroad. She also provided an explanation for the presence of liquor in her baggage, explaining that her maid had put it there without her knowledge.

Her attorney, William M. Chadbourne, did most of Miss Negri's talking. He and several press agents accompanied the screen actress to the collector's office. The actress, gowned in a Paris attraction and wearing a hight hat (directoire model), swept through the customs house corridore without even a glance for the 300 flappers and eager young men who gathered there for a glimpse of her.

Newspapermen didn't get into the conference but had two versions of it later from as many sources. Collector Elting said the actress had brought into port with her, in addition to two rings and two bracelets the value of which government experts have not yet appraised, fifteen bottles of assorted liquors with a high power kick.

The bottles were smashed before the actress' eyes Friday, but the jewelry matter is yet in doubt. Three of the pieces—a diamond ring and two bracelets—were seized and declared subject to forfeiture, while the fourth, a solitaire diamond ring, will be redeemable at 40 per cent of its purchase price. The actress had declared the ring and explained she considered it the only article necessary to declare, as she had gotten it through trading other gems.

The case was postponed to permit experts to make an appraisal whereupon Miss Negri announced that she must leave for the coast tomorrow, but said that she would be back in New York by May 20 to hear the government's decision.

Chadbourne told newspapermen after Miss Negri had slipped from the collector's office through a side door that the actress, although she had applied for first citizenship papers, considered she did not have to declare her jewels because she was traveling on a Polish passport.

Later, Miss Negri telephoned the newspapermen, whom she called "the dear reporters," to deny Mr. Elting's statement fifteen bottles of liquor had been found in her luggage.

"It was only six or seven bottles," she explained, "and they were bottles of Rhine wine. My maid put them in a bag when I wasn't looking. I had been very ill on the trip and had had the wine as medicine. I did not intend to bring it ashore."

Miss Negri was fined $5 for each bottle of contraband found in her bag.

Collector Elting still insists she paid a $75 fine.

BERLIN ACCEPTS HOUGHTON SPEECH AS ADMONITION

Berlin, May 5—The speech of Alanson B. Houghton, the American ambassador, at the Pilgrims dinner at London last night, was the outstanding feature of today's news and was prominently displayed by all the Berlin papers. While declining to make formal comissance of the ambassador's warning to Europe, official quarters expressed gratification at his plain spoken admonition and believed that his advice to all the European nations will materially facilitate negotiations for a security pact.

In the course of an informal discussion of the subject, an official of the foreign office voiced the belief that this was America's final warning to Europe and that, as such, it was bound to "soak in." Reduced to every-day terms he interpreted the ambassador's message as a categorical notification to European nations, big and little, to "come to their senses or get along without the United States," and that the process of "Balkanizing" Europe must come to an immediate halt.

The German foreign office, the spokesman said, was incomplete sympathy and accord with the program of pacification and reconstruction as outlined by Mr. Houghton.

YALE FRESHMEN ARE NOT PERMITTED TO DRIVE AUTOS

New Haven, May 5—Following an automobile crash in which Violet Betchel, sister-in-law of Century Allen Milstead, Yale all-American tackle, was taken to the Milford hospital for injuries received when the car in which she was riding with Craig Forbes, Yale freshman, struck a telephone pole, Percy T. Walden, dean of the freshmen at Yale college, said today that under the college rules, freshmen are not permitted to drive automobiles. He said that everything possible was being done to prevent their doing so. Dean Walden refused to comment on the case of Craig Forbes.

Forbes was placed under arrest charged with driving without an operator's license. Miss Bechel was lacerated about the head and Forbes was cut about the body. Registration plates showed that the machine was owned by Mrs. Laura K. Forbes, of 420 Park avenue, New York city.

LOS ANGELES ATTRACTING THOUSANDS OF PERSONS

Mayaguez, Porto Rico, May 5.—(A. P.)—The United States navy dirigible Los Angeles, which arrived here last night on a flight from Lakehurst, was an attraction which drew thousands of persons to the tender Patoka, to which she is moored, today. Other thousands lined the shore near where the Patoka is anchored.

Tomorrow, weather conditions permitting, the Los Angeles will fly over Porto Rico eastward to San Juain, thence across the sea to the Virgin Islands and return to the Patoka's mast.

The present plan of the commander of the airship is to start on the return flight to Lakehurst Thursday.

EJECTED FROM COURT FOR DEMANDING A CONFERENCE

Boston, May 5—The calm of the Roxbury court was disturbed when a man waving American, British and Irish Free State flags forced his way into the courtroom while a hearing was in progress and demanded a conference with Judge Ahern. He was ejected by officials when he refused to obey the order of the judge to leave declaring that he was an American citizen and could not be deprived of the right of free speech.

The hearing was in the cases of three men and a woman who were arrested last Sunday night when a meeting of the Clan-na-Gael in Roxbury was invaded by Irish Republican sympathizers. The four were charged with disturbing a public assembly.

Police officers testified that a party of men and women "rushed" the meeting and that a free fight followed, in which fists and chairs were used as weapons. Quite was restored only when the officers threatened to use tear gas bombs. The hearing was continued to Thursday.

DODGE STOCK IS BARRED FROM SALE IN MICHIGAN

Lansing, Mich., May 5—The state securities commission barred the sale in Michigan of $35,000,000 stock issue floated when Dodge Brothers was taken over by a New York banking firm and reorganized as Dodge Brothers Inc. The commision, however, permitted the sale of six per cent debenture notes, which have been issued to the amount of $75,000,000.

In disapproving the sale of stock the commission apparently held that it could not consider good will as an asset upon which stock issues would be based. The actual assets of Dodge Brothers according to H. M. Duff, chairman of the commission total $103,000,000. Against this was $75,000,000 in debenture notes and $35,000,000 in stock. If the assets are collateral for the debtnure notes, he said, only $27,000,000 in assets would be left to cover $35,000,000 worth of stock.

The order affects only Michigan. The stock may be purchased through brokers in other states where the sale has been authorized it was stated.

AMUNDSEN EXPEDITION IS READY TO START

Oslo, Norway, May 5—The North Pole expedition headed by Roald Amundsen was ready today to leave King's Bay, Spitsbergen, in the expedition steamers Farm and Hobby, for Danes Island near the extreme northwestern coast of Spitsbergen. The steamers are to be followed, under their own power, by airplanes which are to make the attempt to fly to the pole as soon as word is received at King's Bay that the Farm and Hobby have arrived at Danes Island.

As weather conditions were reported to be favorable, it is presumed here the airplanes also departed from King's Bay today for the northern base.

With a speed of more than ninety miles an hour the pole, which lies about 650 miles away, should be reached in about eight hours.

A landing will be made at the pole, where observations will be attempted to locate its exact position.

ATTEMPTED TO STRANGLE HIMSELF WITH SHOE LACE

Hartford, May 5—Clarence Whipple, 23 years old, Simsbury farm hand, who was arrested today charged with carrying a concealed weapon by Policeman Slamnon, is being held at the police station under a special guard as a result of his attempt to strangle himself with a shoe lace early this afternoon. Whipple was arrested in an automobile on Albany avenue after a hand-to-hand encounter in which Policeman Slamnon wrested from Whipple's hands a loaded 38 calibre revolver at the point of which Whipple is said to have compelled Clarence A. Shepard, of Simsbury, to drive Whipple and Shepard's daughter, Ruth, towards Simsbury. The trouble is alleged to have started over Miss Shepard's indifference to Whipple's attentions which have persisted for several years. The two are cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Potter, who have been seriously ill at their home in South Coventry, are recovering. Their son, David, has returned to Branford.

A large gathering of parents and friends assembled for the May Day programme of the Scotland Center school, held on the village green against a background of spring foliage which brought out the vivid costumes of the flower girls and dancing fairies. Following in the programme: Arbor Day, Anne Slade Roberts; Grasbeaks, Karl Humphreys; God's trees, responsive reading, led by Mrs. L. Moseley; Voices of Spring, Misses M. Kosh, R. Monty, P. Gager, V. Gauthier and Masters C. Tardiff, J. Radicot and P. Rogers; Johnny Funny Bunny's Spring Planting, Paul Mara; Candle, Thaxter's Spring, William Rider; Color Fairies, pink, Barbara Rogers and L. Reslar, orange, Marion Gager and E. Bassett, yellow, Anne Slade Roberts and H. Monty, green, Emily Warinsky and A. Reslar, blue, P. Gager and N. Perry, violet, E. Rogers and N. Tardiff. Part 2.—Play, "Coming of Spring," written by the children of the Grammar department; May Pole dance, by the Primary department. In the original play the wind acted a very effective yet unexpected part. When King Winter was declaring that his days were numbered for his snow was nearly all melted the wind caught up large flakes of his cotton snow and hurried them northward. The invisible actor added much to the success of the day through this unusual incident. The characters for the play were: Winter, Albert Kimball; spring, Anita Gauthier; sun, Richard Amidon; hypatica, Bernice Radicot; forget-me-not, Telen Rogers; daffodil, Elisabeth Dennis; snow-drop, Rebecca Kench; Jack-in-pulpit, George Monty; dandelion, Eva Kimball; violet, Winnefred Perry; lotus, Kenneth Moseley; lily, Annie Warinsky; tulip, Eva Tardiff; yellow butterfly, Janette Tardiff; red butterfly, Florence Davidson; white butterfly, Rose Hutas. The teachers of the school are Mrs. Loretta Gager and Mrs. Vivian Moseley.

The May meeting of Willimantic Woman's club was held at the club rooms Tuesday afternoon with a very good attendance. The program was the reading of a play of Colonial times, "Bonnie Blue Bell," delightfully given by Mrs. Patty Lee Waterman Clark, of Hartford, by whom it was written. The play was originally written for a group of girls connected with a coffee house in Holyoke, where it was very successfully given. It has been given several times since in other places. The play centers about the affairs of two Puritan maidens living on the island of Nantucket, about 1740, under the tutelage of two aunts. Mrs. Clark gave the play a very charming interpretation, and the audience manifested lively pleasure as the plot developed.

At a meeting of the executive board of the Drama League of Eastern Connecticut, held Tuesday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., application for membership from the Young People's society of Mansfield, was made by Gerden Bower, and accepted. Under the direction of Mrs. R. L. Hahn, the Young Peoples' club has just put on a successful two-act comedy, "A Box of Monkeys." It was also voted to amend the constitution relative to a financial settlement on the circuit plays to a 40-60% basis, the visiting town to receive 40% of the gross receipts, and local town 60%.

Over one hundred guests and members of Windham Girls' club assembled in the club rooms Monday evening to attend a May basket party, with Mrs. W. I. Crane as hostess, assisted by Mrs. J. H. Aspinwall, Miss Mabel Payson, Miss Mary Day, Miss Sadie Fitzgerald, Mrs. William Nichols, Miss Mary Colbert, and Miss Bridget Moriarty. A feature was a May basket hunt, over a hundred baskets being concealed about the rooms. A special basket was arranged for the president, Miss Alice Peterson, containing a beautiful string of beads, and another for Miss Blanch Hallahan, the date being her birthday. First prize for the hunt went to Miss Annie Gluskin, an attractive bon-bon basket. Consolation award went to Miss Mildred Moulton. A whist test followed, when first prize was awarded Miss Alice Peterson, who received a candy tray; second went to Miss Annie Gluskin. This was followed by a very original "English walnut shower of napkins." Clusters of English walnut shells had been mysteriously filled and wired together, and suspended from the points of a ruffled yellow parasol, opened and exhibited by Mrs. Crane. There was one for each girl. Each nutshell was found to contain a folded paper napkin, and legends. Coffee and sandwiches were served.

A speaking contest preliminary to the town school speaking contest to be held later, in Hebron, was held there in the Lord District Monday afternoon. The judges were Mrs. Robert Foote and Miss Susan Pendleton, who made first mention of Morgan Lord and second of Myron Hills.

The Young People's club in Mansfield has bought lumber and made scenery, bought and made a curtain for the stage, and cleaned and oiled the floor of the vestry of the church.

The new, green velvet curtain, bought for the town hall in Hebron by the Hebron Players from the proceeds of their play "The Regiment of Two" is being hung this (Wednesday) morning in the hall there in anticipation of the Windham Players' appearance in Hebron with their circuit plays.

Rev. Albert H. Wheelock of Auburn, Mass., is the guest at the parsonage of Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Wheelock.

The bearers at the funeral of Mrs. Alvina A. Cole Tuesday afternoon were: Howard Morse, Floyd Willett, Arthur Clark and Frank Bradley. Mrs. Walter M. Buckingham, of Norwich, and Mrs. R. G. Remington sang the hymns during the services. Avery and VanZandt had charge.

Court Cecile, Catholic Daughters of America, entertained the bi-annual state convention of this organization held in Norwalk, Monday. The convention was opened with a solemn high mass at St. Mary's church at 10 o'clock, after which delegates assembled at Red Men's hall. Following an address of welcome by Miss Helen Cahill, grand regent of Court Cecile, Mrs. Jennie McNamara, state regent, presented the speakers, Rev John Finn, pastor of St. Mary's church, Norwalk, and chaplain of Court Cecile; Edward Lyons, grand knight of Norwalk council, K. of C., and Mr. Mary Ahearn, national treasurer. Delegates and members were present from the twenty-four courts in the state. The election of officers resulted as follows: state regent, Mrs. Mabel Lavey, of Bridgeport; state secretary, Mrs. Mary Maguire, New Britain; state treasurer, Miss Mary Mann, Ansonia; state auditor, Miss Frances Doran, Greenwich; state advocate, Miss Veronica McQuillan, Willimantic. Delegates elected to the national convention in San Francisco were: Mrs. Mary Lavey, Miss Mary Brennan and Mrs. Ella Bradley of New Haven. Adjournment was taken at 5.30 at which time a luncheon was served by members of Court Cecile.

CHAS. HITCHCOCK, COLUMBIA, DIED AFTER MOWING LAWN

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, May 6—Charles K. Hitchcock, 73, widely known resident of Columbia, died suddenly at his home on Columbia Green, Tuesday forenoon at 11 o'clock, after he had completed the work of mowing his lawn and had sat in a chair in the house. He remarked to Mrs. Hitchcock that he felt severe pains in the region of his heart and these words had hardly been uttered when he fell to the floor. A telephone call brought Dr. F. E. Wilcox of this city, but it was then too late. Mr. Hitchcock had resided in Columbia about fifteen years. He took a prominent part in all civic and social activities in the community and had filled several town offices with ability. He was highly interested in newspaper work and at the time of his death corresponded for the Norwich Bulletin, the Willimantic Chronicle and the Rockville Leader. He leaves besides his wife, Mary Conklin Hitchcock, a son, Charles K. Hitchcock, Jr., of Bonneterre, Missouri, a daughter, Mrs. Raymond E. Clark, of Columbia, and four grandchildren. He had suffered from high blood pressure and eye trouble for some time, and for the latter complaint he underwent an operation a few months ago.

Mr. Hitchcock was born in New York city, July 6, 1851, a son of Samuel and Mary Ann Hunt Hitchcock. He resided for many years in Bayonne, N. J., and came to Columbia September 1, 1910. He held the office of grand juror for several terms. He was prominent in the Columbia Improvement society and was a lay reader at the local St. Paul's Episcopal church.

Medical Examiner Dr. William L. Higgins of South Coventry viewed the body and gave heart trouble as the cause of death.

FIVE DIRECTORS CHOSEN BY BOARD OF LOCAL Y. M. C. A.

(Special to the Bulletin)

Willimantic, May 6.—The annual meeting of the board of directors of Willimantic Y. M. C. A. was held in the Y building Monday evening with a good representation of the board present. An excellent supper prepared and served by the Women's auxiliary preceded the business meeting. President James B. Fullerton was chairman of the session. Upon recommendation of the nominating committee, Dr. R. B. Jones, chairman, the following were chosen directors for the ensuing term: Harry W. Standish, C. C. Case, Charles W. Hill, Frank H. Foss, and Raymond A. Parker, the last named to fill the unexpired term caused by the departure from the city of Charles W. Alpaugh. Present directors who are entering upon the second year of a three year term are: James B. Fullerton, Kenneth W. Hillhouse, Fred L. Avery, Herbert W. Hubbe, Roland B. Jordan, James P. Mustard, George Shaffer, James P. Bath, G. Everett Harrington, and Dr. R. Bullock Jones. Reports were made by President Fullerton, Treasurer H. C. Lathrop and General Secretary Albert B. Smith. The reports were given from optimistic viewpoints and aroused the enthusiasm of the directorate. The speaker was Attorney Ralph O. Wells of Hartford, member of the state Y. M. C. A. committee, also affiliated with the national council. Attorney Wells spoke interestingly on national and state phases of Y. M. C. A. work in which he told of the employment of experts to study the local Y situation in the various cities and gather information beneficial to the successful maintenance of these locals, or units, organizations which are represented in the national council.

JEWETT CITY

The most elaborate entertainment ever presented by the Sisters of St. Mary's Convent was given in Finn Opera House Tuesday evening, before a crowded house. One hundred and ninety-five children had been trained to a degree that was exceptional, and the costumes were the work of endless time and skill. The costumes for the Butterfly dance were exquisite, the beautiful body, wings and slippers hand-painted on crepe paper, in exact resemblance of immense butterflies. The Sisters did all this artistic work, and that particular number alone was an entertainment in itself. The following programme was given:

Overture, To Tancredi, piano duet; Teresa Foley, Vivian McLaughlin; Bye-Lo-Land, First Grade, Catherine Jodoin, piano; Black on One Side, dialogue, Louis Gingras, Clarence Julien; Flower Play, primary grades, Stella Kogiel, piano; First Air Concertante, violin solo, Beatrice Lamotte; Bootblacks, piano, John Jacobs; piano solo, Stella Glowacki; Miracle du Lys, recitation, Grade III; Annie Laurie, violin solo, Stanley Miss; piano, J. Olson; Ronde des Petits Soldats, III and IV Grades; The Battle, recitation, Eileen Walsh; Butterfly Drill, piano, N. Harpin; Chantons de deux Reveil des Nids, French Song; The Firefly's Song, violin and piano; J. Heurigan, E. Fontaine, S. Menard, F. Meriarty, J. Oropello, H. Glowacki, L. Olson, A. Lemieux, piano, Stella Glowacki; When Uncle Pedger Hangs a Picture, Comedy; Home, Sweet Home, violin solo, Beatrice Lamotte; Miracle of the Roses, Operetta.

Act I. Characters, Mistress of the School, E. McLaughlin; Lady Clare (afterwards landlord) R. Gutknecht; Graziella (little dumb girl) Q. Potts; Madeleine (a poor child) E. Brisson; Milkmild, C. Shea; Mignon (afterwards Elizabeth) L. Cyr; pupils, Alice, A. Chretien; Bertha, M. Cholewa; Flora, T. Foley; Jane, F. Connell; Mary, N. Harpin; Anna, H. McLaughlin; Nancy, H. Kilboss; Dora, M. McDermott; Marian, L. Dugas; Agnes, B. Nichols; number of poor people, Piano, V. McLaughlin.

Turkish March, violin trio; E. Lamotte, M. Leyden, S. Miss, Piano, Miss Mills.

Glowacki, bells, M. Mort, S. Kogiel, I. Jaskawics; orchestra bells, John Jacobs; drums, E. Kolbuss, Piano, J. Olson.

The Troublesome Servant, Comedy; Mr. Grimes, Armand Gilbert; Handy Andy, George Tetreault.

Piano Solo, E. Brisson; The Cross and The Flag, Grades VI, VII, VIII; For God and Country, song, piano, Helen Kilboss.

Ashland Fish and Game Association meeting, I. O. O. F. Hall, 8 p. m., Friday.—adv.

When George Jarvis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Jarvis of Jewett City and Miss Stella Zajac daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Zajac were united in marriage at St. Mary's church Monday morning, Rev. J. J. Tyler celebrated the nuptial mass.

The bride wore a beautiful white satin dress trimmed with shadow lace. She wore a veil and had a bouquet of white roses. Miss Emma Jarvis, maid of honor and Walter Zajac was best man. The maid of honor wore a peach colored dress with hat to match, and carried pink roses. The other attendants were Helen Zajacs and Lloyd Jarvis, Mary Cholewa and Medes Raille, Julia Tenczar and Raymond Jarvis. The different colored dresses of the bridesmaids gave a rainbow effect, and they carried beautiful flowers.

After the marriage ceremony a reception was held and a breakfast served at the home of the bride's parents. The bride received many costly gifts. Friends and relatives were present from Springfield, Mass., Greeneville, Norwich, Danielson, Moosup and Jewett City.

Mr. and Mrs. Jarvis are on a honeymoon trip to Springfield.

In all regular and well governed lodges of Masons it is alleged that one or more goats are maintained for various visionary purposes. Mt. Vernon lodge has added a bird to its menagerie. Anyway, a handsome pigeon takes up its nightly roost on the sign of the order, displayed on the top story of the Rioux block.

An item in The Bulletin Tuesday, told of a chap named Fisher, in Pasadena, Cal., who could so perfectly imitate the siren on a fire truck, that he had the residents of that city guessing whether or no there was a fire. Jewett City has a lad who owns a 4-wheeled cart. Any day when he is drawn down the street by his chum, he can stand up in his miniature truck and toot out an imitation of the local siren's high-pitched shriek, with such perfection that people look to see Chief Wakeley and his men come around the next corner.

It is evident that Police Officer Henry Viegard, like the chief of Danielson's police, has a job on his hands of checking up the stonethrowers at passing automobiles.

One night this week a stone was thrown, hitting and shattering into a hundred pieces, the heavy glass windfield of a machine being driven by Leonard McBroome. It was believed Tuesday that Mr. McBroome can identify the boy.

Another local man left his car parked beside the curb. Returning from a call in a nearby store, he found a number of boys pegging stones at the headlight.

The names of Mrs. H. T. Jeffers, Lucille Tomlinson, Grace Jeffers, and Margery Webster as assisting Mrs. Grace Webster at her son's birthday party were omitted from Tuesday's account of the party.

OLD MYSTIC

The village was shocked to hear of the sudden death of Dionisio Carocari, Saturday afternoon, an automobile striking him as he got out of his car to go to a house near Mystic. Not looking he stepped directly in front of the machine, was knocked down and died from a fractured skull, before reaching the hospital in New London. He leaves his wife, a son, Noah, who has a garage in North Stonington, Valentino, Drunan and Rachel Carocari. He bought the Martha Smith house, made improvements and was industrious, a good husband and father. His death is regretted by all who knew him.

Rev. and Mrs. Leavens Eldredge of East Braintree, Mass., preached in the Baptist church Sunday and while here were guests of Mrs. Eldredge's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Frink.

Plus Ultra class members have been invited by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Coit, of Mystic, to meet at their home this (Tuesday) evening.

August Lambert, who came here to visit his sons was taken suddenly ill Saturday and remains in a serious condition.

The Ladies' society is to meet with Mrs. Charles Burdick Wednesday afternoon.

Charles Green has moved from Mrs. Ann Copp's house to Mrs. Charles Williams' house, on Eldredge avenue.

Miss Beryl Marchand has recovered from a grip cold.

Edward Campbell, who has been ill for many months was removed to the Norwich State hospital Friday.

Mrs. H. B. Hutchins is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Williams.

The woods were on fire again Sunday in two places, north of the village, and many people had to work to put the flames out. One near Mrs. Etta Torrington's on the old turnpike, endangered her house and other places on the road.

Clarence Beckwith and family were callers at Daniel Frink's Sunday afternoon.

The Willing Workers are to meet in the parish house Wednesday afternoon for work.

BOLTON

Myron M. Lee has purchased the farm of Mrs. Tony Magrid, known as the Charles R. Warner place.

School supervisor W. S. Dakin of West Hartford held a teachers' meeting at the Center school house last Wednesday. It was decided to have the speaking and spelling contest Friday evening May 15, and the field day exercises May 27th.

Mr and Mrs. Louis D. Eaton have returned to their Bolton farm from Nashville, Tenn., where they spent the winter.

Mr. Eaton is having a garage built to replace one he lost by fire last fall. He has had a tractor delivered which he recently purchased.

Clement M. Sumner and Ernest M. Howard have been appointed appraisers of the estate of Mrs. Jane E. Sumner.

Mrs. Emily Perdyce of New Milford has come to Mrs. Louis H. Levey's for the summer.

Mrs. Perdyce is in Boston for a few days.

Miss Anna Herring of Vernon visited her brother Clifford Herring last week.

Mrs. Ella Massey of Suffield is a guest at Mrs. Charles N. Loomis.

Elmer J. Finley of Forest Hills Gardens, L. I., has been spending a few days at his summer home in South Bolton.

Miss Helen L. Taylor of Holyoke, spent the week end with her father, Rev. Frederick C. Taylor.

Miss Adelia Prout of New Haven, has been visiting Mrs. Cora Rose's.

Mrs. Jennie L. Bolton, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie S. Bolton of Garden street, Hartford, spent Saturday and Sunday at Twin Spruce.

CHAPLIN

Mrs. Emily J. Vail and sister, Mrs. Ida Holdridge, who spent the winter in Florida arrived home Friday. The trip was made each way in Mrs. Vail's car. They enjoyed touring the state making their headquarters at Candler.

The Christian Endeavor meeting was largely attended Sunday evening. Miss Florence I. Hunt was leader and the topic was How Can We Help to Make the Home Happy? About fifteen from the Eastford society attended and helped to make the meeting interesting and helpful.

Another accident the past week at the dangerous curve at the South Chaplin bridge, when a truck overturned and two men were injured seriously, is causing people to wonder how long the state is going to wait before a move is made to make this death trap a safe place to travel over along the trunk line of state road where many accidents have happened and one person has been killed.

Supreme Court in Hartford

The supreme court of errors convened in the supreme court chamber in the state library at Hartford Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock for the May term. There were a number of Hartford cases on the docket and numerous cases transfered from New London, New Haven and other cities. The court, it is expected, will be in session all this week and part of next.

Three symbols of taste that are symbols of good judgment, too!

LINEN TABLECLOTHS STERLING SILVER IVORY SOAP

THESE are the standards that every woman wants to maintain. Linen and silver may have to come later, but she can have Ivory Soap now!

This woman of standards avoids showy, colored, perfumed soap for reasons of good taste. She avoids harsh laundry soap for the sake of her hands and her clothes. She uses Ivory in place of both.

Her good judgment is proved by her clear, fresh skin, her dainty garments unharmed by frequent laundering, and her smooth white hands, which days and weeks and months of dishwashing and clotheswashing in Ivory suds have left in fine condition.

She has also learned that the use of Ivory Soap exclusively in her home is true economy — because Ivory, which costs so little, protects everything it cleans.

For forty-six years Ivory has stood for the highest quality in soap—and today it stands preeminent, among all the hundreds of other soaps that have been offered, as the only soap that is at once so safe and so economical that it serves every soap-and-water task in the American home.

And this is important—Ivory is now made in four different forms: Guest Ivory for your wash-stand, Bath Ivory (medium-size) for your bathtub, Ivory Flakes for the safe laundering of delicate silks and woolens (and for shampoo), and Laundry Ivory for your general washing.

There isn't a single place in your home where Ivory doesn't fit better than any other soap you can buy.

IVORY FLAKES for shampooing

For a wonderful, sudsy, quick-rinsing shampoo, nothing is finer than Ivory Flakes. Pure, rich suds that remove oil and dust thoroughly, without irritating the scalp, and then rinse out completely, leaving the scalp soothed and the hair light and fluffy.

Here is a fine, simple treatment for your complexion

Wash your face once or twice daily with warm water and Ivory Soap. Rinse in warm water and follow with a dash of cold. Dry thoroughly by patting with a soft towel. If your skin needs it, rub in a little pure cold cream.

DANIELSON AND PUTNAM NEWS

DANIELSON

Enthusiasm animates the membership of Killingly grange, now at 142, the largest in the history of the organization. Monday evening, at grange headquarters here a class of 22 received the third and fourth degrees, exemplified by officers of the grange and probably more impressively than on any other class within recent memory.

Various subordinate granges were represented at the exercises, Brooklyn grange sending a delegation of 29. Putnam grange, Wolf Den grange of Abington, Highland grange of South Killingly and Moosup Valley grange were numbered among those represented. Following the degree work there was a supper and this, in turn, was followed by dancing. The supper committee was made up of Mrs. Henry Spalding, Mrs. Fred Warren, Mrs. George Keach. Rev. C. A. Downs of Goodyear is master of Killingly grange.

Oiling of streets of the borough, to be undertaken at the first moment, is a money-saving arrangement for the town of Killingly and a source of satisfaction to residents along the streets that figure in the oiling program. First Selectman John A. Gilbert is authority for the statement that the oiling arrangement adopted a few years ago as an improvement over the old water sprinkling arrangement, serves to reduce in material measure the repair cost of keeping streets in condition in the borough, all of the streets of which are cared for at town expense. Oiled streets do not break down, as to surfacing, nor become rutted or holed as rapidly as do streets that are not oiled. This may be ascertained to anyone who desires to inspect the streets oiled last year and not since so treated with other streets that were not oiled. The town pays a proportion of the cost of oiling, assessing a part of the expense against the abutting propery owners on the streets that are oiled.

One again, for the benefit of all, it was demonstrated at a session of the town court Tuesday, that it is irregular, to say the least, to go rushing through Connecticut with an automobile, if one happens to be intoxicated, even when one does not agree to this, which drinkers of liquor seldom do, being always sober and perfectly competent, in their own estimation. Which gets the story down to relating that Louis Ledoux of Pascoag, R. I., a town that is said not to believe in prohibition, came into the town court as mentioned and was fined $25 for driving while under the influence of intoxicants, with a costs, a matter of $142.04, which is a bit expensive, even with liquor above par as to cost, and for below as to quality. State Officer Ross V. Urquhart of the Danielson barracks presented the case for the court's consideration.

Tuesday morning the funeral of George Erber was held from his home in Foster, with the funeral services at All Hallows' church in Moosup, Rev. Oscar Normandin celebrant of the high mass of requiem. Burial was in All Hallows' cemetery, near Moosup. The bearers were friends. L. E. Kennedy was in charge of the funeral arrangements.

From her home in Attawaugan Tuesday morning the funeral of Mrs. Celina Barriere was held with services at St. Joseph's church in Dayville at 10:30 o'clock. Rev. Ignatius Kost being celebrant of the mass. There were many relatives and friends in attendance. The bearers were Alexander Parisbeau, John Lefevre, Julius Nason, Julian Laroche, Joseph Aubin and Eli Burke. Burial was in St. Joseph's [illegible] Louis E. Kennedy was the funeral director.

Clinton Gendreau of Broad street has purchased the Poirier property consisting of three houses on Franklin street, near its junction with Furnace street. This originally was known as the Simon Farley property and a score of years ago as the Boulais property. The houses furnish homes for 11 tenants.

Prudent Danielson people, reading of the possibility of the greatest coal strike in history in September, are making ready to fill their bins against that contingency. This is more of less of a good advertisement for the coal dealers, but it has to do with facts, nevertheless.

This section appears now to have definitely settled down to such arrangements as any given community has as to observing standard time or daylight saving time. Danielson is a fixture as a standard time locality, notwithstanding the many other communities within a few miles that have adopted fast time for the months until early fall.

A farmer, commenting on the fact that there are fewer horses in Killingly this year, as shown by the grand list, than in previous years explains the fact by saying that horses now are used only for the necessary farm work that must be done by tillers of the soil who cannot afford to pay what hired help wants for compensation. We keep a minimum of horses, this farmer says. And we have a little automobile to go to town for shopping if we have to. And that is just about the way observers have figured it out.

Grading of the area in front of the School street school has advanced to a point that should ease off the irritation of those critical people who have found the frontage an eyesore for two or three years, while filling was going in. Later this season, it now appears, the lawn will have been re-established and the locality will be attractive to the eye.

At Judd avenue, employes of the Crystal Water company are engaged in excavating for the laying of new water mains. The work that is being done is a part of the comprehensive development plant of the water company, that Danielson's needs of water may be adequately met in future years. The expense involved is heavy.

Though the season has been open for several days, no pickerel fisherman has as yet shown a string or this kind of fish worth talking about. The lack of success is attributed to the low water in many places where pickerel are usually taken and to the fact that several good ponds were fished out, practically, during the low water of last season.

Chief A. P. Woodward of the fire department has received a copy of the new state law pertaining to right of way for fire apparatus and ambulances responding to emergency calls. This is of particular interest here in view of the fact that scores of owners of cars in this town insist on racing fire apparatus that is responding to calls, an extremely dangerous practice that will be punishable in court after July 1.

WILLIS D. WINSOR BURIED IN WESTFIELD CEMETERY

(Special to The Bulletin)

Danielson, May 5—At Westfield cemetery, at the noon hour Tuesday, funeral services for Willis Deloss Winsor, who died in Boston, were conducted by Rev. Leonard Richards, of St. Alban's Episcopal church. Friends accompanied the body from Boston. There were floral tributes from friends, the Masonic organizations of which Mr. Winsor was a member and from the Typographical organization with which he had been identified for a great many years. A delegation representing The Bulletin Company of Norwich, by which Mr. Winsor had been employed for some years, came to attend the funeral.

Mr. Winsor, whose death was announced in this column, was born in Brooklyn, but moved here with his parents in early childhood. Having served an apprenticeship on the Windham County Transcript, published here these many years, he was employed as a journeyman compositor on The Norwich Bulletin, later going to Hartford to fill a like position. After a few years he went to Boston and found employment on the old Traveler and Standard. For ten years he was a member of the composition department of the Boston Transcript, being obliged to retire from active work about fifteen years ago, because of poor health.

Mr. Winsor, brother of Mrs. Frances Pearson, wife of A. Walton Pearson, for many years editor of The Bulletin, was the last of his family. He was a member of Montezuma lodge of Odd Fellows, of Joseph Warren lodge of Masons, St. Andrew's Royal Arch chapter, William Park Commandery, Knights Templar, The Franklin Topographical society and the Boston Typographical union. Mr. Winsor never married.

Mr. Winsor's funeral service was held Tuesday morning at St. Stephen's church in Boston and was attended by a large number of friends and representatives of organizations with which he was identified during his many years of residence in that city.

PUTNAM

The annual typewriting contest of the Putnam High school with the Killingly High is to be held this year in Putnam High school auditorium, Friday, May 22. The contestants for this event are chosen in the following manner. Five pupils having the highest speed average are taken from each class, that is from the senior and junior classes, and these ten students compete with the Killingly contestants of their respective classes. The winners of first and second places in each of the two groups received awards. The school with the highest average receives the cup. The school winning the cup two out of three years holds it permanently. This is the second year of the contesting for the cup which was won by Killingly High last year.

The two High schools have co-operated and arranged a program for the night of the contest. The P. H. S. orchestra will play, there will be a speed demonstration, the K. H. S. students, the remainder of the typewriting classes, are planning to put on a play to entertain the audience, while the papers are being corrected.

Miss Katherine Byrne was selected as the delegate from the Putnam Chamber of Commerce to attend the meeting of the State organization to be held at Hartford, Wednesday.

During the past week students of the High school have been having their voices tested by Mrs. Robinson and practice for graduation music started. A chorus of 150 boys and girls has been chosen for this chorus.

Ralph C. Jenkins, superintendent of Putnam schools submitted the following report for April.

Putnam High School—Acceptances have been received from Dorothy S. King, Mt. Holyoke College, to teach English in the High School next year and from Winifred S. Duffey of Danielson, to teach eighth grade department subjects. Mrs. E. L. Robinson is now working with a chorus in the High school which will appear on Graduation night. The High school orchestra under the direction of Samuel Rich will also appear on that occasion.

Israel Putnam School—Mrs. Beatrice Whitney Wilbur, began the term as teacher of the Opportunity Room, in place of Ernestine D. Franklin, resigned. I have yet had no candidates to recommend for next year for the position of Principal and seventh grade teacher in this school.

Sawyer School—Scarlet fever at the Windham County Home, caused the local health officer to exclude from the Sawyer school all pupils attending that school, who lived outside of the Home. This action made it necessary for us to provide school accommodations for eighteen pupils. It did not seem best to bring these pupils to Putnam for reasons of transporation and other causes. Therefore an emergency room was opened in a private home near the Sawyer school with Gladys L. Packard in charge. This room is quite satisfactory as a temporary arrangement from the standpoint of lighting, equipment, and organization.

Evening School—Putnam Evening school closed April 9 after seventy-five sessions. 118 pupils were enrolled in all departments; of these 54 were men and 65 were women. Thirty-three were registered in the Non-English department, seventeen in the Academic department and 68 in the Commercial department. The average attendance in the three departments was 37.8 pupils. I have received from the Principal of the Evening School a splendid report of the year's work.

John Brady, 79, of Putnam, who died Friday, at his home on Church street, had been ill five weeks. Funeral services were held at 9 o'clock Monday morning at St. Mary's. His wife, who died several years ago, was a sister of the late Edward Mullan, who had been mayor of the city and one of its successful business men. Five children survive, William A. Brady, a well known actor, Mrs. Minnie Irving, and Misses Elizabeth, Katherine and Rachel Brady, all living at home. Elizabeth and Katherine are twins. William Brady, who was filling an engagement with his company at Richmond, Va., reached here in time for the services. The greater part of Mr. Brady's life was spent in Putnam. He was an expert textile worker and for many years was in the employ of the Putnam Woolen Company.

Mrs. Olive Tripp, 75, widow of William Tripp, died Monday, at her home near Burrill's Corners in the East Putnam district. The body was taken to North Scituate, R. I., for burial.

Charles E. Baldwin, 75, of Thompson, died Saturday. He had no near relatives and the body was taken in charge by members of the Quinnatisset Grange, Thompson. Services were held in Grange Hall Monday and burial was at Baldwinsville, Mass.

LETTER FROM LABRADOR SIX WEEKS IN COMING

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, May 5—From the frozen north, Cartwright, Labrador, Mrs. Justin S. Greene has received from her brother, Bartholomew Haviland, the first letter since the winter set in, six months ago. Mr. Haviland is the resident agent of the fur post of a New York Fur Dealers company. During the winter he made a trip of 600 miles north of Cartwright to visit the little Eskimo settlements which furnish his station the skins from which the coats and collars and neck pieces for the women of our own and milder latitudes are made. The latter follows:

"Cartwright, Labrador, March 24, 1925

"Dear Sister:

How are you after the long winter? We have had very clear weather nearly all winter; cold and windy but very little snow up to the first of Mar. The sun is getting quite strong now, the last couple of mornings the glass did not go below zero and after the sun comes up it is over ten above.

I had quite a trip this winter. Left here February 2nd, and went to Northwest River Post where I spent three days checking the books, then went on down North as far as Hopedale and did not get back until the eighth of March—gone five weeks. The round trip was over 600 miles. Did not buy very much fur as there was very little caught, but had a fine trip and saw a lot of new country and people. The Eskimos at Hopedale are a queer bunch and too much "civilized" now-a-days.

Have not heard from you all winter, but suppose all well. Nothing much here in the way of news. One man perished here this winter, and a volcano discovered. The man, Chris Lethbridge, left here for home late in the evening and was found a week later lying on some boughs about ten minutes' walk from a house. He was frozen of course and two of his dogs were with him and refused to let him be touched by the men finding the body. One of the dogs was across his chest and the other by his side, they had stayed there the whole week, which proves how savage these dogs are-not.

The volcano caused quite an excitement for a while (found while I was north) but turned out to be a hot spring, or something of the sort. At first it was a burning mountain, then a bear's cave and now merely a hot spring in the low marshes. A man saw the snow melted and steam coming out of a hole and reported a "burning mountain". He afterwards got some of the powdery substance and the women are using it as Dutch Cleanser. Have seen none of it myself. Another two months and we will be working on the boats and waiting for open water to come. Very dull around just now, a few white foxes being caught and everybody staying at home watching his traps. We expect to have a big Easter concert this year. Mrs. Gordon is giving "Cinderella" with the young people and the children. She does great work with the children. After the entertainment we have a basket social and dance, with tea, etc. and expect to raise a couple of hundred dollars towards our new Parish Hall.

Well this is all for this time. Hope to hear from you in the spring."

This letter was mailed from Cartwright na dreached Putnam six weeks later, as it goes overland by dog team.

SECOND DIVIDEND CHECKS READY FOR CREDITORS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Putnam, May 5—The second dividend to creditors of the First National Bank amounting to 15 per cent will be payable on and after Wednesday May 6. Individual checks for every claimant arrived from the Comptrollers department at Washington yesterday. They were made out here and then sent to the Comptroller's office to be verified and countersigned. They can be received at the Receiver's office in the Citizens National Bank, the former home of the First National Bank. As in the case of the first dividend, arrangements have been made to pay these checks as expeditiously as possible.

When the first dividend of 40 per cent was paid it was thought that there would be a rush of check holders that would crowd th ebank with a long waiting line outside of the building. After the first day the rush was over but there was an orderly stream of depositors that were taken care of at the rate of two or three a minute.

LAUREL GLEN

Mrs. Attaway Main and son, Gilbert, attended the funeral at Narragansett Pier, of Mrs. Frederick Northrup, last week Tuesday. Mrs. Northrup was the daughter of the late Deacon and Mrs. Charles P. Holdredge and a sister of Mrs. Main. She leaves her husband and three children.

Mrs. William Main and daughter, Emma, accompanied by Fred Main, of Wakefield, motored to Coventry to see Thomas Main, who is almost ninety years old. Mr. Main lived in this place nearly all his life, and was a great sportsman.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Gladfelder gave a radio party Saturday evening.

Frank Main is employed in Hops Valley store.

The Girl Scouts met Tuesday evening, at Clerk's Falls School house.

Lacks the Greatest Joys of Life

Many Wives are Childless Because of Ill Health. Read How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Mrs. Benedict

MRS. MARY R. BENEDICT
918 PAYSON STREET, KEWANEE, ILLINOIS

Kewanee, Illinois. — "When I was married about a year and a half I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because of ill health. I did not have any children. I now have two healthy little girls and I am sure I would not have had them had it not been for your medicine. Last spring and summer I got all run down, irregular, and I had awful headaches, and my back and side hurt me so that I could stay up only a short time. My limbs would get so tired and ache till I could cry. I started to take the Vegetable Compound again and used the Sanative Wash, and it was not long till I was relieved. Now I do all my own work and help others. I sure praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines to any one I meet that is suffering from similar troubles. I think if mothers with girls would give it to them when they come to womanhood it would make them stronger. People who have known me all my life are astonished to see me now as I was always sickly when in my 'teens until I started taking the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. MARY R. BENEDICT, 918 Payson Street, Kewanee, Ill.

Has a Beautiful Baby Girl Now

Bridport, Vermont.—"In the first place I wanted a baby, but none seemed to come to me. I just love children and my husband is away all day, so I was not happy at all. A doctor told me I could not have a baby until I went to a hospital. But my sisters said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you will be O.K.' I was nervous, had organic weakness, with backache, sideache, headache and no strength. I had been in bed nearly a week when I began taking the Vegetable Compound. It was all that ever helped me and I just wish you could see my beautiful baby girl. I am fine now, and so is she. I am still taking the medicine as it keeps me well. You may be sure I am recommending the Vegetable Compound and always will."—Mrs. A. W. HOWE, Bridport, Vermont.

PLAINFIELD

A big crowd turned out Monday evening at the Plainfield Community House, for the entertainment given under the auspices of the Shop Committee of the Lawton Mills Corporation. The following programme was carried out: Community sing; guitar solo, by Mr. Holloway; mandolin solo, Miss Jennie Brown; piano solo, Mrs. Mollie Cooley; vocal solo, Thomas Bamber; recitation, Francis Mathewson; Lancashire sketch, Mrs. Hannah Brindle; vocal solo, Napoleon Hibert; piano solo, Miss Florence Radcliff; concertina solo, Daniel Radcliff; saxophone solo, Claude Leathers; community singing under the direction of the leaders, J. Royal and Ray Green. Dancing followed, to music furnished by Claude Leathers, Mrs Augusta Nolan and Wilfred Lamothe. The prompter was M. Ballette. Many compliments were paid. Edward S. Edge, chairman of the committee for the live-wire entertainment given.

The Army and Navy Post held a lively meeting at their rooms Monday evening. About two hundred attended. Plans for a regular up-to-the minute Memorial day programme were drawn up, and will be talked over at the big open meeting night, Friday next. The local post is out to put things over in regular shape and are asking the assistance of all churches and societies in town.

Dr. C. W. Robertson moved with his family from Plainfield Tuesday morning.

P. Burke, druggist at Baltic is seriously ill at his home on Pleasant street.

The baseball team held regular practise at the community ball park, Monday night. Over forty candidates for the team are turning out.

STAFFORD SPRINGS

Miss Dorothy Jacobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Jacobson, and Andrew Domen were married at St. Edward's church Monday morning, by Rev. Felix J. O'Neill. The bridesmaids were Miss Mary Dzuban and Miss Leona Holkowski. The best man was Alfred Jacobson a brother of the bride.

The bride wore blue canton crepe and blue hat and carried roses and white carnations. Miss Holkowski wore tan canton crepe with hat to match. Miss Dzuban wore cocoa brown canton crepe with hat to correspond. Both the bridesmaids carried pink carnations. A breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony. The bride received many beautiful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Domen left town later in the day for a wedding trip to Pennsylvania and upon their return will reside on Center street, Stafford Springs.

Mrs. Emma A. Irons 62, dead at her home on Furnace avenue, was born in Gardiner, Maine, June 26, 1862. She came to Stafford Springs several years ago. She leaves her husband John Irons and a son John Irons, Jr.

The funeral of Paul Andrelski, 50, who died following a surgical operation, Friday morning, was held at St. Edward's church, Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. Besides his wife he leaves three sons, John, Andrew and Alfred Andrelski and two daughters; Louise and Catherine Andrelski, all living in Stafford Springs.

John Bassett has sold his property on Stafford street to Frank Berdick.

NORWICH TOWN

"Jesus Christ the Corner Stone," was the theme of the sermon at the First Congregational church, Sunday morning, when the pastor, Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey preached from the text Matthew 21:42. Jesus saith unto them, did ye never read in the Scriptures the stone which the builders rejected? The same is become the head of the corner; this is the Lord's doing, and it is marvellous in our eyes."

At the close of the morning worship the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper was observed, with Rev. Mr. Bailey officiating. There was a large number of communicants.

The Young People's Christian Endeavor service in the evening was omitted, including the minister, forty-three attended services at Versailles Methodist church, in response to an invitation extended by the Fellowship Circle of that church. The subject of the meeting was "How Can We Help to Make Home Happy?" Howard Bushnell of the Versailles circle was the leader, and his class of young men formed the choir which provided the singing. The meeting opened at 7:15 (daylight time), the Norwich Town Endeavorers leaving the Congregational chapel at 6:30 in automobiles provided by Rev. Gurdon F. Bailey; Harold Bailey, of Hartford, who was spending the week end with his parents at the parsonage, Dwight L. Underwood, Arthur Avery, Elton Odgers, Burton Jopson, Mrs. Ronald Nelson and Miss Minnie Durr.

The adult members of the First Congregational church have been invited to attend the celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of Ever Ready Circle of the King's Daughters. An informal gathering is to be held Wednesday evening, May 6th, at 8 o'clock in the chapel. Mrs. George H. Prior of Jewett City, president of the International Order of the King's Daughters will be present.

The mid-week meeting for conference and prayer, of the Congregational church is to be held Thursday evening at 6:30, (standard time) in the chapel. Subject—Review of Fosdick's Book "The Modern Use of the Bible." Chapter I "The New Approach to the Bible," followed by discussion.

Thank Offering pasteboard containers, to be opened on Homeland Day, bearing the inscription "Share Your Sunshine," were distributed among the women of the Congregational parish Sunday, by Mrs. Sarah W. Chapin, secretary of the Home Missionary society, connected with the church.

At the First Methodist Episcopal church, Sunday morning, a communion service was held which included the celebration of the Lord's Supper and a talk on communion, by the pastor, Rev. James E. Aldrich.

In the evening, instead of the regular sermon, Rev. Mr. Aldrich read a story to the children entitled, A Bible Story on Lions.

Le Roy Miner was the leader of the Young People's Christian Endeavor meeting, when the topic was How Can We Help to Make Home Happy? Eph. 4:29-32; 5:1,2.

Mrs. James B. Aldrich and son Lewis Aldrich, motored to Roxbury, Mass., Saturday and remained over Sunday at the home of Mrs. Aldrich's son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Aldrich.

Dr. and Mrs. Charles H. Lamb had as callers Sunday afternoon, Dr. Lamb's relatives, Mrs. Harriet E. Brainerd and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence J. Gremley, also Mr. Gremley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gremley, all of Mystic.

Broadway Theater

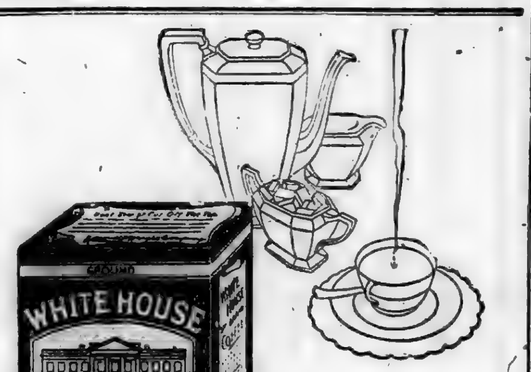
For one of the best vaudeville and picture programs ever presented in Norwich, we advise you not to miss this wonderful opportunity and see a perfect show at the Broadway where it is presented for the last times today. There are nine Keith acts and the photoplay Figuring The Flames on the program. A deep rooted research and an expose of the peculiarities of the modern girl called the "flapper" will be revealed when The Painted Flapper, starring James Kirkwood and Pauline Garon comes to the Broadway theater, beginning tomorrow. The Painted Flapper is an ultra modern story based on the present day American girl, her mode of life, her affairs of the heart and her very thoughts. This photoplay is of topical interest and will undoubtedly cause editorial comment in the local newspapers.

The nucleus of the story is of a flapper who is precipitated into a series of intricate situations wherein she cleverly manouvers her sister out of a distasteful marriage and also extricates herself from a tight corner and saves her honor. The Painted Flapper is portrayed by Pauline Garon and the man from abroad is played by James Kirkwood. Other favorite players in the cast are Claire Adams, Crauford Kent, Maine Garey, Hal Cooley, Al Roscoe and Carleton Griffin.

This photoplay in addition to nine acts will be presented for your delightful approval.



The Flavor is Roasted In!

GOOD coffee!—it is easy to make if you buy White House Coffee with the flavor roasted in.

You see, coffee flavor comes from a delicate essence in the coffee bean, and this essence escapes during roasting unless the roasting is done just right. The producers of White House Coffee have developed a roasting process which preserves this fragrant coffee aroma.

Don't accept a substitute. If you want to serve coffee that is really delicious insist on White House Coffee with the flavor roasted in.

Properties recently disposed of through the Tryon Real Estate Agency of Willimantic, include the following of interest: Gunnar Carlson property of 30 acres in Eastford, to Mathias Ranta, of West Englewood, N. J.; Joseph Boucar property of 96 acres in Atwoodville, to Messrs. Bedard and Bendc of Taftville; Mrs. Ellen Peterson property of 40 acres in North Windham, to Joseph Boucar; 45 acres with pond of Back Road, Windham, to E. A. Paul Wolf, of New York city; the hunting lodge, game and fish preserve on the Morton F. Plant estate in East Lyme, sold for Frank A. Phillips, to Edward Goodwin, of the firm of Goodwin & Beach, Hartford, Prosser and the Fisher property of 50 acres near Gurleyville, to Dr. William L. Cramer, Allyne C. Litchfield, and George U. G. Holman, all of Hartford.

Palace Theatre

"Gosh, Lizzie, there ain't any more chance of getting enough of Paul Specht's music as there is of chewin' all the trinkles outta this gum." I sat in the Palace theatre yesterday and the minute Specht's band started playin' I was so full of goose pimples from the thrill of hearin' 'em that from now on, no drug store sheik will be able to hand me a kick.

"Roy Smeck plays a uke, a sort of guitar's pup, and when he does, I can picture canoes and moonlight and—mind your own business, the parlor's busy! sufferin' cats, my hands are all blistered applaudin'. His fingers travel over a banjo and a Spanish instrument like old Nick and Satan Vitus hisself. Then he plays a mean harmonica and your feet just have to tap.

"There's a swell guy who plays a trombone; his name is Charlie Butterfield. He looks like a fashion plate ad for Arro Collars, but don't let that fool you, dearie; he is some potatoes on that instrument. I'm thinkin' of sendin' him a box of quinine to break up his fever 'cause he was awful hot. I never thought one of those slidin' Kelleys could sound so sweet.

"All in all, every man is an artist, and you should hear 'em play, especially the Original Georgians, who do a feature number. What! You were there too? Why in heaven's name didn't you say so before?"

The band is surrounded by five other great acts, the bill being opened by the Isabella Sisters in a pleasing cycle of instrumental and dance numbers. May and Hill show some dazzling wardrobe and back it up with plenty of comedy and singing. Bowen and Bowen offer a study in physical culture. Weston and Schram offer a nifty line of hoken and song. The Australian LaMerts hand out a snappy line of songs and steps that is something different. The feature picture is The Price of Pleasure.

At the Breed

Douglas Fairbanks' screen sensation, The Thief of Bagdad, will be the attraction at the Breed theater for the remainder of the week. It has been said by the critics in every city where this picture has been shown, that happenings so extraordinary, so amazing, the thought of picturing them had not heretofore been listed among the possibilities. According to all accounts nothing like it has ever been seen; nothing like it has ever been accomplished. Some of the outstanding features of this highly romantic story, cut of the Arabian Nights, are: The Magic Carpet, by the use of which the Thief and the Princess fly over the housetops and away into the land of Romance; The Winged Horse, mounted on which the Thief flies up to and through the clouds; The Cloak of Invisibility, which with weird effect, shields the Thief from human sight; The Flight of a Thousand Steps leading to the Citadel of the Moon. The Spider many times bigger than a man. The Living Dragon of gigantic size. The Cavern of Enchanted Trees. The Wondrous Idol, so great in size that a man can stand upon its chin and barely reach its lips. The Crystal Realm far beneath the floor of the sea, where beautiful sirens abide. The Valley of Fire, the Mountains of Dread Adventure, the Sea of Midnight, and scores of other features that render this glorious fantasy of ancient Bagdad the most enthralling spectacle ever brought to the screen.

There will be two shows daily at 2:15 and 7:30 daylight saving time.

ENDORSING GENERAL WOOD

There may have been times when there was an unwillingness to give much support to the views expressed by Aguinaldo, but such is not the case at the present time, when in speaking to the Philippine veterans of the revolution he urged them to give their support to Governor General Wood.

Aguinaldo clearly showed that he was not an advocate of immediate independence. Further more he demonstrated that he had faith in the administration of Governor General Wood and full confidence in the sincerity of the United States. He displayed this in no uncertain terms when he declared that the islands are not ready for independence but that they will get it when they are prepared to assume the responsibilities that go with it.

Not so much has been heard from the organized effort on the part of certain Philippine leaders for the independence of the islands of late. They have been under fire at home. They have been attacked for being two faced concerning certain legislation and they have been severely criticised for extravagance in expenditures during their mission to this country in behalf of independence.

Aguinaldo has taken just the opposite course to what they have. He recognises that the Philippines are not going to get what they seek through trying to force the issue. They are not going to get it through misrepresentation or through antagonizing a governor general who has the confidence and support of the administration at Washington.

Thus the former Filipino leader must be given credit for the manner in which he views the situation, recognizes the handicaps that are being put upon the islands by the tactics of the independence leaders and grasps the full meaning of the position of this government and its intentions to do the right thing by the Filipino people when the proper time arrives. His words of wisdom and his advice are bound to do more for his people than all the plans for forcibly changing this country's attitude which have developed from other sources. It is an endorsement of General Wood from an important source.

THE POSTAL CHANGES

It makes little difference whether it is a change of laws, traffic regulations or postal rates, it is bound to cause confusion, and especially so among those who get into the habit of respecting established things and who fail to give the proper amount of attention to the changes as and when made.

The new postal rates have now been in effect for several weeks, prior to which there was much publicity concerning the change and the explanation of it in addition to noting when it became effective was carefully and thoroughly given. And yet in spite of the warnings there is still much confusion through failure to affix the right postage under the revised rates.

Just how the change in rates appeals to the country in general as well as the results obtained thereby, will be made the subject of study by a congressional committee, since the rates are not necessarily permanent. They are as yet on probation and established for the purpose of providing the $65,000,000 for the increased pay of the postal employes. They may be found to be unjust, they may not furnish the additional revenue required and through the manner in which they are accepted by the public there is a possibility that there will be such an increase in first class mail that the additional expense of handling it will offset the revenue looked for.

The half cent stamp has created considerable confusion through the failure to properly understand its use. It is not required on first class mail or postcards. The government cards to for one cent as they always have, but the picture and private mailing cards require a two cent stamp. The half cent stamp is employed with a one cent stamp in mailing third class matter, the rate now being one and one half cents for every two ounces of circular or printed matter for which a single one and a half cent stamp can be used or a one cent stamp and a half cent stamp. Those who place a half cent stamp with a two cent stamp on letters are paying a half cent more than is necessary.

THE MOROCCAN TROUBLE

For some time attention has been attracted by the success which the Riff leader has had against the Spanish in Morocco. He has caused them to yield to his campaign and withdraw to coastal points. The good results have caused him to seek other territory to conquer and he has turned south and seriously threatens the Moroccan territory where France is in control and seeks to get possession of Fez.

Whether he realizes it or not Abd-el-Krim faces a different proposition when he tries to dislodge the French from what he did in forcing back the Spanish. The French, under General Lyautey, whose forces number some-[illegible] than 100,000 are not all [illegible] they are well trained and [illegible] have had Morocco following his successful campaign of subjugation.

The Riffians are forcing the Moroccans into the struggle by threatening the destruction of their villages if they do not participate. They are in fact being forced into much the same thing as a holy war, but while the Riffs have been able to reach an understanding with certain of the tribes there appears to be little likelihood that they can persuade the Moroccans in general to participate in an uprising. While that would work to the advantage of the Riffians it is fully understood by the French and determined efforts will be made at suppression before such a development becomes possible.

The situation isn't one that can be disregarded, and the steps taken by the French governor general plainly indicate that there is no intention of taking any such view of it. Satisfaction with French rule and the recognition of the benefits thereunder will work to the advantage of the French forces. Nothing would operate to check the trouble quickly like a crushing defeat. Whether General Lyautey can accomplish this is awaited with interest. Even Abd-el-Krim cannot anticipate as easy a fight against the French as he had against the Spanish.

SMASHING RUM ROW

Though by no means the only one, rum row has been a serious thorn in the side of prohibition enforcement. It has been the product of a studied and determined effort to break down the dry law of this country.

For that reason both the wets and the drys are going to watch with keen interest the new campaign which the dry fleet has launched for putting rum row out of business. It isn't a scheme to force it to shift its base and go elsewhere but to deprive it of customers by making it costly and dangerous for those from shore to try to land a cargo of liquor.

Rum Row has existed for a long time. There have been hundreds and hundreds of gallons of liquor seized from rum runners and yet from the fact that rum row still continues in existence it is evident that it is able to dispose of enough liquor to make the venture profitable. The inference from this is that despite the contraband goods seized there is a sufficient quantity landed to warrant continuance of the smuggling operations.

Confidence apparently prevails among the enforcement authorities. The strengthening of the force and the application of stricter measures indicates a move for greater efficiency and better results. It is a move at one of the weak spots. Results will speak for themselves. More than a year ago General Butler was going to clean up Philadelphia in a fortnight. He is still at it but going strong. Rum row may be discouraged by the new policy, but it will be surprising if it abandons its profitable business until proof is furnished that is more convincing than that of the past. It is such proof that the coast guard is now expected to demonstrate.

TELLING EUROPE

Ambassador Houghton is not a new spokesman for the United States, though he is new at the post at the court of St. James, but it was what he said rather than his newness at the post that brought attention to his address at the Pilgrim dinner in London.

Europe has been going through a most trying ordeal. It has suffered the most serious effect of war and in getting back on to its feet it has turned its attention to this country for financial assistance. Ambassador Houghton had something to say regarding the responsibilities of European nations and the necessity for them to do something for themselves as a matter of future prevention as well as looking to others to help them out of their predicament without facthe need of reform.

This country may have the funds which other countries need, and it may be willing to loan them, but it is not disposed to extend such aid for the purpose of having the deplorable complications that have too long prevailed in Europe continued. If we are going to help it is time for Europe to make a serious effort to get its house in order, to so change the conditions that loans will be employed for permanent national benefit instead of being devoted to the promotion of war or conditions that bid fair to have no other outcome.

It is a significant and pointed statement which the ambassador makes when he says "The full measure of American helpfulness can be obtained only when the American people are assured that the time for the destructive methods and policies has passed and that the time for peaceful upbuilding has come."

There is no escaping the meaning of his words and it is to be hoped that Europe will take them carefully to heart.

THEIR SWEET CALM

"Some day," announced the desperate woman, "the lid is going to blow off. I don't think that I can endure it very much longer.

"Things always wait to happen till some one of my calm relatives is present, placidly knitting or merely sitting with gently folded hands watching me swirl around through the house. They really function better when doing nothing at all, because in that state they are much more able to make all human endeavor seem absolutely futile.

"When George telephones at 6 o'clock after the shops are closed that he is bringing home to dinner the senior partner, who chanced to be going through town, and please have something spiffy, the dinner at the moment cooking consisting of made-over stew, canned corn and what was left of yesterday's pie, due to the fact that I was finishing a dress, they shake their heads at me placidly in reproof. Why shouldn't they? It isn't their trouble.

"There isn't anything on earth easier than remaining calm in the face of a tragedy which does not come within gunshot of yourself! 'Now, Emeline,' says she, whichever one she chances to be at the moment, 'now, dearie, why worry so? Everything will be all right, I am sure. Maybe, he won't be very hungry—or something!

"Or fifteen minutes before the appointed hour when twelve women are to arrive for luncheon the waitress whom I had engaged to serve telephones that she has a toothache and can't come. 'Now, now, Emeline,' says the comforter on hand, 'Just be calm! It'll turn out all right. What difference does it make in the long run? Keep your mind on higher things! It's too bad you left the table for her to set after she got here, isn't it. And she blithely sits down at the piano to while away the time, and I do flip-flops all over the place, burn the chops, sling things onto the table and groan mightily, knowing full well that most of the guests will say on their way home isn't it funny that Emeline never takes any pains with her parties and my dear did you notice that two doilies were put on wrongside out and didn't that salad dressing taste queer to you?

"'Such a sweet nature!' the populace says of these smiling placid pests. 'What a happy face she has and how beautifully and bravely she faces trouble and disappointments!' Yeeow! Why shouldn't she? Some of the rest of us are tearing up the landscape adjusting these same troubles and achieving wrinkles in our harried brows trying to make two and three add up six for her benefit.

"She is the original inventor of the delightful scheme of allowing George to do it, whatever it may be, and she is a marvelous executive because she never in the least degree interferes with our struggles and labors. It'll be all right, something will turn up, how foolish to fuss over mere mundane things—and the absolutely unbearable part of the affair is that the girl is correct—the rest of us make the things happen that reconstruct the situation and swish it onto the main track!

"See, she burbles gently as we mop brows, catch our breath and thank our stars that everything is safe for democracy, see how foolish we were to get all upset and everything! It is such a mistake, she adds, to clutter up our minds with these material things when there is so much of the true and beautiful."

"I've got one like that, too," sympathized the lady with the haggard expression. "Sometimes when she turns her beautiful smile upon me just as the apple pie runs over or the cake burns on one corner and it is for company dessert I could—I could just—"

"I'll say you could!" vindictively breathed the desperate woman with complete understanding.—Chicago News.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE

Miss Martha Berry, one of the recipients of the Roosevelt Medals for distinguished service, is the founder and director of the Berry school in Georgia, which ranks as one of the most effective institutions for practical education in the country. Miss Berry, the daughter of a rich planter living near Rome, Ga., founded the school as a place where the children of the poor mountain families of the neighboring states could work and live and learn as they never had had an opportunity to do before. In twenty years the place has grown from a log cabin to an institution with a big campus, many buildings and a student body of more than 500. Senators, lawyers, bankers, farmers are among its list of graduates. Now there are agricultural colleges in the South modeled after Berry and run by old Berry school boys. Theodore Roosevelt once said: "I believe Miss Berry and those associated with her have been doing one of the greatest practical works of American citizenship and that has been done within this decade."

IN THE DAY'S NEWS

CARLSBAD

Rare cave "pearls," odd ornaments made by nature out of the same sort of oriental alabaster as some of Tutankhamen's vases, and large photographs of the great cavern where they were found, are features of an exhibit of Carlsbad Cavern presented by the National Geographic society to the National Museum.

The exhibit is mounted on the main floor of the museum, Washington, D. C.

The pearls and coraline ornaments were brought back by the National Geographic Society's expedition to Carlsbad Cavern, which was led by Dr. Willis T. Lee. Exploration has established the cavern as one of the most marvelous in the world in its wealth of cave "furniture" and the immensity of its chambers. President Coolidge set it aside as a National monument and the National park service is now developing plans which will make its wonders as easily available to tourists as are the beauties of other American natural wonders; the geysers of Yellowstone, the Grand Canyon, and the redwoods of California.

Typical stalactites, hanging in the same dense inverted forest of sprouts to be found in the cavern, depend in a cluster from the top of the case. Some of these are young and some fairly old. The younger stalactites are ordinarily distinguished by a hollow tube through the center. In the cavern the explorers broke off the end of one of these brittle stalactites and thereupon had a faucet from which they secured drinking water.

The best cave "pearls" are truly spherical. They are gleaming white with a natural gloss. Carlsbad Cavern is the only cave in the United States which is known to have these unique cave products. The largest spherical "pearls" are about an inch in diameter. Still larger "pearls," like the larger pearls of the sea, are misshapen. One in the exhibit is almost as large as a hen's egg.

Care "pearls" are found in pools on the floors of certain chambers of Carlsbad Cavern. These pools are formed by water heavily charged with calcium carbonate dropping from the ceiling. Tiny fragments of stone fall into the pool and the dissolved rock in the water begins to form about these particles. The splash of the drop imparts a slight motion to the "seed pearl" keeping it from being fastened to the cave floor. Miniature Buddhas are inserted into oysters in China to make pearl Buddhas and in a like way cave "pearls" take on the shape of the original nucleus. If it be a length of stalactite there grows a polished rod that looks for all the world like peppermint candy.

The exhibition lodged in the National Museum for the inspection of the capital's thousands of visitors, shows the broad range of the work of water in the cave. Here water has made a war club, again it has woven the flimsiest stone lace. There are a number of pieces that might have come from the famed sea gardens of Bermuda. Agriculture is represented by a yellow limestone "cob of corn."

Some of the cave oddities afford puzzles which have proved too deep for the cave explorers themselves. For example there is the problem of explaining why a stalactite growing regularly downward should suddenly turn at right angles, grow horizontal for a way and then return meekly to Newton's laws of gravitation again by doing another "column right." And why should a stalactite after some years of growth downward, start growing in a cone toward the ceiling? And how can a Gordian knot and a Medusa head be made in stone? No satisfactory scientific explanation has been advanced for these peculiar contortions.

That stalactites and stalagmites, the limestone twins of caves, have rings showing annual growths just like trees, is revealed in cross sections cut, polished and on exhibition. There is a basis, but not with as accurate a measure as found in trees, for calculating the age of the stone icicles, by counting the rings. In these circles are seen another possibility which is being probed, of determining the age of the Pueblo Bonito Indian dwellings excavated by the National Geographic society in the northern part of New Mexico.

By comparing the rings in logs found in old missions with logs in Pueblo Bonito ruins, it was hoped that data could be obtained for fixing the century in which this "apartment house" resounded with the sound of voices. But a gap in the ring measurements thus far prevents final determination. The possibility is seen of finding cave formations with regular growths whose rings would fit with the rings of the trees showing rainy years and dry years and close the gap in Pueblo Bonito chronology.

Stories That Recall Others

He'll Need His Eyes.

The boss had reached the point of exasperation. Every time the door opened it seemed John came in asking for a day off.

So the last time he came in the office with a foot-long countenance. "Boss, can I get off tomorrow?" he asked.

"What is the matter this time?"

"My eyes," he said.

"Well, you better get a good job done. You will need some good ones in looking for a new job."

Mystery in a Leg

Little Robert, age six, and James, age four, who never permitted any unusual thing to pass without seeing and learning all they can about it, have been puzzled for some time by a nearby neighbor who has been so unfortunate as to lose one of his legs. When going to and from work he replaces the lost limb with what the boys call a stick. Evenings, after he is home a short time, he appears with what looks to be two perfectly good legs. This is a serious and still unsolved and much talked of puzzle for the little fellows.

FRENCH PREMIER GETS BUT A SMALL SALARY

To serve as Premier of France is not only difficult but very expensive. The head of the French government receives less than $6,000 a year in salary and since in the last 30 years no French premier has been in office for a longer period than 23 months, none of them has been able to take advantage of the law granting "a life-long pension after six years spent permanently in office." Aristide Briand, who has been premier seven times, lives in a small apartment in Paris and cannot afford to employ a servant. The wife of the janitor does the daily cleaning and when a caller rings Briand's door bell the old statesman opens the door himself, Edward Herriot, who knows that French premiers do not remain long in office, did not resign his position as mayor of Lyons, a position he has held for 20 years. Every Saturday afternoon he went to his home town, 300 miles from Paris and spent Sunday attending to the affairs of that prosperous city.

Largest Dinosaur

Word has just been received of the discovery of the largest fossil dinosaur bones on record by an expedition, under W. E. Cutler of the British museum, which has for the past year been working in the dinosaur beds in Tanganyika, formerly German East Africa. The prize find so far uncovered is a shoulder blade six feet two inches across. The dinosaur beds of Tanganyika were discovered and partly worked by the Germans before the war, and many interesting remains have been found there. There is a close resemblance between the dinosaur fauna of Africa and that of western North America, especially in the case of the Stegosaurs or armored dinosaurs. Even the newly discovered giant has American kin, though this particular dinosaur is represented in American finds only by two limb bones.

POETRY

The Four Winds

Wind of the North,
Wind of the Norland snows,
Wind of the wind-swept skies and sharp, clear stars—
Blow cold and keen across the naked hills
And crisp the lowland pools with crystal disks,
And blur the casement-squares with glittering ice,
But go not near my love.

Wind of the West,
Wind of the few, far clouds,
Wind of the gold and crimson sunset lands—
Blow fresh and pure across the peaks and plains,
And broaden the blue space of the heavens,
And sway the grasses and the mountain pines,
But let my dear one rest.

Wind of the East,
Wind of the sunrise seas,
Wind of the clinging mists and gray, harsh rains—
Blow moist and chill across the wastes of brine,
And shut the sun out, and the moon and the stars,
And lash the boughs against the dripping eaves,
Yet keep thou from my love.

But thou, sweet wind!
Wind of the fragrant south,
Wind from the bowers of jasmine and of rose—
Over magnolia blooms and lilied lakes
And flowering forests come with dewy wings,
And stir the petals at her feet, and kiss The low mound where she lies.

—Charles Henry Luders.

Ferns

Ferns, beautiful ferns,
By the side of the running waters,
Lovely and sweet and fresh,
And the fairest of earth-born daughters;
Under the dreamy shade
Of the forest's mighty branches
Carving their graceful shapes
To the playful winds advances.

Ferns, delicate ferns,
Neighbors of emerald mosses,
Having no thought or care
For worldly attainment or losses,
Children of shadow serene,
Fresh at the heart through the summer
Over the cool springs they lean,
Where the sunbeam is rarely a comer.

Ferns, feathery ferns,
Delicate, slender and frail,
Nursed by the streamlet, whose song
Is music for hillside and vale.
Purity, modesty, grace,
Emblems of these to the mind,
That ever a sunbeam will find.
Loving the quietest place

The first job for which several score of men was assigned was that of excavations at the Roman Richborough castle, near Deal, which work is designed partly to solve the mystery of a great pile of concrete substance within the center of the ruins. Bronze brooches and pins, believed to have been used by the women of those days for fixing up their hair, were unearthed recently, as well as parts of bronze statues, chains and an embossed gold ornament, also probably worn by women. About 60 Roman coins were also dug up by the excavators, among them being a gold piece of the Emperor Arcadius dating from 395 A. D. to 408 A. D.

CENTRAL LABOR UNION SUPPORTS WILLIMANTIC STRIKE

The regular meeting of the Norwich Central Labor union was held Tuesday evening at Carpenter's hall with a large number of delegates present. The regular order of business was carried out and members of a delegation from the Willimantic Textile Workers of America spoke briefly concerning the strike situation in that city.

After the talks by the Willimantic delegates the body unanimously endorsed the strike and the delegates were furnished credentials to enable them to collect funds in and about Norwich.

The union also voted a sum of money for the strikers in Willimantic. President William H. Donohue presided over the meeting which was one of the most interesting held in several months.

WEDDINGS

Bachand—Morin.

Miss Cora Morin, daughter of Mrs. Clara Morin of Mystic, was united in marriage in St. Patrick's church, Mystic, at 9 o'clock Monday morning with Ernest Bachand, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bachand of Jewett City. The high nuptial mass was celebrated by the Rev. P. A. Mooney. Miss Lea Bachard, sister of the groom was bridesmaid. Louis Tavenelle, nephew of the bride, was best man. The bride was attired in white canton crepe trimmed with beads. Her veil was caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore pink silk and carried an arm bouquet of sweet peas. Following the ceremony there was a reception at the home of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Bachand left for New York on a trip which will include visits to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. They will reside in Jewett City.

OBITUARY

Charles Stockman Johnson

(Contributed)

Charles Stockman Johnson, of Montville, died of pneumonia, at St. Louis, Missouri, April 29th.

Mr. Johnson started April 7th, from his home near Uncasville, for Kansas City, Missouri. He was accompanied by his son, Charles Amos Johnson, of New Haven, Conn. Mr. Johnson's health was impaired, due to his advancing age, before he started for Kansas City. When he reached St. Louis, his condition was such that he was unable to go on to his destination. He did not improve at St. Louis and he went to a hospital where he remained until his death. On April 28rd, pneumonia set in and it was the final cause of his death.

Mr. Johnson was born at Uncasville, Conn., May 26, 1840, the sixth of a family of eight children of William G. and Louisia Mathewson Johnson and he was the last to survive of his brothers and sisters. He lived at Uncasville almost continuously until 1893, when he removed to Norwich. About ten years ago he again took up his residence in Montville, near Uncasville.

His education was acquired in the Montville public schools, Dr. Spooner's school at Norwich, and Dr. Fitch's school at South Windham. At sixteen he entered business with his father at Uncasville in the manufacture of dye woods. His father retired in 1870 and the business was taken over by the firm of Johnson & Co., consisting of his brother, Edwin C. Johnson and Charles S. Johnson. The latter conducted the firm of Johnson & Co. until 1886. He was treasurer and manager of The Millstone Granite Co., Millstone, Connecticut, from 1887 to 1892. He was also in the manufacture of extract witch hazel from 1890 to 1913.

April 30, 1862, he married Sarah A. Savage, daughter of Rev. Amos Savage, of Hartford, Conn. They had three children, one who died when a small child, the second son, Edwin C. Johnson 2d, died January 21, 1925. He is survived by one son, Charles Amos Johnson, of New Haven, Conn., and six grandchildren, Charles P. Johnson, Princeton, N. J., Mary A. Johnson, Utica, N. Y., Margaretta C. Johnson, South Manchester, Conn., Olivia Johnson, Princeton, N. J., Frances Louisa Johnson, and Arnold Bern Johnson, of New Haven, Conn.

Mr. Johnson was the last charter member of Oxobozo Masonic lodge, of Montville, to survive, and he was a member of Franklin council of Norwich, and a communicant of Trinity Protestant Episcopal church, Norwich, Conn.

Earl Fielding Quidgeon

Following an illness of about one year the death of Earl Fielding Quidgeon, 22, son of Harriet W. Fielding and John W. Quidgeon of Moheagan occurred early Tuesday morning at his home.

He was born in Mohegan, August 26, 1902, and all of his life had been spent in that town where his Indian ancestors had lived in years gone by. He was a graduate of the public school in Uncasville and later attended Chapman Tech in New London. He was a member of the Mohegan Congregational church and was a young man of pleasant disposition and kindly habits which won for him the admiration and respect of all who knew him. News of his death will be received with regret by his many friends and his family will have their profound sympathy.

Surviving him, besides his parents are four sisters, Mrs. Lillian Strickland of Mohegan, Gladys of the University of Pennsylvania, Winifred, a senior at the Norwich Free Academy; Ruth a student at Williams Memorial Institute, New London, and two brothers, Burrill of Johnsville, N. Y., and Harold of the Coast Guard academy at New London.

FUNERALS

Patrick Gallivan

Funeral services for Patrick Gallivan were held Tuesday morning at 8.30 o'clock from the home of his sister, Mrs. John Hasler of 173 Norwich avenue, Taftville, followed by solemn requiem mass in Sacred Heart church at 9 o'clock. There was a large attendance of relatives and friends, including delegations from the Iron Moulders union and the Fraternal Order of Eagles. The floral forms were numerous and beautiful.

The mass was celebrated by Rev. U. O. Bellerose, rector of Sacred Heart church, assisted by Rev. Henri Chagnon as deacon and Rev. Joseph Deschenes as sub-deacon. Miss Alice Brechette presided at the organ and at the offertory, Joseph O. Tellier sang O Salutaris.

Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery where the committal service was conducted by Rev. Henri Chagnon. Bearers were John E. Shea, John J. Shea of Willimantic, James Murphy, John Winters, John Fitzgerald and John Kelly, the last three named being representatives from the Eagles and the Iron Moulders union.

Arrangements were by Hourigan Brothers.

Miss Josephine Moran

Funeral services for Miss Josephine Moran were held Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock at the parlors of Cummings & Ring on Main street. Rev. Frederick M. Coholan was the officiating clergyman and burial took place in St. Joseph's cemetery.

Miss Moran died in Preston at the age of 45 years and was a resident of Bridgeport.

Shower for Miss Butler.

A miscellaneous shower was held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Eugene Sabourin, 440 Main street, for Miss Mary Butler in view of her approaching marriage to Wilfred Sabourin. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing games and vocal and instrumental music was rendered. About 35 friends were present.

JAIL SENTENCES GIVEN ON FIRST DAY OF COURT IN CRIMINAL CASES

Jail sentences in several cases were given by Judge E. N. Booth when the May term of the criminal superior court opened in New London at 1 o'clock, standard time, Tuesday afternoon. Seventeen persons were put to plea during the afternoon most of them pleading guilty, but the accused in the several manslaughter cases that are on the docket will be put to plea this (Wednesday) morning.

Rev. J. Romeyn Danforth offered prayer at the opening of court and Judge Edwin C. Dickenson occupied a seat next to Judge Booth, during part of the afternoon. State Attorney Arthur M. Brown was in charge of the presentation of the cases and Public Defender Charles L. Stewart appeared for a number of the accused.

The jury is to be summoned in for Thursday morning at 9 o'clock, standard time.

The case of Gabriel C. Berker of this city, accused of embezzlement in connection with the embezzlement of George A. Finn, former treasurer of the aBnkers Trust Co., was brought up by State Attorney Brown, who asked for a continuance "for very good reasons."

This is the first time Berker's case has come up in the superior court since his arrest. He is now out on bonds.

Everett Joslin was given a 30 day jail sentence without costs on the charge of theft of 13 gallons of gasoline from a gas station last Wednesday night in Groton. Attorney Lewis Crandall made a plea for him and it is understood that the jail sentence would be suspended whenever Joslin arranged to move his family out of the county.

Horace Bossie of Montville, pleaded guilty to the charge of theft of 100 yards of cloth, April 10 from the Palmer Bros. mill where he was employed. He has a wife and four children to support, and upon recommendation of State Attorney Brown, Judge Booth fined Bossie $50 flat. The man was unable to understand the charge when read to him in English and Attorney J. Desmond was called in to act as French interpreter.

Three minors, Frank Lepka, Charles McManus and Raymond Goland, pleaded guilty to statutory burglary at a Church street store in New London on Feb. 12, where they secured about $300 worth of cloth. Lepka is a New London boy, Goland had come there from Keene, N. H. and McManus was shown to have a record of commitment by a Massachusetts institution and having violated his parole, McManus was sentenced to the state reformatory at Cheshire, and the other two were given a similar sentence, but suspended by Judge Booth.

Bertram W. Govan of Hartford pleaded guilty to adultery, but Mrs. Pearl Flynn of New Britain, who was presented with him on the same charge pleaded not guilty. Their offense is alleged to have been committed in Norwich, March 2. Public Defender Stewart asked that sentence be deferred in the case of Govan and Attorney Thomas M. Shields, counsel for Mrs. Flynn informed the court that he would be ready for trial of the case this (Wednesday) morning.

Mrs. Minnie La Fontain, 52, of West Swanzea, N. H., and Albert Murphy of the same place, who were arrested in a Norwich rooming house, pleaded guilty to the charge of adultery. States Attorney Brown told the court that the woman has a husband and three children and that her husband is willing to take her back. The state attorney said he would recommend a jail sentence of six months but would not object to probation, under the circumstances. Attorney Thomas M. Shields spoke for the accused and Judge Booth gave them sentences of six months in jail, suspended under probation.

Mrs. Ada Magrey and Henry E. Maynard, both of Voluntown, pleaded guilty to adultery. State Attorney Brown recommended a jail sentence of 60 days for the woman and 6 months for the man, who he said had been leading a wild life though he had good family connections. Attorney Shields succeeded in having sentence deferred until Thursday morning on the plea that the woman wanted to go home and make arrangements for her mother and her children while the man needed the time to collect a lot of tools that he had on jobs where he had been working.

Nicholas Nisota of this city and Mrs. May Etta Pecor, formerly of Mystic, who were arrested because of a raid on a house on Wauwecus hill, Feb. 16, had five counts against them when they were presented, but each pleaded guilty to one count and the others were nolled. Speaking of Mrs. Pecor, State Attorney Brown said she ought to have an additional jail sentence. She was arrested in the raid on the house where she was housekeeper and a man named Kripps was arrested who is now in jail for violation of the liquor law. Of Nisota the state attorney said he has a wife and five children has been operating a poolroom and was the backer of the Wauwecus hill house. He ought to serve a year in jail.

Speaking for Nisota Attorney E. W. Perkins told the judge that the man had a good record for fifteen years while he was running a grocery store, but he then opened a pool room, got into bad associations and got to drinking. The attorney asked for light punishment for Nisota and was seconded in his remarks by Attorney Thomas J. Kelly.

Public Defender Stewart spoke for Mrs. Pecor asking that the sentence be for a short period if she were to be given a jail sentence. — said she had not been living with her husband, Harold L. Pecor of Mystic, for a year now.

Judge Booth remarked that he did not consider this a case for probation and he sentenced Nisota to a year in jail and Mrs. Pecor to three months.

Grace Phelps and Ernest Post of Groton, both of whom are married, were presented on the charge of adultery and both pleaded guilty. Attorney Lubchansky addressed the court on behalf of both the accused, disclosing the unusual circumstances of the case. He said the two people had known each other since childhood and had expected they would be joined in marriage but through some fate each had married another. In the case of Mrs. Phelps it was a very unhappy marriage. The act for which they were presented was committed in 1923 and a child has been born to Mrs. Phelps which is now at Post's mother's in Clinton and he is caring for it. Phelps will have nothing more to do with his wife and has indicated his willingness to sue her for divorce. The attorney said it had been suggested that each of the aggrieved spouses might sue for divorce and two accused people would be married.

Judge Booth made the sentences in line with the recommendation of State Attorney Brown for one year in jail, suspended under probation. The state attorney said he thought the interests of society might perhaps best be taken care of by the suggestion about divorce and marriage.

The case of Newell Vergason, 24, of Norwich, accused of robbery on Jan. 17, since which time he has been in jail, was continued to the September term. Meanwhile he will be under observation at the Norwich state hospital. State Attorney Brown presented a letter from Dr. C. C. Gildersleeve, who had examined the man and given his opinion that he is insane.

Judge Booth gave Cassius Ward Young of Lebanon a jail sentence of two months on the charge of fornication with Jessie Demas. The man pleaded guilty. State Attorney Brown advised the jail sentence, saying that the man had been bound over on the charge of statutory rape, but he had given Young the benefit of the doubt in changing the charge because he was not able to prove the age of the girl.

The case against Anthony Zizarelh of Norwich was nolled on terms by which he paid $100. He was represented by Attorney Thomas J. Kelly. State Attorney Brown told the court the man had been bound over on the charge of aggravated assault but his investigation of the case showed it was a breach of the peace case.

Antonio Harackiewics, alias Antonia Gorrick, of Colchester was presented on the charge of violation of the liquor law, having been brought in on a bench warrant, but her counsel Attorney Cutler of Hartford, presented a plea in bar alleging that before the bench warrant had been issued she had been acquitted in a justice court of the charge on which the warrant was issued. Judge Booth sustained the plea, which quashed the case against the woman.

CAMP TIPPECAN REUNION IS ENTHUSIASTIC EVENT

The Camp Tippecan reunion, held Tuesday evening at Odd Fellows' hall, on Main street, proved a most enjoyable one and was attended by over 50 scouts from Norwich, Taftville, Norwich Town, Jewett City, Plainfield and Willimantic, with six members of the camp committee, Edward A. Harris, Dr. R. R. Agnew, Rev. W. C. Prentiss of Plainfield, Rev. F. C. Williams of Willimantic, Nelson Weymouth, Harry W. Cardwell, L. M. Carpenter of Jewett City, Cecil Butler of Plainfield and Edwin V. Ross.

At 6:30 o'clock a delightful supper was served by the supper committee of Hope Rebekah lodge the menu being as follows: Grape fruit, chicken pie, mashed potatoes, green peas, coffee, lemonade, ice cream and cake.

During the supper Scout Executive F. A. Benton led the scouts in the singing of a number of camp songs and in the yells of the scouts. Piano accompaniment for singing was furnished by Miss Stockdale.

During the evening plans for the 1925 camp were announced. Executive Benton announcing the date of the camp to be from July 6th, to August 3, at the same location as in previous years, Beach Pond. Various members of the camp committee spoke concerning camp plans and stated that the camp would be larger this year and better than ever before, every member of the committee being back of the project 100 per cent.

The staff for Camp Tippecan for 1925 was announced as follows: Scout Executive F. A. Benton, camp director; Rev. F. C. Williams of Willimantic; Victor Davis, Thomas Baldwin, Jr., Harry Jordan, Maine guide; Edward Preston, Jack Houston, Irving Manning and John Jencks, cook. Scoutmasters of troops in the various towns will serve on the camp staff while they are at Beach Pond.

DIES FROM INJURIES UNDER TRUCK WHEELS

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 5—John Bergen, a sailor attached to the United States coast guard and stationed at the state pier local section base No. 4, was fatally injured tonight when he was struck by an automobile owned and operated by Frank E. Smith, 188 Central avenue and thrown beneath a truck owned by the Federal government and operated by William Starwesky, 11 Meridian street, Groton.

Bergen was walking along the highway at the approach of the state highway bridge across the Thames river on his way to the state pier when the automobile came along and struck him throwing him across the highway in front of the truck. Before Starwesky could reduce the speed of the truck the wheels passed over Bergen's body, inflicting injuries of an internal nature which resulted in his death before medical assistance could be summoned. Medical Examiner Charles Kaufman after viewing the remains and making an investigation ordered the body of the victim removed to an undertaking establishment where it is being held for claim by relatives. The state police investigated the accident but did not hold either Smith or Starwesky, it being evident that the fatality was the result of an unavoidable accident.

WOMAN DRIVER WARNED ABOUT FUTURE SPEEDING

The reckless driving case against Mrs. Albina Pavlak of North Main street was taken up for continued hearing in the city court Tuesday morning before Judge Arthur F. Libby. The charge was brought by State Policeman Morse of the Groton barracks. Officer Morse told the court that Mrs. Pavlak had been warned on two previous occasions about speeding by State Police Officer Henry Albright.

Officer Albright testified that he had stopped Mrs. Pavlak on two occasions last summer on the New London road and warned her about speeding. Mrs. Pavlak said that Officer Albright had stopped her last summer, but not for speeding. She alleged that he wanted to make a date with her and two other young women. She denied that he ever warned her about speeding.

Judge Libby warned Mrs. Pavlak about speeding in the future and continued the case for six months.

One man who pleaded not guilty to intoxication was found guilty and fined $7 and costs in default of money to pay his fine he went to jail. A Montville man was also fined for intoxication and went to jail to work out the fine.

LECTURE ON WHISTLER DELIGHTS LOCAL AUDIENCE

An audience of 400 enjoyed a delightful lecture Tuesday evening at Slater hall upon "An Evening with Whistler," given by Royal Cortissoz, art critic of the New York Herald-Tribune, who appeared undtr the auspices of the Norwich Art Students association.

Mr. Cortissoz described Whistler as a man of two natures, one having something of the P. T. Barnum quality and the other the serious artist. His distinguishing characteristic was that he always did what he did because he chose to do it. He was of the historic sort and he adopted originality as a career. The beauty of pure color was born in him, he had charm but not power, and in that respect fell short of being one of the greatest artists who ever lived, although he was a very great artist of whom America can be proud.

Mr. Cortissoz illustrated his lecture with a large number of views to show what he meant by Whistlerisms, beginning with his first landscapes, then figures, later landscapes, and etchings. In his later landscapes he said the artist really discovered himself and the nocturnes stand out as the most valuable things that Whistler did.

The lecturer was accorded spontaneous applause as he concluded which was a genuine tribute to the pleasure which his lecture had given him audience.

BRIDGEPORT MAN FOR GRAND COMMANDER, K. T.

The ninety-eighth annual conclave of the Grand Commandery of Knights Templar of Connecticut opened at Danbury Tuesday morning at ten o'clock, Grand Commander F. Ward De Klyn of Danbury, presiding. Every commandery in the state was represented by one or more commanders or past commanders. About 600 members of the order participated in a parade and banquet last evening as a preliminary to the Grand Commandery session.

At Tues. session Frederick T. Dana, of Providence, R. I., past Grand Commander of Massachusetts and Rhode Island, represented the Grand Encampment of the United States and the Grand Commanderies of several neighboring states were represented.

The reports presented by Grand Commander De Klyn, Grand Secretary Eli C. Birdsey, of Meriden, and Grand Treasurer Guy B. Dolbeare of Norwich, showed the order to be in splendid condition in respect to membership, finance and general activities. The figures presented by the Grand Secretary showed a total membership in the state of 6,341, a net gain of 177. The number of new members admitted during the year was 317. The deaths numbered 105. Costello Lippitt, of Norwich, for many years Grand Treasurer, was among those who died during the year. The vacancy has been filled by Guy. B. Dolbeare, of the same city.

Notable among the achievements of the year was the inauguration in this state of the Knights Templar Educational Fund, for the financial assistance of boys and girls in college.

Angus H. Mackenzie of Bridgeport was elected grand commander at the annual election, which was held at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Samuel M. Williams of New Haven was advanced to the office of deputy grand commander. Other officers elected are: Generalissimo, James P. Mustard of Willimantic; captain general, Milton Elwood of Norwich; senior warden, Clayton W. Bowley of Hartford; junior warden, C. Hadlai Hull of New London; prelate, John L. Scott of Waterbury; recorder, Eli C. Birdsey of Meriden; standard bearer, Frank E. Sands of Meriden; sword bearer, Franklin G. Turner of Middletown; warder, Guy B. Dolbeare of Norwich; inspector, Thomas W. Morgan of Hartford.

ACADEMY CLASHES WITH CHAPMAN TECH TODAY FOR FIRST HONORS IN LEAGUE

With a great deal of enthusiasm and pep the Academy ball team will go down the river to New London this afternoon to engage Chapman Tech in a great battle for the supremacy of the interscholastic league. Thus far, the red and white and the whaling city lads are neck and neck in the race, each team having defeated its opponent in the other previous encounters. Both teams are confident of still holding the top rungs of the ladder tonight, but one is doomed to disappointment as both can't win the game. So, it is with blood in their eye and wicked looking bats in their hand that these two rivals will meet in what is expected to be the greatest struggle of the league.

Chapman Tech, with even its twirler Morris Brown on the slab, is not prophesying a victory as they are not sure of what the team from Norwich heralded as a game fighter will do.

The Academy, on the other hand is a better team than any which has represented the local school for a hundred of years. The thrilling contest with LaSalle last Saturday in which the locals held their own with one of the best teams in Rhode Island has shown the playing of the Academy team to a good advantage.

Smiling Johnny Green, the lad who sent Stonington home with sore arms from trying to hit his fast ball will perhaps be on the mound for the locals. The rest of the lineup will be practically the same as the one that started against La Salle, with Misch catching. Burke 1b, Capt. McGowan 2b, Carroll ss, Chmikoski ss, Jack Heinrichs lf, Lloyd Jarvis, dazzling southpaw, who had La Salle's hearts in their mouths, cf and Busch rf.

AGGIES BATTLE WITH TRINITY THIS AFTERNOON

(Special to the Bulletin)

Storrs, Ct., May 5—A spirited game is promised at Storrs tomorrow when Trinity and the Connecticut Aggies meet on Gardner Dow Field. It will be the fourth game of the season for Dole's men, and Aggie followers are looking for their nine to break into the win column tomorrow. To date, Connecticut has dropped games to Brown and Colby, and tied with Wesleyan. Trinity's record to date has been none too creditable, but as is always the case, a good contest can be expected when Trinity and Connecticut meet.

Coach Dole held no practice for his team today, several of the teams going to Amherst to see the Mass. Aggie-Amherst game. A fast session was held yesterday for his infield of Captain Ahearn, O'Brien, Schofield and Makofski. The fielders and battery men also went through their paces. Wells will start on the mound for the Aggies with Nanfeldt in reserve.

The lineups:

Trinity—Cronin ss, New Holme 3b, Eberle 1b, Meirs rf, Burr cf, Riley lf, Pryor c, Pellett 2b, Mastronade p, Wittaker p, McNiff p.

Connecticut—O'Brien ss, Makofski 1b, Ahearn 3b, Wardle c, Schofield 2b, Seymour lf, Tierman cf, Gilbert rf, Wells p.

YANKEES WIN FROM ATHLETICS AFTER 5 DEFEATS

New York, May 5—The Yankees finally ended their losing streak which had stretched to five straight games when Pennock pitched them to an 8 to 4 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics today. ## DERBY CANDIDATES HAVE SATISFACTORY WORKOUTS

Louisville, Ky., May 5—Derby candidates were full of run today and as a result bleachers were full of gossip, "straight from the feed box."

Questrain, wearing blinkers, pulled up easy after going a mile in 1:41 4-5, well in hand all the way. Frederick Johnson announced that Jockey Breuning would have the mount on his colt in the Derby.

Captain Hal acquired himself satisfactorily in a workout over the Derby distance of a mile and a quarter in 2:07 4-5. His trip was the best shown here by any of the eligibles. His time by quarters was :25, :47, 1:13 2-5, 1:40 2-5, and 2:07 4-5.

Lee O Cotner was given a top speed run for the first three-quarters in 1:13 3-5. It was said unofficially today that the colt would not be sent to Pimlico to run in the preakness next Saturday.

Many of the handicap horses were given stiff breezes today in preparation for the $10,000 Clark handicap, feature race in the opening day card next Saturday.

BULKELEY POUNDS OUT EASY WIN OVER WEAVER

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 5—With every member on the team pasting the ball to all corners of the lot, Bulkeley easily took Weaver High of Hartford into camp for the Orange and Black's eighth consecutive victory at Morgan Park this afternoon. Hits of all descriptions made off the combined offerings of the southpaw slants of Montie and Mooney, the Weaver hurlers, with a triple by Montall in the third followed by a home run in the next inning by "Babe" Booth, were the high lights of the 11 to 3 victory Bulkeley scored over its Capitol City rivals.

Bulkeley was never strowner with the bat than this afternoon and inaugurating the twilight season easily rode to the front on the heavy gunning from the Bulkeley bats. There was nothing to it after the first inning.

It was simply what the final score would be and at what time Montie, the visiting hurler would be obliged to take to the showers. It seems as though the Bulkeley lineup harbors some really dangerous men with the stick, and that they grow more dangerous in each succeeding contest.

Dazzy Parisi, given a three runs lead in the first inning held on to this margin until the first and third innings produced two runs for Weaver and Bulkeley was but a single tally to the good. The most destructive part of the entire campaign came in the third inning when Bulkeley counted four times and it was all over but the shouting.

Weaver scored a run in the very first frame, Parisi was wild and walked McComb and hit Greenbaum the next batter to face him with a pitched ball, which made it two on base with no outs. Piccolo hit to Hutchison at third and Greenbaum was out. An error than counted the opening run of the game. In Bulkeley's half of this inning three runs were pushed across the platter. Barry tripled as a starter on the first ball pitched. Hutchison brought him in with a hit over third and the score was tied at one all. Hits by Gaetano and Booth brought in two more runs and Bulkeley was firmly entrenched in the lead.

Bulkeley had two men on the bases in the next inning but no scoring was made. In the third Montall connected for his only hit of the game a triple to right field with the bases thickly populated. He also reached home on an error. In this frame Weaver scored its second run on a base on balls to Greenbaum and Piccolo's triple to left field. Bulkeley had men on the bases in almost every inning, and counted two more runs in the fourth inning on Sheflott's single and a home run by Booth to deep center field. In the fifth Mansfield came over the plate on errors and later scored again on his triple to left field and Parisi's single to the same spot. All told it was heavy sledding of the rival moundsmen by the Bulkeley clubbers. Several of the hits were wasted and men were left on the bags in several of the frames.

Parisi fanned fifteen men in this afternoon's performance, but was at times inclined to be wild. Booth led in the hitting with a home run and three singles, while Sheflott had three singles and Gaetano and Barry each had two one of the latter's being good for a triple. The score:

RIVERVIEW CLUB PLAYS AT NEW LONDON TONIGHT

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 5—The management of the Standard Oil company has arranged a home and home series to be played with the Riverview baseball club of the State Hospital. The first game of this series will be played at Morgan Park on this (Wednesday) evening, directly after the game which is scheduled to be played between Norwich Free Academy and Chapman Tech. The local nine will play a return engagement with the Riverview nine on May 16.

The addition of Eddie Burns to the lineup of the Socony nine gives the Oilmen one of the strongest lineups in this city. A little shifting in the infield, especially at shortstop, will probably give the Socony nine one of the strongest defense teams locally. Another bad spot which appears in the lineup is center field. But it is expected that gradually these positions will be strengthened by new men and by the time the stronger teams on the Standard Oil schedule are opposed there will be a team equally as strong to meet them.

Most likely the same team will be used again as appeared in the opening contest with the Hartford Colored Stars. Lefty Couillard at first base and captain of the nine; Eddie Burns will play either at second or short stop; Foote at third; McGordy who is at present time holding down the short position berth may be inveigled to take second base and Eddie Burns will be given short to patrol. The outfield will consist of Beany in left, Howard in center and Harran in right field. The pitching department is undecided as yet as to who will go in the box against the strong hospital nine. Bill Johnston, formerly of University of Montana will probably be given the assignment. He twirled the Socony nine to a victory in the opening game. Steve Posick is also on hand and it will be a toss up as to who will twirl.

NURMI IS BARRED FROM FUTURE MEETS

San Francisco, May 5—Merrill Andruss, local secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union, made public today a letter from Frederick Rubien, head of the association, cancelling all public track appearances of Paavo Nurmi, Finn distance runner, until Hugo Quist, manager of Nurmi, accounts for [illegible] recent Drake relays.

Nurmi and Quist are on the way to Boston for a race meet there, but Andruss understands from the letter that Nurmi will not be allowed to compete if the accounting is not made before the date of the meet.

COBB SETS MODERN RECORD FOR TOTAL BASE

St. Louis, May 5—Tying the modern major league record, the veteran Ty Cobb, playing manager of the Detroit Tigers, poled out 3 home runs in today's game with the St. Louis Browns. They were off Pitchers Bush, Van Gilder and Gaston.

Cobb, in smashing out six hits, collected a total of sixteen bases, a new world's record for modern major league baseball. His three homers tied the record for this specialty in modern major league baseball. His other hits were a double and two singles.

The previous record for modern baseball was held by Eddie Gharrity, Washington who ran his total of bases for one game to thirteen, in June, 1913.

The old record, made before the advent of the American League, was held jointly by Bobby Lowe of the Boston Nationals who in 1894 collected four homers and a single, and Ed Delehanty of the Philadelphia Nationals duplicated the stunt in 1896. Each of these players had a total of 17 bases.

The only other major league players who have made three home runs in a single game in the twentieth century are George Kelly of the Giants, Ken Williams of the Browns, Cy Williams of the Phillies and Walter Henline of the Phillies.

TERRIS GETS UNPOPULAR DECISION OVER DUNDEE

New York, May 5—Sid Terris, New York lightweight, outpointed Johnny Dundee, former featherweight champion, tonight in a 12-round bout, the last boxing contest in Old Madison Square Garden.

The decision started an uproar in the ancient structure for the veteran Italian-American had fought brilliantly, a crafty, dodging defense offsetting the extraordinary speed of Terris.

Terris led easily through the first four rounds, his lightning left scoring repeatedly to the head. Then Dundee, hero of 400 ring battles became the vicious antagonist of old plunging from the ropes to attack until Terris preferred the center of the ring to his opponent's charges.

In the twelfth and last round Terris employed a speed that apparently baffled Dundee, but the New York man's blows failed to land.

More than 13,000 persons saw the last battle in an arena which has seen champions made for 25 years.

In the semi-final Eddie Shea of Chicago hammered Jack Snyder of Brooklyn into submission the referee stopping the battle two seconds before the end of the twelfth and final roune.

Shea's victory went as a knockout, for the last minute Snyder dove to the floor continually. Shea weighed 121 1-4, Snyder, 123 1-4.

Jimmy Tranaett of Cleveland, 120 3-4 pounds scored a six-round victory over Nick Quagarelli of New York, 124 1-2.

SECOND INNING SLAUGHTER DEFEATS WASHINGTON, 9 TO 4

BABE RUTH DENIES THAT HE IS OUT OF BASEBALL

New York, May 5—Babe Ruth today went to bat—verbally against a report that he is "through" a major league baseball star.

Propped up by pillows in his bed at the hospital, where for more than three weeks he has been recovering from indigestion and influenza, Ruth declared the statement was "bunk, pure and simple, because I am still at my best."

The home run champion said he felt that he was facing the most trying experience of his life. Being obliged to remain in a bed while the Yankees were losing ball games inflicted on him a greater hardship, he said, than any other misfortune he could visualize.

Ruth declared he had no intention of going to his farm in Sudbury, Mass., to recuperate after leaving the hospital. He admitted losing thirty-five pounds since his removal to the institution.

"As soon as I can work out in the sunshine with the Yankees I'll get back the weight I've lost and you can look for me to hit plenty of homers during the remainder of the season," he concluded.

PONIES WIN EASY GAME FROM PANTHERS

Springfield, Mass., May 5—The Springfield club hit three Worcester pitchers hard in the seventh inning today, scoring eight runs and clinching a 9 to 5 victory. Judd's hitting with men on bases and a back-hand running catch by Leary featured. The score:

| | | | | | | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Worcester | 0 | 1 | 0 | 2 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 2 | —5 |
| Springfield | 0 | 0 | 0 | 0 | 1 | 0 | 8 | 0 | x—9 |

Two base hits Hartnett, Judd, 2; Herrera, Meekin. Three base hit Duckett.

Mrs. Pond Wins Medal

Hartford, May 5—Mrs. Harvey C. Pond Hartford golf club, today won the first of the Connecticut women's golf association's one-day tournaments over the Hartford golf club course with a net of 88. Mrs. C. H. Porter, New Haven state women's golf champion turned in low gross, 96. Close to fifty started and a brisk, chilly wind that blew across the course made playing conditions anything but ideal.

PLANS FOR SUNDAY BASEBALL AT THE FAIRGROUNDS ABANDONED BY W. L. DERBY

There will be no Sunday baseball at the Fairgrounds of big league calibre this season. This was the substance of an announcement made Tuesday by W. L. Berby of Boston, who had, earlier in the season, picked Norwich as a baseball town. Mr. Berby's reason for passing up Norwich is that the big league teams which he hoped to get here this summer are lacking up the guarantee so high that there is no money in it for him. Providence is bidding for the Sunday [illegible] erecting bleachers and putting the grounds into shape for the season. He also had signed up a number of nationally known players and had what would have been a team, of real big league calibre. # Chrysler Alone Gives Chrysler Results

The Sedan

How highly the public prizes Chrysler performance, Chrysler riding qualities, Chrysler economy and Chrysler appearance is abundantly indicated by the car's constantly increasing popularity. The simple fact is that the Chrysler Six—and only the Chrysler—delivers results the public is eager to enjoy.

This is perfectly understandable when you really know the car, what it is like and what it does. It is unlike all other cars. With a touring car weight, ready for the road, of 2875 pounds, the Chrysler Six can be driven in comfort at 60 miles and upwards over rutted roads and cobbled streets.

Two advanced features contribute materially to the greater satisfaction enjoyed by Chrysler owners: a new type of spring mounting with rear springs close to the hubs and parallel to the wheels and the Chrysler-Lockheed hydraulic self-equalizing four-wheel brakes.

Owners will tell you what these typical Chrysler features mean in finer riding qualities and greater security of control. But no accurate conception is really possible unless you ride in the car. We are always eager to give you that opportunity.

ROCKY KANSAS SUSPENDED FOR 60 DAYS BY N. Y. BOARD

New York, May 5—Rocky Kansas, veteran Buffalo lightweight was suspended for sixty days by the New York state athletic commission at its semi-weekly meeting today for fouling Sid Terris of New York in the fifth round of their ten round match at Buffalo on April 27.

At the same time the commission lifted two suspensions. Jock Malone, St. Paul welterweight who appeared against Mickey Walker while the champion was under the ban in New York, was returned to good standing, and the same action was taken in the case of Charlie Carpenter of New York who engaged the light heavyweight titleholder Mike McTigue, while the latter was barred from New York state.

It was announced that Stanislaus Loayza, of Chile, had been substituted for Luis Vicentini of the Argentine as South America's representative in the lightweight championship tournament.

PAN-AMERICAN BOXING TOURNEY OPENS TODAY

Boston, May 5—Amateur boxers of two continents representing five nations, were assembling in Boston tonight for the pan-American tournament here tomorrow night to decide the amateur championships of the western hemisphere. Boxers of the United States arrived in this city one by one. Tonight the entire South American contingent arrived, with boxers from Argentina, Chile and Uruguay. Tomorrow morning a fighting delegation from Canada will reach Boston.

Sixteen fighters of the United States and eight each from Canada and South America will be contenders. Two dominion amateur champions are on the Canadian team. Five of the eight national title holders are on the United States team. Others were unable to compete because of inability to return to Boston on account of business reasons. Their places have been filled with prominent contenders.

HILLIES PROVE TOO STRONG FOR HARTFORD

Pittsfield, Mass., May 5—Pittsfield defeated Hartford here this afternoon 8 to 6. The visitors launched a ninth inning rally that netted two runs but a fine catch by Purcell halted them. The batting of Vanderbach and Comiskey featured. Score:

[illegible] AND [illegible]

New York, May [illegible] Veach and Pitcher Alex Ferguson of the Boston Red Sox were traded today to the New York Yankees in exchange for Ray Francis, southpaw pitcher, and $8,000 in cash.

Ferguson and Veach will join the Yankees in St. Louis Friday, while Francis will report to the Red Sox at Detroit the same day.

Ferguson was once a member of the Yankees but was traded to the Boston club at the close of the 1921 season. Veach is a former member of the Detroit Club. The Yankees agreed to pay the waiver price of $4,000 each for the two players in addition to parting with Francis.

It was also announced by the Yankees that Herman B. Odom, Texas University shortstop has been sent to the New Haven club of the Eastern League on option.

PHILLIES SWAMP GIANTS WITH KNIGHT PITCHING

Philadelphia, May 5—The Phillies swamped the New York Giants today, 13 to 5, Jack Knight holding the league leaders to seven scattered hits. Scott, who started for the Giants, was ineffective after the first inning and was relieved by Wayland Dean in the third who in turn retired in favor of John Wisner after the sixth inning. # NORWICH MAN IN NEW LONDON COURT ON A CHARGE OF NON-SUPPORT

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 6—Charles Alquist, charged in the police court with failure to support his wife and child was represented by Attorney Clayton E. Smith, who demurred to the complaint, in order that he might appeal. Alquist was ordered to pay his wife $8 a week, a sum he had paid her up to a few weeks ago, when payments ceased. Alquist is a resident of Norwich. He is suing for divorce and the disposition of that case is expected to settle the one of non-support.

John Penders and Patrick Reagan were drunk last midnight. They were on Bank street at Howard, where they talked and sat down to take comfort. They were so drunk that Policeman John Sullivan, who came upon them while they discussed matters and things, ordered them to move along and to "go to their homes." In their condition they conceived the order to be an abridgment of their liberties. Then they jostled about till Reagan lurched and went through a plate glass window in the Boston Store. Officer Sullivan called the police patrol wagon and the pair spent the rest of the night in a cell. In explaining this morning in court, Penders sought to establish a test by which a man should be adjudged to be intoxicated. He declared that he had eight or ten whiskies, but was insistent he was not drunk. "A man is not drunk," he declared "while he can move about." This definition was not accepted by the court as proving anything except that the capacity of Penders t osabsorb whiskey was abundant, and he was declared guilty as charged. Judge Prince told Penders that if he could take eight or ten drinks of what is sold for whiskey in these days he was a good one. And John still persisted that he had the capacity. Reagan was not so positive of the number of drinks he had taken, but he believed took five or six. He was lit up when he appeared and pleaded that he was not guilty. The pair was fined $5 each and Patsy paid the bill which amounted to more than $20. An hour after he had settled, he was again found drunk and was arrested.

The Podeszwa and Debrosko families occupy the same house on Hill street. That is equivalent to saying that there is something for the police to look after much of the time. Today Debroskie was arrested for a breach of the peace, in that he opened a door in the Podeszwa house and slammed it against a child of the complainant, producing a bruise on the child's forehead. The case was continued three months and to Probation Officer Mansfield was delegated the task of straightening the affairs of the two families so that the dove of peace would hover over them. Mr. Mansfield expressed the opinion that he could do as requested.

Walter L. Russell has sold a house and lot, Norwood avenue, to Frank Saunders.

The body of Miss Mary E. Hebard, daughter of the late Alfred and Anne Huntington Hebard, former residents of New London, whose death occurred at Miss Hebard's home, Red Oak, Iowa, several days ago, was brought to New London this morning and at 11 o'clock was buried in the family plot in Cedar Grove cemetery. The committal service was conducted by Rev. Edward M. Chapman.

Clarence McArdle, formerly employed by the Union Ba.. and Trust company, who resigned to become a conductor in the Pullman car service, has obtained a clerical position with the Winthrop Trust company.

W. J. Tracey, a war veteran, while bathing at Ocean Beach last summer, dived from the public float and sustained injuries of a serious nature when his head came in contact with a submerged pile that had long been allowed by the city to remain there. He asked the city to compensate him for the injuries he had sustained and to pay his doctor's bills, which amount to $72. The law officer of the city held that the claim could not be recognised as a just one and said the city could not legally pay the claim as such. Now an attorney has put the matter up to the city council and declared that the city is morally bound to grant the compensation asked for. The matter is to go to the director of law again.

The city council gave permission some weeks ago for the establishment of a dining car on Church street at Main. It was agreed then that toilet accommodations were to be put into the car, but the owners have since found that such an arrangement could not be made as anticipated, so they decline to place such connections in the car. Now the question is whether the permit for the location of the car, which is on private land, shall be withdrawn. The matter is a puzzler for the council and the law officer of the city is to give an opinion on the matter. There may be trouble over the permission yet. The question at issue seems to be whether the car can be called a nuisance and whether it is unsanitary. That there is proof of either of these possible contentions is doubted by some of the shrewdest business men in the city, for the subject was discussed before the council took a hand in consideration of the matter. The car is operated by strangers in the city, but the land is owned by the G. C. Avery estate and that estate desires the car to continue there.

New London is to be tagged, the people tagged to their hearts' content, during the next month. Four societies applied to be allowed the use of the streets next month in order that they might tag people to get money. The organizations applying for the permission are, the Visiting Nurses, the Salvation Army, the American Legion, though the latter is to give something—poppies—for what they receive, and the Boy Scouts. The permission asked for has been granted by the city council.

James Verga, 51 Grand street, complained to the police tonight because of the large number of youths who use that section of Jefferson avenue, corner of Grand street, as a ball park. Verga stated that the youths continually batted the ball into his garden and destroyed growing vegetables by trampling upon his planting.

Desk Sergeant Frank Howard, on duty from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight, in nursing an infected hand, the sergeant having injured that member Sunday and since then blood-poisoning has set in. The infection, however, has not caused Sergeant Howard to abandon duty.

Frank Ovington, chief petty officer aboard U. S. S. destroyer Cassin, one of the fleet of rum-chasing craft stationed at this port, and Miss Elsa Lindholm of Grand street were married this evening at 8 o'clock, at the rectory of St. Mary's Star of the Sea church by Rev. Timothy M. Crowley, D. D.

The Commissioner of Motor Vehicles today caused the operators' licenses of Raymond Hurley, 17 Linden street and William Clark, 33 Howard street, to be suspended. Both operators were driving automobiles recently that figured in collisions, the former being fined $25 in the police court for reckless driving.

Armando Montali, 28 East street, reported to the police late this afternoon that while operating his automobile on Howard street, near Pequot avenue, the machine collided with a traffic signal of the blinker type and moved it out of position, but did not damage it.

Mrs. A. M. Golder, 2771 Morris avenue, Bronx, New York, has communicated with the New London police in an endeavor to obtain information as to whether her son, Howard F. Golder, was injured recently in an automobile accident, in or near this city. Mrs. Golder stated that she has knowledge that her son was thrown from an automobile, but she has not been informed as to whether he sustained injury. Golder is stationed at the submarine base and is not suffering from any injuries he may have sustained by being thrown from a machine.

The officials of the Kaybrook Manufacturing company, 158 Garfield avenue, late this afternoon complained to the police that the clubhouse of employes of the company was broken into again last night. The plunder obtained included a set of dumbells and a punching bag. The clubhouse was entered a fortnight ago and among other articles stolen were boxing gloves and a punching bag. It is believed that the entrances to the building were accomplished by youths as the breaks appear to be done by juveniles, rather than by adults.

Ernest J. Robinson of Waterford, today appeared at the police station and claimed a bicycle, which Patrolman Edward Riordan found in the rear of the store, 34 Main street, last Friday night.

Warren S. Spiers, a police officer at East Providence, communicated with the New London authorities this afternoon requesting that a watch be maintained for E. Worsley, alias P. Parroll, who is wanted by the former department for illegally taking an automobile from the state of Rhode Island. The machine Worsley is alleged to have taken is a Nash sedan and bears Rhode Island registration, 50384.

James Chester of 2j Broad street; Mrs. Palmer Carroll, 377 Broad St., Abattio Latican, U. S. S. Coast Guard destroyer Jouett; Mrs. Luke Bowman and infant daughter, 89 Garfield avenue, and Mrs. Meyer Smuchler and infant daughter, Colchester, patients at Lawrence-Memorial hospital, were dismissed today.

Harry Manheimer has returned having spent several days with relatives in New York.

The State Jewelers' association is to convene in New London today for the annual meeting of the association. The session will be called to order at the Hotel Mohican and will occupy the greater part of the day. It is expected that between 200 and 300 members will be in attendance.

Robert B. Holran, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Holran, of Englewood, N. J., and Miss Jane Cassidy, daughter of Mrs. Jane Cassidy of Franklin street, who were married in New York last month, announcement of which was made Sunday, are now on a wedding trip and upon its termination will take up their future residence at 125 Washington Place, New York. Mr. Holran is a graduate from Harvard.

The work of erecting the two-story brick structure on the Goddard site, State Street, leased by the S. S. Kresge company, western chain store proprietors, is being pushed along as rapidly as possible. Tonight a force of laborers was engaged transporting carloads of brick from the yard of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad to the building site, that material will be on hand as rapidly as it is needed by the force of masons.

SOLDIERS ON FORGERY CHARGE HELD FOR HIGHER COURT

(Special to the Bulletin)

New London, May 5—Privates Leo Sheffield and Russell Hereau, Battery K, 11th Co., C. A., stationed at Fort Wright, charged with forgery, were presented in the police court this morning. The two soldiers pleaded guilty and were ordered by Judge E. Victor Prince held for trial before the present term of the criminal superior court. Sheffield and Hereau were unable to furnish a surety on their respective bonds of $1500 and were remanded to jail to await trial.

Sheffield's home is at 110 Gold St., New Britain and Hereau's home is in Seymour. Hereau's father and mother were present when the case of their son was called in court. Sheffield is alleged to have been the real forger in the case while Hereau is an accessory.

Sheffield, who has been in the army but a short time, recently visited at his home and while there he claims to have found several checks, the property of John Cantarae, proprietor of the Capitol theatre. These he brought with him on his return to the reservation at Fishers Island, where he filled in one of the checks for $200 and the other three for $150, each, signing the name of the theatrical man as the maker of the checks. Early last week Sheffield gave the check for $200 to Hereau, who was coming to New London and told Hereau to attempt the negotiation of it at a New London bank. This Hereau did, cashing the check at the Union Bank and Trust company. The check was returned to the bank a few days afterwards as being a forgery.

Having been successful in negotiating the check, Sheffield came to New London last Saturday morning and attempted to cash a second check one of those calling for the payment of $150. When Sheffield presented the check at the paying teller's window of the same bank where Hereau had received the money a week before, Sheffield was detained while the police were summoned. Sergeant John Cavanaugh placed Sheffield under arrest. Hereau was taken into custody by the military authorities and this morning he was delivered to the civil authorities.

State's Attorney Arthur M. Brown ate this afternoon decided to put Sheffield and Hereau on trial at the present term of court and they will be brought before that tribunal tomorrow morning on a bench warrant.

Joseph Caillaux, Finance Minister Of France

Joseph Caillaux, former Premier of France, convicted four years ago of treason, banished, and recently pardoned by the Amnesty Act, who was chosen by Paul Painleve, as Minister of Finance of France. He is called upon to handle the riskiest post in the Cabinet, but undoubtedly will succeed, as he has a reputation as a powerful leader and fighter, whose supporters are still to be found of the old regime.

HOUSE FAVORS SALARY RAISE FOR OFFICERS OF PUTNAM CITY COURT

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Hartford, May 5—Short sessions were held by both House and Senate today. But little business was done beyond the reception and rejection of unimportant bills. The "Wheeler Polution Bill" was reported favorably and was ordered printed and placed on the calendar. It is not expected that it will meet any opposition in the house but amendments may be expected in the Senate.

The bill amending the charter of the city of Putnam that increases the salaries of the city court officials was passed and now goes to the senate. The bill is as follows:

Section 1. Section fifty-eight of an act incorporating the city of Putnam, approved May 1, 1896, is amended to read as follows: The judge of the city court of Putnam shall receive a salary of seven hundred and fifty dollars per annum; the deputy judge, who shall also be clerk of said court, shall receive a salary of four hundred and fifty dollars per annum; the prosecuting attorney shal receive a salary of seven hundred and fifty dollars per annum, and the assistant prosecuting attorney shall receive a salary of fifty dollars per annum and, if he be employed during any one year for a greater number of days than would, at the rate of compensation received by the prosecuting attorney, cause his compensation to amount to more than fifty dolars, he shall be paid by said city at the same rate for each day so employed, such additional sum to be deducted from the salary of the prosecuting attorney.

Sec. 2. This act shall take effect January 1, 1926.

The House

The House assembled this morning at 10:30 with Speaker Darbie in the chair. Prayer was offered by Rev. Arthur F. Lewis, House Chaplain.

Unfavorable reports were received from the committee on state parks and reservations of a bill that provided for acceptance by the state of 25 acres of land adjacent to the state park, known as the "Devils Hop Yard," situated in the town of East Haddam. This land was offered as a gift to the state free of cost, provided that the land should be known as Raymond Park. This would make a change in the name of the state park and the committee did not deem this advisable. Negotiations are under way that might make it possible to have this condition waived.

H. B. 603, introduced by Mr. Manning of Stonington was rejected on the report of the Incorporations committee. The bill provided for the incorporation of Lord's Point in the town of Stonington. Among its provisions was one that the right to vote should be confined to the owners of land situated therein. It was stated that as all the land was owned by one person, it was not a proper act to pass. Theb ill was rejected.

Other bills rejected were H. B. 741 that established a police benefit fund in the town of East Hartford, H. B. 192, that would abate the interest on succession tax due from estate of George W. Hills, deceased; H. B. 199 that provided for exemption of property of blind persons from taxation to the amount of $5,000.

H. B. 777, that provided that in towns where maps are on file the assessors may assess from map and require tax-payer to bring only list of personal property.

H. B. 719, providing for a change in the method of inspection of dairies.

Favorable reports were made on H. B. 661, an act concerning the succession tax law.

H. B. 506, an act amending the charter of the city of Shelton.

H. B. 555, an act that provided for an investigation by the state board of finance of the town deposit fund. An act creating the town court of Plainfield and the much discussed pollution bill. The bill as reported in the one introduced by Representative Wheeler of Stratford as amended by the judiciary committee, an abstract of its provisions appear in another column. H. B. 307 that concerned the powers and duties of the pharmacy commission was on motion of Doctor Higgins recommended to the committee on public health and safety. H. B. 603, concerning gasoline stations was temporarily tabled. All were placed on the calendar for printing.

Motions passed from the calendar were:

Substitute for H. B. 220. An Act incorporating The John and Sylvia Workman Home for the Sick; substitute for H. B. 281. An act amending an act establishing the borough court of Greenwich; substitute for H. B. 234. an act amending the charter of the Greenwich Hospital association; H. B. 356. An act amending an act consolidating the town and city of Middletown; H. B. 747. An act amending the charter of the city of Putnam; substitute for H. B. 902. An act amending an act concerning the manufactere and sale of ice cream; H. B. 936. An act amending the charter of The Fairfield Beach company; substitute for H. B. 734. An act concerning incorporation and Restriction of investments of private banks; substitute for H. B. 2. An act amending the charter of the Scoville Manufacturing company; H. B. 952. An act concerning gasoline stations.

House adjourned at 11.10 to 10.30 Wednesday.

The Senate

The state senate session was considerably delayed in opening today mainly because of conference Labor Commissioner Harry MacKenzie, who was personally interested in the Stamford judgeship contest, had with various senators and also with President Pro Tem. Brainard.

The reappointment of Samuel Young to the Stamford judgship was voted in the house last week but the resolution was defeated in the senate. Mr. Mackenzie is supporting Mr. Young.

The house of representatives passed today from the calendar bill No. 734 concerning restrictions of investments by private bankers. It provides that no private banker shall lend to any corporation of which he is the owner of more than 25 per cent. of the stock any part of his permanent capital or capital stock or the deposits received by him. It also restricts real estate loans to 80 per cent. of appraised value of the real estate.

An unfavorable report was received in the senate from the committee on state parks and reservations on a bill for the investigation and inventory of Connecticut's natural resources, by the state park and forest commissioners the shell fish commissioners and the public utilities commission. The report was accepted and the bill rejected.

The committee on state parks and reservations reported favorably in the senate on a bill appointing the state park and forest commission as overseer of Indians in Litchfield county. The bill was tabled for calendar.

Timmy Saves Her Babies

'Tis not of self a mother things,
'Tis not of self a mother thinks,
—Old Mother Nature.

Mrs. Grouse was not the only one who had made a home in the Green Forest on the other side of the old road. Even before Mrs. Grouse had moved over there Timmy the Flying Squirrel and Mrs. Timmy had chosen to make their home there, and for very much the same reason. They wanted to be where there was likely to be less danger while their family was growing up.

So in an old home of Drummer the Woodpecker, quite high up in a dead tree, they had made their home and there their babies had been born, four of them. How little Mrs. Timmy did love them! She was sure that never in all the Great World had there ever been such wonderful babies before. Being naturally timid you can guess how she worried over those babies. She couldn't bear to leave them even long enough to get food, and always she hurried back sure that something had happened to them while she was away.

She jumped and sailed down on a long slant as only a flying squirrel can sail

But nothing did happen, and the babies grew as is the way with babies of all kinds. And Mrs. Timmy's love for and pride in them grew as is the way with all mothers. It wouldn't be long now before they would be out trying their first jumps in the Great World. How Mrs. Timmy did dread that time! She couldn't bear to think of it.

One evening, just as she black shadows came creeping through the Green Forest, the beginning of the dark time the safe time of timid little people like a Flying Squirrel or a Wood Mouse, Mrs. Timmy poked her head out of the little round doorway of her house, preparing to start out to look for something to eat. Something made her nose and mouth smart and sting. She scrambled out and right away her big, soft eyes began to smart and fill with water. Smoke, choking smarting smoke filled all the air. In the distance, and not such a great distance, there was a red glare. One good look Mrs. Timmy took and then darted into her house.

When she came out a few seconds later Mrs. Timmy had a baby in her mouth, holding him by the skin of the neck as you have seen a mother cat carry her kittens. She jumped and sailed down on a long slant as only a Flying Squirrel can sail. But though she did her best she did not make as long a jump as usual. She couldn't with that precious baby to carry. Along the ground she carried the baby for a short distance, but this was too slow, and climbing another tree she once more jumped.

At last she dropped the baby in an old nest in another hollow tree and hurried back for another baby. The smoke was thicker now and it was harder to breathe. But the little mother thought only of her babies and picking up another she hurried out and made the first long jump. By the time this one was safely in the old nest with the first one she was very tired. The Red Terror was much nearer her home. Never in all her like had she been filled with such fear. But stronger than the fear was mother love, and back she went and got a third baby.

By the time this one was safely with the others the Red Terror was so near her home that it didn't seem possible that she could reach it without being burned to death. But she did. Yes, sir, she did! The last of the babies was in the doorway and without stopping an instant she seized this one and was off again. The heat was so great and she was so tired that it seemed as if she must drop and give up to the Red Terror. But she didn't let go of that precious baby. And so at last she reached the others.

SAVINGS BANK DEPOSITS INCREASING IN STATE

Increasing at the rate of about $3,350,000 a month, deposits in savings banks of the state bid fair to break all records by an increase for the present year of more than $40,000,000. This is indicated in the quarterly reports of these banks made to State Bank Commissioner John B. Bryne, which show aggregate deposit increases of $10,977,203.82 from Jan. 1 to March 31. The total increases for all of 1924 was a little more than $37,325,000.

In addition, savings deposits in trust companies of the state increased $5,193,948.82, while the total assets of these banks were increasing $14,943,978.50 to form total assets of $283,022,099.12. The total assets of savings banks jumped $3,290,563.01 during the quarter to $547,327,340.06.

Indication of Prosperity

This increase in savings is a fairly accurate indication that financial and industrial conditions about the state have materially improved over any similar period last year. Commissioner Bryne said yesterday. He added that he was very well satisfied with the report on conditions of banks.

Deputy Commissioner Lester E. Shippee pointed out that the banks are in a very healthy condition outside of the increase in savings. During the quarter loans on real estate by savings banks amounted to $5,874,437 and yet the banks were able to increase their surplus by $864,147.40. At the same time loans and discounts made by trust companies increased $4,877,129 while these companies were adding $5,994,602 to the funds set aside for savings depositors, in addition to a total of more than $4,000,000 due from the federal reserve.

The savings banks have outstanding loans on real estate aggregating $250,437,026 loans on personal security amounting to $21,821,642, on personal security, $2,239,612 and on notes or orders of towns, cities and districts, $3,229,776. Holdings in United States bonds at the end of the quarter amounted to $47,255,627 and of foreign countries $6,902,575. These latter increased $3,283,149 during the period.

Other Holdings

Other holdings by savings banks were: $2,051,052 in state bonds; $27,836,432 in railroad bonds and stocks; $15,736,813 in public utilities; $1,922,300 in bank stocks and $61,103 in other stocks.

The total deposits amounted to $502,437,228.79 at the end of the three months. Cash in banks and on hand was $11,567,300.

Loans and discounts of trust companies at the end of March amounted to $214,743,477.93. Funds set aside for savings depositors were $98,813,374.45. These banks also showed large increases in loans on collateral securities, indicating ready confidence in market conditions.

WESTERLY

A session of the Westerly probate court was held Tuesday afternoon, but Probate Judge Edward M. Burke did not convene court until after 2:30 o'clock as there was a conference on the estate of Albert C. Lamphere, by Judge Burke, Attorneys Herbert W. Rathbun and John J. Dunn, representing the conflicting interests.

When court convened business was transacted as follows:

Estate of John H Turner. Petition received for probate of the will of the deceased, whose death occurred April 14th, and for the appointment of an administrator with the will annexed. As Charles B. Mason, Richard S. Sweet and Elizabeth W. Mason, all residents of Warren, R. I., were witnesses of the will and not present in court, the will could not be proved, and the petition was continued nisi.

Estate of William D. Hoxie. Inventory of the estate, showing $2,065,015.06, was received, allowed and ordered recorded.

Estate of Joseph W. Gaffney. Petition of Julia E. Gaffney, mother of the deceased, died April 22, 1925, intestate, that she be appointed administratrix was received. There being no objection, she was appointed administratrix, with bond $8,000 with surety. Charles L. Fontana was named as appraiser.

Estate of Albert C. Lamphere. Attorney Herbert W. Rathbun, representing the daughter, Mrs. Nick Mooney, and the son's wife, stated that on the accounts contested two or three sessions ago, there was withdrawn all further opposition. The final account was then received, allowed and ordered recorded.

Estate of John Dodds. Petition of Thomas R. Platt, who on April 21st, was appointed a co-administrator with Alexander Lowry on the estate of the deceased who died March 28th, that he be discharged was received, stating that he declined such appointment. Declination of Thomas R. Platt to serve as co-administrator was accepted. Letters of administration were ordered issued to Alexander Lowry as sole administrator. Bond of $2,000 was named with surety. Robert Duff was appointed appraisal.

Estate of Hannah Wissing. Petition of Mary M. Plant, a sister, and Henry C. Nesbitt was received, praying that the Industrial Trust company be appointed administer of the estate of the deceased who died April 21, 1925, intestate, with the waiving of notice. Industrial Trust company was appointed administrator. Bond named of $12,000 without surety. Thomas Perry was appointed appraiser.

Estate of Albert H. Spicer. Inventory received, allowed and ordered recorded.

A conference was held on the unclosed estates of Theodore T. Picard and Mary Picard, his wife, between the legatees, Frank J. Picard and Theodore D. Picard, with the court and Thomas Perry, trust officer of the Washington Trust company, when progress was reported in the matter of an eventual agreement.

Recorded in the office of the Westerly town clerk for May have been: May 1, Oscar Voss to Vincenzo Cervidio and wife a parcel of land on the south side of Oak street, Frances M. Guilliane to Carmine Antonio et ux a lot of land with buildings and improvements on the east side of High street. May 4, Mariangelo Generelle to Carmine Speaate et ux a parcel of land with buildings and improvements on the west side of Pierce street. May 5, Arthur L., and Thomas Perry to Madeleine H. Peterson, of Pittsfield, Berkshire county, Mass., quit claim and warantee deeds to land at Pleasant View beach.

Consideration of the Westerly Trial calendar was given for the second day in the April term of superior court for Washington county, Westerly, Tuesday morning before Judge Edward W. Blodgett. On the civil docket the case of May de Simone vs. Patsy DePlacito, alias, an action in trespass for assault and battery, was taken up.

The jury was empaneled as follows: John H. Williams, grocer, foreman; Raymond A. Spargo, agriculturalist; Charles D. Morrison, store manager; all of Westerly; Elisha M. Taylor, auto mechanic; Charles E. Clarke, merchant; Charles F. Potter, contractor; of South Kingstown; William E. Dickens, mill operative; James B. Barber, clerk; North Kingstown; William Burgess, laborer; William Clarke, teamster, Frank E. Budlick, farmer; Hopkinton, and John R. Champlin, fisherman of Narragansett.

As this trial, the spare jurors were excused to report Wednesday morning at 10:45 o'clock at the courthouse.

Attorney John J. Dunn, for the plaintiff told the court that Mrs. May de Simone, who resided at No. 53 on the north side of John street, was in her kitchen on the morning of June 3, 1924, when she heard her daughter calling for her and saw her pursued by the defendant. She claimed that on going out in her yard DePlacito seized her by the throat, scratched her face and shook her. Damages were claimed in the sum of $500.

Attorney John F. Gallagher, for the defendant, asked that all witnesses in the case, for both sides, be excluded from the court room and they were held in an adjoining jury room.

Mrs. May de Simone, the plaintiff, was the first witness on the stand and John P. Tuscano was sworn in as interpreter. The witness identified the respondend and said that he resided at 40 John street, on the opposite side from her home.

On the morning in question DePlacito's cow had strayed onto the de Simone land and her daughter, Margaret, had started after the cow with a stick, when the defendant came after herself when she told him "Get your cows out of here!" He shook her and said "I'd like to kill you," called her vile names, and said "he would let his cows go where he wanted to." As a result of the encounter her eyes were blackened, she said, her face and neck scratched, so that she had to go to Dr. Ruisi.

Other witnesses who testified were Rafaele de Simone, husband of the plaintiff, Margaret, her daughter, Antonio Altomari, Dr. John E. Ruisi and Thomas Saddow for the plaintiff; and for the defendant, Patsy DePlacito, Mary Bekizuk and Katie Wusik.

The afternoon session of the court was delayed by the attendance of Attorney John Dunn upon a session of the Westerly probate court.

By adjournment time Tuesday both the defendant and the plaintiff's attorneys had made their pleas. This (Wednesday) morning Judge Blodgett will charge the jury and they will retire to consider the case.

It is also expected that trial of the attorney general's docket will be resumed this (Wednesday) morning, with Indictments No. 380, State vs. Harold Sunman and Henry Trudell and No. 382 State vs. Sunman and Fred Kettell, followed by Indictment No 370, State vs. Frank Terranova, for an alleged assault with a dangerous weapon, in which the state will be represented by Assistant Attorney General Louis Jackvony of Providence.

Official visitation was made Tuesday evening to Franklin lodge, No. 20, F. and A. M., of Westerly at the Masonic room on High street by Right Worshipful Augustus F. Rose, district deputy grand master of the Sixth Masonic district and suite as follows: W., William H. Sanford, Jr., grand lecturer; W., Arthur S. Barber, grand marshal, the masters and wardens of the several lodges of whom he has charge, Washington lodge, No. 5, Wickford; King Solomon lodge, No. 11, E. Greenwich; Charity lodge, No. 23, Hope Valley and Hope lodge, No. 25, Wakefield.

The work of Master Mason was done by the following officers: W., Fred N. Robinson, master; Clarence A. Vars, senior warden; Raymond H. Hiscox, junior warden; W., Albert E. Barber, secretary; R. W., Albert H. Spicer, treasurer; W., Albert H. Spicer, Jr., assistant treasurer; W., Harry L. Bolles, chaplain; Lewis R. Greene, senior deacon; J. Albert Pawson, junior deacon; Fred G. Kennedy, senior steward; James P. Campbell, junior Steward; W., George E. Broughton, marshal; Wm. Harry Anderson, sentinel; W. Porter Hoxie, musical director; William A. Stillwell, tyler.

The May meeting of the Westerly chamber of commerce was not very well attended in the council chambers of the Westerly town hall Monday evening. A report of the Rhode Island Shore Development company showed 250 or more inquiries as a result of advertising in most of the important newspapers and several magazines, 15 or 20 replies being received each day.

From the Pawcatuck board of trade was received a letter, seeking cooperation in having the telegraph office of the Western Union company opened for 24 hours a day. Discussions followed over the present arrangement, it being the general belief that the office coul dbe kept open at least 16 hours out of the 24. It was voted to co-operate with the Pawcatuck board of trade in requesting the Western Union to be kept open longer hours.

For the clean-up campaign, Farquhar Smith was named a committee with powers to name his assistants. It was also voted to ask the Pawcatuck board to assist in its side of the river by naming a committee.

Lorillard D. Spencer, chairman of the landing places for commercial airplanes, asked the Westerly chamber in a letter to secure if possible a suitable landing place, saying that Watch Hill was on a line of one of the airways. It was voted to reply, asking advice as to the requirements for such a field. Saunders Field at Pleasant View and the Fort Mansfield parade grounds were mentioned as suitable sites.

For the annual banquet usually held at Watch Hill arrangements were left to the reception or entertainment committee and it was voted to request the Pawcatuck board of trade to meet with the Westerly board.

The funeral of Mrs. Julia Day McKenna, wife of Prosecuting Attorney George R. McKenna of the town of Stonington, was held at 8.30 o'clock Tuesday morning from the family home, 8 Moss street. At St. Michael's church at 9 o'clock, requiem high mass was celebrated by Rev. John J. Keane. Following final absolution Leo Higgins sang Passing Out of the Shadows. Burial was in St. Michael's old cemetery, where Rev. Father Keane read the committal prayers.

The bearers were Andrew Fallon, John Murphy, James McKnight, James Burke, George R. McKenna and Chas. Purtill.

Battery E, 243rd Rhode Island Coast Artillery corps, more than fifty in all, in command of Capt. John F. Datson, were present Monday evening at the annual drill and governor's review in the Cranston street armory, Providence. The local delegation, which included several relatives and friends of the enlisted men, left for Providence on the 6.36 train and returned on the train leaving Providence at 12.01 a. m. and due here at 12.53.

In addition to drilling with other companies of the 243rd regiment and passing in review before Governor Aram J. Pothier and his staff, Battery E gave an exhibition of soldiers at play. The program included dancing and a brief concert by the Coast Artillery band.

F. J. Swanson returned to his home in New York Monday afternoon after a short visit at his summer home at Shelter Harbor, near Haversham.

Paul Hammond of Stonington is substituting at the Westerly freight office during the absence of Louis B. Collins.

Mrs. Mary Crafts of Providence is at her cottage at Pleasant View to remain until June 1st.

Mr. and Mrs. E. N. Reynolds and sons, Raymond and Roy, who are on their way north by automobile from Orlando, Fla., are expected to arrive at their Pleasant View cottage at the end of the week.

The work of laying the grout for the Canal street front foundation of the United Theatres building was begun Monday by workmen in the employ of Samuel Nardone. Excavation into the bank on the south side of the Dr. May property had so undermined the earth on that side that it was necessary to shore it up to prevent caving.

Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Barrett of Hartford are at their summer cottage at Pleasant View and will pass the week there.

The past week in Providence, Charles E. Stewart, formerly of North Stonington, conveyed by deed to his son, Evans Stewart, all interest in undivided one-half of tract of land and buildings on the southerly side of Cyr street and undivided one-half of tract and buildings in Providence and Cranston on the northerly side of Montgomery avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Phillipp have arrived at Pleasant View from Clearwatre, Fla., by automobile to pass the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Stanton arrived by automobile at their Westerly home Monday from Daytona, Fla., where they have passed the winter, stopping at resorts in North Carolina, Virginia, Maryland and Pennsylvania on the return north.

Plant Game Preserve Sold

The hunting lodge game and fish reserve on the Morton F. Plant estate in East Lyme has been sold by Frank A. Phillips of Willimantic to Edward S. Goodwin of the firm of Goodwin, Beach & Co., of Hartford. The property comprises several hundred acres of land situated on both sides of the new cement highway to New Haven. It was developed at considerable expense by the late steamship magnate.

Sterling Club Week

This is the kind of offer you have been waiting for if you have been struggling with a dusty, gassy, extravagant heating plant. It's time to get rid of the old troublesome and expensive contraption and install a modern Sterling Heating System which will mean years of economical, healthful and efficient service.

What This Club Offer Means to You

You have to pay only a small membership fee to join the Club. We will make the correct Sterling installation during the summer. In the fall there is always a rush for heating work. Frankly we can't do our best work then. Get yours done now.

Meet Mr.

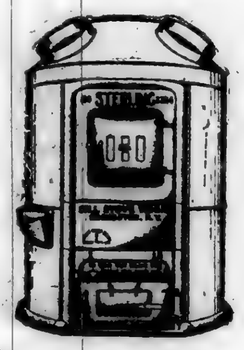
ALFRED E. CHAPUT

Direct from the factory. Not every one who does furnace work has been properly trained. Many men make it a side-line and arrive at all their conclusions by guesswork. He understands how to figure the heat loss from each room in your home. That enables him to determine the proper size of furnace to use. Come in and get his advice. No charge; no obligation.

You pay no more money until September 1 st. Then make your first payment. After that, one year to pay. You have a great deal to win by joining this Club. You get highest class work, deferred payments, and a lifetime of home heating satisfaction. The whole cost is just the same as if you waited until fall.

You have heard of the Sterling Furnace and its Double Guarantee Bond signed by the makers and ourselves. When we say "a Club Sale on Sterling Furnaces" it is time for action. If you plan new heat for next winter, you should act now.

We invite consideration of our claims. You will prove them by investigation.



Here are some of the features which make the Sterling high class heating equipment:

1. Heavy two-piece firepot.
2. Large straight sided combustion chamber.
3. Dust-tight square back ashpit.
4. Sterling triangular cutting grates—shaker bar on outside.
5. Gas-tight cup joints.
6. Two-way radiator. Same depth as combustion chamber.
7. Correctly proportioned air spaces.
8. Extra large air moistener.
9. Positive draft control.
10. Copper bearing steel.

This is the chance of a lifetime to install a warm air heating system that will assure you "Summer comfort in Winter" for years to come.

Over Night That Sore Inflamed Throat Gets Better

Why bother with slow acting remedies that may and may not help your raw sore throat, when two or three gargles with Kojene before you go to bed at night will reduce the inflammation, destroy any and every germ and cause the soreness to go before morning.

If by any mishap Kojene doesn't do this Lee & Osgood Co., or any progressive druggist anywhere will gladly return the 60 cents you pay for a six ounce bottle.

Read the directions for sore throat as Kojene, the world's most powerful antiseptic, should be diluted to obtain quick results. Kojene is non-poisonous—you can drink it if you want to.

Ride on GENUINE LOW AIR PRESSURE

If you can cut down the air pressure in your balloon tires it will add just that much more to their cushioning effect.

Maybe you can't do this safely with your present make of balloon tires.

But you can with the new U. S. "Royal low pressure Balloons—

Because—

These tires have the new U. S. "Low-Pressure Tread." This tread gives a much greater area of road contact than a round tread.

It distributes the load evenly over the tread surface and reduces the weight on the individual tread blocks. This does away with early, uneven and disfiguring tread wear.

U. S. Royal Balloon gives long service even at lower air pressures than have been recommended in the past.

For in addition to this new Low-Pressure tread they are built of Latex-Treated Web Cord. The only cord construction in which the cords are webbed together with pure rubber latex. This gives maximum strength and maximum flexibility.

Don't compromise on balloon tire pressures any longer.

Ride on genuine low pressure.

It will surprise you to know what a difference it makes.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

MARKET STRONG AND ACTIVE

New York, May 6—Stock prices developed an unexpected burst of strength and activity on buying influences by reports of stiffer pig iron and mid-continent gasoline prices, continuance of easy money rates and the establishment of new high records for the year by the British, Norwegian and Danish exchanges. Speculative interest centered largely in the rails, oils, motors and public utilities, several of which attained new peak prices for 1925.

Revival of activity in the oil shares was based on publication of a government report showing gasoline consumption in March to be the highest of any month on record. Shares of companies operating in the mid-continent and California fields made the best showing. Atlantic refining moving up 8 1-4 points to 108 1-2 while the Pan-American issues, independent Oil and Gas, Marland, Colorado Fuel, Pacific Oil, Skelly and Shell Union preferred moved up a point or so.

Fresh weakness cropped out in the American Woolen issues on rumors that the preferred dividend was in danger, the common falling back two points to 86 and the preferred breaking nearly six points to a new low at 70 1-4. Butte and Superior sagged 3 1-2 points to a new low at 6 1-2, as compared with a high of 24 1-4 a few months ago. Heavy profit taking in American Can resulted in a net loss of more than one point on the day at 132.

Public Utilities continued to present several points of outstanding strength. Virginia railway and power continued its remarkable advance by soaring 6 1-4 points to a new top at 113 1-4, and then sagging to 113. New maximum prices for the year also were established by Consolidated gas, Brooklyn Union Gas, American Telephone, Federal Light and Traction, North American company, Electric Power and Light certificates, Montana Power and Utah securities, the last named closing 3 1-4 points higher at 109 1-4.

Stocks in which favorable dividend developments are believed to be pending continued the favorites in the rail group.

Southern Railway touched a new top at 96 3-4, Frisco common at 79, Gulf Mobile and Northern common at 32 and Seaboard Air Line common and preferred at 30 1-4 and 46 1-4, respectively.

Steel shares pointed upward but buying was restricted by the expectation of another large degrease in the April unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation which will be made public on Saturday. United States Steel common closed 5-8 higher at 115 1-2, while Gulf States, Republic and Lundhum showed net advances of a point or more.

Mack trucks featured the automotive issues by attaining a record top at 153 but it fell back later to 150 1-4 for a net loss of nearly one point on the day. Maxwell "B" was lifted to a new top at 21 but slipped back to 20 1-2, up 1 1-4, on profit taking. Dodge preferred closed 1 1-2 points higher at 100 1-2, on active short covering. Some of the other outstanding strong spots included American Brake Shoe, American Car and Foundry, American Foreign Power, Associated Dry Goods, Central Leather preferred, Cushman Bakery, Freeport Texas, Montana Power, National Cloak and Suit, Pullman, United Cigar and Ward Baking B, all up 2 to 4 points.

Call money renewed at 3 3-4 per cent. and then dropped to 3 1-2. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged.

Demand sterling touched a new high at 4.85 1-4, which brings it above the so-called "gold point." Norwegian and Danish kroner each advanced 15 points to new peak quotations at 17.01 and 18.91 cents respectively, but lost part of their gains no profit taking. French francs ruled steady around 5.23 1-2 cents.

GREENEVILLE

The Community workers held a special meeting with their president, Mrs. Charles F. Sears of Prospect street, on Friday, May 1st. The ladies met to make and fill May baskets and as a result of the afternoon's work, twenty May baskets were distributed to the sick and shut-in friends of the society. Their regular May meeting will be held with Mrs. Harry Boyden of Prospect street.

Hugh Blackledge, who has been spending the winter with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Blackledge, of Prospect street, has left town for an indefinite stay with his daughter, Mrs. Grant Foster of Cambridge, Mass.

Rev. Archie Taylor of Texas, who has been a student at Yale university the past year, and has acted as supply pastor, at the Third Baptist church since last November, concluded his services there on Sunday evening. A purse of money was presented to him at this service as a token of esteem by the members of the church and congregation, the presentation speech being made by Henry Sebastian. On next Sunday, May 10th, George R. Ferguson, who supplied the church as pastor for nearly two years will again take up the pastorate for the summer months. Mr. Ferguson is a student at the Southern Baptist Theological seminary and expects to return there again in the fall for his second year's course. The church is very glad to report that they sent over $600 to the Missionary board this past year, which was almost the total sum of their apportionment. Special exercises will be held in the Sunday school on next Sunday in honor of Mother's Day.

Mrs. George A. Howard of Central avenue, entertained Rev. Archie Taylor and Mr. Barker of New Haven, for the week end.

Miss Grace Sullivan of Nashua, N. H., has returned to her home, after a few days' visit with her aunt, Mrs. Jeremiah D. Shea.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haydon and family were the guests of relatives in Killingly on Sunday.

TAFTVILLE

A birthday party was held at 4 o'clock Friday afternoon in honor of the seventh birthday of Miss Mae Krodel, at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Krodel of 14 North B street. The rooms were prettily decorated with red, white and blue, and there were streamers from the center of the ceiling to each plate. Miss Mae received many gifts. Games were played and refreshments of sandwiches, cake cookies, fruit salad, oranges, apples, bananas and punch were served. Those who attended were Marjorie McNally, Edith Adams, Alva Davis, Fidelis Krodel, Mae Krodel, Mahlon Wood, George Barlow, Leonard Pingree, John Hodkinson, Everett Davis, Raymond Krodel.

While shifting gears on Post Office hill, Friday noon, a coupe with a Rhode Island registration lost its rear left wheel. The car had to be stopped in the middle of the road, and remain there until assistance could be obtained from a nearby garage, when it was towed away to undergo repairs.

On Friday evening at the Army and Navy club, the Taftville field day association will hold their meeting to decide whether another great celebration is to be held on July 4th, or whether it will be delayed until Labor Day, in conjunction with Pioneers day, which comes to Taftville this year. All societies and clubs in the village are expected to attend this meeting.

Postmaster and Mrs. Dennis C. Murphy have received word from their son Dennis Murphy, Jr., popularly known as Denny Murphy, star of the Vernon, Cal., baseball club, that he met with an accident on April 25th. While sliding home during a game at Seattle, Washington, his spike struck some hard ground and as a result he fractured four bones of his left foot.

Lewis A. Tillinghast of North Third avenue vacated his tenement Tuesday and left town, after a residence of almost 53 years to make his home with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Taylor and family of New Haven, and his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. George Courtland Tillinghast of Nyack, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peltier have returned from their wedding trip and are at their home in the village.

The regular meeting of the Community Sewing class was held Monday evening in the Red Cross rooms in the Ponemah building.

Thomas Hogle of Boston, Mass., is the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Hoyle of South B street.

The Thimble club met Tuesday evening with Mrs. George Muddeman of South Second avenue.

Fred Ray, who was recently taken suddenly ill and is a patient at the William W. Backus hospital, gave up his house on South C street Monday, and upon his discharge from the hospital, will make his home with his son, Earl Ray of Occum.

Mrs. O. G. Charron of Plainfield has been a recent visitor at the home of friends in town.

Robert Brown, a former resident of this village was in town Tuesday calling on old friends. Mr. Brown is now a resident of Springfield, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Routhier of Norwich avenue have gone to Canada where they expect to spend several weeks.

A Chevrolet touring car collided with the curb on Norwich avenue, in front of the No. 2 mill of the Ponemah Co. Tuesday afternoon. One back wheel was slightly damaged, but the machine was able to get away under its own power.

CLEAN-UP AND PAINT-UP WEEK IS INAUGURATED ON WEST SIDE

The West Side Community Association inaugurated clean-up and paint-up week Tuesday evening with a parade followed by a mass meeting at the Elizabeth Street school house with addresses on civic improvements by Rabbi Joseph N. Rosenberg and James C. Macpherson. The clean-up parade formed on Asylum street at the corner of West Main street and with Paul A. Brown, president of the association, leading, the line of 75 marchers started about 7 o'clock. The line of march was from the corner of West Main and Asylum street, through Mechanic street, to High street, down High street to West Main street, up West Main street to Mt. Pleasant street and to the Elizabeth Street school.

Following Mr. Brown were the color bearers, with a drum corps. Then came a dozen women in aprons carrying brooms and behind them about a score of boys carrying "clean-up" signs. Then came the paint brigade, a dozen men in overalls carrying paint cans and brushes, another group of boys carrying signs, and lastly, a dozen men with wheelbarrows.

Arriving at the school house the paraders marched into the school building where a mass meeting was held. Preceding the meeting there was a half hour concert by the West End Community orchestra, featuring patriotic airs and concluding with the Star Spangled Banner in which all joined in singing.

Business Meeting Held.

With President Paul A. Brown in the chair, the business meeting was called to order about 8 o'clock. Secretary Frank I. Royce read the minutes of the previous meeting. Eight new members were admitted to membership in the association. President Brown announced that the appropriation for the new West Side fire station will come up at the city meeting next month and urged that the association be well represented at the meeting to urge the passage of the appropriation.

President Brown also announced that the new recreation field is open for the use of the children if they care to play there. Work on the baseball diamond and the tennis court will be started within a few days. Mr. Parsons made a report of progress for the police protection committee of which he is chairman. The nuisance committee requested that its name be changed to some name more attractive. The meeting voted that a suitable sign be erected at the new recreation grounds and a motion was adopted to the effect that the secretary report to the authorities that the "Rose of New England" sign at the city limits on the West Side has been down for some time.

For Fourth of July.

President Brown announced that plans are already under way for the Fourth of July celebration. It is hoped to make the celebration bigger and better this year than it was last year. "We want to put on some features this year that we didn't have last year," said Mr. Brown.

Mrs. Morris B. Bergstresser made a report on the recent rummage sale held under the auspices of the association. She reported that the sale had netted a profit of about $30.

Sidewalk Prizes.

Mr. Brown called attention to the fact that the sum of $50 in prizes is offered for the first new sidewalk laid on the West Side after May 9th. A food sale was suggested as one means of raising money for the prizes and Mrs. C. E. Carpenter was named chairman of the committee in charge of a food sale to be held for this purpose. This concluded the business part of the meeting and was followed by a selection by the community orchestra. With Roderick Sullivan leading there was a brief programme of community singing.

Clean-Up Talks.

President Brown then spoke of the clean-up and paint-up movement and introduced as the first speaker of the evening Rabbi Joseph N. Rosenberg. Rabbi Rosenberg spoke very briefly on the topic of cleanliness. There is an old saying, Cleanliness is next to godliness, said the rabbi. Cleanliness is a symbol of health, he said. It is the most important thing for any nation to keep up. I congratulate you on the spirit you are showing and on the excellent work you are doing, said Rabbi Rosenberg.

James C. Macpherson, the final speaker of the evening, heartily congratulated the association on its splendid work. Referring to the clean-up and paint-up movement, Mr. Macpherson said it was the most comprehensive effort he has ever seen in Norwich. I congratulate you most heartily.

With reference to the new sidewalks, Mr. Macpherson said the taxpayer should be willing to put in new walks, as they increase the value of his property. Unless you get united effort for improvements you are going to find there is a gradual dropping down in property values, said Mr. Macpherson. The speaker then went on to say a few words in behalf of the local zoning bill now before the state legislature. Few realized the importance of the zoning system, he said. It prevents invasion of residential districts by manufacturing concerns of an objectional nature. A zoning committee could establish building lines so there would be uniformity in building alignments on the streets of the city. Let us aim for improved conditions in this beautiful city of ours, urged Mr. Macpherson. The speaker urged the replacing of all trees removed as one means of beautifying the city. He said he was greatly interested in the West Side Community Association because it is a real community movement. He expressed the belief that if the members of the association will follow their projects with persistence and seek to support all civic movements they will feel that they have done a real civic duty.

Touching on the parking situation in Norwich Mr. Macpherson said that the matter of automobile parking space is a very important project facing the city just now. He said that Hollyhock Island and the battleground might be utilized by the city as parking places under proper police supervision. Mr. Macpherson advocated direction signs in all sections of the city for the benefit of the visiting motorist. Norwich is a little behind the times in this matter, he said.

The speaker also made reference to the rejected city charter as one of the most important projects that has come before Norwich in 25 years. He said that if there is a blunder in our city government that blunder is the city meeting. He expressed the hope that the city charter may again come up for action at some time.

Exhibit Is Made.

In one of the small rooms of the school building there was an exhibit of house cleaning necessities, paints soaps, etc., by several merchants, including Buckley Brothers, West Side grocers, who showed brooms, soap and soap powder, Schwartz Brothers, wall paper, and Porteous & Mitchell, exhibiting soap, chip soap, soap powder, brooms, ash cans, etc.

Some of the signs carried in the parade read as follows: Show the Community Spirit, Goodbye Rubbish, Say It With Flowers, Follow the Crowd to the School House, Give the Ashman a Job, We Need More Good Walks, and Make the West Side the Best Side.

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY VOTES $300 FOR Y. M. C. A.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian Association was held Tuesday afternoon at the Osgood Memorial Parish House, Park Congregational church with a large attendance.

Previous to the annual meeting of the auxiliary the annual meeting of the board was held with President Miss Marion L. Bishop in the chair. Regular reports were given after which the secretary, Mrs. Edward D. Fuller, rendered the thirty-ninth annual report of the Norwich Woman's Auxiliary. It was voted by the board that the auxiliary give the sum of $300 to the Young Men's Christian Association such recommendation to be made to the auxiliary. Routine business was transacted following which adjournment took place.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was opened at 3 o'clock by President Miss Marion Bishop, after which a short devotional service was held, Edwin Hill, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association reading a short poem and leading in prayer.

The report of Treasurer Mrs. John O. Hawkins showed the auxiliary to have finished the year with excellent resources and the report of Secretary Mrs. Edward D. Fuller showed the present membership to be 253 active members. In the report of Secretary Fuller a review of the year's activities was given, indicating a vast amount of work done by auxiliary members in 1924. The report also covered accounts of suppers held at various times during the year, to assist the Y. M. C. A. in its general work among men and boys of the city, also to assist in the many meetings and the yearly drive for funds for the maintenance of the association activities in Norwich. Mrs. Fuller closed her report with an original poem intended to "pep up" the members for the coming year, that it may prove to be one of the most successful ever enjoyed in the history of the Norwich auxiliary.

The recommendation of the board, that the auxiliary give the sum of $300 to the Y. M. C. A. was adopted and voted and considerable other routine business was transacted.

Committee reports were then heard and these contained much interesting data. Mrs. Samuel S. Smiley reported for the house committee that everything possible had been done to see that comfort reigned supreme at the association building during 1924. Mrs. Howard L. Stanton, reporting for the membership committee showed an increased membership with promise of even a larger membership before the close of the new year. Mrs. Edwin Hill reported for the Boys' supper committee stating that 25 suppers had been served during the past year, attendance running into the hundreds for all meetings. It was also mentioned that the gift of the electric washing machine by Miss Ella Norton was most deeply appreciated.

Following the committee reports the annual election of officers was held resulting in a re-election of the officers of 1924, as follows:

President, Miss Marion L. Bishop; vice president, Mrs. Frederick W. Cary; secretary, Mrs. Edward D. Fuller; treasurer, Mrs. John O. Hawkins. Board of managers for three years, Mrs. William N. Edell, Miss Leonard Osgood, Mrs. Arthur L. Winchester and Miss Samuel S. Smiley. Board of managers for two years, Mrs. Franklin S. Wilcox, Miss Gertrude W. Young, Miss Mary Porteous, Miss Marion Campbell and Miss Amy L. Coggswell. Board of managers for one year, Mrs. Edwin Hill, Mrs. John B. Oat, Mrs. Howard L. Stanton and Miss Mary E. Richards.

Following the business session a treat was in store for the members when Miss Bishop introduced K. Appasamy of Palamcottah, South India, who spoke on The Literature of India With Special Reference to Poetry. Mr. Appasamy traced the relationship of Sanscrit with Greek, calling them sister languages and he also spoke at length on early Sanscrit literature like Rig Veda and the Three Vedas. The eighteen Upanishads were mentioned and he dwelt at length on the epic poems of Ramayana and Mahabaratta.

The interesting moral poems like Harischandra were next taken up by Mr. Appasamy after which he mentioned the Nature School of Poetry, corresponding to the Lake School, similar to Wordsworth and Shelly.

He closed his talk with a description of the Mohammedan invasion and its influx of Persian and Arabic poetry and a talk on modern poems in English and vernaculars. A number of English poems were read at the close of his talk proving most interesting.

A question period followed Mr. Appasamy's address and by request he spoke on the work the Young Men's Christian Association is doing in India. During his talk he brought out the fact that the association work was carried out more strongly in the rural districts, not so much in the more thickly settled districts. One thing in particular he mentioned was the fact that the Young Men's Christian Association in India is looked upon as a strong Christianizing evangelistic body and the building occupied by the association is treated with the same respect that other Christianizing buildings are given.

A rising vote of thanks was given Mr. Appasamy at the conclusion of his most instructive talk.

Following the meeting a social hour was enjoyed and tea was poured by Mrs. Edward D. Fuller and Miss Marion L. Bishop, members of the board assisting in the serving of cake and assorted wafers.

WILBUR ANCESTRAL FARM LOCATED IN PRESTON

When Secretary of the Navy Wilbur comes here Thursday to inspect the submarine base at Groton, it is understood that he will make a visit to the farm in Preston where his ancestors formerly lived.

This ancestor was Jedediah Wilbur great-great-great grandfather of the secretary of the navy. His first wife was Deborah Pellard, from which union Secretary Wilbur is descended.

Through the Preston town clerk, George V. Shedd, it was learned Tuesday evening that the old Wilbur property was a 17 acre tract on Amos lake, which the Preston town records show was brought by Jedediah Wilbur in 1770.

Twenty-six years later, while Jedediah Wilbur was living in Worthington, Mass., he quit claimed the farm to Francis Plummer, who was the brother of Abigail Plummer, the second wife of the secretary's ancestor.

The Wilbur farm adjoined land belonging to Hugh Amos, and was on the southwest side of the lake, lying between the lake and the highway.

Subsequent transfers of the property have been made and it is now believed to be part of two farms owned by men named Cohen and Pappalardo. There is no house on the property now.

REGTOR ACCEPTS CALL TO ST. MARK'S, MYSTIC

The offers of St. Mark's parish, Mystic, have received the acceptance to the call sent to the Rev. Lucien Wilson Shey, of Cleveland, Ohio, to assume the rectorship of the Mystic parish. In Mr. Shey's letter of acceptance he gave June 1 as the probable date of his arrival in Mystic.

Cows Die From Poison

Robert Whittle of Wilton Spring farm, Mystic, sustained the loss of three valuable cows Sunday from poisoning by nitrate of soda, which he had previously scattered about a field which he was to cultivate. The cattle, a part of a herd of five, found the chemical, unnoticed for a time, but as soon as discovered were driven to the barn, where Mr. Whittle intended treating them. Two of them died before reaching the barn, the third dying a few hours later in spite of all veterinary skill and treatment.

REAR ADM. WILLIAM L. HOWARD A NOTED NORWICH MAN

The town of Norwich has sent out many distinguished men—but not one whose achievements can duplicate those of Rear Admiral William L. Howard, a West Side boy, who began his education in the High Street School. The first white man to explore north of the River Yukon, in Alaska, a brave sailor who was with Dewey at Manila, the rapidly succeeding events in Admiral Howard's career read like a romance.

So modest is he that he has, up to now, kept well under cover—in fact has not even permitted a photograph of himself to appear in any of the papers which have referred to his distinguished service. When he was retired, in 1920, with the rank of Rear Admiral, he purchased a comfortable but modest home in Newport, R. I., oddly enough, on Miantinomi avenue—as they spell the name of the celebrated Indian chief in that section. The home in which he and Mrs. Howard have lived quite away from the rush of city life is named "Restmore."

REAR ADM. WM. L. HOWARD

Occasionally, by reason of his rank the modest admiral and his wife have come into the public eye—but for the most part their lives are spent in congenial retirement.

Their only child Helen, married Commander Charles C. Gill, who for two years has been stationed in Brazil as a member of the U. S. Naval Mission; they will be at Rio for two years longer, so that Admiral and Mrs. Howard left May 1st, to spend six months with their daughter. It is probable, that all told, they will be away from their Newport home for a round year.

Always interested in geography, as a boy Will Howard used to pore over the unknown spot on marked "Alaska," with rare interest.

In those days he was a newsboy for The Bulletin, when Charles E. Dyer and A. H. Harris were managers. His ambition was to enter the navy; and he had determination sufficient to carry him to success in that project.

After being graduated from Annapolis in 1882, he was ordered on the U. S. S. Yantic. Cruised in West Indies, thence to the Greeley Relief Expedition where they lost the Proteus (cut in halves and sunk by ice floes) A sketch of his later career shows 1885-86 explored Northern Alaska as member of the Storey Exploring Expedition. 1887-90 Naval Intelligence in Washington and sub-Secretary of the International Maritime Conference.

1891-93 U. S. S. Thetis cruising in the Pacific and U. S. C. S. Steamer Patterson surveying the inland passage to Alaska. 1893-96 Inspector of Ordnance at Homestead Steel Works at Pittsburgh. 1895-98 U. S. S. Boston, cruising in Chinese waters. In battle of Manila Bay with Commodore Dewey. 1898-1900 Intelligence Office, Washington and U. S. S. Bancroft. 1901-03 Ordnance Officer, U. S. S. Illinois, cruising in North Atlantic and Mediterranean 1904-07 Naval Attache Berlin, Rome and Vienna. 1908 Executive Officer U. S. S. Mississippi. 1908-09 In command of U. S. S. Birmingham, cruised to Africa. 1909-11 Equipment Officer Navy Yard Philadelphia. 1911-13 in command of U. S. S. Idaho winning the Gunnery Pennant of the North Atlantic Fleet. 1913-14 Captain of Yard, Navy Yard, New York. 1914-15 Student at Naval War College, Newport, R. I. 1916-17 Commandant of Navy Yard, Portsmouth, N. H. 1917-18 Commanding Officer of U. S. S. Pennsylvania, Flagship of the Battle Fleet. 1918-19 Commandant of the 16th Naval District Manila, Cavite and Olongapo.

Retired as rear admiral, 1920.

A book could be written upon the experiences of several of the above duties. He considered his Alaskan exploration the most interesting to look back upon. He says: "I recall when I went to High Street school and studied geography in Mitchell's Atlas, that Alaska north of the Yukon River was a blank. It is but little better today, but the work now shown is the result of my exploration.

"I left the main body of explorers and with one man as companion crossed to the Arctic coast, thence to Point Barrow where I was picked up by the whaling ships. I found the head waters and sledged for two weeks on the Colville River. Very few Americans realize the extent of our Northwestern territory. Due to the nature of the projection upon which our maps are made, Alaska appears to the eye about the size of one of our large states; in reality it is larger than the whole of the United States East of the Mississippi. The six New England States, for example, could be placed in Alaska ten times over.

The interior natives had never seen a white man until my advent, and the experiences were many and amusing.

"The China cruise is another example. We cruised up the Yang-Tse to quell Missionary riots, I was present at Seoul when the Corean King made himself Emperor and later present at the ceremonies where he had the remains of his consort, who had been buried as a queen, disinterred and reburied as the remains of an Empress. I do not think Gilbert and Sullivan in the wildest flight of imagination could conceive anything so weird as the latter ceremonies.

"At Manila Bay, the forenoon of the battle, I landed at the Cavite Navy Yard in command of the Marines sent on shore to drive off the mob looting the houses and buildings in the yard. One of the buildings was the Commandancia (Montojo's residence) which I occupied twenty years later, as Commandant."

Nothing terrifies Admiral Howard so much as a camera. The only photo of him—except those in possession of his family—is one hanging in the Army & Navy Club, Manila, of which club he was president when on duty in the Philippines. The cut shown here is from a photo of him taken when he was Commandant of the Navy Yard at Portsmouth, N. H. holding the rank of Captain; but it is a picture which many friends of his early years in Norwich will appreciate.

Admiral Howard married the daughter of Dexter Allen, of New Haven. He hides his honors, where another might exploit them; for he has been decorated by the King of Italy and the Grand Duke of Oldenburg, while the Ex-Emperor and Prince Henry of Prussia gave him autographed photographs, stating that they knew he could not accept a decoration except by an Act of Congress. He had the most brilliant experiences in the courts of Berlin, Vienna and Rome.

His friends in Norwich hope that some day he may be induced to return and tell his townspeople of some of his adventures by flood and field; but he is so modest that it will be a difficult task to persuade him to do so. Last year he motored to Norwich and drove about through the familiar streets of his boyhood—but did not let his presence be known to any one.

PREPARING FOR WELCOME TO REV. W. A. KEEFE

Preparations are fast being made for the welcome home reception to be given by the parish to Rev. William A. Keefe, pastor of St. Mary's Memorial church, when he returns from Rome where he was received in private audience by the pope the week following Easter.

As Father Keefe is due back in New York on Friday May 15, he will probably meet his parishioners for the first time at the masses on Sunday, the 17th. This date of his return at the week-end makes it probable that the reception could not be held until the next week. Presentation of a testimonial from the parishioners and friends will be made by the curate, Rev. Frederick M. Coholan, and there will be a musical programme during the evening.

The following are the committees from the parish, which have labored for the success of the affair:

General chairman—Rev. Frederick M. Coholan.

Advisory committee—John T. Sullivan and Francis J. Murtha, Church trustees.

Secretary—Joseph A. Donnelly.

Entertainment—Henry J. De Fontaine.

Music—Nicholas J. Spellman.

District workers for the testimonial:

District 1—The Misses Mary and Hannah O'Donnell, Mrs. Michael J. Murphy.

District 2—John T. Sullivan, Joseph P. Gadle, Jr.

District 3—John T. Gleason, Miss Mary Brennan.

District 4—William T. Mahoney.

District 5—Miss Mae J. Riley, Miss Loretta Gadle, Jeremiah A. Desmond.

District 6—Miss Lucien R. Bissonette, Miss Retta Sheehy, Edward J. [illegible]

District 7—The Misses Annie and [illegible] Tracy.

District 8—Patrick J. Sullivan, Miss Helen Dreacher, Miss Elizabeth L. Hoar, Miss Josephine Portelance.

District 9—Miss Agnes Casey, Miss Katherine Shea.

District [illegible]—Miss Nora Hartie, Horace F. Corning.

District 11—The Misses Margaret and Mollie Driscoll, Mrs. Timothy J. Driscoll.

District 12—Miss Josephine Hartie, Simon J. Fahey, Simon J. Fahey.

District 13—Miss Mary Spellman, James J. Brady, James J. Brady.

District 14—John M. Lee, Miss Catherine A. Lee, Mrs. James Buckley, Mrs. Henry D. Buckley, Mrs. William T. Browne, Miss Mae Shields, Miss Mazie H. Maloney.

District 15—The Misses Anastasia and Margaret Tighe.

District 16—Mrs. George W. Leonard, Mrs. William W. Carrigan, George H. Doran.

District 17—Mrs. John Cotter, Miss Margaret C. Counihan.

District 18—The Misses Isabelle W. and Teresa Leonard.

District 19—Mrs. Louis E. Combier, James J. Redden.

District 20—Mrs. Laurence E. Millea.

District 21—James A. Quinn, Miss Ellnore L. Donovan, Miss May C. Nolan, Miss Rose Dennis.

District 22—Miss Carol A. Kane, John Donohue.

District 23—Joseph A. Donnelly.

District 24—Mrs. Thomas J. Filburn, Miss Josephine Enright, William B. Shea.

Boy With Match Starts Fire

About 3.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the fire department was called out by telephone for a small fire in the cellar of a house on West Thames street, near Stetson street. The blaze was extinguished with chemical. There was but little damage. It is said that children along in the house were responsible for the blaze, as it is alleged one of the children threw a lighted match down the cellar stairs and that it landed in some papers. A neighbor sent in the call for the department.

The state board of education has recently been permitted to set aside a room in the capitol as a library, in which are several thousand professional books for teachers, which will be loaned upon request, or which may be used in the library.

FRENCH VIEWPOINT OF THE CONTROL OF TRADE IN ARMS

Paul Boncour, Head of French Commission of National Defense, Declares That National Security Must be the Precursor to Disarmament—Maintains That Modern Wars Have Demonstrated That Armaments Depend on the Industrial Forces of Nations, Which Permitted Quick Preparation For War—Would Have a Supplemental Convention Checking Private Manufacture of Arms.

Geneva, May 6—France through her eloquent parliamentarian, Paul Boncour, who presides over the French commission of national defense, has given notification that national security must be the precursor to disarmament. Addressing the international conference on the control of the trade in arms and munitions today, he repeated his great oratorical effort of the last league assembly when he defended the Geneva peace protocol.

While he pleaded for that reign of mutual confidence and spirit of mutual assistance among the nations, which would permit the world to decrease its burden of armaments, M. Boncour contended that the successful issue of the present conference would not be enough; it must be supplemented by another convention checking private manufacture of arms. And even this would not be sufficient, he asserted, for while force prevailed as the dominating factor in the relations between countries the world must not be surprised if the nations sought to become stronger and stronger.

That essential atmosphere of confidence, M. Boncour held, would only be possible in so far as it would be the outcome of general security, which men had sought so laboriously to establish since the great war. Men had thought of a mathematical reduction of armaments for each country, but this had proved futile, for it was demonstrated that in modern wars it was not the number of cannon nor the number of machine guns that counted, but the industrial forces of a nation, which permitted quick preparation for war. Men had tried to fashion treaties like the treaty of mutual assistance and the Geneva peace protocol, but all were only an effort to put in practice the principle which was the very basis of the league covenant.

"When that day comes, when nations which are directly attacked can count on the help of all, and when nations which mediate an attack understand that they will have against them the organized forces of the world," he said—"on that day can there be a question of the reduction of armaments and general disarmament."

TRADING SHOWS AMERICA'S FINANCIAL LEADERSHIP

New York, May 6—The aggregate market value of all Securities traded in on the New York Stock Exchange exceeded $60,000,000,000 on January 1, 1925, up to that time the largest total in the history of the exchange, it was revealed in the annual report of President E. H. H. Simmons, made public today.

"The past year in finance," said Mr. Simmons, "has been significant chiefly as revealing the financial preeminence and stability attained by this country since the war in its full scope and its complete strength.

"Internal elements of weakness which had previously seemed to threaten America's financial leadership, have mainly disappeared. Our major industries, with few exceptions, have adequately bridged the dangerous intervening years which followed the armistice, and now are operating completely on a peacetime basis, after the emergency financing of recent years. Over the whole country standards of living have been maintained at high levels, and a very general degree of prosperity has prevailed."

Mr. Simmons expressed the belief that the unprecedented "bull market" which followed the election last fall, had been kept within safe bounds.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE INT'L COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Washington, May 6—Except for a white house tea to delegates, which aroused considerable informal discussion because of the failure of convention officials to distribute cards among the American patronesses, the International Council of Women, in quinquennial session here, devoted its attention today and tonight chiefly to organization affairs.

Reports that some of the patronesses had felt slighted because they had not been given cards to the tea, were met with a formal announcement that they would be received at the white house at noon, tomorrow, shortly before the usual period when President Coolidge greets visitors.

Distribution of the cards was left in the hands of convention officials, and it was explained that, when they found they had not requested a sufficient number to provide for all of the 168 patronesses, who have contributed to the expenses of the convention but are not delegates, none of them was included, foreign delegates and American state chairmen being given priority.

The question raised by the withdrawal of negre singers from the American music programme last night by spokesmen for the National Association of Colored Women, because negro visitors in the audience had been grouped in one section of seats, promised, meanwhile to come before a later session of the convention.

Members of the negro organization, which is represented in the council, announced that they were preparing a resolution declaring against "race discrimination." Convention officials reiterated private explanations that the seating of all non-delegates last night had been turned over to a commercial firm, and that its agents had made the announcements to which the negroes objected.

UNEXPECTED TROUBLE FOR FRENCH IN MOROCCO

Paris, May 6—The Riffian tribesmen in Morocco, bringing up seasoned troops supposed to have been trained by veterans of the European war in all details of modern tactics, gave the French unexpected trouble today.

General Colombat, advancing on the flank of the invading tribesmen in this region of Djebal Bibane, met a strong contingent which stood its ground instead of falling back as the advance guard had done.

The impression at French headquarters in Morocco is that Abd-El-Krim, the chief of the tribesmen, finding his untrained men unable to stand before the French fire, is sending to the front lines seasoned warriors who have given the Spanish forces so much trouble. Today's unexpected stiffening in the Riffian lines is recognized as serious, but there is no apprehension as to the ultimate outcome.

The French thus far have put into their lines only troops which were on the ground after General Court De Chambrun's advance north of the Guergha river last autumn. Reinforcements soon will be on the ground to give support if it is needed.

The French forces in Morocco number about 50,000, but those available for service on the Riff frontier do not exceed 20,000.

A simple hook to replace the door knob in hospitals has been found more convenient for attendants carrying loads.

PLAN FOR ORGANIZING NON-UNION WORKERS

Washington, May 6—The most elaborate campaign for organizing non-union workers ever undertaken in the United States was approved today at a joint meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor and representatives of 108 international unions.

The United States and Canada will be divided into five districts, to each of which will be assigned a selected group, operating under supervision of the Washington headquarters. It is planned that every city and town in each district will be visited during the campaign, which will continue 40 weeks. Expenditures will be borne by the organizations interested, about $125,000 being voluntarily pledged at today's meeting for the preliminary cost.

Public meetings, motion pictures and radio will be utilized in the endeavor to educate the individual worker to the benefits of organized co-operation. Along with the organization campaign, will go a concerted effort to popularize and extend the use of union labels on products of organized shops. The district groups are to be assisted by the corps of organizers maintained by the federation and by voluntary workers.

The campaign was approved by the executive council at the February meeting in Miami. It was presented to today's conference by President John W. Hays, of the International Typographical union, whose endorsement was supplemented by Presidents Michael F. Greene of the United Hatters, George W. Perkins of the Cigar Makers, and William Hutcheson of the Carpenters and Joiners unions.

NO ONE ABOARD ALCOHOL LADEN MOTOR BOAT

Revere, Mass, May 6.—A motorboat anchored a mile off shore and loaded with 2100 gallons of alcohol was seized by local police, coast guardsmen and federal officers today. There was no one in the boat when it was found and it is believed it was to have been unloaded tonight.

Muriel Vanderbilt's Engagement Announced

Miss Muriel Vanderbilt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Kissam Vanderbilt, of New York, whose engagement to Mr. Frederic Cameron Church, of Boston, has just been informally announced. Miss Vanderbilt, who is a great-great-granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt and a granddaughter of the late Senator James Fair (her mother being the former Virginia Fair), is one of the richest young women in American Society. She entered society on Christmas night at a dance given by her mother in the city home of the family, 666 Fifth Avenue, in 1919, and has been active in charities, sports, and amateur theatricals. The wedding, it is understood, will be at the Vanderbilt home in Newport, next July.

INDICATIONS OF TERRIFIC QUAKE SOMEWHERE AT SEA

Ottawa, May 6—A terrific earthquake, believed to have occurred somewhere at sea, was indicated in two series of earth tremors recorded last night and this morning at the Dominion observatory.

The shocks were of such intensity and of so great frequency that officials at the observatory have been unable to determine the distance to the center, but they believe if it occurred in an inhabited part of the globe, the damage would have been as great as that experienced in the Tokio quake.

The first tremor was recorded at 7:43 o'clock last night and the shocks lasted for two and a half hours. The second quake was registered at 4:05 o'clock this morning and is believed to have been a continuation of the first quake.

RUMOR OF STRIKE-BREAKERS COMING TO THREAD MILLS

(Special to The Bulletin.)

Willimantic, May 6—Word spread about the city late Wednesday night that two loads of foreigners, presumably Portuguese men, had been imported here as employes of the American Thread company, which is at present deadlocked with its 3,500 striking operatives. The men, about sixteen in number, were said to be housed at The Elms, the company boarding-house. It is understood that they will be connected with the work department and will operate the boilers and engines of the plant.

Rumor has it that the American Thread company strike insurance, conducted through the Manufacturers' association, expires next Mondys, the beginning of the tenth week of the strike.

Warfare on Rum to be Made Ruthless

Enemies of Bootleggers Are to Redouble Their Efforts Ashore and at Sea.

New York, May 6—Naval warfare against rum smugglers, with the government's dry fleet blockading the coast from Boston to Atlantic City, today inspired the country's land enemies of bootleggers to redouble their efforts.

As more than sixty coast guard boats, manned by 400 men hand assisted by thirteen seaplanes, patrolled the sea, the forces ashore dug up a legal weapon which prohibition officials asserted probably would prove as deadly as the fleet's warfare. This was the discovery of a provision in the tariff law of 1922 providing that compensation may be given informers who assist the government in the arrest and conviction of violators of the prohibition law.

While this was the most important development of the rum war ashore, it was not the only one. United States District Attorney Buckner announced that he had joined forces with R. Q. Merrick, prohibition director for northern New York and New Jersey, in a war of extermination on inland speakeasies. The padlock court newly opened by Federal Judge John C. Knox is to act against places charged with prohibition violations in all counties comprising Mr. Buckner's district. These include Orange, Rockland, Sullivan, Dtuchess, Greene, Columbus, Westchester, Pullman and Ulster counties, in addition to portions of the greater New York territory. Coast guardsmen at sea reported extraordinary success since the imposition of their blockade yesterday. Something like sixty boats are now on actual blockade duty, with every ship in rum row fairly ringed around with the boats of the law, making it virtually impossible, say the dry seamen, for the smaller shore boats to either go to or from the floating storehouses of contraband liquors.

At the Staten Island base, at Atlantic City and at other points along the coast line additional boats—blue-painted cutters, converted submarines, swift, darting patrols, all bristling with guns—are being held in reserve. They will be sent out from time to time to relieve boats which have been on duty on the choppy seas for many hours. Not once, said Captain W. V. R. Jacobs, New York coast guard commandant, will any one of the ships in Rum Row be left without one or more guardian boats of the law. Eventually, he added, with the liquor vessels completely shut off from all shore communication, the contraband carriers will have to put back to their ports of origin in England, or the maritime provinces of Canada, Bermuda and other harbors that have sent forth the rum argosies for several years.

It was understood that the dry fleet had orders to follow any movement of the rum vessels, to prevent a possible shifting of the whiskey base.

Dry officials assert that not a case, not even one bottle, of liquor has been brought ashore on the coast under surveillance since the blockade was imposed.

The seaplanes, thirteen in number, joined the fleet this morning, and are being used in mapping and photographing the positions of the contraband carriers, as well as scouting for short boats in the area between shore and the twelve mile limit.

The 1922 tariff law provision that places such an effective weapon in the dry warriors' hands makes it possible for the government to pay informers 25 per cent. of all fines imposed on convicted rum runners, and besides, one quarter of the sums obtained by the government in disposing at auction of rum-running boats. As in the cases of persons informing of those who are caught attempting to smuggle gems or other contraband int othe country, the treasury department will not make public the name of the informers.

The extension of the padlock phase of the rum war to up-state communities already has borne fruit. Mr. Merrick's forces have invaded the historic Catskills, the hills where Rip Van Winkle came upon his liquor consuming nine-pin players. Complaints against seventeen resorts in Kingston, on the west bank of the Hudson, were filed in Judge nKox's padlock court today. Merrick has promised that there are many more to come.

Mr. Buckner said today that he would "mop up" the Catskills by the time the heavy resort migration opens up in early summer.

A lawnmower that has been invented enables a man to record the distance covered each time he uses his mower and is an entire season.

Counsel Surrenders Mrs. Julie Shepherd

Charged as Accessory to Murder of Mrs. Emma McClintock and Her Son.

Chicago, May 6—Mrs. Julia Shepherd, recommended held as an accessory to murder in the deaths of William Nelson McClintock, millionaire orphan, and his mother, Mrs. Emma Nelson McClintock, was surrendered tonight by her attorneys at the criminal court building. Her counsel expected to ask bond immediately.

MRS. SHEPHERD WAS RELEASED TILL FRIDAY

Chicago, May 6—Mrs. Julia Shepherd, recommended held as an accessory to murder in the deaths of William Nelson McClintock and his mother, was released on her own recognizance until Friday when she surrendered late today. Her attorneys promised that bail of $5,000 would then be posted.

The courtroom scene was devoid of wrangling. Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, did not even object when attorneys asked that Mrs. Shepperd be released on her own recognizance.

"There is no evidence that I have as state's attorney," Mr. Crowe said, "that can cause me to oppose bail in this case. I have no objection to the fixing of bail in a reasonable amount in both charges against Mrs. Shepherd."

The coroner's jury in a report submitted yesterday concurred in the action of the grand jury which indicted Mrs. Shepherd for the murder of McShepherd for the murder of McClintock and recommended that Mrs. Shepherd be held as an accessory to his death, recommended that Shepherd be held for the murder of Mrs. McClintock by poisoning and that Mrs. Shepherd be held as accessory. It returned an open verdict on the case of Dr. Oscar Olson, brother of Judge Harry Olson, who started the investigation.

DEATH TOLL IN SWISSVALE EXPLOSION WAS EIGHT PERSONS

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 6—Albert J. Jeremias today identified at the county morgue the bodies of eight persons who were killed in an explosion in Swissvale, a suburb, early this morning. All the victims of the blast were his relatives. The bodies were so badly burned that identification in some instances was possibly only by teeth fillings, rings or bits of clothing.

The dear are Clement Jeremias and wife, Carl Kegler and wife, Carl Baldus and wife, Mrs. Marie Kothe and Richard Baldus, aged seven.

Investigation of the cause of the explosion resulted in property damage estimated at $400,000 to $500,000, was under way before the last body had been removed from the ruins. Four buildings were destroyed and others nearby damaged.

County detectives assigned to the investigation late today held to their first theory that the blast was caused by a bomb. The destruction wrought was over too wide an area, they said, to have been caused by exploding gas. Detectives found a section of copper wire, such as used in wrapping the exterior of time bombs, buried under a mass of debris.

County Fire Marshal Pfarr is certain the explosion was caused by nitro glycerine.

"These structures were simply torn apart," he said, "by the terrific force of the blast and broken pipes permitted gas to escape and ignite. Debris was blown for blocks and bits of clothing and bedding were found many yards from the scene. Nitro glycerine leaves poisonous fumes, after exploding. Sickening fumes were in evidence after the explosion. Firemen and spectators were partly overcome and hundreds of persons complained of headaches."

Detectives tonight were investigating reports that the explosion may have been resulted from a Black Hand plot, but they said there were no tangible clues to fix the responsibility. Rumors that Tom Pusatere, owner of one of the wrecked buildings, has received letters threatening his life unless he paid money to a Black Hand organization were tonight discredited by investigators. Pusatere is not in the city but his married daughter declared he had never received a threatening letter or that he was marked for death. Mrs. Pusatere also expressed ignorance of any plot to kill her husband.

FOUR CARS DERAILED ON THE CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO

Richmond, Va., May 6—Although four coaches were derailed and the engine turned completely over when Chesapeake and Ohio fast train number 4, from Louisville and Cincinnati, ran into a faulty switch just outside of Richmond late today, no one was injured.

A rush of taxicabs to the scene caused spread of a report, which proved erroneous, that a number of persons had been injured and were being hurried to hospitals.

The engine plunged headlong to the side of the track but two coaches, a baggage car and the diner which left the rails, remained upright.

Suspicion that the switch had been "tampered with" caused officials of the road to institute an investigation immediately, they announced tonight.

ARMY FLYER INJURED IN JUMP FROM PLANE

Chicago, May 6—Major Henry Taylor, army flier stationed in Columbus was injured severely today when he jumped from his airplane when the control stick broke as he was flying 1500 feet above Botsum, Ohio, six miles north of Akron. Taylor was brought to a Cleveland hospital where physicians say he suffered no fractures.

With Taylor at the time was J. F. Alexander, of Mansfield. Alexander and Taylor, using parachutes, leaped from the disabled ship. The former landed safely but Taylor alighted in a tree. The plane, in which the two had left Cleveland for Mansfield was demolished.

TRANSFORMERS BLOWN AWAY BY BLAST OF DYNAMITE

Fairmont, W. Va., May 6—A blast of dynamite late tonight blew away the transformers of the Consolidated Coal company, serving the company's Highland mine, but did not break a high tension power line serving other properties.

State police believe it was attempted to wreck the Francis mine of the Montfair Gas Coal company and the Victor mine of the Monongahela Fuel company, on the Kilsarm branch of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad.

OLYMPIA MACRI BECAME HYSTERICAL IN COURT ROOM

New Haven Girl Accused of Murder Greatly Excited Spectaters When She Lost Control of Her Emotions During Recess of Trial—Had a Period of Screaming, in Which Her Mother Joined—Judge and Jury Were Absent at Time of Collapse—Jurors Were Excused Until This Morning—Witness Testified to Fight Between Olympia and Bagnano Two Weeks Before the Shooting.

New Haven, May 6—Olympia Macri who is on trial for the murder on February 26 last, of John Bagnano, alleged father of her child, collapsed in the court room at 3:45 p. m., today. Judge Christopher L. Avery, who had just ordered a recess a moment before, recalled the jury as it became evident the girl defendant was unable to sit through further testimony. The jurors, who had not witnessed the collapse of Miss Macri, were excused until 9 a. m., tomorrow. Late tonight it was said by Joseph Koletsky, counsel for the defense, that the girl would be able to appear in court tomorrow.

Miss Macri was rushed to the county jail as soon as she had regained consciousness and there was examined by Dr. Willis N. Crowe, jail physician. He issued a statement that her condition was not serious but said he had ordered her to bed at once. Dr. Crowe stated that his examination had disclosed that the girl-defendant's collapse was superinduced by the weakness of one of her heart valves. Her pulse registered 80 at the time of the examination, Jailer Frank R. Baldwin reported later that she was sleeping quietly.

The collapse of Miss Macri followed the testimony of three witnesses put on the stand by the state at the afternoon session to tell of a fight they had seen between the girl and John Bagnano two weeks before she shot him. During the taking of testimony, Miss Macri remained calm but a minute after William Comforte, the last of the witnesses, had left the stand, she suddenly screamed and collapsed in her chair. She continued to scream and cry "mamma" for several minutes until she apparently lost consciousness. Her mother who was sitting nearby also cried out and rushed to the side of the girl.

The court room was crowded at the time and Deputy sheriffs forced back a number of spectators who rushed to the spot. Mrs. Carolina Bagnano, widow of the slain man, sought to make her way to the side of the stricken girl.

Coroner Eli Mix, one of the chief witnesses for the state against the girl-slayer, directed the first aid treatment. The collapse was not witnessed by either the jury or Judge Avery and when the jurors were recalled to the court room, they seemed mystified at the disappearance of the girl-defendant who had been taken from the court room by Jailer Baldwin and Deputy Sheriff Hutt.

Fight Two Weeks Before Shooting.

The first of the three witnesses who this afternoon testified regarding the fight between Olympia Macri and John Bagnano about two weeks before the shooting was James Picorelli, aged 21, of this city. He said that at about 8:15 p. m., on the night in question he saw the two together on the Wooster street bridge and that attention was attracted because they were fighting. In the cross examination Joseph Koletsky, counsel for the defense, asked Picorelli to describe the actions of the two.

"I saw her slap him twice."

"Did you see him throw her down and kick her?" Koletsky queredi.

"No sir."

"Did you see him scratch her?"

"Maybe he did before I got there."

"He was head and shoulders above the girl, wasn't he?"

"Yes."

"Didn't you hear her cry for help?"

"Yes sir."

"Did you do anything to help her?"

"No, I didn't want to butt in."

"His mother and his sister and his own wife came and took this girl into their home on Prindle alley didn't they?"

Picorelli denied that he had been threatened by any of the Bagnanos with violence unless he testified against the girl.

The witness said that John Bagnano asked him to keep several boys who had gathered around while he struggled with the girl out of the way. He said that Bagnano pointed his finger as if to illustrate that the Macri girl had a gun with her.

"Did you see her have a revolver?" Koletsky asked on cross examination.

"No, I did not."

"Did he have a revolver?"

"I didn't know."

"Did you see him bite her hand?"

"No sir."

"You are afraid to say that Johnny assaulted this girl aren't you?"

"No, I am telling just what I know."

"It was dark at this time, wasn't it?"

"Yes."

James Gambardella, aged 18, a companion of Picorelli on the night in question was the next witness for the state. For the most part he corroborated the testimony of Picorelli. He described how he saw Miss Macri grasp John Bagnano by the coat and then let go and slap him with both hands. He said Bagnano made no attempt to protect himself and did not touch the girl.

William Conforte, aged 18, was the third of the three youths who told of the struggle between Miss Macri and Bagnano. He left the witness stand only a minute before the girl-defendant collapsed.

On the cross examination, counsel for the defense sought to have Conforte give more details of the struggle between the man and girl.

"You were afraid to say a word to John, weren't you?"

"No."

"Did he try to frighten you?"

"He told me to stay away?"

"You kept away because he told you to?"

"Yes."

"One word from him to keep away and you did keep away?"

"Yes."

"You were afraid of him?"

"Yes."

"You didn't see the girl have a revolver?"

"No sir."

Koletsky asked the witness if he had not heard the girl say anything about Bagnano taking care of "her baby." Conforte testified that she had only asked him to come down to the ary building.

bridge. Judge Avery interrupted at this point to say that he believed everything the witness knew had been covered, and ordered a short recess. A minute later Miss Macri collapsed.

Testimony By "Sheik" Leonard

John Michonski, professional boxer known as "Sheik" Leonard, was the first witness called this morning. He testified that he was at John Goggin's office in the Poli building on the afternoon of the shooting. He came down stairs and stood talking in the outer lobby with a Mr. Tierney about three minutes before the shooting.

His first observation of something unusual was when Bagnano came running between Tierney and himself. Then he said he heard a shot, which he believed went through his overcoat. He saw a young woman fire the shot, he testified, and also saw her follow Bagnano out to the street. Leonard saw an automobile parked at the curb and Bagnano fell beside it.

Leonard said he saw the girl fire four shots altogether, one in the lobby and three while she was standing over Bagnano at the curb. He said he heard another which apparently came from the inner lobby, just before Bagnano came running out. Leonard then saw someone jump on the girl's back and someone take the gun from her hand.

In cross examination, Leonard admitted that the man who jumped on the girl's back was the one who took the gun away. He could not say that this was Sergeant John C. Schmitt, who testified yesterday.

Leonard admitted that the last two shots fired were fired after the man jumped on the girl's back. A question whether or not they were fired as a result of the man jumping on her back which ruled out. Leonard did not hear the girl say anything as she submitted to arrest, but he admitted that she may have said something that escaped his hearing.

The court took occasion to censure Attorney Koletsky for his line of questioning. He said questions put by Koletsky regarding things which could have happened or might have happened were purely argumentative.

Leonard admitted that he ran away from the scene of the shooting. He said he did not want to be a witness. He testified that Bagnano in rushing between Tierney and himself brushed against his, Leonard's, shoulder. Bagnano brushed by on Leonard's right side, the witness said, but the hole in his coat is on the left side. It was pointed out. Leonard had his back turned toward the door from which Bagnano and the girl rushed, he testified. He had his hands in his overcoat pockets and was holding the coat open. After much objection by the state and re-framing of the question the court allowed defense counsel to ask whether in the witness's opinion the bullet could have gone through his overcoat and into Bagnano's back. Witness could not say for sure, pointing out that Bagnano upset the relative position of the two by bumping against Leonard.

Defense counsel asked if Leonard had not told the coroner that he didn't hear any shots when Bagnano and Miss Macri passed him. He could not recall what he told the coroner on that point. His recollection now, however, is that the girl fired the second shot after she passed the witness.

Witness said he could not recall ever having said, with regard to the shooting: "If anyone did that to my sister I'd kill him too."

In re-direct examination by Mr. Alling, witness admitted that Miss Macri might have said: "Here's the gun," when she was grabbed at the scene of the shooting. He could not "swear" to this however. Mr. Alling, reading from the coroner's testimony, asked if he didn't tell the coroner he heard the girl say: "Here's the gun—I'm satisfied." He could not be sure that he heard this.

Michael Tomasino, manager of the Majestic theatre here, was the second witness.

NO COOLIDGE PICTURE IN STOCK SELLING CAMPAIGN

Washington, May 6—Alleged use of a talking motion picture of President Coolidge in a stock selling campaign at New York was ordered investigated by the department of justice today at the suggestion of white house officials.

The attention of the president was called to the matter today through published reports, and an immediate investigation was ordered.

The film is understood to be one which shows the president delivering an address and has an attachment repeating his words. Such a film was taken of President Coolidge last fall, when its use was considered in the election campaign. Such use of the film, however, was not approved.

TROUBLES OF AMERICAN SUMATRA TOBACCO CO.

New York, May 6—The American Sumatra Tobacco Company was placed in equity receivership this afternoon by Judge Goddard in Federal court upon applicatoin of Harding, Tillon and Co., holders of a claim against the tobacco company for $14,480. The company, capitalized at $17,000,000, was said to be in condition to more than liquidate all claims but that the need of raising money for immediate expenses made necessary the receivership.

THE LOS ANGELES CIRCLED ST. THOMAS, VIRGEN ISLANDS

St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, May 6—The United States naval dirigible airship Los Angeles circled over this city at 3:35 this afternoon, and returned to the west. She did not go to St. Croix. The weather was beautiful and large crowds gathered and watched the airship excitedly.

The Los Angeles dropped a small parachute containing newspapers and a message to the governor. The town was decorated for the occasion, with American flags flying from almost every building.

WILLIMANTIC

Warning of a special city meeting, Thursday evening, May 14, was issued Wednesday by Acting Mayor George W. Hickey. At the meeting, the voters are to be asked to pass on the question of whether or not the city shall adopt daylight saving time. To this end, a petition has been circulated by the clerk of the city, who desire that daylight time be adopted. Representing the Willimantic Clerks' Protective association, a petition has been circulated by Albert Piche, containing the necessary number of signatures, twenty in all, which was presented to Acting Mayor Hickey. Willimantic has never adopted daylight saving time, although since Connecticut left the matter optional with the various municipalities four years ago, two years ago a petition in its favor was adopted by the common council. This was overruled, however, by a petition which received a supporting vote of 4 to 3.

THOMPSON

A touching and beautiful story came out at the funeral of Charles Baldwin on Monday. He came to our town a number of years ago without family or friends. He came from fine parentage but had wandered astray. But that chapter of his life was closed soon by friendship here, particularly in the grange that helped him back to an upright life. Not in robust health he worked for years at the Ream and Gladding estates. When with advancing years, he was unable to support himself he was taken to the town farm. The selectmen of the town went to take him from his lonely home and found he had there two fine well kept cats. Very sadly he said to the selectmen, "I could not put them out of the way." The reply came promptly in the kindly thoughtful fashion of the official: "Why should you? Take them with you!" Without doubt no happier man ever entered or lived at the town farm than this man with his pets kept in his room until they came to their end. Twenty-five grangers showed their respect for this man at the service which was most impressive. Wallace Smith of Putnam sang Lead Kindly Light, Beautiful Isle of Somewhere and Abide With Me.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Bread Theatre

Douglas Fairbanks' amazing picturization of the Arabian Nights, "The Thief of Bagdad," which is now playing at the Breed is generally considered as being, beyond question, the most extraordinary example of screen art known up to the present time. According to all accounts, it marks a distinct and radical advance in this popular form of all entertainments, and places it on a higher plane than it has yet attained. In "The Thief of Bagdad" Douglas Fairbanks will be seen at his best as the agile happy-go-lucky rascal of old Bagdad. The story it based upon the Arabian Nights tales and utilizes the services of thousands of people. Fairbank's role is that of a Thief who reforms and becomes a veritable Prince—conquering unbelievable difficulties and finally winning the hand of the beautiful Princess. To depict such happenings as are revealed in "The Thief of Bagdad" has never before been considered within the bounds of possibility. Some of the adventures are: The Thief mounted on the Winger Horse, flying up and through the clouds; the Thief and the Princess on the Magic Carpet soar above the house-tops and into the sky; the raising of the Magic Army from nothingness, and The Invisible Cloak, by the aid of which the redoubtable Thief reaches the presence of the Princess.

Other pictures on the bill include the tenth chapter of "The Iron Man" and the Pathe News.

Paul Specht's Band Held Over

Forced to postpone a number of bookings in order to do so, Paul Specht Himself and his Original Orchestra, owing to insistent demand of the host of admirers occasioned by his initial appearance at the Palace Theatre, is being held over as the Star attraction for the balance of this week.

Since within a short time this brilliant director, conceded by many as the premier class of them all, is scheduled to take his aggregation of artists for his annual London engagement, Norwich is to be congratulated, not only for having had the privilege of hearing them but for displaying their admiration in such insistent manner as to cause Mr. Specht to reciprocate by remaining.

Mr. Specht is arranging a new program and of course Roy Smeck, the cause of another ukelele epidemic will "do his stuff."

Ed Gordon, Mr. Specht's road manager, has some choice reminiscences concerning several members of the organization that should make interesting reading and should he decide to impart them we are going to get some real "dope" on Ted Noyes "the drummer with the million-dollar personality," Frank Kilduff "queen of the saxophone section," Leo McConville, the trumpet player who threatens to beat Gabriel to it on Judgment day, and several others who "have a past."

When Specht leaves us Saturday night he will still be "with us" for he plays that night at Ocean Beach for a New London Dance.

With This Red Blood Food of Millions

Any doctor will tell you that the real reason why many women grow old too young, with drawn, haggard faces and scrawny figures is simply lack of sufficient iron in their blood—and that by merely getting more iron into their blood, these same women may quickly regain youthful strength, energy and vivacious charm.

But be sure that the iron you take is Nuxated Iron and not the ordinary mineral iron that people have used in the past. Nuxated Iron is a wonderful new combination of organic iron, like the iron in your own blood and like that in spinach and lentils. Does not injure the teeth or disturb the stomach. Take it just two weeks and you'll be astonished how much younger and better you look and feel. Money back if not delighted. At all good druggists.

NUXATED IRON

There is no more healthful fruit than PRUNES —no finer fruit to eat!

Do you know what it means, in all-round efficiency and body tone, to start the day with a heaping dish of Prunes?

Try it for a while—and note how much better you feel!

You'll like them, of course (for, properly cooked, Prunes have few rivals for flavor). But that's not all: Prunes are so good for you. They supply just the elements necessary to balance other highly-concentrated foods, and their laxative qualities are well known.

And when you buy Prunes, be sure you get the best! Insist upon sweet, plump, thin-skinned SUNSWEET PRUNES from the famous orchards of California. Protect yourself. Buy SUNSWEET PRUNES, always clean and fresh, in our convenient, sanitary 2 lb. carton. Or your grocer can supply you from the 25 lb. SUNSWEET box.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Paul G. Hoffman Vice President in Charge of Sales of the Studebaker Corporation of America

The directors of the Studebaker Corporation, at their meeting in New York recently, elected Paul G. Hoffman as vice president in charge of sales to succeed H. A. Biggs, resigned.

Mr. Hoffman entered the employ of The Studebaker Corporation in 1911 as a salesman in Los Angeles. In 1913 he was made Sales Manager of the Los Angeles retail branch, and in 1917, Branch Manager of the Los Angeles district.

He served in the artillery division of the army in 1917-18, and upon leaving it in March, 1919, purchased from the corporation its retail business at Los Angeles and became a Studebaker dealer on his own account. The Paul G. Hoffman Company, starting business with $60,000 capital, now has $1,500,000 assets.

Mr. Hoffman has been quite active in the civic affairs of his city. For president of the traffic commission, a voluntary organization of business men formed for the purpose of studying measures of relief from traffic congestion, including re-routing of streets and city planning. He is a director of the chamber of commerce and chairman of its roads committee also a director of the California bank of Los Angeles.

In securing Mr. Hoffman for the important position of vice president in charge of sales, President Erskine feels that he has obtained a man ideally suited for the work. Mr. Hoffman's headquarters will be at the general office at South Bend, Indiana. He had been elected a director of the corporation and a member of its executive and finance committees.

H. A. Biggs, who is being succeeded by Mr. Hoffman, is retiring from active business. His services to the corporation and administration of the affairs of the sales department for six years were highly satisfactory and successful. His numerous friends in the automobile industry as well as in the Studebaker organization will miss him. He is compelled to establish his residence in a milder climate, and expects shortly to move from South Bend to Southern California.

Nine Act Special Program at the Broadway

The management of the Broadway theater is once again offering his patrons an exceptional program of nine acts of B. F. Keith world's best vaudeville and photoplay for the last half of this week. Not only will you see a real big city show, at regular prices but you are going to see a show that you'll admit the likes of which you have never seen before. It's simply great, nothing else can describe it. Here are the acts on schedule.

Pelot and Wilson, in a comedy juggling novelty.

Burt and Dale, a comedy couple.

Curry and Graham presenting A Little Scotch and Irish, with comedy, songs and dances.

Hicks Bros., Pullin Strings on the banjos.

Harry White, the twelve minute man paves the way to laughter.

Elsie May Gordon and Co. offer a petite novelty in comedy songs and music.

The Road to Vaudeville, a song, dance and travesty with Herford Hartwell, Pearl Morris, Tom Baldwin and Grace McFail. You'll journey along the way with them in pleasure and comfort.

Hal Nieman, the tramp comedian, is here to make you laugh regardless how you might feel. We will say now that he lets loose all the laughing gas you can stand.

Theodore and Swanson appear in a new offering called 5 A. M. Gymnastics and humor are introduced.

The incarnation of youth! How alluring! Imbued with all the charm of vivaciousness, and so entrancing—yet sweetly dangerous. Continually pampered and much sought after because of her carefree outlook on life, the flapper is devoid of seriousness and is always on the alert for all sorts of risky adventures.

Through natural instinct she is endowed with the blessing of the sense of sagacity and tactfully manages to creep in and out of all sorts of difficulties, obtaining what she is after and giving nothing in return.

Have you ever stopped to realize what you would do if you found yourself in love with a flapper?

This perplexing situation is viewed in the story of that unusual photoplay The Painted Flapper with Pauline Garon, who has been acclaimed the perfect screen flapper, portraying the title role, which is now playing at the Broadway theater with James Kirkwood and a fine cast.

The sales committee of the New England Milk Producers' Association announced a reduction of one-half cent per quart in the price of milk to Boston dealers beginning May 1.
